MACDONALD WON FIRST VICTORY

Looked At Dispute From Other Fellow's Standpoint—Reward Came.

By HAMILTON FYFE
Editor of London "Daily Herald"
(Copyright 1924, by United Press)

LONDON, June 7 (United Press).—When we do the right thing, when we act sensibly, when we make a genuine effort to be fair and to look at our disputes "from the other fellows point of view," the reward often comes to use in an unexpected shape.

That is what has happened to the Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald.

There is no doubt that the result of the French General Election is in great measure due to Mr. MacDonald's wise change of policy towards M. Poincare. The most that this policy seemed likely to do was to induce a more reasonable frame of mind. But it has done far more than that. It has swept him away.

If Lord Curzon had stayed in office as Foreign Minister, there is little doubt that the French nation would have voted for M. Poincare in self-defense. If Mr. MacDonald had continued Lord Curzon's policy of veiled opposition and petty annoyances, the French would have kept their backs up. They would have said: "We must support our man."

MacDonald's method—frank courtesy, coupled with a clear and freindly statement of the facts—put large numbers of the French people in possession of those facts for the first time.

They paid attention to them because they were put forward so plitely, without any wish to "score"; and they came to the conclusion that the facts proved M. Poincare's policy to have been a melancholy failure.

It was the very friendliness of MacDonalds' letters which made them convincing. Their logic would have availed nothing if their tone had been acrimonious. By being "suave in manner" and "firm as to matter", according to the advice of the Latin proverb, MacDonald did more, we fancy, to persuade the French to change their minds about M. Poincare than all the denunications of him by his political opponents.

This is the first striking justification of the line the Prime Minister has pursued. The chief obstacle to a Reparations settlement is out of the way.

There is now every hope that Labor's Foreign policy will be crowded with brilliant and enduring success.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST DAILEY

Warrant Issued For Killing Of Harrisburg Woman — Awaits Wounded Man's Improvement.

HARRISBURG, June 7.—Municipal and county police authorities, denied the privilege of interviewing at the Harrisburg Hospital Dr. Cornelius M. Dailey, the only person present when Mrs. Anna Manbeck, a widow, was shot to death in his apartments on Sunday, have completed evidence which they believed sufficient to justify bringing a formal charge of murder against him. A warrant was sworn out before Mayor Hoverter, but was not served because Dr. Dailey's physicians contended that he was not physically in a condition to be disturbed. A policeman waits in the hospital corridor with a warrant, ready to serve it whenever the doctor is strong enough to undergo arrest.

Dr. Dailey was shot through the right side of the chest, and one of the few things he has told District Attorney Fox is that Mrs. Manbeck shot him. The bullet is said to have passed through his right lung and become embedded near the skin of his back.

The District Attorney and his assistants have made several attemnts to get statements from Dr. Dailey. Mr. Fox saw him Sunday night, twelve hours after the shooting, and at that time the injured physician denied all knowledge of the shooting of Mrs. Manbeck. His story then was brief and indicated that the woman had shot him and then killed herself. After the first shot, Dr. Dailey said, he became unconscious for fifteen minutes; then he went next door for help.

Doubt Third Person There.

The police, however, say their investigation shows that after the first shot Dr. Dailey telephone to a garage and ordered his car sent to his office, which is located in the front of his apartment. The car arrived later and in it the physician's neighbor took him to the hospital.

The District Attorney's office, it is stated, is firmly convinced that there was no third person in the Dailey apartment at the time of the double shooting. There have been rumors that Mrs. Anna Dailey, wife of the doctor, who left him last July to go to Philadelphia to live, was here Saturday. Mr. Fox said that so far as he can learn she had not been here for three weeks, and that Dr. Dailey, in answer to a question put to him by his brother, Dr. Gilbert Dailey, in the presence of the District Attorney Sunday night, said that no other person was present. At that time Dr. Dailey promised a complete statement Monday, but in the meantime Edward E. Beidelman, former Lieutenant-Governor, was engaged as counsel and he told his client not to talk.

RADIO TAKEN TO BIRDS IN HAUNTS

English Adopt Movie Stunt For Unique Plan.

Reports from England point to the adoption of radio as a means for catching the voices of song birds at their native haunts.

Recently British broadcast listeners were treated to just such entertainment when the manager of a station took the microphone into the woods, concealed it as motion picture operators do their cameras and transmitted the music of the woods to the cities.

Adoption of this plan is suggested to American broadcasters by the American Radio Relay League.

A REAL NERVE TONIC

Is a Bountiful Supply of Rich Health Giving Blood.

Sufferers from what medical men speak of as nervous debility find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of ground less fears and cannot sleep at night. Their hands tremble, the legs feel as if they will give away following a walk of any exertion, and the mind is greatly disturbed by the most trivial incidents.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. To secure this new, rich blood use Dr. Williams Pink Pills which have a direct action on the blood and through it stimulate every nerve and organ in the body.

Mr. Alpheus Merritt, Fenwick, Ont gives her experience with this medicine as follows: "I had a nervous breakdown and was in the Welland County Hospital for some time. As I was not improving my husband took me out and took me up to my mother's. I doctored there but it did not help me. Then I returned home and was again under a doctor's care, but with no better results. I would tremble and get numb all over, and the least noise would affect me. I was quite unable to do my housework, and was in a terrible condition. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and am thankful that I did so as after taking about a dozen boxes I was again a healthy woman. I have used the pills since while nursing my baby, with equally good results, and I strongly advise other ailing women to try them."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., rockville, Ont.

BROADCASTING HAS CENSORSHIP

Close Watch Kept On Radio Talkers.

What goes into the air and is received by radio fans is subject to a censorship keener and more arbitrary than any other check.

For at any time a listener may suddenly strike a minute or two of silence during a broadcast program he has been receiving with remarkable volume and selectivity.

The reason is, the radio censor has shut off the power on the speaker. And the reason for that is, the speaker has just begun to say something which the radio censor believes is not suitable for transmission.

And what is suitable for transmission is entirely up to the man listening in at the broadcasting station with his hand ready to turn the switch. There is no conference, no deliberation. A talk, contrary to the opinions of this one dictator, is cut off without a moment's delay.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATES ON BEACHES AT PAPETTE

Chinese Revive Junked Bicycles And Cars To Handle Trade.

PAPEETE, Tahiti, June 7 (Associated Press). — A great demand has arisen in these western islands for bicycles and motor cars, although the roads are mere tracks.

The Chinese in Papeete have endeavoured to satisfy the demand by combing all the old junk heaps for ancient bicycles and antique "tin lizzies." A little tinkering and a few coats of paint, and the rejuvenated contrivances are ready to be exchanged for quantities of vanilla far in excess of the value proffered.

This is one of the consequences of the visitation at Papeete of "vanilla millionaires" from the Leeward group of the Society Islands. These islands escaped the plant disease that devastated the plantations of Tahiti some years ago. Thus, when the price of vanilla beans soared recently to great heights, the islanders had full crops for which they received sums beyond their wildest dreams. Papeete being the Paris of the South Seas, these newly-risen nabobs have been flocking here to spend their gains.

The roads in and about the city have become perilous from flivvers, chartered by the week, loaded with fat Kanakas, who rush about at high speed to the consternation of pedestrians. Their women folk are astonishing the beach dwellers with glowing silks, high-heeled shoes, and picture hats.

This orgy of spending will continue until the last franc is gone. Then the natives will return happily to the peaceful shores of Raiatea and Bora Bora and resume their old pursuits of climbing the mountains for "fei" and combing the reefs for fish. But, having had a whale of a time, they will be content.

NASHVILLE SETS UP NEW UNIT GROUP OF MILESTONES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 7.—Tennessee's zero milestone, located on state memorial property in the heart of Nashville, has just been dedicated.

This is the third marker on the point where distance begins and ends in the United States, and is a gift to the state from the Nashville Automobile Club, representing the clubs interse tn ithe good roads movement.

The first milestone was erected at Washington, D.C., and dedicated by the late President Harding, and the second at San Diego, California, Nashville taking the initiative in this respect in the southeast.

A good roads program featured the dedication ceremonies, Governor Austin Peay receiving the gift in behalf of the state, and other officials also participating in the program.

The milestone, hewn of white Tennessee marble, is about three feet by two and a half feet each way and five feet tall. It will contain a record of distances to various cities in Tennessee and other states.

BIBLE TEXT USED AS BALLOT

BERLIN, June 7.—When the tellers in one of the outlying Berlin districts counted the votes in the recent Riechstag election, the found one ballot marked "Isaiah 41, 24."

From the Bible the tellers learned what the voter thought of the 168 candidates running in his district: "Behold, ye are of nothing, and your work of naught: an abomination is he that chooseth you."

STRANGE CURRENCIES OF EUROPE INVADE NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New Russian Currency Been Put on New York Exchange Market.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(Associated Press). — Foreign exchange brokers in New York, whose trading market hangs suspended on myriad telephone wires, are struggling with two new units of currency which recently have come into existence, the Russian tchervonetz and the Polish zloty.

Trading in these currencies, locally, has not yet reached extensive proportions, but dealers assert that before long the two odd-sounding exchanges will be quoted as freely as sterling or francs. In London, the tchervonetz already has virtually replaced the old Russian ruble as a trading unit. The latter, however, despite its infinitesimal value, is still preferred in the scattered dealings in this country.

The Polish zloty officially will supercede the mark as that country's unit of exchange on July 1. It is now being qquoted slightly below par, which is 5.18 to the dollar, but few transactions have taken place. The zloty is legal tender in Poland today together with marks, which are accepted at their conversion value of 1,800,000 for each new unit. An attempt will be made shortly before July 1 to shelve the almost worthless paper mark, but conversion privileges will be extended for another year. An emergency issue of zloty notes will be replaced by coins after January 1, 1925.

Introduction of the Russian and Polish newcomers into the foreign exchange ranks directs attention to the appearance abroad of many other new units. Some of them are merely old currencies masquerading under unfamiliar names, while others actually represent new monetary standards designed to replace exchanges whose value has shrunk to almost nothing in post-war inflation.

The Republic of Latvia, for instance, has adopted as its standards unit the lat, equivalent in value to the gold franc. Copper and nickel coins based on the lat have been issued and arrangement have been completed for the minting of silver lats. The Free State of Danzig also has established a new unit, the gulden, which is equal to a gold franc.

Lithuania on the other hand has abandoned European precedents and fixed te nominal value of its new unit, the litas or lit, at one-tenth of the American dollar. Austria has announced the introduction of a new silver "shilling" coinage, and several German cities, including Hamburg and Bremen, have adopted emergency currencies. The latter has issued notes which bear on their face the valu ien dollars and the equivalent in gold marks.

Czerhoslovakia has undertaken the coinage of gold ducats, which are not included in the regular monetary system and not accepted as legal tender, but are valued by weight in foreign trade transactions.

POLICE SEARCH FOR N.Y. STUDENT

Christopher G. Gordon Disappeared From Columbia University Last Thursday.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7. — Search for Christophed Gadsen Gordon, twenty-year-old Columbia University student and nephew of Philip H. Gadsen, vice president of the United Gas Improvement Company, is being made in this city, as well as in New York, following the young man's disappearance from the University dormitories last Thursday.

With young Gordon's father, Dewar Gordon, a banker of Charleston S.C., on his way north to direct the search, Mr. Gadsen, who lives at 6420 Overbrook road, is aiding the efforts of private detectives and police in the hope of finding some trace of the student.

"Personally, I would not be surprised if he just decided boyishly, to take a little trip, and will turn up all right," Mr. Gadsen said yesterday, but, despite this belief he has acceded to the request of his sister, the youth's mother, to taking an active part in the search.

Young Gordon left his room in the Columbia dormitories last Thursday morning, saying he intended to spend the afternoon at Coney Island and later to come to Philadelphia to visit his uncle. According to his room mate, Leonard Barrett, he stopped on his way to see Mrs. Charles Naylor of 118th street and Amsterdam avenue, an elderly woman, whose family are his closest friends in New York.

"He told Mrs. Naylor of going to Coney Island," Barrett said, "and showed her the package in which he carried his bathing suit under his arm, laughing about it. He has not been heard of since.

"It is possible, of course, that he just took it into his head to go away, though I don't think that at all likely When he left he was in the best of spirits and certainly was not in a mood to do himself any harm."

Barrett describes Gordon as about five feet seven inches tall, weighing 135 pounds, dark hair and eyes and fair complexion. He was wearing a black and white mixed suit, which gave the appearance of being gray, and a soft hat.

Young Gordon had been in Columbia a year, studying commercial art as a special student. He intended to become a commercial illustrator. University authorities said his absence had caused no comment, as many of the special students were leaving for home at this time, a little in advance ot the official close of the school year.

FARM NEWS

COLD WEATHER SPOILED SEASON FOR THE SHEEP IN MILLBROOK SECTION

Many Lambs Died Because of Malnutrition--Keeping of Sheep Has Been Advised By Government As Paying Business—Canadian Lamb Is Choice Item On American Menus.

FARM ACTIVITIES IN DISTRICT.

MILLBROOK, June 7.—The flocks of sheep, with their attendant crop of spring lambs, do not appear to be as numerous this spring throughout this district as in former years. The cold, wet weather is given as one reason for the lessened numbers, and more than one case has been cited, both of swine and sheep, where entire litters were lost through malnutrition due to the mother animal being unable to nourish her young.

During the recent visit of the live stock train here, the speaker, J. Telfer, of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, emphasized the point that there is money in raising the right breed and market type of sheep, instancing the fact that the large American hotels and restaurants now put on their menu cards, "Canadian Lamb," as a particularly choice item. This shows that the demand is already created, and may be indefinitely increased, provided that the proper method of preparing for market is adopted, and the proper article supplied. The cut in prices for buck lambs which have not been docked and castrated, has already gone into effect, and it is probable that a cut in prices of heavy and underweight lambs will shortly go into effect.

Cotswolds, Leicesters, Lincolns, and Shropshire Downs seem to be the favorite breeds in this part of Ontario. It is over ninety years since George Miller brought the first importation of Leicester sheep to Canada, and during the next thirty years the long-woolled variety was the most popular type throughout the Dominion. Seventy years ago Cotswolds made their appearance at the London Fair. Shropshires, brought out about the same time as the Cotswolds, did not do well in those early years. The demand in the United States was for smaller, hardier, finer-fleshed, and finer-woolled sheep, so, in the early seventies, the the Down breeds gained popularity in Canada.

In some districts, notably in Halton County, goat-raising is becoming a popular and lucrative industry, the milk, largely for invalids' use, finding a ready sale. That there is a definite medical value attached to the peculiar, penetrating odor of the goat may be be news to most people, but is a fact vouched for by a well-known authority on diseases of animals, who characterises it as "an agent for disinfecting created by the Almighty."

Placed in a stable where cattle, or other animals, are infected with diseases of the lungs or bronchial tubes, the epidemic soon disappears and the sick animals recover. One day there may be a hospital where the sole agent used as a cure for lung diseases will be the penetrating smells of the goat.

Mr. B. Wray, who, this spring, purchased the Collins' farm, about two miles east of Squirrel Bridge, moving out from Peterborough to take possession, bought a new binder recently, W. E. Ball, Millbrook, being the sales' agent.

Spring grains in this district are making a fair start, the warm weather of the last few days giving things a better chance, though the scattered showers still prevent the accomplishment of some work which should have been done earlier in the season.

On a number of farms seeding is now the task in hand, and in several cases the freshly-turned earth shows that ploughing has been a recent occupation.

Local prices for this week include dairy butter at from 28 to 30 cents, creamery butter at 35 cents, and eggs at 22 cents. There is a fair quantity of both butter and eggs being offered, though the week's collection of the latter was smaller than for some preceding weeks.

Practically no potatoes have been brought in recently, except an occasional bag, but doubtless there will be a supply after the farmers have finished planting what they require for seed purposes. Both in gardens and fields for the past week or ten days potato planting has been one of the mist noticeable activities.

The Blessed Dirt

I like to trudge the furrer
With the lines around my back,
With blackbirds all a-scrambling
For the bugs along the track.
I like it in the morning,
When the breeze is brisk and cool,
And the kids with shining dinner pails
Go piking off to school.
I kinda like to feel the wind
A puffing out my shirt,
And hear the trace chains jingle
And smell the blessed dirt.

The city has no charms for me
That anyways compares
With the joy I get in plowing,
With a spankin' team of mares.
And when the day is oeer
And I'm doin' up the chores,
I thank the Lord that leis me work
In his great out-of-doors.
The farmer's is the life for me,
And freely I assert,
The grandest thing about it is
To smell God's blessed dirt.

LAKEFIELD HAS BETTER GROWTH

Few Days Warm Weather Do Much to Help Crops—Still Behind Normal.

LAKEFIELD, June 7.—During the past week there has been a decided advance in the growth, but the season is far behind the ordinary year. A Selwyn farmer likens the weather to that of Alberta, and claims that while the start is slow there is a better chance of stronger grain. Last year the grain was light but the farmers are optimistic for this season. It promises a fair crop, and the fall wheat is doing well. Late seeding has, of course, retarded the spring grains.

Many farmers in this locality are planting potatoes and some staple vegetables, for which there is a certain market, so that with an uncertainty regarding grain and root crops, there will at least be something worth while.

The late cold spring has drawn a heavy toll from the young chicks, many of which have perished from the cold. Early young turkeys have also suffered from the wet weather, combined with the cold.

Hastings Fall Rye Was Up Forty-three Inches

HASTINGS, June 7. — Mr. Bruce Buttars, who lives about a mile out of town, brought in a sample of fall rye, which measured 43 inches high.

Mr. Buttars has about four acres, which averages about the same height.

Nearly everyone reports all fall grains looking well.

Keep Duty On Scrub Cows Is Opinion Of Experts

The turn from wheat growing to dairying has created an unusual demand for dairy cattle, of which, it is claimed by buyers, there is a scarcity in Canada and the Government is being urged to remove the duty on scrub and all dairy stock, putting them in the class with purebreds which are duty free.

It is extraordinary that there are still farmers and business men so short-sighted that they would buy scrub stock in order to save a few dollars when all expert evidence and experience show that such vastly better results, more milk, richer milk, better profits, come from the purebred tested strains. It costs no more to feed, care for and milk a high-grade cow giving much greater value in milk than the scrub.

The situation should be closely watched by all good dairy men and business men and their moral influence should be exerted on the Government to make no tariff changes that would encourage the admission of any but recognized quality stock.

BEAUTY IS PRACTICAL IN YOUR FARM GARDEN AND ADDS TO COMFORT

Planting of Trees, Shrubs and Flowers Does Not Cost a Lot of Money Or Take a Lot of Time — Form Idea First of How the House Should Look When Decorative Planting Is Complete.

WHAT TO DO AND HOW TO DO IT

By Furman L. Mulford.

TO many folks have the mistaken idea that it costs a lot of money to make plantings of flowers, shrubs and trees, and that it takes a lot of time to keep such plantings in shape. It will take a few hours every month to keep things up, but the average farmer can spare that much time for this important work.

The first thing to do is to give the problem a little study and make up your mind what you would like to achieve. Try to get an idea of how you would like your home to look.

Most of us associate some shade with the ideal country home, the one in which we would like to live. But though we want the force of the mid-day sun somewhat softened in midsummer, there must not be so much shade that the house is dark, or the air kept out.

With these ideas in mind, planning for the location of trees can begin. It will take time for them to grow but they might as well get started if they can be put in the right place.

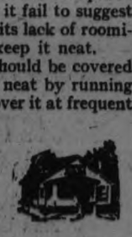
Shade Trees.

Besides giving shade, the trees should be so placed as to give as good a view of the house as possible from the main road. This can usually be done without interfering with the needed shade. If the whole of the house is shaded it will be too dark, and may be damp, but if the trees are located so that at maturity, glimpses of the house may be obtained between them, the prettiest picture of the house will result, and at the same time sufficient sunshine will be permitted to reach it.

Another important matter to be settled is the amount of land to be included with the house as its setting. This is one of the hardest points to solve satisfactorily, but it is vital to the comfort and satisfaction of the whole family.

It is easy to include too much land in the home enclosure and it is also possible to include too little, so that it looks and seems as cramped as a city yard. If it is too large, too much care is required in keeping it neat; while if too small, not only does it fail to suggest the comfort that should go with the farm home, but its lack of roominess may require an excessive amount of time to keep it neat.

A large part of the open space about the home should be covered with grass; and, if well arranged, this can be kept neat by running the lawn-mower, or even the field mowing-machine, over it at frequent intervals. The most attractively arranged lawn lends itself admirably to this treatment, as needed plantings will be arranged largely about the border, leaving the center quite open.



Occasionally, it is possible to have a permanent pasture adjoining the lawn, with trees scattered through the pasture in such a manner as to have a lawn-like appearance and have it separated from the lawn by an inconspicuous fence. Such an arrangement will permit the lawn to be much smaller than otherwise, and yet give necessary breadth and openness to the appearance of the home.

Cost of a Dinner

ONE hundred and fifty farmers sat down to a dinner in Imbler, Ore., recently, and the meal cost them just 16 cents a-piece. Nearly everything at the table was the product of the farm and the cost per plate was computed at the price which the farmer obtained for the product, plus the labor cost of preparing the food. Computed at the Portland restaurant prices, the meal would have cost $1.55 a plate. This clearly indicates the unfair spread between the prices producers receive and prices consumers have to pay. The "in-betweeners" would have gotten $1.39 for this meal while the farmers received less than 16 cents. It looks as if it is about time for farmers to insist on getting more of the dollar the consumer pays for their product.

GETTING READY A SCHOOL FAIR

District Agricultural Representative Arranges Dummer Annual.

WARSAW, June 7.—Mr. McCrae, District Agricultural Representative, Norwood, was in Warsaw and other parts of Dummer, making arrangements for the Dummer School Fair. He also wants to hold demonstrations of poultry culling in about four flocks in the near future. He has culled a great many flocks, and told of one case near Norwood where he culled a flock of 105 birds, and took out 30. The owner kept these 30 for a month and got one egg. His flock is being culled again this year.

Gordon Payne put his milk cows on grass for the first this year on Friday.

A farmer has 17 cows, and has them all raising calves. It is certainly easier work than milking, even with a machine. As soon as one lot of calves is ready to go he has others secured.

Mr. McCrae reports that the hay now looks rather poor. On the whole, clover is pretty poor. An odd field of good clover is seen in a sheltered spot. Many report timothy poor, though some have good crops.

Growth has made more advance in the last three days than in the previous two weeks.

Warsaw Man Raised Barn and Entertained Workers

WARSAW, June 7.—On Tuesday afternoon Michael McKeivar raised his new hip roof barn, 36 feet by 60 feet. The cement foundation was built last fall. Roland Payne, Lakefield, was the carpenter, and everything went together without a hitch. Ninety men sat down to supper after the bee.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. McKeiver gave a party to about 300 guests, who all had a jolly time.

Orland Young Men Have King Of Ontario Birds

ORLAND, June 7.—Gerald Latimer and Fred. Hennessy of this place were walking through Joseph B. Wright's woods one evening when they came across a large owl which had evidently just gorged himself on a partridge, as there was a wing and a part of one leg of a freshly-killed partridge lying on the ground nearby.

The lads secured some stones, and although their game was perched on a limb over 25 feet from the ground, Gerald was able to bring him down. On going to secure him they found he was only stunned and showed fight. They, however, secured and proudly carried home this king of Ontario birds.

On measuring, the wing spread was 48¼ inches. The down under the wing was 4½ inches long. On observing the 2½-inch talons and formidable snapping beak one could plainly read in the large eyes, "Thus far shalt thou go and no farther". This magnificent bird would be a valued addition to some naturalist's collection, if properly mounted.

OMEMEE FARMERS SEEK AN EQUITABLE RETURN FOR PRODUCTION WORK

Government At One Time Fixed Prices to Help the Consumer—Now Farmers Are In Dire Straits Through Inadequate Recompense—Can It Apply Same Principle?

OLD ART BUT NEW CONDITIONS.

By Mrs. L. A. MAHOOD.

OMEMEE, June 7.—Agriculture is one of the oldest of human arts, dating from long before the dawn of history; but old as is the history of agriculture, its methods and implements, there are still plenty of tribes who neither plant nor sow. In the early days of agriculture, the farmers were isolated. They lived far apart from their neighbors and from the towns, and depended largely upon themselves. In time, however, cities sprang into existence. Food stuffs were sent from the farm to those centres of population, and in exchange were brought back the manufactured wares that were used in subjecting the lands and in procuring still larger returns. The farmer became more and more a specialist, who devoted his energies to the production of the raw materials, leaving the making of manufactured articles to the city man. After years of activity, an unconscious but general survey was affected, showing what sections were best devoted to the production of each particular crop or class of livestock. The splendid advantages for water power enabled certain sections of the country to develop manufactures, while on the broad expanse of fertile acres in other regions, attention was centred on the growing of farm products.

More than half a century ago, a marvellous development in the manufacture of farm machinery took place. With better machinery, crops could be more easily grown, and with more crops more people could be fed and a greater quantity of live stock supported. Thus the stock-raising industry has been steadily increasing, and farming has always been one of the leading industries, and, as a general thing, the market for farm produce has heretofore been such as to make agriculture profitable. Since the war, however, prices have taken a slump, and now the agriculturist, in almost every case, has to accept the small price for produce and in return pay the high price for wages and everyday wants. This condition of affairs cannot continue, as was explained when a resolution was passed at the recent meeting of the United Farmers in Omemee, to the effect that a commission, composed of representatives from every important calling be appointed by the Government to set fees, rates of profits and wages, and further recommend that they be all lowered, which will cheapen the cost of living.

It has been urged by those who were in favor of the resolution that it was not a new principle. When the consumers were afraid that they would be handicapped by the producer charging too much for his products, they urged the Government, and succeeded in having the prices set at a fixed rate; for example, the price of wheat. Is it too much, then, when the producer is handicapped, and the Government admits he is by having a commission to investigate conditions, that the same principle should be applied and that the charge for the services of the producer be fixed and that a general downward tendency be maintained, thereby benefitting agriculture. Many consumers have expressed sympathy for agriculture in words. How many are ready to help it?

TREES BLOSSOM.

Plum and cherry trees in this district are blossoming well and the outlook is apparently favorable, if any forecast is possible so early. Strawberries are about at the height of their bloom at the present time and make a good showing. It is not thought that the frosts last week injured the fruit bloom to any great extent. Among the strawberries there is found occasionally a blackened blossom, but fortunately the height of bloom was not reached until the cold weather had passed. The buds on the apple trees are fast beginning to open.

GOOD AND BAD IN COBOURG REPORTS

Some Farmers Report Excellent Crops, While Others Are Still Awaiting Warmth.

COBOURG, June 7.—Reports of the crop situation in this district are varied. Here and there is a farmer who reports excellent prospects, with fall grain coming on well and spring-sown grain making satisfactory growth. Then it is not impossible to find other men who are doing the bulk of their seeding this week, it having been impossible to get on the land before. This is more especially the case along the lake front, although farther back there is here and there a farmer who has been badly hit also.

NO EARLY POTATOES.

The prospect for early potatoes in this district does not appear to be very promising. Some gardeners and farmers report that the seed has rotted and they have been obliged to replant their ground. This tends to increase the demand and the price of the lowly tuber.

Seeding Of Last Week Good Near Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, June 7.—The farmers of this district state that the season is just about two weeks later this year than usual. This week will finish practically all of the spring seeding that will be done this spring. It is generally considered that the grain that has been sown last week and this will be equally as far advanced as the grain that was sown six weeks ago. It has made very little progress, while the wet parts of the fields have scalded out, and the ground has become baked so hard that the grain is going to find it very difficult to break through.

Hastings Cheese Sold At 15 Cents a Pound

HASTINGS, June 7.—The price received for the first shipment of cheese sold from the Ormond cheese factory at Hastings was 15 cents a pound. It was sold at Belleville recently.

The local stock dealer, Richard Walsh, shipped from the local Canadian National station here and from Campbellford, in all, five carloads of hogs and one carload of calves.

The price paid for the former was 7¾ cents a pound, they being shipped to Peterboro'. The calves were bought at a lump sum and were shipped to Toronto.

TURKEYS REQUIRE CAREFUL FEEDING

Lots of Room For Flock to Forage Is Prime Requirement.

By R. L. CRERAR.

Allow the young turkeys no food for 24 hours. Then feed often, but avoid overfeeding, giving food at least every two hours until they feather. The reason of this is that the growth of feathers on young turkeys is very rapid and demands a constant supply of nutrition, hence a single omission of food for a few hours sometimes prove fatal.

The feed at first should be coarse corn meal which is added to a mixture of milk and eggs. This should be cooked and an onion chopped up and added to it. After they are three days old, feed mashed potatoes, chopped onions, ground oats and egg well mixed with milk and cooked. Milk is always excellent. After they are a week old the egg may be omitted, but a proportion of cooked meat and a little ground bone should be allowed. They may then be allowed grain of all kinds (corn being ground), cooked vegetables and milk. The water should be fresh and clean, one quarter of a teaspoonful of tincture of iron to be given in every pint of water.

One of the secrets of raising young turkeys is never allow them to get wet or chilled. The damp grass is fatal. Keep them in a coop with the hen three or four days, and then allow them to ramble with her on dry days only, keeping them in a roomy place on the approach of wet weather, but if carefully watched until they are beyond danger, they will take care of themselves.

Do not attempt to raise turkeys unless you have ample room for them to forage upon, as they stray off a long distance.

George Rogers Has Rye Showing Well In Orland

ORLAND, June 7.—Mr. George Rogers has the best piece of rye in this locality. It lies on a dry sandy flat at the foot of a high hill on the northwest of it, and consequently has every advantage.

All hay is very backward except alfalfa and sweet clover. There is considerable of the latter as the land in the vicinity is light.

There will be a large acreage of ensilage corn and buckwheat as many farmers could not get on their low lands in time for anything else.

Many report strawberries damaged from the heavy frosts of a fortnight ago.

Cattle Will Summer On Sugar Island This Year

BETHEL, June 7.—Andrew Rennie is at George Patterson's this week building the cement wall for the new barn.

H. McKay took his young cattle away last week to Sugar Island for the summer, Bruce Parker transferring them there from Wallace's Point on his new scow.

The spring grains are coming on very slowly; also garden stuff.

Indian River prices: Butter, 35c; eggs, 33c.

World Wheat Conditions

As Summed Up By Barrons.

REPORTS from Europe indicate a winter wheat yield less than that of last year, while Europe is taking more wheat than it was estimated to need earlier in the season. These two facts would indicate that the new crop of wheat should sell at somewhat higher prices than now prevailing.

Europe and India together have nearly the same acreage of winter wheat that they had last year. The estimated 4.2 per cent. decrease in the world's winter wheat acreage is accounted for almost entirely in the United States. Europe also increased its rye acreage sufficient to offset the decrease in the United States. The world crop of winter wheat and rye, therefore, on the acreage basis has a prospect of about 4 per cent. less than last year.

Conditions at present do not favor the crop. The large production in Europe last year was due to a heavy yield per acre. Argentina and Australia also had large yields and Canada produced an extraordinary crop, averaging over 20 bushels to the acre. The Canadian crop of the preceding year also was large. Outside of the United States, therefore, the wheat crop of last year was due more to the favor of Providence than to the acreage. What Canada, Argentina and Australia will do this year no one at this time can say, but we do know that in Europe the conditions at present are not favorable to a repetition of last year's production.

In the United States the winter wheat crop is spotty. In some of the Central West it is poor, thin and spindly. In those regions there is little hope of a recovery. In the Southwest, however, one of the best crops of history is now growing. But a rank, heavy growth pumps moisture from the soil much faster than if the stand were thin, and in those regions lack of moisture is already being felt. If the Southwest produces a heavy crop of winter wheat, it must have rains without much further delay. Taken in connection with the unfavorable reports from Europe the probabilities at this date are against a world wheat harvest as large as that of a year ago.

In the circumstances, judging from crop conditions as they appear today and the apparent increase in consumption abroad, there is more hope for a moderate advance in prices than there has been at any time this year.

When a Joint Deed Is Not

A MAN and his wife buy some farm property, jointly; that is, they have the deed made out to them jointly so that in the case of the death of either, the whole property reverts to the other. They mean well, but sometimes a joint deed is not a joint deed—it's something else. For instance:

A man and his wife, with grown children, bought a farm jointly. They had a joint deed, supposedly; they wished it to be so that in the event of the death of either, the full control and ownership of the farm should pass to the remaining one. So far so good. The man died—leaving his widow as sole owner? Yes, apparently. In the course of a few months some business brought to light the fact that the joint deed was not a joint deed at all.

Here is where the flaw was: When the deed was made to the man and his wife, no statement was made in regard to joint tenancy. It was pointed out to the widow, that to create a joint tenancy in a deed it is necessary to state that the holders are joint tenants. If this statement does not occur in the deed, it is not a joint one and in this case the widow can claim only her third—by legal rights. In this case the children knew and respected the wishes of both parents, and governed themselves accordingly.

But in view of this case, which is well known to me, I have wondered if perhaps this very flaw might not occur in many other supposedly joint deeds. Better employ a good attorney to go over the deed, already made, or the one being made, and have his authority for it, that the deed is really as you wish it to be.

The presence of that little clause in the deed may save many tears and heartaches in later years, by preventing the home from being sold over your very head. Consult your lawyer before it is too late.—I. J. Neff.

LITTLE LESSONS ON PLANT FOODS

Half of Tree Is Built From Carbon Material That the Leaves Take From the Air.

When wood is burned it becomes black. This black substance is carbon. A large part of every plant or tree is carbon. A large tree, weighing, let us say, six tons, requires for its growth carbon from 16,000,000 cubic yards of air. All the carbon that a plant gets is taken from the air, none from the soil. It is the leaves of plants that do this work. The leaves are the carbon catchers.

When wood or coal is burned the carbon goes back into the air and other leaves take some of it up, and thus plants grow. Of a whole plant only a very small part comes from the soil. If this were not so every tree would dig a hole as it grows. The fact is over one-half of a tree is built out of the carbon material that the leaves take in from the air. Moreover, plants can do this work only in the sunlight. Hence, there are two essential things about taking in the carbon. There must be sunshine and the leaves must be green. The green coloring in leaves is known as chlorophyl. With these two facts being present, carbon is taken into the leaves through little mouths on the underside of the leaves, and then in the leaves the carbon is made into two foods which are called starch and sugar. The plant uses this starch and sugar in its growth, or for the building of the plant tissue.

The plant may be compared to a manufacturing enterprise. The green coloring matter of the leaves is the machine, the sunlight is the engine or power that keeps the machine running, and so growth follows. All the carbon of a farm crop is the result of leaf work. None of it is from the soil. The roots have another job—they take in water and minerals. But getting water into the plant is their great work.

Look At The Cow's Teeth Before Making Purchase

Look at the teeth. If an intelligent purchase of a cow is to be made, the teeth must not escape examination. If the teeth are poor or lacking, age has made perfect mastication impossible. The teeth must be sound, as an indication of soundness and strength of constitution or "efficiency" in the soldier. So, too, we should find sound teeth in the dairy cow that is to eat well and last well. It is well to remember that incisor teeth of cattle are directed forward, are shovel-shape, and loose in their sockets. Many an unobservant person or beginner with cows have been tricked with this natural condition into imagining all sorts of troubles as the cause. The teeth are loose and projecting that they may not lacerate the hard palate of the upper jaw, which serves the purpose of an upper set of the incisors. If the cow is quite old, the broad part of the incisod teeth will be found much worn, and even wholly worn off, so that mere rounded stubs of the necks of the teeth remain. A cow in that condition is rarely a profitable investment, unless she is pure-bred and famous as a producer of fine calves.

WHAT HAS HELPED MOST ON MY FARM

Farmer's Wife Declares Running Water in the House Was Greatest Advantage In Making Life Easy.

For some reason when our well was dug it was placed near the barn, some distance from the house. I suppose the former owner thought the stock needed water more than the women folk did. Anyway, there is the well, at least 100 feet from the house. I have a notion the horses and cows can walk to a water trough and drink their fill easier than the farm woman can carry all the water required for running a house. This well arrangement, therefore, never was to my satisfaction.

My husband has always been considerate and has always seen to it that we had water for the house requirements. But as every farm woman knows there are many times during the year when the water buckets are empty. And it does take, oh, so much water to run a house properly!

I always had an idea that we could improve matters if we but set about it in the right way. One day when my husband was in an especially happy mood I brought up the subject of getting water into the house, pointing out how many, many times during a year we had no water in the house and what a harsdhip it was to carry it when busy with other things.

"If," I said, "some way were provided for having running water it would not only make my work easier, but it would save a lot of tiring work for you men folks."

My husband agreed to this. I had done some figuring also.

"Four trips a day," I said, "make 800 feet walked every day carrying water; and this for the year is over fifty miles!"

My husband decided upon a small gasoline engine as the solution of the problem. We had a tank built in the large attic of the house, and the pipes put in. To-day the engine pumps all the water for both the house and the stock. It is not only a great time saver, but it has taken from our arms and shoulders a large share of the most disagreeable work of the farm.

Hence, I say, this single convenience has helped me most of all things in doing our house and farm work. We have an automobile, but of the two, an automobile and a water system, the water system gives me, personally, more satisfaction because it saves me so much time.

UNSINKABLE SHIP IS STILL A MYTH

LONDON, June 7.—(United Press).—"The unsinkable ship is a myth," said Sir Alan Anderson, presiding over the international conference of world shipping interests in London. "It is not only a myth, it is a dangerous myth, if it induces false confidence. A modern ship, properly handled ,does not sink unless she hits something harder than water; but if she charges another ship, or rock, or iceberg, she will sink in spite of bulkheads, loadline and deck cargo regulations, and the lives of all on board will be in peril in spite of lifeboats, rafts and boats.

"The one absolute safeguard at sea is a vigilant master.

"Bulkheads and other precautions may and will mitigate disaster, but they are more likely to prove useful if they are wisely, and not extravagantly, framed."

HUMAN FACES GROW LENGTHY

Professor Says As Ages Pass The Face Gradually Grows Longer.

LONDON, June 6 (Associated Press). — The human face is no what it used to be. Professor Sir Arthur Keith declared recently before the Dental Board of the Royal College of Surgeons that a curious change is taking place in the processes of growth affecting the face, which makes the modern face a half-inch longer than the ancestral physiognomy.

The bone of the mouth, it seems, is growing downward and carrying with it the teeth, as the rest of which the face is daily getting nearer the standard set by the bloodhound. These changes also are affecing the upper bones of the face, giving it also a downward tendency.

Sir Arthur believes that the changes are related to the changes in society brought about by the industrial revolution, and due to a large extent to the absence of light in the large cities. The contracted palate of the modern skull has been brought about by these tendencies.

Sir Arthur has discovered among other things that the teeth are now twelve millimeters below the teeth of primitive people; that there has been downward growth of the cheek-bone; that the teeth are sinking backward; that there has been the growth of more bone from the lower jaw and the appearance of a sharp ledge of bone between the teeth and the nose.

"These changes," declared the lecturer, "are not only among the most remarkable in the human body, but they are not anything like finished. I am convinced that this displacement of the teeth and the resultant contraction of the palate is connected with such disorders as adenoids, and that they are all part and parcel of a disorder of growth about which we as yet know little."

The speaker added that far from the contracted palate being a sign of stupidity, a man with a contracted palate was often more intelligent and more courageous than another man.

Embroideries Enhance Novel Leather Sports Jackets From Vienna

VIENNA.—The latest fad in sports attire is leather garments with colorful machine embroidery, whose effect is intensified by gold and silver threads. The firm "Fredia" brought out a series of embroidered models, which find much favor here and in England, where they have just been shown. The jaquettes, made of soft velour leather in black, brown, beige, mustard and other colors, have hem, collar and cuffs embroidered with fine motifs, in which appear red and blue silk flowers and also gold and silver threads.

Other models derived from Bulgarian costumes have no collars and are outlined with narrow bands of embroidery in large colorful motifs. Front and back panels fall quite straight, fitting tightly around the hips, with width achieved by gatherings at both sides just above the bottom embroidery, the leather being so soft that the gathering does not look in the least clumsy. While most leather garments have a separate yoke section, the skins being hardly ever long enough for the whole length, the smart embroidered types which would be spoiled by such a yoke effect, get the necessary length by an invisible joining beneath the bottom embroidery.

In most cases the colorful embroidery appears only in bands, but there is also a smart mustard colored jacket, which is embroidered all over in two-toned shades. The lining is invariably chosen in one of the colors of the embroidery.

Among the waistcoats for men and women, which are either sleeveless or with leather or silk sleeves, are some of suede, speckled all over with contrasting blocks, which are produced by slipping colored leather bands through small slits of the ground material. A very smart looking waistcoat in this style is in pale grey, and the blocks are pale lemon.

SOWING SOME SEED

The other day I met a man and he was wearing a sour face, This was his story, but told in my own words: "One morning, I sowed the seed of a little trouble and the next day planned to take a pleasure trip, but the trouble came up overnight, and I had to postpone my outing and patch up my trouble.

"Two weeks later I got a chance to take a three days vacation and was about to start on my trip when the patches came off the trouble and it took me one whole day to repair a situation. My vacation was abandoned.

"Later, on three different occasions I had made up my mind to have a little rest, but about the time I got ready to go the same old trouble would confront me and my pleasure was spoiled.''

Have you ever made the mistake of sowing the seed of trouble, and then, when you most wanted to be free, and have a little pleasure, find trouble in your way?

You are curious to know what kind of seed was sown last Spring by this man, and I will tell you: He borrowed some money to speculate with and the speculation proved to be a total loss.

If you cannot afford to lose money, speculation is sowing the seed of trouble.

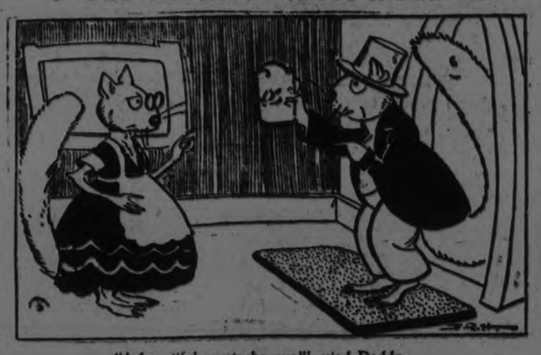
D'DDY CRACKNUTS BUYS A PRESENT



"A beautiful mustache cup!" cried Daddy.

"I want," said Old Daddy Cracknuts, "to buy a mustache cup, young man."

Nick turned to Mister Bags, who kept the store. "Do we keep mustache cups, Mister Bags? Here is a gentleman who wishes to buy one."

"Why, how do you do, Daddy Cracknuts!" cried Mister Bags, who had been so busy cutting a slice of cheese for Mrs. Long Tail that he hadn't seen the squirrel gentleman come in. "Of course, we keep mustache cups. The very latest style, too. They're on the second shelf from the top Nick, right in front. There you are."

Nick climbed up and got all the mustache cups and set them in a row on the counter for Daddy Cracknuts to choose from.

"It's hard to make up my mind," said Daddy, putting on his glasses and looking over each one carefully "They are all very handsome. I don't know whether I like the blue one with the dandelions painted on it the best or the red one with tiger lilies."

"Here's a fine one in yellow with milk weeds on it," said Nick.

"And I like this one," said Nancy, coming up and offering her advice.

Everybody tried to help. Even Mister Bags stopped weighing some sunflower seed and came over to help.

At last Daddy Cracknuts decided on one covered with morning glories painted on sky-blue.

"Hey, Sally!" he called to his wife, "I've got old Mosey Mud Turtle's birthday present."

"What did you get?" asked Mr Cracknuts, buzzing busily in and wiping her hands on her apron.

"A beautiful mustache cup!" cried Daddy proudly, taking off the paper and holding it up.

"But," said Mrs. Cracknuts, "Mosey has no mustache! He doesn't need a mustache cup any more than I need another nose!"

"That's so!" declared Daddy gloomily. "I never thought of that. Of course he has no mustache!"

Then he brightened suddenly. "Oh, I know!" he cried. "I'll call it a shaving mug. He'll never know the difference. I'll write it on a card. I'll say, 'Dear Mosey, please accept this shaving mug with my compliments.'"

"Humph!" sniffed Mrs. Cracknuts. "As though that would be any better! Mosey hasn't got a hair on him. He's as bald as a soup toureen all over. What would he do with a shaving mug?"

"That's so," said Daddy gloomily. "Well, I don't know what to call the thing, drat it!"

"The only thing to do," said Mrs. Cracknuts, "is to make up a name, and then they can use it for anything they like."

So she thought and thought.

"I have it!" she cried. "We'll call it a mustamugoza. That sounds Spanish and they won't dare to ask us what it means."

So Daddy wrote carefully:

"Dear Mosey, please accept this mustamugoza with my compliments. Daddy D. Cracknuts."

And Mister and Mrs. Turtle put it in the middle of their parlor mantel, where it sits to this day.

That was nine months ago, and I have not had a sign of it since. I surely wish to thank you for this wonderful medicine and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from the same trouble as I had."

MANY ROSES IN OUNCE OF ATTAR

In 1923 Only 470 Ounces Produced From 11,000,000 Pounds Of Blooms.

KANZANLUK, Bulgaria, June 7.—(Associated Press.) — The rose harvest of this region, known as the "Valley of Roses," and which produces most of the world's supply of oil ,or attar of roses, is now in full swing.

The harvest continues until about mid June and it is believed this year's crop will be a good one, although the production has been somewhat decreased by the inroads of tobacco cultivation.

Statistics just issued on the production and sale of oil of roses indicate that the United Sttaes is now the escond perfumery producing country of the world, ranking next to France.

Last year the French took about one-half of the product of the "Valley of Roses," the districts of Kazanluk and Karlovo lying between Stara Planina and the Gora mountains. Oil of roses is the base of nearly all perfumery. The industry in Bulgaria is practically in the hands of small proprietors, peasants working on a cooperative basis.

The reason for the high cost of rose oil is found in the fact that in 1923 only about 470 ounces were produced from 11,000,000 pounds of bloom.

Better Design adds to the Desirability of Concrete Roads

THERE are in existence to-day—still giving splendid service—Concrete Roads built many years ago. It was the low upkeep and general satisfaction of those earliest concrete highways that gave road engineers confidence in Concrete.

Naturally, much has been learned about concrete in the past decade and that new knowledge is expressed in improvement of design. Thus, the fruits of experience and very thorough tests are being incorporated in the design of much of the yardage being laid at the present time.

For instance, a longitudinal construction joint in the center of the slab greatly reduces the strains from frost action. A thickening of the edges and a reduction in thickness at the center of the slab makes the road stronger where the greatest strength is required but uses a smaller yardage of concrete than formerly. These ideas are but typical of the advance that has been made in concrete road-building practice.

The result is a cost that brings concrete's price-per-mile to a figure which the average community cheerfully pays. For when the cost of construction and of maintenance over a period of years is considered, the economy of concrete is self-evident.

ELECTRIC AUTOMATIC REGULATOR AT DAM 10

First Machine of Its Kind to be Constructed— Will Maintain Level of Trent Canal—Campbellford's Water Works' Profit $719.55 Last Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 7. — The workmen are now putting in the wires to connect the new electric automatic regulator which has been installed at Dam 10 on the Trent Canal system, at what is known as the cement bridge. It is expected that the connections will be made and the current turned on early next week. When this plant begins operations it will work a new advance in electrical development as it is the first of the kind to be constructed.

The regulator has been put in to maintain the level of the Trent Canal and it will do away with the necessity of using stop logs for this purpose. The river over which the cement bridge has been built carries away the surplus water from the canal and in the past the supply has been regulated by stop logs. In case of an accident to the Hydro system, which would necessitate the shutting down of any of the dams, there was always a danger that the water would overflow the banks of the canal at this point and flood the town of Campbellford before the stop logs at Dam 10 could be operated.

In 1922 a building was put up at Dam 10 to house the machinery for the automatic regulator, which was planned at that time. The necessary valves were secured from the William Hamilton Company of Peterborough a year ago, and since these were put in they have been operated by hand. The use of the stop logs, however, was not entirely abandoned.

C. G. E. Gets Contract.

The contract for putting in the machinery to operate the valves was awarded to the C.G.E. which also furnished the three 15 horse power motors to operate the plant. Six men have been engaged for several weeks putting in the machinery and making the connection with the Hydro system and this work is now nearly completed. W. J. Konkle, of Toronto, was foreman and his assistants were J. R. Russell, John Hay and Walter Lowe, all expert workmen of Campbellford, Melville Sanders of Peterborough, and W. Streethley of Ottawa.

W. H. Pretty, of Peterborough, who is on the engineers' staff of the Trent Canal, and the architect from Toronto, who prepared the blue print, were here recently to inspect the work, and everything was found satisfactory.

When the plant is started its operation will be watched with interest by electrical engineers the country over. Just as soon as the water in the river reaches a certain height due to a sudden rise in the water in the canal, the new machinery will be automatically set in motion and all danger of an overflow will be averted.

Water and Light Commission.

At the meeting of the Water and Light Commission, Engineer Scott was instructed to have a lease drawn up giving authority to George Ironsides, general superintendent of the Hydro system in this district, to string Hydro wires on the town poles for the Campbellford Cloth Company's premises to his residence on Inkerman street. This concession was authorized at the last meeting of the Town Council, but the concurrence of the commission was necessary. The commission will charge a nominal rental for the use of the poles and the lease before taking effect must be approved by the members.

The reason given by Mr. Ironsides for wishing to light his residence from the Hydro instead of the town plant, was that he would be in a position to detect at any hour of the day or night any accident to the system which he supervises. He stated to the Council that he would use the Hydro juice for lighting only as he had no intention of putting an electrical heating apparatus in his home.

Commissioner Caddy was appointed a delegate to attend the annual convention of the Municipal Electrical Utilities Association, which meets at Niagara Falls on June 26-28.

A Paying Concern.

That the water works system in Campbellford is a paying concern is shown by the report of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs just issued. The earnings in 1923 amounted to $3,335.63 and the operating expenses were $2,616.08. The value of the assets is placed at $48,165.57, with no liabilities. The net profits for 1923 totalled $719.55.

The number of gallons pumped during the year is not given, as Campbellford is one of the few municipalities in Ontario that has no meter in its pumping station to make a record of the amount of water furnisher its residents.

Roseneath Here Saturday.

The Roseneath baseball team will be here Saturday for a postponed game with the locals. Play will begin at 3 p.m. Scott, the left hander, who has been suffering from a sore hand, will be in the box for the home nine.

The late Mr. Hull moved from Stoney Lake to Norwood about four years ago. Until his last illness the deceased had never had a doctor in attendance on him.

RESCUE EFFORT FAILED.

Haliburton Boy Drowned in Grass River at Clark's Bridge.

LINDSAY, June 7. — Word has reached here of the death by drowning in Grass River, Haliburton Co., of Harry Deacon, aged fifteen years.

Grass River joins Grass and Maple Lakes, and the sad event occurred at Clark's Bridge in the vicinity of Deacon's home.

The young lad was shoving logs off the shore with a pikepole. In going out on a boom to recover the pole, which had moved away with a log, he lost his balance and fell into the water.

Lawrence Morrison, who was working near by jumped in after the boy.

He succeeded in securing a hold on Deacon, but his struggles exhausted him, and he was forced to make his way to the shore alone.

The body was recovered on Tuesday afternoon.

Not a Bright Spot.

DOURO, June 7.—Hay meadows, which some time ago looked so promising, are showing the effects of the continued cold weather. From present indications hay will be a poor crop. Fall wheat and spring grains are in fair condition, notwithstanding frost and cold weathers. Gardens are making no progress.

ROSENEATH AND DISTRICT

ROSENEATH, June 6.—The board of Merrill's cemetery met at Merrill's Church on Wednesday afternoon. With the exception of the chairman, Rev. A. R. Walsh, who is attending the Bay of Quinte Conference at Picton, all members of the board were present, namely, Messrs. William Arnold, George Clark, Gordon Parker, Herman Blodgett and Orra Varcoe.

This church was on the Roseneath circuit until some years ago, when it was closed for lack of preachers. It and the shed are fast getting into a dilapidated condition for the want of repair, and they are frequently used at times of funerals. The finances are very low, and the board did not know what to do, but after considerable discussion they decided to go ahead and repair both and paint the church. Each member of the board promised a subscription of $5, and William Arnold and Gordon Parker were appointed a committee to canvass those who have dear ones there or who are interested in this matter. Any contributions from people from a distance will be gratefully accepted by the treasurer, Wm. Arnold, R.R. 3, Roseneath.

Every year, in June, a day is set for cutting the grass in the cemetery and beautifying the graves of the loved ones who are gone, and the board decided on Tuesday, June 17th, at one o'clock p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Team Improving.

The local baseball team is rounding into an outfit that will make any team step to win from them. Tom Bates, short stop for Harwood last year, has been secured, and was seen in the line-up against Hastings where he turned in a good performance. He has added considerable strength to the team, and with Davey at second, B. Thackeray at first, and probably Hogg also of last year's Harwood team, will make an infield that will be hard to beat. Thackerey, as catcher, always gives a good account of himself, and is second to none in the league. In the pitcher's box we have Dunnett, a southpaw, who has won two games and lost one; Leach, a right-hander, who needs no introduction to the fans and batsmen of this league; and the veteran Shearer, who plays centre field, and can be relied upon to take his turn in the box when necessary as well as play third. For the outfield there is Armstrong, Moore, Montgomery, Dawn and Baker of last year's team, Williams of Harwood, and Turner, a recruit, who has held down right field thus far, batting in a real old-time style, but, as yet, has not struck his stride in the field.

A real outfield can be chosen from this bunch of players. The strongest line-up available will oppose Campbellford on Saturday, as a win will put them close to Colbourne, the leaders, whom they meet on the following Wednesday on the home grounds. Some mention should be made of William Wellman, of Hastings, who has been official umpire in both home games. His work has been the best of any visiting umpire seen on the local diamond since the commencement of the County League. He gives everything as he sees it in an impartial manner. If all umpires in the league would follow his example we would have fewer protests, cleaner sport and better patronage of the followers of baseball as a pastime.

Not since the days of the Roman emperors has Palestine had a money of its own, having used that of its rulers through the centuries since then. Egyptian money was introduced here after the occupation by General Allenby's forces. It is planned that the new money shall be issued directly by the government without the intermediary of any bank.

ASPIRIN APPEAL WAS SUSTAINED

Supreme Court Reverses Exchequer Court Decision— Trade Mark Protected.

TO PRIVY COUNCIL NEXT.

OTTAWA, June 7. Canadian Press —With Justices Idington and Halcut dissenting, the Supreme Court of Canada this morning reversed the decision of the exchequer court in the long drawn out battle over the right to the use of the term "Aspirin."

This trade mark was first registered in Canada by a German company which assigned to a New York company. On the ground that "aspirin" is a drug well known to chemists, which cannot be made a special trade article by the use of a trade mark, a firm manufacturing in Canada applied to the Exchequer Court for an order to expunge the trade mark from the registry.

The exchequer court granted the order. The decision of the Exchequer court was appealed to the Supreme court, which yesterday allowed the appeal.

It is expected that the case will now be taken to the Privy Council.

NATIONALISM IS GERMAN MENACE

Nationalists Believe Germany Will Become a First-Class Power And Think France Is Trembling.

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, June 7.—(United Press).—German Nationalists are trying to take advantage of the defeat of the Poincare militarism in France, to erect a new kind of militarism with wooden guns in Germany. The fortunate fact, however, that Germany is disarmed makes it certain that the French radical groups will be able to demonstrate their policy of regenerating Europe without fear of treachery across the Rhine.

The Germans will never allow the Dawes report to become workable. They have become too expert in opportunism since the signing of the Versailles Treaty for that. But, they can make a pretense at acceptance, and then allow a slow accumulation of delays and interruptions to stop the machinery, just as they have done in all matters of reparations since the ending of the war.

There are plenty of skilled internationalists in Germany equipped for such work. The new French governing forces will have to adjust themselves to this situation and they will be able to do so. But, it will take time; for public opinion can be converted only gradually to accept disappointment. Poincare, himself, had to show by slow steps that reparations couldn't be collected by bayonets.

To Frighten France.

The German Nationalists want no such process of readjustment as this. They realize that though Germany can escape the full indemnity of the war by means of political craft, she cannot escape a very heavy indemnity unless France is made to fear the German power. The purpose of the Nationalist plan is to frighten France, and thus escape the reparations bill. France, however, cannot be frightened. The downfall of the Poincare policies was due not to fear of Germany on the part of the French people, but to a realization that Poincare's task of tearing Germany down and making her pay was a contradiction and unworkable.

The Ludendorff clique, however, which is reaching out to control Nationalistic sentiment in Germany, is trying to make it appear that the tin sabre rattling of the Ludendorffians brought about the defeat of the Poincare Ministry. The spirit of militarism is so ingrained in the Ludendorff character that, when it cannot dwell in reality, it gets its "kick" by dwelling in imagery. Ludendorff has committed as many blunders since the ending of the war as he committed while the war was in progress. It is not he who has saved Germany thus far from the destruction of the reparations task, but the political skill of the Berlin statesmen. Politics, not militarism, have kept the Allies off.

Danger To Germany.

The Nationalists, however, are unable to realize this. They know Germany eventually will become a first-class power again. Nothing on earth can prevent that. They reason, therefore, that France is beginning to tremble at the thought of Germany coming back and so wants to begin making friends across the Rhine. There is graver danger to Germany in this viewpoint than any other that has been expressed since the war.

The French will have to abandon a part of the indemnity claims; but they have the power to make Germany pay a very large sum nevertheless. To create among Germans the false notion that the French fear to continue their pressure on Germany is to develop an atmosphere which will only prolong the present situation of uncertainties without benefit to the Germans. The eventual reparations settlement will work itself out by a series of compromises, created to meet new future situations. The German Nationalists can delay this procedure; but they cannot prevent it. They are without materials for warfare; and they will remain unarmed for at least a generation. Ludendorffian vanity, henceforth, will have to be checked if the German people do not want to be the sufferers.

You Should Heed These Warnings? As You Would an Alarm of Fire

Because You Know That Bell Means Danger. But Not One Life In 5,000 Is Lost By Fire. Compare This With Causes Given In This Article. Learn The Warning Of Dangers Greater Than Fire.

If your strength doesn't seem to be what it was a few years ago, or if you feel yourself slipping back and are run down, you owe it to yourself and your family to get back your grip on health as quickly as possible.

The Dangerous Period of Middle Life

Thousands of men and women who are today approaching the dangerous period of middle life are rapidly ageing and breaking down when they should be in the prime of life, enjoying perfect health and full of pep and energy.

Neglect of Nerve Forces Responsible, Not Age

Most of them are in this condition because they have neglected to keep up their nerve forces. If when you go to bed tonight you feel tired — you don't sleep — you get up in the morning feeling the same way — you have an ugly taste in your mouth — you have no appetite — you hurt in the back — you have indigestion — you are weak, dizzy, nervous and sick at your stomach — you feel "Bum" — all run down, you owe it to yourself to remedy this condition at once, no matter what your age.

Heed These Warnings as You Would an Alarm of Fire

Remember, lack of nerve force not only makes a man nervous, irritable and easily fatigued, but it robs him utterly of that virile force and stamina and strength of will that he needs to give him sucess and power in life. Lack of rich blood and nerve force may also change a dear, healthy, sweet-tempered woman into one who is weak, nervous, cross and quarrelsome.

Then, Men and Women, You Need a Real Medicine like Phospho-Cod, the new treatment, which has brought such splendid help to thousands in this condition who had despaired of getting relief, but have now regained — their health — their strength — their happiness through stronger nerves and plenty of pure nourishing blood.

You Can't Be Right and Be Nervous

If you suffer from lack of confidence, doubt, worry, overseriousness, anxiety, confusion and a clouded mind they take all the joy out of life and develop a form of physical weakness which, in nine cases out of ten, is directly traceable to weakened nerves and empoverished blood.

Phospho-Cod The Wonder Blood and Nerve Builder

Phospho-Cod is a combination of vital elements needed to assist perfect nutrition because it contains the vital Hypophosphites of — Lime — Manganese — Sodium — Potassium — Quinine and Strychnia together with Peptonized Iron. These elements supply the required mineral salts needed for nerve, bone, blood and muscle and other body elements. Phospho-Cod also contains the essential valuable soluble extractives of Cod Livers prepared in such a way as to be and the offensive color and disagreeable greasiness present in most emulsions and Cod Liver Preparations. The above nutritive elements are next combined with the Extracts of Malt, Wild Cherry and Blood Root to which are then added Pure Glycerine, Pepsin and delicious appetising Port Wine. This new and original formula represents a most effective, pleasant-tasting Tonic and System Builder, suitable for all the family from childhood to old age and has the highest standard of merit and of excellence, strength, purity and accuracy possible. This new remedy is being rapidly adopted and prescribed by representative physicians everywhere.

Pleasant To The Taste and Entirely Free from Oil

To Persons Feeling The Weight of Their Years

It is of especial value to persons feeling the weight of their years, or who are weak, nervous or run down. Take one tablespoon of Phospho-Cod before meals and before retiring for two weeks and then test your strength and see how much more endurance you will have. This will soon convince you what results are possible in your own case from its use.

Phospho-Cod Is a Safe Tonic for all the Family from Childhood to Old Age.

RADIO KNIFE IS LATEST SCIENCE

Surgery By Radio Shown To Physicians And Surgeons At Medical Meeting.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 7. — (United Press).—Surgery by radio, although previously demonstrated in several cities of the United States, was shown for the first time to Illinois physicians and doctors at a recent meeting of the Illinois State Medical Society held here.

The demonstration of the radio knife created a sensation. It innovates a new kind of bloodless surgery and is designed primarily for the removal of cancer and other malignant growths. Its features are that there is no loss of blood and that slight coagulation of the tissues and capillaries, which attends its use, prevents the spread of contagion, which is not true of the surgical knife. There is no "sluffing" afterwards as in the ordinary surgical operation.

The radio knife has been in use during the last several months and is now in use at the Rockefeller Foundation and the Vanderbilt Clinic. Thirty of the instruments have been ordered by Chicago surgeons.

It is the practical application of radio to the saving of human life. The only difference between the radio knife and the ordinary receiving set is that with this invention frequency is turned into heat instead of into sound and by means of this heat, transmitted to the point of a small, blunt knife, incision is made. The apparatus looks like any radio outfit, consisting of a variable condenser, a vario-coupler and radio tubes.

When the frequency is turned on, and the knife applied to the flesh, it gives the effect of burning to the onlooker, with smoke coming from the contact of the knife with the flesh. Yet the sides of the incision are cold to the touch, with the blood vessels coagulated and no bleeding resulting. In making the incision, only the width of the knife, one-thirty-secondth of an inch, is destroyed.

CALIPHATE CLAIMED BY KING OF HEDJAZ

Hussein Leaves Trail Of Rumors When He Goes To Mecca The Forbidden.

JERUSALEM, June 7. — King Hussein of the Hedjaz has at last left Amman, the Transjordan capital, for his own seat at Mecca the Forbidden in time to celebrate the Moslem Ramadan.

His visit left a trail of rumors. Hussein managed during his comparatively short stay in and about Amman to have himself proclaimed caliph. He has returned to his capital as the Quaraishite and Hashimite King, Prince of the Faithful, at least in so far as a section of the Moslem Arabas of Palestine and Transjordania are concerned.

His title to the caliphate is disputed by some of the Moslems of Egypt, who are putting King Fuad as their own candidate. The Moslems of India have not been heard from on the subpect, although it is said that while part of them, at least, have tacitly consented to Hussein, others prefer to await the outcome of the proposed all-Moslem assembly. Reports from Syria are that the French authorities there have forbidden prayers in behalf of the self proclaimed caliph.

There is much speculation in Palestine as to what will be the attitude of the British government towards Hussein as the aspirant to the caliphate. For one thing it is assumed that Hussein would not have gone as far as he did had he expected very bitter opposition on the British sied, and indications are not wanting that the British authorties have behaved in a manner implying tacit approval.

The Palestine government is understood to have acquiesced to the administration by Hussein of the Hedjaz railways from the Syrian bounday to Medina. This question may have formed part of the recent conversations between the high commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel, and Hussein, during the former's two visits to the kings camp in Amman. It is not known whether the high commissioner showed any disposition to discuss Hussein's claims to the caliphate.

Whether the British authorities in the middle east will regard with similar indifference the king's attempts to annex considerable parts of Transjordan to the Hedjaz if difficult to say. The belief is expressed in some quarters that Great Britain was only waiting for Hussein's departure before actively intervening and subordinating Transjordania under the Palestine administration. Transjordania has nominally at least always formed part of the Palestine administration, and there was considerable feeling when it was officially separated by special provisions inserted in the Palestine mandate.

With regard to the caliphate and Husseins' aspirations thereto, the Jews found themselves in the unique position of having to take a stand on a matter that concerns them not at all. Responsible Zionist representatives here realized the desirability of an early reapproachment with the claimant and have secured from him favorable expressions of opinion as to his intentions towards the Jews, whose consanguinity to the Arab race he has repeatedly acknowledged.

INTER-PARLIAMENTARY UNION.

GENEVA, June 7. — (United Press.)— The Inter-parliamentary Union, which has just been invited by the United States to hold its 1925 session in the United States, will this year, as a mark of solidarity with the League of Nations, hold the greater part of its annual session at Geneva. The Union will convene Aug. 22 at Berne, but after three days there the conference will be transferred to Geneva, where the final sessions just preceding the annual assembly of the League of Nations will be held.

In colleges of the United States there are fifty-nine schools of journalism.

GIRLS BRAVER THAN THE MEN

Professor Declares They Face Operating Table With Less Apprehension.

BERKELEY, Cal., June 7.—When it comes to enduring pain women are braver than men, said Dr. W. R. Donald, physician in charge at the University of California infirmary. Almost invariably girl students are the better patients, Dr. Donald explained.

"They are less apprehensive, less susceptible to pain. Men fear anesthesia and the surgeon's knife far more than women do. Man is not the brave creature he likes to appear, when he faces the operating room."

JAPAN ACTIVE IN LEAGUE

GENEVA, June 7. — (United Press).—With the increasing tendency of western nations to enact restrictive emigration measures against her, Japan has just notified the League of Nations of her acceptance of the Fourth International Labor Conference relative to the fullest possible publicity of her emigration statistics. Japan will communicate to the International Labor Bureau at Geneva all of her statistics on emigration.

Pearl Divers Flock To South Sea Fields

MANILA, June 7.—New and extensive pearl beds have been discovered by Moro fishermen recently in the China Sea off the north coast of the Island of Palawan, one of the Philippine group, according to Dr. W. H. Wade, chief pathologist of the Culion leper colony, who has just returned to Manila.

Moro fisherman have a monopoly of the new beds, and the waters around the coast of Palawan are dotted with the sails of their boats. Until recently the chief pearl beds of that region were located south of Palawan in the Sulu Sea and a majority of the fishermen were Japanese.

Aspirants To Screen Look At Requirements

Maurice Tourneur is looking for the perfect (dramatically) motion picture actress—regardless of the fact that everyone has been seeking her for years.

Should he find her, she will receive the leading part in "Belonging" his next First National picture. Besides being an actress known to the public, Toureur says his star should have these requirements.

The dramatic fervor of Norma Talmadge

The delicacy of Constance Talmadge.

The innocence of May McAvoy.

The exotic appeal of Barbara La-Marr.

The comedy of Viola Dana.

The physical daring of Pearl White.

The charming wistfulness of Mary Pickford.

The jazzmania of Coleen Moore.

The intensity of Pola Negri.

The ability to wear clothes like Corinne Griffith.

WIND BLAMED FOR MONTH OF WET WEATHER; CLIMATE NOT UNDERGOING COMPLETE CHANGE

Song Of Spring Didn't Circulate And It Wasn't a Merry Month Of May In New York—Winds Out Of The East and South Kept Would-Be Merrymakers Indoors Whole Month.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The weather, ever a fruitful topic for social intercourse, polemics and pink teas, never has been more discussed and cussed by a petulant and pop-eyed community than has the atmospheric expression of the merry month of May. Suggestive of sunny skies, the perfume of flowers, winey air and straw hats, the fifth month in the Gregorian calendar is always looked forward to as the joytide of life, with the Song of Spring rising in melodic glory above the din of traffic, the clatter of the "L" and the roar of the subway. But the Song of Spring in the month that New York has just put the lid on didn't circulate. The skies were shaded, the perfume wasted and the wine in the air padlocked under the ban of prohibition.

It wasn't the merry month of May at all. It rained on Saturdays and Sundays and holidays, and would-be merrymakers had to stay indoors, and the poor weather man got all the blame, while wiseacres gosh-darned the metabolic climate. Yep! the climate was undergoing a complete change, just like the war made all the rain in the teen days of the last decade. Nobody blamed the wind, and it was the wind that had all to do with it.

What is one to do when the wind comes out of the East and the South, when we look for fair weather with the wind in the West and the North? Somebody who made a long study of the wind and the weather, of storms and clouds and rains and hail and the like wrote:

"Do business with men when the wind is in the northwest."

Up on the twenty-ninth floor of the Whitehall Building the Weather Bureau overlooks New York's upper bay and Battery Park at its foot and out to sea through the narrow funnel formed by Staten Island and the shore of Brooklyn. It looks down on Governor's Island, Ellis Island, temporary abiding place of the immigrants from all over the world, and Bedloe's Island, where reposes Miss Liberty, with her gaze on the ocean, stright through the Narrows, welcoming the world to the freedom of America.

No ship can enter port, nor can one leave it, without being observed by the vigilant eyes of the weather man. Watchful eyes were ever on the sea in the days of the war. Sandy Hook can be seen on clear days from the watch tower of the Weather Bureau's windows. It is up in that high place that eternal watch is kept on the weather for the safety of the ships in the Atlantic, and from where warnings of impending storms or violent changes are sent out both to sea and to those ashore. All New York knows we have a Weather Bureau, but few know the important work done by it and through it by the Department of Agriculture.

Since 1910 James H. Scarr has been the meteorologist in charge, and James H. Kimball has been his assistant since 1915. They are the men who give out daily and nearly every minute of the hour the weather indications to the seafaring man; the pilots and skippers and owners of ships; the business men, the traveling men, hotel men, newspapers, men and women on pleasure bent—the prospects of rain or snow or storm, the highest temperature, the lowest, the humidity—everybody is interested in the weather.

"What is it molds the life of man?
The weather.
What makes some black, others tan?
The weather.
What makes the Sulu live in trees,
And Congo natives dress in leaves,
While others go in furs and freeze?
The weather."

New Yorkers of the present generation will tell you that the worst storm that ever struck New York and its suburbs was the blizzard of March, 1888. But it wasn't. The most noteworthy demoralization of the elements in the records of the Weather Bureau was the descent of snow, sleet and rain which started on Wednesday morning, February 4, 1920, and continued almost without interruption until the following Saturday morning—seventy-seven hours. After the blizzard of 1888 the East River was frozen and you could walk across the ice to Brooklyn. After the blizzard of 1920 you couldn't walk anywhere.

Telephone and telegraph wires were put out of business; surface car travel was entirely suspended. Very little efficiency was maintained on the elevated and subway lines, and there were intervals during the storm that they had to shut down altogether. The streets were dangerous to foot passengers, and transportation by vehicles on most of the streets was impossible.

Solid ice formed in the streets, which when the storm ceased, had to be chopped away, and for twelve days a large number of the city streets were closed to traffic, and some of them for more than a month. The unrestricted operation of surface cars was not resumed for six weeks. Measured as it fell the snow, sleet and rain recorded seventeen and five-tenth inches, but the greatest accumulated depth on the seventh was fifteen inches. The water equivalent was four and forty-five-hundredths inches, which is equal to four feet of snow at average density. In the blizzard of 1888 there was an accumulation of twenty and nine-tenth inches of snow, but its density was slightly less than normal, and the water equivalent was only two inches.

Meteorologists Scarr and Kimball laugh about the kicks they receive about the weather—from the golfers, automobilists, tennis players and others who want to take advantage of the holidays—they're used to them. But here are some who are vitally interested in all kinds of weather conditions:

Shippers of perishable goods to our out of port; Public Health Department, watching and fearing an increase of disease; the Street Department, awaiting the battle with snow; doctors of Bellevue and other big hospitals, bringing patients here and sending them away; janitors and superintendents of apartment houses ask if the weather will permit them to shut off heat, making a tremendous saving in coal The forecast of temperature is easier and surer than predicting rain or snow. Bakers ring up to know if the afternoon is going to be warm. If it is, they bake more goodies for the warm weather brings out more kiddies, and kiddies like the cookies.

Students from colleges and schools in New York and nearby go to the Weather Bureau in classes to study the meteorological conditions, and the Government men are their teachers. Last week twenty girls from Vassar went up to the high place and gazed down at the sea and the islands and to study the intricacies of weather charts and forecasts. Back at school the girls get their tabular observations, make synoptic charts and then their forecast, and the work counts in their exams.

Two of the biggest ships in the world are in port this week, the Berengaria and the Leviathan, and there appears to be water enough in the Hudson River to hold them both. Once they were sister ships, the Leviathan being the bigger sister, and both belonged to the North German Lloyd before the war. The Berengaria was the Imperator and the Leviathan the Vaterland.

When the Imperator left here on her second trip she backed out of her Hoboken dock and had to get well out into the North River before turning her head south. She was then the biggest ship in the world. Thousands watched her departure, and saw her get away without hitting anything. But as she steamed joyously down into the upper bay a report reached the newspaper offices she had sunk a steamer and a barge and drowned a man in New York.

Ship news reporters denied the report. They had seen her sail, and knew that she had gone clear. But soon they learned that two boats had been sunk, and investigated. They were right. The Imperator hadn't hit anything, but the backwash of the monster had sent a little tidal wave into a New York pier opposite Hoboken, and sunk a steamer and a barge tied up on the side of the pier, and thrown a man overboard. It was the man who made the report, and from the language in, which the report was couched, he might have been a sailor.

OVERLANDS GIVEN ESCALATOR TEST

In addition to an extensive road test, every Overland goes through an escalator test. No more severe test could possibly be devised, says a factory official. In fact, conditions only to be found in thousands of miles of driving are duplicated in a few hours time.

The illustration shows an Overland in position, ready for the test. The escalator consists of two wooden drums, 4 feet in diameter, grooved to fit the car's driving wheels. These drums are connected by a chain belt to a powerful motor-generator which is, in turn, connected with a resistance and switchboard.

After the car is started and running in high gear, manipulation of the proper switches increases or decreases the resistance against which the car is working in such a way that conditions such as climbing a continuous hill of any length or gradient can be duplicated.

The comprehensiveness of this operation and test may be judged by the fact that the accuracy of the speedometer and the distance travelled by the car, timing gears, valve seating, water leaks, cylinder head leaks, casting defects, correct charging rate of generator and gasoline consumption are all recorded.

CANADIAN FREIGHT CARS WERE SEIZED

United States Officials Hold Three Freight Cars, Claiming That They Were Smuggling Liquor.

BUFFALO, June 7. Canadian Press—International complications of a grave nature may arise from yesterday's action by the United States government officials in libeling and seizing three freight cars owned by the Canadian government, as smuggled liquor carriers.

On May 28th three cars were shunted into the Niagara Falls freight yard of the New York Central Railroad.

Examination revealed more than 10,000 bottles of Canadian ale in consignment of hay.

The contraband was at once seized by the customs officials and removed to the government warehouse in Buffalo for safe keeping.

It is believed that the ale had been shipped from a town in Quebec. It was consigned to fictitious persons in New York city.

It is charged that employees of the Canadian railway had allowed the cars to be loaded with contraband ale, knowing that they were to be shipped into the United States.

GREEKS APPEAL TO THE LEAGUE

Object to Giving Up Fourteen Greek Villages—The Albanian Issue.

ATHENS, June 7 (United Press).—The Greek Government has decided not to accept the decision of the Council of Ambassadors, whereby 14 Greek villages in the Coryton district are assigned to Albania.

Greece will ask the League of Nations to intervene in the matter.

Reports received here to-day reiterate that an armistice has been concluded in Albania between Government forces and the revolutionaries.

A message received to-day from the Scutari commander of the Albanian Nationalist forces to foreign correspondents declared the movements are exclusively an internal affair.

The commander added that Nationalist headquarters had taken adequate steps to protect the lives and property of foreigners and to ensure order at the frontier.

He stated the Nationalists were resolved to maintain the friendliest relations with the neighbouring countries.

DEFEATED REBELS.

LONDON, June 7 (United News).—Government troops, under Major Guillardi, have defeated the Albanian rebels in a battle at Alessio, Albania, according to unconfirmed despatches from Belgrade.

ROCKEFELLER WILL BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Donated $650,000 to Canada for New University for Medicine.

TORONTO, June 7.—(Canadian Press)—Delivering his address as a University Chancellor at the commencement exercises yesterday afternoon in Convocation Hall Sir William Mulock, made a formal announcement of the gift of $650,000 to the University from the Rockefeller Foundation. He stated that the money was to be used for the establishment of a school of Public Health in connection with the Faculty of Medicine.

Explanation by Hon. H. J. Cody, chairman of the Board of Governores, states that the gift is to be apportioned, $400,000 for building and $250,000 for an endowment. The work of the school will be largely to accommodate and enlarge the scope of the Connaught Laboratories and the departments of Hygiene and public health nursing. Connaught Laboratories handle manufacture of insulin.

Sir William Mullock led up to the announcement of the gift in his address by pointing to progress which Toronto University has made in past several years. He recalled that when he had graduted, 61 years ago, there had been only 13 graduates while this year there were 1,052.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

How can real estate mortgage bonds afford to pay such a relatively high rate of interest if there is not a great deal of risk in them?

Answered by

BENJAMIN BILLS
Director of Sales, American Bond and Mortgage Company.

The rate of 6% to 6½% on real estate bonds is not relatively higher than the rate of public utilities and many industrial bonds. The advantage of tax exempt bonds is almost 2% and the interest return on "tax exempts" averages from 4% to 4½%. Therefore, real estate bonds must pay from 6 to 6½ p.c. in order to be on an even basis for attracting investors.

Moreover, the demand for building money has been so accelerated by the 5½ years of housing shortage, averaging 75% a year and totalling 375%, that it cannot be offset by the 2½ years of active building—averaging 25% a year above current needs and totalling but 62½%.

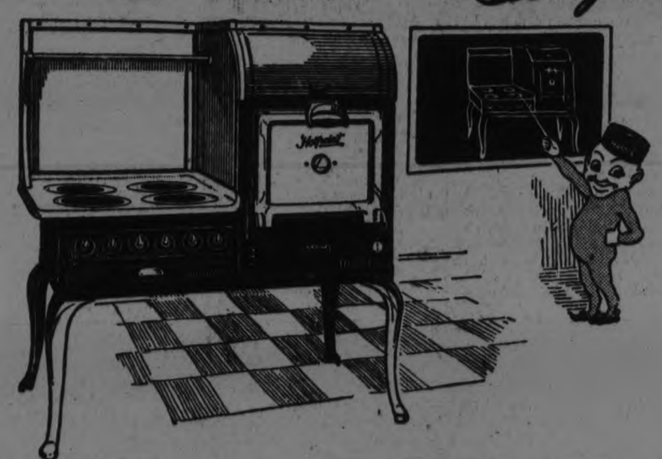
Johnnie Hotpoint Says



The most important parts of any Electric Range are the Elements and the Switches

To make an electric range look pretty is simple—but to make it really practical is quite another story. If the elements and switches are not mechanically and electrically perfect, all the elaborate accessories that may be added are useless.

Hotpoint Ranges are Equipped with Patented Indestructible Elements

They are cast in solid iron and are as flat and smooth as the lids of an old-time coal range. The boiling over of pans and kettles has absolutely no effect upon this remarkable element.

Hotpoint Patented Indestructible Element, the fastest protected element made.

The necessity of constructing electric range elements from fragile porcelain has been forever eliminated by Hotpoint Patented Indestructible Elements, which are the latest scientific development to make electric cookery really practical.

And Over-Capacity Reversible Switches

With the exception of the elements no part, of an electric range, is used so much or put to such severe tests as the switches. Hotpoint switches are built expressly for Heavy Range Service, and will carry twice the load necessary to heat the elements.

Hotpoint Over-Capacity Range Switch built expressly for Hotpoint Range Service.

The highest consumption per switch on a Hotpoint Range is 15 amperes, while the rating of the switches is 30 amperes. Switch trouble on a Hotpoint Range is eliminated. All in all, the new Hotpoint Range is a perfect electric cooking appliance.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

A Successful Pastorate--Streets Receive Application of Chloride.

MILLBROOK, June 7.—A successful five-years' pastorate on the Bowmanville circuit is just being concluded by Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., who in the early years of his ministry was in charge of the Cavan South circuit before it was joined with Millbrook.

Mr. Moore has a number of warm friends in this vicinity, who will be interested to learn that on Sunday when the pastor, assisted by the Sunday School superintendent and other leaders in the church, conducted a reception service, fifty-one persons were received into church membership. Seven were received by letters of transfer, and the remaining forty-four, including eight heads of families and thirty-six young people, were the fruitage of faithful pastoral shepherding and zealous labors from his loyal supporters.

The church roll has had 40 new names added during Mr. Moore's term, the total membership advancing from 615 to 910. Reports submitted at the regular official board meeting showed continuous progress and increase in membership and finances in practically every department. Mr. M. A. James, senior editor of the Bowmanville Statesman, who has been treasurer of the trustee board ever since the two Methodist churches in the town united, resigned lately, and is succeeded by his youngest son, Mr. G. W. James.

The new parsonage at Bowmanville has had its indebtedness reduced from $6,000 to $1,700, and extensive repairs have recently been carried out in the Sunday School auditorium, the expense amounting to about $900.

It is evident that if Rev. J. E. Griffith, now assistant pastor at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, becomes the pastor at Bowmanville, he will have a charge in an excellent state for aggressive work and a record to follow that will require strenuous efforts to live up to.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Crown, of Reaboro, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown, arriving on Friday for a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Patton, of Zion, entertained a number of their friends on Wednesday evening this week in honor of their guest, Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa.

The streets of the village were given a generous application of calcium chloride on Tuesday of this week, the Council having decided to try this method of abating the dust nuisance this season instead of the watering-cart as in previous years. R. H. Edmunds' motor truck was utilized in giving the "chloride treatment."

JACKIE COOGAN'S FATHER-GIVES MOVIE PICTURE LESSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 7.—(United Press).—Has the aspiring picture play scenario writer a chance to show his wares? In many studios he has not. Original manuscripts are not wanted, and the budding author who submits his masterpiece soon finds it out.

"Write your scenario into a story. Go get it printed in some good magazine. Then maybe we'll talk to you."

That is the dismissal handed out by the heads of various scenario departments. Why? Many reasons are given. A photoplay made from a book or story will naturally have a following. Persons who have read the yarn will want to see it in cinema form. Picturized novels or short stories, are, presumably, given an added glamor of importance and interest by reason of the fact.

So, in most cases, the scenario that has never known any other existence, goes begging, no matter how many new ideas or how much original plot material it contains.

One of the comparatively few producers who champion the original manuscript is Jack Coogan, Senior, father of the illustrious Jackie.

"Thousands of dollars were spent annually," Coogan stated in an exclusive interview, "in the maintenance of scenario departments and high salaried editors whose entire time was devoted to culling unsolicited or original stories. In the recent readjustment of the industry, many producers thought it necessary to abandon these departments because the number of acceptable stories found among the thousands submitted was negligible.

But producers must have stories to film, and when they cut off the supply of original stories and turned to published novels for their material, these prices rose, and all kinds of high prices for books have resulted.

Favors The Original.

"Personally, I am in favor of the original manuscript and believe that the future of the industry lies with the new writer," Coogan continued. "I want to hold out a helping hand to all who possess the story telling talent. A story-teller is born, the art of writing an interesting yarn comes naturally, and as a rule is not acquired; but scenariozation must be acquired via the academic route.

"Columbia University, Harvard, the University of California and a number of other famous educational institutions have recently opened departments of photoplay writing. All the great schools of this country will eventually come to it."

Coogan has framed ten commandments for aspiring scenario writers to help them on the road to success. They are:

A plausible plot structure, within the bounds of reason and good taste.

Write about the things you know; not about the things you don't know.

Make your characters human, not pale reflections of characters you have read about.

Study the springs and origins of human impulses and make them vital in your story.

Remember that a sense of humor is the saving grace of life.

Dont' attack religion—attack hyprocisy.

Don't write beyond your depth; keep within the limits of your own experience and knowledge.

Dont begin by revolutionizing. No artist ever violates a rule of art until he knows the value of the rule he violates.

Read the daily papers; many a great story lies between the lines of a small news item printed at the bottom of a page.

Stay away from the fake movie schools.

George Hamilton, aged 17 of Ottawa, died in the hospital here yesterday as a result of injuries received when he was accidentally shot while on a hunting trip twenty miles north of Belleville, on May the 28th. CAVAN WOMEN HELD A BAZAAR

Many Articles Sold at Social Affair at Lloyd Sutton's Home.

PROCEEDS WERE $82.26.

CAVAN, June 6.—Sunday, June 8, being Conference Sunday, there will be no service in Cavan Methodist Church.

Sunday School will meet at ten-thirty a.m., and will continue to meet at that hour during June, July and August.

Sunday, June 15, will be anniversary services for Cavan Methodist Sunday School. The Rev. E. W. Rowland will preach in the morning and evening.

Dr. Wright, of Toronto, who in his professional capacity was the guest of Dr. Turner, visited Mr. Harry McIvor, who is in very poor health, on Saturday. He and Dr. Turner were in consultation on his case.

Miss Telford, Bridgenorth, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Loyd Sutton.

Women's Institute Bazaar.

Cavan Women's Institute held a very successful bazaar on the grounds of Mr. Loyd Sutton on Thursday afternoon.

The afternoon was the choice day of the week for the occasion. Mr. Sutton's grounds are very suitable for such a gathering and were nicely arranged.

The array of things to sell was varied and very attractive: fancy articles, Aprons (both fancy and practical), home-made bread, buns, cookies and candy. Ice cream was also on sale.

The tables were under the management of Mrs. C. Carr, Mrs. H. Lang, Miss E. Hutchison, Mrs. Syer, relieved at times by other ladies. Miss E. Hunter and Miss L. Syer sold ice cream.

An old lady (imitation), decked out in ancient style, in black silk with hat to match, and two huge pockets filled with packages, attracted much attention. Across her breast was a placard, saying "Pick my pockets." Above one pocket was a sign with "five cents"; above the other a "ten cent" sign. Cords protruded from each pocket. She obligingly revolved on a pedestal. Many useful articles were drawn from her pockets for the small sum of five or ten cents until they were left quite empty.

Afternoon tea was served for the small sum of fifteen cents. Instead of a light lunch, it proved to be an abundant and satisfying meal. In fact, that tea, in quality and quantity, was the bargain of the season.

The ladies provided so lavishly that many fine cakes were sold in the evening, prices ranging from 25c to 40c.

There were a number of buttons in a gem. Ten cents were charged for a guess as to the number contained therein. Mrs. F. Smith, Millbrook, and Mrs. E. Armstrong were ties. They drew and Mrs. Smith became the possessor of the prize, which was a beautiful hand-worked centrepiece.

Another guessing contest was the amount of money which would be taken in at the bazaar. Mrs. Loyd Sutton made the closest guess and won this prize, a very pretty cup and saucer.

The total receipts were $82.86.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clegg, Montreal, spent the holiday week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Eber Syer, and attended the Donaldson-Davidson wedding.

WILL DISCUSS LABOR LEISURE

International Labor Conference In Geneva Will Consider Utilization of Workers' Spare Time.

GENEVA, June 7.—(Associated Press).—The machinery of the International Labor Bureau has worked so fast that draft conventions on the four questions which will be discussed at the next international labor conference here June 16 already have been elaborated and are being distributed to the half hundred countries which will be represented.

The conference will consider these topics: first, the development of facilities for the utilization of workers' leisure; second, equality of treatment for national and foreign workers as regards workmen's compensation for accidents; third, the weekly suspension of work for 24 hours in glass manufacturing processes where tank furnaces are used, and fourth, night work in bakeries.

All these subjects have their relation to the Washington labor conference which adopted a convention limiting the hours of work in industrial undertakings to eight in the day and 48 in the week. Their proposed treatment now is based on the idea that everything possible should be done to make the worker's employment not only as effective as possible, but also that his working hours should be so arranged that the leisure time should be thought of as well as the actual hours of labor.

The proposed solution of the problem of leisure time specifically takes the form of recommendations. The conference will be asked to recommend that each member state, having due regard to local customs, should consider the means of so arranging the working day as to make spare time as continuous as possible. It is also suggested that by means of a well-conceived transport system, reduced fares and suitable time-tables, the time spent by workers between their homes and their work should be shortened as much as possible and that employers' and workers' organizations should be largely consulted by public or private transport authorities as to the best means of devising such a system.

The conference will be further asked to recommend to all countries the construction of houses on a sufficient scale and with a low rental in garden cities or suburbs, under conditions insuring a proper degree of health and comfort, the providing of public baths, swimming pools, etc., and legislative or private action against the misuse of alcohol. Further suggestions are the development of physical health and strength by means of games and sports and the encouragement of technical and general education through the use of libraries, reading rooms, and by lectures. Finally, the recommendations lay great emphasis on the safeguarding of the liberty of the workers of the world and their individual freedom.

On the second subject the draft convention prepared provides that all countries grant to foreigners who are citizens of a country which also ratifies the convention in question, and who are injured in an accident, the same treatment in respect of workmen's compensation as they grant their own nationals.

As for night work in bakeries the convention drawn up establishes as a general principle that there shall be no night work whatsoever in bakeries.

The convention provides that the prohibition of night work may be partially or entirely suspended by any Government when public interest demands. In order that the basic principle may be enforced, the convention calls upon all signatory states to prohibit the sale of new bread before a specified hour, or to make use of some other effective measure.

ALBERTA COAL FOR POINTS IN ONTARIO

Proposal to Bring in on Hundred Thousand Tons this Summer.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 7.—(Canadian Press).—Following a discussions between the government at Ottawa and Premier Greenfield of Alberta, the proposition has been forwarded to Premier Mackenzie King that one hundred thousand tons of Alberta coal for points in Ontario will be handled this summer at a freight rate of $6.50 per ton, the Dominion Government guaranteeing the railways from loss on its movement if this rate proves actually less than the operating cost.

Early action is asked for and there is a reason to believe that the government answer will be favorable.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

PETERBORO BAPTIST CHURCH ASSOCIAT'N

Officers Elected at the Closing Session Yesterday.

PORT HOPE, June 7.— At the closing of the Peterborough Baptist Church Association yesterday, Rev. J. P. McLennan, of Norwood, was elected to be moderator of the association for the ensuing year, having Mr. A. Zavitz, of Peterborough, as assistant.

Rev. N. S. McKechnie, B.A., B.Th., of Belleville, in his address, pointed out the necessity of every follower of Jesus doing the work of an evangelist. The world will never be converted until every Christian walks before his fellows daily revealing the characteristics of Jesus, and everyone makes aggressive effort to personally lead his fellowman to trust in Jesus.

Rev. C. W. Rose, B.A., D.D., of Peterborough, in an address on the mid-week meeting, suggested that it was profitable to pursue a course of Bible study or Biblical topics which tends to create interest and often increases attendance.

Mr. C. V. Farmer, B.A., led the conference on stewardship, which was preceded by some valuable remarks on the misery and suffering wrought through selfishness by Rev. S. S. Bates, B.A., D.D. The human race first fell into sin through Eve's selfishness in taking the fruit of the only tree which God has reserved for Himself. It is clearly stated in the Old Testament, and endorsed by Jesus, that God required His people to return to Him one-tenth of their income. Because this was stated in the law is no reason why we should discard it to-day any more than we should discard other demands of the law, such as "Thou shalt not steal" or "Thou shalt not kill." We observe the latter demands because they are right, and for the same reason we should observe the former. By returning the tenth to God we acknowledge God to be owner of all; as in the parable Jesus declares that the owner of the vineyard entrusted it to his servants before he went into a far country, but at the proper season he sent other servants to bring to him the fruits thereof. The tithe should be the minimum of our gifts to God, as the Jews provided for sacrifices and offerings over and above th tenth. If all Christians gave their tenth there would be an abundance of money for all departments of the Lord's work at the present time. God is bountiful to us, let us be bountiful to Him.

CHURCH UNION ISSUE MONDAY

Vote Will Follow Discussion of Union by Both Sides.

OWEN SOUND, June 7.—(Canadian Press).—At the opening of the Presbyterian General Assembly here to-day it was generally agreed that the vote on Church Union resolutions would be taken about four o'clock Monday afternoon. So far as the leaders on both sides of the Union debate are concerned the debate might end and the vote be taken at once. Dr. D. J. Fraser of Montreal, head of the Theological College, and Rev. Dr. A. J. McGillivray of Guelph, both recognized leaders in the anti-Union movement, stated that they are willing that the vote be taken, and the leaders in the Union movement is well-known, were not desirous to prolong the discussion. Two factors, however, served to bring about the situation which rendered it likely that the vote would be taken on Monday. First, there are in the Assembly a number of commissioners who are determined to present their statements if they can, and if these commissioners succeed in speaking, as seems probable, nothing but force can stop the other commissioners from making replies. There is thus the probability that the debate will be continued in full volume until the hour of adjournment to-day. In that case the debate will not be resumed until Monday afternoon, since Monday morning will be devoted to the routine business of the Assembly. The other factor is that a number of the commissioners are compelled to leave this morning in order to take the Sunday services.

QUESTIONS THE DREDGING ITEM

Contractor Will Be Paid For Work Done Last Year

OTTAWA, June 10.—(Canadian Press.) — Estimates of Public Works Department were considered by the House of Commons in committee of supply, at a late hour last evening. An item of $30,000 for Bell River harbor improvements was first considered. Sir Henry Drayton and Donald Sutherland asked about results of dredging in previous years and whether or not expenditure was really justified at this point.

Mr. Sutherland said that complete project involved in this vote would cost $200,000.

Dr. King replied that present item was revote to pay contractor for work done last year. Larger scheme to which Mr. Sutherland had referred had not been approved by Department.

Sir Henry Drayton said that it was not much use to lock the door after the horse had been stolen.

"But the horse was stolen all right," he added.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF CADET CORPS

Six Public Schools Represented--Many Turned Out to See the Inspection.

The annual inspection of the Public school cadet battalion of the city took place yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, in Central Park, before Brigadier General F. W. Hill, A.A. and Q.M.G. of Military District No. 3, accompanied by Captain V. S. Heron, of Kingston, District Cadet Officer. On the staff were also Battalion Commander E. H. Young of the Collegiate Cadets and Cadet Captain Massie of the Lakefield Cadet Corps.

Cadet companies from six Public schools of the city were present for the parade and inspection, and numbered 472 members, ranging from ten to fourteen years of age. They looked very smart in their new pattern cadet uniforms, and made an imposing procession in the parade down George street to King street, which followed the inspection in front of the armouries.

The battalion, under Battalion Leader C. H. Hayes, of "B" company, carried out the following programme:

General Salute by the Battalion in line; Inspection by the Inspecting Officer; March Past in Columns of Platoons; Individual Company Drill by their own commanders for the Denne Cup; Advancing in Review Order and General Salute; Address and Presentation of the Denne Cup; One Minute Silence in honor of Fallen Heroes of the Great War; Route March along George street to King street, where the companies dispersed.

In the individual company competition, the "Denne" Cup, presented by Mr. Roland Denne, and awarded annually to the best company for drill and efficiency, was carried off in fine style by "D" Company, from the Central school, with "E" Company, of the Queen Alexandra school, a very close second, and the other four companies well in the running with very good work. For the past two years, the Denne cup has been captured by "B" Company of the King Edward school.

General Hill complimented the boys highly on their very good work, as displayed in the march and manoeuvres. The General and Capt. Heron said that it was the best inspection of Public school cadets yet held in this district. The General also congratulated the instructors of the boys, who are supervised in the different schools as follows:

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 7.—New York market opened weak this morning. Reports of reduction in price of gasoline has a tendency to cause oils to sell off. Southern Railway still continues to receive attention and sales of large amounts have shown on the boards and continues to hold the stock up at 59.

In the mining market good buying had developed in the last few days with considerable activity in Hattie. Prospects of higher silver prices have developed considerable public interest in the silver stocks. Keeley advanced a few points this morning from last night's close selling at 2.33. Castle was weaker at 66 and west Dome Lake also weakened off one point. Lorraine continues to hold up at 25. A good buying market is looked for in the mines in the next few weeks and stocks should advance considerably.

Hattie have reported shipment of ore and looks to be in a good position to show advance in the price of their stock.

CANADA LEADS AT WEMBLEY SHOW

That Canada has exceeded the expectations of the promoters of the great Wembley Exhibition, in the marvellous representation sent over in manufactures, natural products, commercial and educational displays, is the expressed view of Prof. W. J. Dunlop, of Toronto University, who has just returned from a six weeks' stay at the Exhibition, where he has been in charge of the exhibits provided by the Canadian Universities, nine in number, to show that while Canada was rich in mineral and other natural resources, ti was not neglectful in the field of education.

Prof. Dunlop is of Peterborough some years ago, having been connected with our schools and the Collegiate in the capacity of instructor. He was selected for the important duty to proceed to Wembley and do the best possible for Canada, and hold up the end of seeing that the opportunities for any man, homegrown or imported, were such that it free to absorb instruction the institutions afforded ample facilities. In addition to his special responsibility he kept an eye on Canadian displays in general and comes back full of confidence that Canada has made a great advertising stunt and one that will bring much benefit.

Prof Dunlop was speaking at the gathering of members of Peterborough Lodge of Masons, having come to the city as one of the group of visitors from University Lodge of Toronto, and knowing of his mission abroad those present asked that he tell of the sights and situation.

He approved most heartily of the high standard that had been set and that had been accomplished by the Dominion. Particularly attractive was the horticulural exhibits, as sent over and displayed. The display of fruits was simply wonderful, especially in the matter of apples, a fruit that the British esteem highly. Representations of Canadian farms, at different seasons, drew marked attention. The harvest scene was an impelling attraction, with a real orchard, and real apples scattered under the trees in profusion. This exhibit had to be wire fenced to preserve the fruit from being pilfered.

Sections given over to lumbering, minerals, and others devoted to manufacturing revealed to the public what Canadian energy and industry was accomplishing. In the grounds were buildings and displays made by the English, Scots, Australians, South Africa, New Zealand, but in point of extent, diversity of exhibits, wealth of goods and products it was conceded that the finest on the grounds was that of Canada. Even the staid and reserved London Times printed that in point of wealth of display and beauty of exhibits the best were those from Canada.

Of the British exhibits those in the Palace of Engineering were a revelation as to the strides that English manufacturers had made and were making in the field of production and exploiting the ultimate possibilities in manufacturing. It was all nonsense to say that Britain was behind the times in grasping opportunity. All that study, skill, ingenuity, and a dogged resolve to hold her place in the world could do, was there to be looked at and studied. The Palace of Industry was another revelation as to modern processes and means applied to industrial development, Britain is right in the front rank in meeting competition, and she would be ahead of the whole world in plentitude of manufacture and up-to-date applications bringing results if her best customers of a decade ago were not now, many of them, bankrupt and unable to pay for the necessities sorely needed. He found among those viewing the Exhibition, men of large responsibilities, a feeling of optimism and hopefulness that the corner had been turned and that Industrial Britain was on the best side of the road in making immediate progress.

But he was not only surprised, but dismayed, at the deep, dark, dank, ignorance of thousands of people over there, as to Canada. Possibly we might consider that in Canada we are not, generally speaking, minutely informed as to the British Isles, and its industrial, political and rural life. We read and think of England largely in a historical sense. But there was a big, vital, throbbing England there to-day, all the same. A prevailing idea, with regard to Canada was that for nine months of the year the weather settled down to thirty degrees below zero, and stayed there. The other three months being principally bad weather. As for himself he found the English weather all that it had been painted and written off. He was there in the month of March and couldn't get warm. A hotel fire in an English hotel was something to look at. One extracted little of warmth from it.

He met people, who were enquiring as to the possibilities in Canada, who actually said that they thought that one of the principal industries in Canada was fighting Indians and that buffalo steak and tail soup were both a daily application to control hunger. Information as to the Dominion is not given out, nor is it much told or taught in the public schools. Despite what we may protest the "Our Lady of the Snows" idea prevails. Canada must do something to get that view dispelled.

People provoked him in strolling around and speaking of the Dominion as one of the "colonies." Not in a supercilious way, but as a matter of habit. He expostulated with such, and replied, heatedly and forcibly, as becometh a staunch Canadian, that Canada was one of the Dominions of the British Empire, which included India, South Africa, Australia, and the others. All creditable sons and daughters of the Mother Land.

The value of the exhibition to the world at large, and thousands from all over the universe were there, was an impression of the strength of the British Empire, its resources, and that all the Dominions were practically partners in the Empire, and had to be reckoned with in the future.

Canada was getting a very large amount of very valuable advertising. This should be added to and sustained in the future. Hundreds of thousands of Englishmen were looking forward to leaving the Old Land, which was crowded, to an extent that we in Canada could not realize. A wisely directed emigration would send to Canada just the kind of Anglo-Saxon people that she needed.

In one respect the Canadian displays were in a class by themselves. Nothing was sold or on sale. In most of the British buildings, and nearly all of the sister Dominions, exhibits were on sale. Canada had to say that she was not running a bazaar or a bargain counter, but a sure-to-goodness exhibition of what she had made, could do and undertook to do.

Warm was his praise of the general attitude of the English people with whom he came in contact, and such were many. A surprising spirit of cheerfulness prevailed, despite the serious problems England has on hand. A general look forward of hopefulness prevails. The Labor Government was bent on making an effort to ameloriate the living conditions of the masses, the working people, the back bone of England in her industrial struggle.

He told the story of a glimpse of the King and Queen, who visited the Canadian educational and pictorial exhibit. Their Majesties in strolling about, got separated for a few minutes. Presently the Queen came came across a drawing or photograph and looked for the King to come and see. He was at some short distance away, so Her Majesty called out, in the most natural and family way of communication, "George, please come here. Here is a picture of David's ranch in the Canadian West." And together the Royal pair studied the landscape as shown in the picture and agreed that while it did not look a bit like England, it seemed attractive and inviting. The "David" referred to is the Prince of Wales.

SECOND?HAND SUITS FORM BAR IN A PHILADELPHIA STORE

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—The police learned to-day how a second-hand clothing store can do a big business without selling garments. Several curious policemen watched the store all day and then wished they had investigated sooner. Samuel Fulmer's store was crowded with customers, and although he rang up many sales on his cash register, none of those who left the store carried packages. Also each would go in downcast and come out smiling.

A plain clothes man tried on some of the second-hand coats. In the inside pocket of each was a half-pint flask of liquor. Fulmer's excuse was: "I buy clothes second-hand and hang them on the hook without searching them."

Two police lieutenants took him to court.

POMP YIELDS TO LABOUR SWAY

Royalty Resigned to Passing of Ancient Traditions in Court Ceremonials.

BY F. A. WRAY.

LONDON, June 6.—Britain is in the throes of a revolution.

It is so silent, so gradual that even the people of England scarcely recognize it.

It comes to this. That all the ancient institutions of Britain—royalty, titles, House of Lords, great families and great functions are going by the board. There is no outcry, no protest. Everything is just happening as a matter of course. But the process is as rapid as it is certain.

The new Labor Government is acting like a corrosive acid on the old, ceremonial side of Britain. Offices, formalities (most of them dating back at least six hundred years) are fading away. Three years of Ramsay Mac Donald may see all the old trappings gone forever.

Court Heraldry Pales.

King George's case comes first and stands out clearly. Until recently the Court of King George was the most ceremonious in Europe. He was surrounded by a great band of hereditary noblemen, all holding high and greatly prized offices. Those who wished to see him at Buckingham Palace on State occasions could appear only in mediaeval and stately garb—commonly known as court dress. It comprised expensive lawn ruffles, a wonderful cutaway silken coat and expensive silken knee breeches and stockings.

All this has gone. The Vice Chamberlain of the King's Household, who has general supervision and makes all appointments, is now John E. Davison former ironfounder, educated in a small public school. The Comptroller of Buckingham Palace, responsible for all royal functions, is John Parkinson, ex miner, who earned his own education. The Treasurer of the King's Household, who looks after the entire finances and makes many appointments, is Tom Griffiths, ex steel worker, who raised himself up from an obscure village school to Oxford University.

Don't Boast Blue Blood.

There is no boast of blue blood among these men. They have neither pride of ancestry nor great family connections. Before taking office probably not one ever had spoken to a nobleman in his life. They have taken on their jobs quietly and without fuss. but seem as likely to make good as the possessors of all the illustrious names which have preceded them.

Similarly, all the ceremonial dress has been wiped out by a stroke of the pen. No Labor Minister, no member of Parliament, is in a position to waste a couple of thousand dollars buying an elaborate court suit. Consequently, plain evening clothes are now the rule at Buckingham Palace for the most alaborate ceremonies.

The common sense of the British royal family has been mainly responsible for these changes going through so easily. None see more clearly than they, none visualize more keenly the trend of affairs in Britain. They have not merely refrained from offering obstacles, but have encouraged th change.

And although Labor rules Britain there is no threat to the monarchy. It will be more democratic, more in touch with the life of the people than it has been. But it will operate on a different basis.

The monarchy recognizes the revolution and works with it. By keeping pace it keeps its throne.

Austria is to start regular broadcasting on July 1.

Meeting of W.M.S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was held in the Sunday school room on Wednesday afternoon. Only a small attendance of members were present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Black, the vice-president, Mrs. H. Lamb had charge of the devotional exercises. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, after which the business meeting followed. Mrs. O. G. Williamson and Mrs. L. Windrim were appointed delegates to attend the Presbyterial to be held in Norwood next week.

A letter from Rev. John New, of Coniston, a former Salvation Army officer in Omemee, was read, requesting a number of old edition hymn books. As many church members have been inquiring where to dispose of same, it was thought real missionary work to collect a supply and forward them.

It was decided to hold a sale of home-made baking at the home of Mrs. S. J. Mackey on Saturday afternoon, June 14, commencing at 4 o'clock.

The allotment for the bale to be packed in August was discussed and all particulars settled.

The roll call was responded to by a verse of scripture containing the word, "Hope," after which an interesting chapter from the study book, "The Island Beautiful," dealing with the departure to China of the late Dr. Mackay was read by Mrs. L. A. Mahood.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Mackey, Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Mitchell.

CHURCH UNION WAS DISCUSSED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Dr. Pidgeon of the Presbyterian Church Reaffirmed the Stand of Unionist Bodyon Supremacy of Church.

OWEN SOUND, June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada yesterday entered upon the main business that will come before it this session when it received and gave consideration to the report of the Assembly committee on church union.

In the main address of Dr. Pidgeon, who presented the report, was a summing up of the developments of the past year, paving the way for the union and reaffirming of the stand of the unionist body of supremacy of the church, even beyond parliament of the Dominion in matters of internal organization and policy, and its power and authority to legislate and to adjudicate finally in all matters of doctrine worship, the government and discipline of the church, entirely independent of the secular or civil intervention.

Resolutions along these lines were introduced and the debate on these will proceed this morning. Anti-unionists introduced the following amendment immediately the resolutions were placed before the gathering:

"The General Assembly records its appreciation of the patient and careful attention given to the church union bill by the Private Bills committee of Parliament and in view of the amendment thereto adopted by the said committee and also in view of the great and growing opposition as evidenced by the attitude of hundreds of congregations that have recently expressed themselves on the subject." They resolved that no further steps be taken in the matter until such time as civic courts have decided upon the constitutionality of the entire proceedings.

At the evening session inspirational addresses were given describing the progress of the church's missionary activities.

The defence called three physicians of the faculty medicine and experts testified it was a "simple incident of dressing which happens frequently."

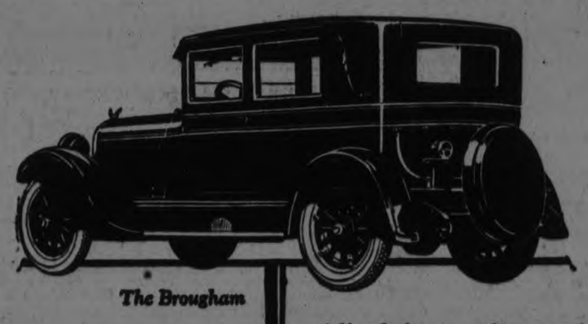
Never Had The Public Dreamed of Such A Car



The Brougham

The remarkable thing about the Chrysler Six is that with a 3 inch motor it gives you 68 horsepower and well over 70 miles per hour—along with gasoline economy well over 24 miles per gallon. Drive it 60 miles and upward over cobbles or ruts, and it rides as remarkably as a two-ton car. No car has ever before given such results as the Chrysler Six gives.

All of the startling and sensational news is not "played up" on the first pages of the newspapers.

The Chrysler Six is, next to the invention of the motor car itself, perhaps the most remarkable advance in personal transportation.

The public had never dreamed of a car that would give the riding comfort, the solidity and roadability, the speed and the flexibility of performance, of cars weighing twice as much, costing three and four times its price, and three or four times as much to run and to keep.

WON QUEBEC TITLE

KANAWASKI, Que., June 6.—Miss Marjorie Annable, Royal Montreal, won the womens' championship of Quebec at the provincial tournament which closed here this afternoon from Miss Helen Paget, Royal Ottawa at the nineteenth green. A stymie on the eighteenth from a missed putt by Miss Annable caused Miss Paget to miss a half and the championship and enabled the Montrealer to square the match there. The game was hard one for Miss Paget to lose because she led throughout the struggle, being three up at the turn.

MACKEY'S BEAT OTONABEE TEAM

Keene Warmed Up Fast, But Wilted In Pinches Of The Game.

DECISION WAS 7-2

Bob Mackey's Bread Mixers handed Keene a trimming last night at the Exhibition Grounds when they walloped the Otonabee boys for seven runs in a seven-inning contest and held the U.F.O.'s to two counters, one in the first and one in the sixth. Mackey's outfit worked in great shape and showed more pep than in any other game they have played this season. Their team has been strengthened considerably since their first battle, and at present have a team that should go a long way in the East Peterboro League.

Keene marched out a smart looking aggregation with their old receiver, T. Hawkins, mingled with the rest. They looked like world beaters in their practice, but fell down in the pinches when snappy playing was needed. Robinson, who burned them in for Keene, started off nicely when he fanned the first three men to face him in the first, but in the second the Mackey outfit clouted him for two hits and three runs that put the game on ice. His team mates fell down badly behind him in this frame, and had two costly errors chalked against them.

Two More In Third.

Bob Mackey's hopefuls came back as strong as ever in the third and walloped the old apple for two more counters, bringing their total to five, while Keene still had one lovely one, to which they added another in the fifth after Sheehy fumbled A. Renwick's roller and H. Renwick came through with a timely single, sending his brother over the plate. The Mackey outfit blanked the Keenesters for the rest of the game, but themselves came through with two hits and two runs in the sixth that put them well away and won the game for them in great style.

Harry Dugan, the new second baseman on the Bakers' line-up, turned in a snappy exhibition of baseball and accepted five chances without a slip. He showed lots of pep and kept the infield on their toes throughout. Red Elliott, at third for Mackey's, also turned in a nice fielding game and got two of his team's seven runs.

Robinson Had Speed.

Robinson who did the twirling for Keene, was in great shape, and had a barrel of speed that he mixed well with his tricky hooks that broke the backs of a number of the breadmakers. He fanned eight and allowed six hits, while the rest of his clan had seven errors behind him that cost the team five runs. Shiner Clarke pitched steady ball for Mackey's, and succeeded in fanning four of his opponents while he was touched for four hits. His teammates had three errors but most of them were wild pegs. Bob Ross and Jimmie McMartin did the umpiring and made a good job of it.

British Footballers Get American Offers

LONDON, June 6 (Associated Press).—The tempting offers which some of the stars of the Association football game of England are receiving from America to go to the United States and act as coaches, is causing concern among England's soccer fans.

From time to time it was not unusual for one or two invitations to be received, but the number which has come to hand, now that the football season is over, shows a considerable increase.

One of the big surprises, however, is that a player named Hill, for whom a large fee was paid by his club, Burnley, last year, has not yet signified his intention of staying with the club for next season. The reason for this is stated to be that he is considering an offer to take up coaching in the United States.

Brewster, a star of the Everton Football Club, has decided to throw in his lot with the Brooklyn Club, and Muirhead, a player from Glasgow Rangers team, also has decided to go to America.

CYRIL WALKER WRESTS AMERICA'S SUPREME GOLF TITLE FROM JONES

Victor Is First Foreign Professional To Win Open Championship In Four Years.

RESULT UNEXPECTED

Walker Came From Hoylake, England, Ten Years Ago.

DETROIT, June 7. — Cyril Walker, New York, won the national open golf championship Friday at Oakland Hills, with a score of 297, three strokes better than the score returned by Bobby Jones, Atlanta, defending his title.

Walker had three of 74 each aid was tied with Jones for the lead at the end of 54 holes with 222. After trailing one stroke at the end of the first two rounds, Jones slumped on his final nine, taking forty for a seventy-eight, while Walker shot par 37 on the last lap and scored a 75.

Billy Melhorn, St. Louis, finished third, with 301, while Bobby Cruikshank, runner-up to Jones last year, MacDonald Smith, San Francisco, and Walter Hagen, twice champion, tied for fourth place with 303.

Gruelling Contest.

The tournament probably was the most gruelling contest ever participated in by players for the United States' open championship. Walker's victory was the first one by a foreign born professional since Jim Baries captured the title at Washington four years ago. While the Englishman has always been a consistent player, he has never before won an important title. He was runner-up last year to Walter Hagen in the North and South open championship.

The new champion came to the United States ten years ago. He is slight in stature, weighing less than 130 pounds, but he outgolfed such sturdy individuals as Jones and Hagen without any trouble. He made a number of brilliant shots, including his second over the lake on the 348 yard thirty four hole, where he holed a nine foot putt down hill for a thirty-three, virtually clinching the victory at that point.

Unnoticed by Crowd.

All through the four days' grind over the sandy hills and wooded valleys, Walker soht his way almost unnoticed by the thousands who flocked to the course to see the play. It was only after word reached the clubhouse, following the finish of Jones, that Walker had a chance to take the title, that the multitude tried to get a glimpse of the oncoming champion.

When the 33 year old native of Hoylake, England, dropped his final approach on the large green 25 feet from the cup, the crowd gave him probably the first tremendous applause he had ever received, but the bronzed professional paid no attention whatever to the plaudits of the onlookers and calmly ran his ball dead to the hole and tapped it in for a five, securing the supreme honor in United States' golf.

It was the tenth hole, probably more than anything else, that cost Jones his chance to retain the title. On this 450 yard hole, whose par is four, Bobby, in four rounds, took six more strokes than perfect figures, and two of these additional strokes came in the final stretch.

None of the players were able to equal par to-day, 74 being the best score for the 18 holes.

Gene Sarazen, champion two years ago, could do no better than 313. Joe Kirkwood, New York, who had been picked by many as a likely winner of the title, took 315.

ADA MACKENZIE WON.

For Third Successive Year Is Ontario Ladies' Golf Champion.

WELLAND, June 6—The Ontario Ladies' Golf Championship yesterday was won by Mrs. Hope Gibson of Hamilton, who defeated Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Mississauga Club of Toronto, 1 up, in a stubbornly contested final that was almost as hard and nerve wracking on the spectators as it was on the three times opponents. By the smallest possible margin, Mrs. Gibson regained the title that she won in 1921 in London and relinquished to Miss Mackenzie at Rosedale in 1922 and failed to regain in 1923 at Brantford. The third successive meeting of the pair in a championship final proved successful for the Hamilton lady and the victory was a fairly popular one. The challenger generally being the recipient of the most support although many were pulling for Miss Mackenzie to make it three in a row. It was a hard struggle and there never was more than one hole between the pair all the way.

FIGHT FEATURED LISTLESS GAME

Both Phillies And Cardinals Required To Separate Mueller And Sand.

REDS BEATEN BY RALLY

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Philadelphia made it three out of four from St. Louis to-day, when the home team nosed out the visitors by an 8 to 7 margin. The game, a listless affair, was enlivened in the fifth, by a fist fight between Clarence Mueller and Heinie Sand, after a close play at second base. Sand accused Mueller of throwing dirt in his eyes, and it required the combined efforts of both of the teams to separate the combatants.

The Phillies pounded three St. Louis pitchers for a total of 17 hits. "Cy" Williams collected four safeties out of five trips to the plate. The score:

St. Louis	220	020	000—6 9 2
Philadelphia	10x	10x	10x—7 17 3

Delaney, North, Doak and Gonzales; Wilson and Ring.

Cincinnati	000	000	300—3 9 1
Boston	000	020	02x—4 13 0

An exhibition game of baseball was played between the Centreville and Bensfort teams on Wednesday evening, on the grounds owned by Mr. David Dodds, of Bensfort.

The line-up was as follows:

Bensfort: G. Morrison p, F. Wood c, J. Pue 1b, J. Armour 2b, H. Moncrief 3b, R. Atcheson ss, R. Whittington lf, C. Emberson rf, L. Atcheson cf.

DUTCH PROTEST URUGUAY'S WIN

Holland's Team Defeated in Olympic Soccer Semi-Final by 2-1.

PENALTY KICK WON.

PARIS, June 6.—The Uruguayan Olympic soccer football team to-day destroyed another obstacle in the way of its victorious career toward the world's Olympic title, disposing of Holland's team by a score of 2 to 1, after one of the most desperate uphill matches seen since the tournament began. After trailing 1 to 0 in the first period, Uruguay picked out of the fire what appeared to be a lost match. The winning goal was scored on a penalty kick after the ball struck one of the players' hands.

Although Uruguay has won the right to meet Switzerland in the final match for the title, this right is not undisputed. After the game the Dutch team officially protested against the ruling which allowed the penalty kick which produced the winning goal. The Olympic Jury will decide to-night whether this protest shall be upheld, and if it is, Uruguay's hard fought victory will be nullified and the game will have to be replayed.

KEENE FIELD DAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Good Programme Provided With Several New Features -- The Prize-winners.

KEENE, June 7.—The annual Field Day, which is a feature of May 24, had to be postponed this year on account of adverse weather, but the committee in charge lost no time in making other arrangements, and the field day took place on June 3, the King's birthday.

The sports opened with the usual race for infants, every contestant who reached the finishing rope receiving a prize of candy. Twenty-two races in all were run off, with a more keenly contested vigour than previously noticed. The number of entries in each race, and the speed with which the contestants came forward for each event, showed that the fourth annual field day was the most interesting so far.

Each year the prizes donated for the races have shown an improvement, and if the field day is supported with improved zest each year, as it has been in the past, it will not only be well worth while from the point of view of sport and contest, but also from the point of view of the splendid and useful prizes to be obtained.

Three new features this year added considerably to the interest of the day. A cup, donated by Dr. S. Y. Walsh for the winner in a girls' soft ball game, marked the first time that recognition was given by the field day to this good feature of girls' sports. The Keene and Sixth Line teams lined up in good form, and after a good game, in which both teams did good work and showed great promise for the present season, the Keene girls travelled to victory.

A cup, donated by Messrs. Chapman and Comrie of the Bank of Toronto, for the boy obtaining the greatest number of points during the sports, was won by William Dickson, while a cup, donated by E. H. Barnes for girls, was won by Miss Kate Shearer.

The baseball game was a second contest between the Maple Leaf's of Peterboro, who won the contest last season, and Keene. The Maple Leaf's again claimed a victory, so for a second year, are the holders of the cup donated by the business men of Keene.

The annual dance in connection with the field day was held on May 23, but as the field day was postponed, another dance was held on the night of June 3, which, in a very pleasant and agreeable manner, again brought a glorious end to a perfect day.

OLD COUNTRY CRICKET SCORES

LONDON, June 6. — (Canadian Press).—A remarkable feat was performed by Peach, the Surrey professional, in the county cricket championship game between Surrey and Sussex yesterday when he secured four wickets with successive balls. Surrey was defeated in the first innings, however, scoring only 53 runs against Sussex, whose score was 165. The game was not completed. Surrey scored 121 for three wickets when time was called.

The match between Middlesex and Essex in the county championships was drawn, Middlesex 132, and Essex 70 for six wickets.

Kent defeated Northamptonshire by an innings and 109 runs, Kent 345 for nine wickets, declared. Northamptonshire scored 50 in the first innings and followed on with 186.

Hampshire defeated Worcestershire by seven wickets, Hampshire 104 and 98 for three wickets. Worcestershire 98 and 103.

Gloucestershire defeated Glamorgan in the first innings. Glamorgan 147, Gloucestershire 148 for nine wickets.

The match between Yorkshire and the touring South Africans was drawn, Yorkshire 236 and 142 for three wickets, declared; South Africans 111 and 141 for six wickets; Susakind not out 60; Sutcliffe, 67; Oldroyd 67.

FRANCE NOT HOPEFUL OF SHOWING UP WELL IN COMING OLYMPICS

French Chances in the Olympic Track Events Are Very Slim.

PARIS, June 7, — (Associated Press).—France has but slight prospect of figuring prominently among contenders for Olympic track and field this year, but chief hopes are being pinned on making a showing in two distance running features, the 10,000 meters and the marathon.

Preparations for these events have been going on secretly, but interruptedly, since 1922. El Ouadi, a French-Moroccan from north Africa, is reputed to be a world beater in the marathon and has turned in several sensational performances. Recently at Paris he defeated the pick of distance running stars at 30 kilometers in close to record time.

Bedel of Nancy, Gaston Houet, Manhes, and Schnellman are others who will run either in the 10,000 meters or marathon, according to their condition when final individual entries are made on June 25.

Otherwise France appears to be outclassed, especially in the field events, but the French committee is determined to give the visiting nations a fight for points in every event, regardless of what the chances of scoring may be.

Two of the great pre-Olympic selection meets have been held and with a few exceptions meets have been held and with a few exceptions no promising talent was uncovered. In most cases the veterans of cinder path and field held their own with the newcomers, and much-heralded "phenoms" from the provinces failed to come up to expectations.

Al Jackson, who is thoroughly French despite his Anglo-Saxon name, was the best prospect uncovered in the sprints. This 19-year-old youth turned in 16 2-5 seconds for 150 meters and the easy manner in which he won was more impressive than his time. He will run in the 200 meters. Andre Mourlon, veteran of Antwerp, remains France's best bet in the 100 meters.

Guillemot, winner of the Olympic 5,000-meter race in 1920 at Antwerp and the only athlete to send the French flag up the victory pole, apparently has lost his best form and will not be entered in defence of his honors. He is training for the 1,500-meter. No successor to him has been uncovered in the tryouts for the 5,000-meter distance, none of the present crop of candidates being able to better 15 minutes for the distance. Barbaud and Payeblem are the best of a rather poor lot.

Frey is the undisputed king at 400 meters and has several times bettered 50 seconds, which may be good enought for points, but there is little hope in the 800, where Phillips, another Frenchman with an English name, appears the most promising. Boitard is the best at 1,500, but he has never been clocked under four minutes, and France's chances in this event also are slight.

France has no able talent for the field events, and does not expect to score, although Lewden may give a good account of himself in the high jump, Wilhelm in the broad jump and the veteran, Paoli, in the shot-put and discus throw.

OFFICIALS FILL MOSCOW.

Under the Czaar the population of the city was about a million, of which 416,000 were workers, 170,000 domestic servants and 164,000 officials.

FREEDOM OF CITY.

EDINBURGH, June 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Premier Ramsay MacDonald is to receive the freedom of this city. After a heated discussion last night the town council decided to confer this honor upon him. Those who opposed the suggestion urged that the Premier's position in history had not been fully established and that his war record had been disconcerting.

Latest Feature a Story of Paris Piled High with Novel Scenes.

Slave markets of antiquity have their counterparts in modern life, according to Dimitria Buchowetzki, whose production, "Men," starring Pola Negri, contains an illustration of how women are bought and sold to-day.

Filmed by the Russian director as his first American made picture for Paramount, "Men" contains the story of the amazing adventures of a French girl, "Cleo," who begins life as a waitress in a cheap wine shop and rises to fame as a dancer in Paris

The role of "Cleo," is played by Pola Negri. Surrounded by a host of men who strive to win her favors by fair means or foul she finally promises to give the privilege of her company to the highest bidder Handled by the masterly direction of Dimitri Buchowetzki, the scene which follows is probably unsurpassed in the history of motion pictures. The camera moves from face to face where greed, passion, fear, avarice and desire are depicted upon each countenance. Bidding one against the other, these men play the modern evivalent of the slave merchants of ancient times.

Chosen to support Pola Negri in this powerful picture of life among certain sections of European society, which comes to the Capitol Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, are well known players such as Robert W. Frazer, Robert Edeson, Joseph Swickard, Monti Collins, Gino Corrado and Edwar Norton.

Dimitri Buchowetzki produced "Men" from his own original story which was scenarized by Paul Bern.

$20,000.00 IN REAL MONEY FOR THIS CONFIDENCE GAME

There is always a high spit in the production of a motion picture—a thrill or something that stands out. Scene after scene is ground out day after day and then something happens to give everyone connected with the picture a shiver of excitement. The property department furnishes the thrill for Thomas Meighan and his company recently when $20,000 in real money was scattered on the set for a scene in "The Confidence Man." Meighan, who plays the sharper in the story, and his confederate, Laurence Wheat, had the twenty thousand in yellow backs to carry out their confidence game. They seemed perfectly at home handling the money, but the electricians who hung over the spotlights just stared and stared. All the windows and doors were closed by the ever-cautious cashier, who loned the money, to prevent any possibility of a bill blowing out of the set. It was a day of thrills and nobody breathed easy until the twenty thousand was back in the safe.

"The Confidence Man," with Virginia Valli playing opposite the star, comes to the Capitol next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Victor Heerman directed the production which is an adaptation by Paul Sloane of a story by Laurie York Erskine and Robert H. Davis.

Larry Wheat who played with Meighan in "The Bachelor Daddy," "Back Home and Broke," and others is also in the cast.

AT THE ROYAL

A "WESTERN" THAT THE LADIES LIKE

There is Plenty of Love as Well as Fighting in Harry Carey's Latest at Royal on Monday.

Why do the wives of the nation growl when their husbands suggest going to see a western picture? Because these productions usually minimize the importance of love interest.

The typical "western" includes only one woman in its cast—who is hence bound to be the heroine at any cost. Introducing her, it then busies itself entirely with the physical exploits of the hero. In the final fade out there is usually a brief embrace—with which the romantic sex must be content.

But it's not, for the ladies—God bless 'em—love love!

That is why Hunt Stromberg bought Shannon Fife's original story, "The Lightning Rider," for Harry Carey's new starring vehicle.

This story, without sacrificing any of the heroisms of the classified "western," builds up a romantic complication equal to any provided in a straight drama.

Marvellous horsemanship—thrilling rescues—red blood—popping bullets! It has all these, to be sure, but in addition it has an equally emphasized strain of mystery and romance which will satisfy the most ardent of the feminine theatre-goers.

It's perfectly all right for a man to be a crack shot, so say they, but what earthly good is he if he can't make love properly? And in these days of carefully policed cities, they're just about right. It's still love that makes the world go round—and not the bullseye.

"The Lightning Rider," which is being shown at the Royal Theatre on Monday, yields to this truth and makes Harry Carey a woman's star as well as a man's.

LAST OPPORTUNITY TO-NIGHT TO SEE COLLEEN MOORE IN "THE HUNTRESS."

An unusually interesting and out of the ordinary production, "The Huntress" closes a successful engagement at the Royal to-night. It is decidedly different and well worth seeing. Colleen Moore, as a white girl raised with Indians, has the best role it has been our pleasure to see. Patrons who demand the best should not overlook this picture to-night.

6,000 OBREGON TROOPS ATTACK 4,000 REBELS

Fighting Going on at Villahermosa —Tampico Alarmed Over a Threatened General Strike.

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—The War Department states that strong Federal columns are attacking Villahermosa, capital of Tabasco.

Planes are co operating in the attack. Federal troops, numbering more than 6,000, equipped with seige and field artillery, are advancing upon the State capital. The rebel strength is given as 4,000 men, led by Candido Aguilar and Salvador Alvarado. It is believed the resistance of the rebels will be overcome in a few days and that the capture of Villahermosa will end the revolution.

A movement for an unprecedented general strike at Tampico is under way because the Mexican Eagle Oil Company has not yet reached an agreement with the strikers who have been out for more than two months, according to a message from Tampico. It is understood that the light, water and tramway services may be paralyzed by the general strike movement, and considerable alarm is felt in business circles.

"Division of the land is one of the greatest failures of the revolution because the rich have been impoverished without enriching the poor," General Angel Flores, Presidential candidate, declared to day, discussing the agrarian problem.

He added that the present economic crisis was due especially to the destruction of property, the landowners having neither credit not money because they were unable to sell or mortgage their properties owing to the risks of expropriation.

General Flores believes that instead of dividing the land, agricultural colonies should be established with an agricultural bank having branches throughout the country, and agricultural schools should be set up as the only means of restoring Mexican prosperity.

"Indemnities should be paid in cash," he said, "immediately after the land is seized, and no one should be obliged to accept bonds in payment for expropriation because Congress has not yet passed legislation creating an agricultural debt as is required by Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution. Payment with bonds must never happen, as it will bring about agricultural bankruptcy and serious economic disorders for the Government."

Speaking on the labor question, the General said capital and the Government must strive for moral, intellectual and economic improvement of the workers, giving them better standards of living, as the labor question is especially important for Mexico.

"I sympathize with and approve of the right to strike because it represents the freedom to work," he concluded. "I abhore a tyranny of capital as well as a tyranny of labor when non-unionized men are not permitted to work."

DEADLOCK CONTINUES.

PARIS, June 7. — (Canadian Press.) — Governmental deadlock continues, but there was evidence this morning that President Millerand who has been withholding his hand thus far would take action this evening and name Premier after consulting political leaders.

According to those close to him the President is confident that he has lost nothing being deliberate.

News of the Golfers

JONES AND HIS RECORD.

Bobby Jones, at the age of twenty-two, now faces the hardest stand in sport—the defence of a golf championship against more than eighty star professionals and amateurs, wherein the odds are 8 to 1 against any starter.

The Georgian, now a Georgia Tech and a Harvard graduate, dashed into fame eight years ago at Merion, when he was fourteen years old.

So, while only twenty-two now, he is on the border line of veteran competition, a seasoned campaigner who has been through the flame.

Jones has now been through four opera championships for the main golf crown of the United States. The seventy-two-hole medal test, where every stroke counts again the field, is about the ultimate one. In these four open championships, Jones has played seventeen rounds over Invérness, Columbia, Skokie and Inwood (not including qualifying matches), where the range has been between 6,500 and 6,800 yards. It has taken him 1,263 strokes to play these seventeen rounds, which leaves an average of 74.3 strokes to each eighteen-hole pilgrimage.

Leaving out the eighteen-hole play-off against Bobby Cruickshank last July, Jones' total for the last sixteen rounds of the last four championships is fourteen strokes below any other rival, amateur or professional, with Hagen in second place. This is a remarkable showing over a long route, and it is only the long marches that count. It is almost a stroke per round better than any one else, proof enough of skill and consistency linked together.

When championship golf courses are extended to 6,700 yards, as most of them are, par is in the immediate neighbourhood of 74.

So, for seventeen rounds of open play, Jones has been ambling along with par less than a stroke away for each round.

There is a deadly consistency here which the average golfer can't quite grasp in the most vivid stretch of his imagination.

It is something beyond him—something beyond his understanding. Par for 30 6holes of championship jousting is a bit too thick to be seized at one grasping or gripping.

Yet this consistency is the main reason that Jones is conceded a first-class chance to repeat the first successive open victory since Jack McDermott doubled up in 1911 and 1912.

The Jones System.

Many reasons might be offered for Jones' consistent play. Chief among them are his economy of foot movement, his natural body pivotting, and the simplicity of his style.

He has no fancy repertory to put upon display. He uses about the same teg shot against the wind or with the wind. He rarely tries any fades to the right or pulls to the left. He hits as straight for the pin as conditions will permit. And there isn't a club in the bag—driver, brassie, spoon, iron, mashie, niblick, or putter—that he can't use with fine effect.

He isn't wild from the tee, but when he gets into trouble there is no one surer to get the ball out fairly close to the pin. Moreover, he rarely has a bad round—rarely a round about 75 or 76—usually being in position to have a brilliant round send him on ahead.

He has a fine, firm chip shot off the green, and is a greatly improved putter over 1920 and 1921.

Yet the Odds Are Heavy.

Yet the odds against his winning at Oakland Hills are 8 to 1. Why? Because there are eight or ten additional starters who might run into one of those two-day streaks, and because Jones himself is only human and may drop back to only average speed such as he showed against Havers.

The stars can't dominate golf as other stars dominate tennis or billiards or boxing.

The ancient game is too jealous of its reign. It seems to allow each star his year — and then it's the guillotine. So far—but no further.

For example, there is Hagen. Here is a brilliant competitor who knows the course, and, in addition to being a great golfer, is also one of the surest of all putters. There is around the putting greens nothing in golf quite like Hagens unmoved body and the steady, even stroke of his putter through the ball. There is nothing hurried, nothing rushed—no sign of a poke or a stab. Here is the essence of rhythm and touch, of accuracy under control.

Then there are Gene Sarazen, Jock Hutchison, McDonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood, and Johnny Farrell—among many others—who can step at a championship clip. Mike Brady, Leo Deigel, and Jack Burke are all fine golfers. The list is too long to attempt any complete enumeration. But when one studies the possibilities of the first ten or twenty and knows the fickleness of golf, it is not difficult to understand that 8 to 1 should be laid against even a Hagen or a Jones.

And there are drives that just drift into the rough—or just stay out. There are the approaches that just catch a bunker—or just miss a bunker. There are the putts that stop an inch short, or the putts that hit the cup—and hop out—or the putts that just manage to drop in. Just a turn one way or another may make the biggest sort of difference; a bad lie or a good lie down the fairway may help decide a title. The break of fortune plays an important role in golf—a role more important than many know. But, over seventy-two holes, luck may often be equalised, the true test coming in the way those affected take the hard luck breaks. There is a world of drama in a golf championship — a world of excitement, where, for the pro, $25,000 may be come or go on the fate of a six-foot putt.

ENFORCING THE LAW.

REGINA, June 7.— (Canadian Press.)—Taking an opportunity to reply to criticism made at a meeting of Lay Members' Association Wednesday, Hon. J. A. Cross, Attorney General, told the Association at a banquet last night that an honest, sincere effort was being made by the Provincial Police, Municipal Police and Saskatchewan Liquor Commission to enforce the temperance law.

"I know many of you will not agree with that," he said. "But it is a fact."

EBBER WON A BOUT FROM LEO KID ROY

Had a Clear Edge in Every Round — Referee Split Judges' Decision.

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press). — Bobby Ebber, of Hamilton, Canadian bantamweight champion, gained another notch in his comeback in the fistic business last night at the Arena Gardens, when he secured the decision over Leo (Kid) Roy, of Montreal, Canadian featherweight titleholder.

Ebber earned the verdict by his elusive footwork, keeping away from the heavy artillery of the Montrealer, and had a clear margin in every round.

To the surprise of the fans, Referee Elwood Hughes had to split the decision of the judges.

The bout was easily Ebber's, as he was superior in boxing ability, and was in the best condition he has showed in the Toronto ring for a long time.

Roy had the advantage of a little less than a pound over his Hamilton opponent, Ebber tipping the scales at 122 3-4 pounds, while Roy weighed 123 1-4.

The bout was delayed by a verbal argument at the start, as both boxers wanted to know if the championship was at stake, but as neither were at title weight, both boys' crowns were safe, win or lose.

Ebber gave one of the nicest exhibitions of boxing seen in the Toronto ring in some time. He kept at a safe distance all the night, but during the last rounds he threw his guard to the winds, went after Roy, and easily beat the featherweight champion at his own game.

Fred Snell, whose weight was announced at 158 pounds, ended his bout with Bill Johnson, of Stockport, England, 158 1-4 pounds, in less than a minute, when he drove in a bullet-like punch to the stomach.

Sid Conn, featherweight, knocked out Young Marks in two rounds, and Howard Mayberry, bantam, won from Ralph McNaughton.

AT KNOX TO-MORROW.

Morning: A Song or a Sigh? Much depends upon the way you answer this question.

"Shall crime bring crime forever—
Strength aiding still the strong;
Is it Thy will, O Father,
That man should toil for wrong?
No! Say Thy mountains. No! Thy skies.
Man's clouded sun shall brightly rise
And songs ascend instead of sighs."

"Now, 'tis this I most admire—
The constant talk men of your stamp keep up
Of God's will, as they style it; one would swear
Man had but merely to uplift his eye,
And see the will in question charactered
On Heaven's vault." — Browning.

Evening: The Offspring of Shame! Yours?

"O shame, where is thy blush?"—Hamlet.

This world would be quite a terrible place,
If nobody ever opened his face;
I don't like the idea of that old bird—

He would tell the world wherever he went

BONUS.

The soldier bonus will cost about $1.10 a year for every American man, woman and child, according to estimates.

Rather cheap insurance for protecting 108 million lives and some 320 billion dollars worth of national wealth.

It'll all go back to its source—the people. Out of one pocket, into the other.

JINNI.

An electric machine that lays as many bricks as 20 masons is being marketed in the building trades. Three men operate it. The labor of 17 men is saved, released for other kinds of work.

This is typical of the history of applied inventions.

You picture a future race with nothing to do except run machines, make them, mine and prepare ores and grow food. These tasks can be made easier by machinery, but never displaced by it. There'll always be plenty of work, though a one-hour workday may be the rule a long time after we're all dead and forgotten.

SLACK MARKET THIS MORNING

Soap Box Orator Gave Discourse on the Liver and Panacea For Unemployment.

There was a slack market this morning. The in-between season has a slowing-up effect on the produce offered for sale, which seems to consist mainly of plants and green things, like onions and rhubarb. The fish man had fresh-looking "mountain trout" at his stall, at 20 cents a pound, and there was the seasonal display of boxed plants, in flowers and vegetables. Potatoes were few and far between, the available supply being picked up rapidly at $2.25 and $2.50 a bag. Little pigs were not as prominent as usual, either, and were slightly up in price, their quotation this morning being around $8 a pair.

In the basket section, there were not enough buyers for the produce offered for sale. Butter and eggs were very plentiful, and there were quantities of fowl to be had, anywhere from 20 to 25 cents a pound. Tiny spring chickens, weighing a pound and a quarter apiece, were 50 cents a pound, reminding one of the little boy and the soup, "Very good, what there is of it."

Cream was 25 cents a pint, butter 28 and 30 cents a pound, and eggs from 25 to 27 cents a dozen. Duck eggs were a nickel apiece.

There were several sales of home-made cooking upstairs, and the ladies of St. Mark's Anglican Church, in Otonabee, were selling wood ferns and flowers. Purple pansies and dainty lily of the valley, variegated tulips and lilacs were on sale at different counters this morning.

Down in the sunshine, a black puppy crawled an affectionate way up a little boy's neck. In a box, his small brown and black brothers and sisters held a reception for admiring passers-by, and another box harbored several coal-black rabbits, selling at a quarter apiece. The little boy who sold them said they would eat anything, but the little boy who contemplated buying them thought they "would spoil the garden" and went his way, alone. Farther on, in a covered box, tiny Brown Leghorns protested against their shut-in condition.

In the open space, several horses, including a black driving pair, stood waiting for possible purchasers, but the crowd was listless, and no sale had been made to a late hour.

A vendor of a certain type of medicine, who interspersed his description of the liver and its functions with advice with regard to social economic problems, held the crowd with a hypnotic eye. With a piercing voice, a gay hat-band and gorgeous tie, he delivered opinions on things in general to the world at large. "Providential education" was the description given of the instinct which is implanted in animals, and keeps them from having to dose themselves with medicine, while on the use of man's reason and free will was blamed most of the ills of the world. Man's reason having interested itself in the production of time-saving machinery, the result is that men stand around, idle, while their machines do the work, and unemployment results.

A panacea for present unemployment conditions was given as a shortening of hours of labor generally and a spreading out of the work to be done.

"If your liver is sick don't give it sweet medicine," was a warning admonition of one branch of the discourse, which soon drifted to a consideration of the causes of war. "If King George and his dear cousin, Kaiser Bill had known that they would be placed in the front ranks, do you think they would have been willing to have the last war?" inquired the speaker, who contrasted the present wood-sawing endeavours of the defeated Wilhelm with the glorious record and death of the first Harold of England, who strove against his foes on the field of Hastings.

"Put the monarchs, and the cabinet ministers, and the politicians and the ministers and priests who preach in their pulpits that there should be volunteers for the Army, put them all in the front ranks, and you won't have any more wars. And conscript the men over thirty, as well — the men under it. That's the way to end war for all time," declared the gentleman, who scored the efforts of the "Pax Special" ladies as being futile in the extreme.

A Juvenile Ball League.

Cobourg Juvenile Baseball League got into action last night when a game was played at Victoria Park between St. Peter's and the Trail Rangers. Great interets is taken in the League, which past seasons produced some smart young players, and it is expected to prove a feeder for junior and intermediate teams.

Harwood's Memorial Park.

The new memorial park at Harwood is being seeded this week and put in fine shape for the formal opening, which is to take place shortly with appropriate ceremonies. It will be a fine resort and playground and a much appreciated addition to the community life at that Rice Lake resort.

No Ball Team for Harwood.

Harwood is out of the limelight this season as far as county league ball is concerned, as the northern village has no ball team. One reason for this is that some of last year's players have gone away. One or two of last year's Harwood team are playing with Roseneath this season.

A Heavy Rain.

This district was visited by a heavy shower this morning. A farmer from the plain lands in Haldimand Township, observed "that is just what we need to bring the crops on—a nice, warm rain," but the farmers along the lake front in Northumberland are more anxious to see sunny skies and a rising temperature. There are still fields to be planted, and Jupiter Pluvius still interferes.

WEDDING BELLS

RUSH—GROBB.

Married in Toronto, on Saturday, June the seventh, by the Rev. Sextus Stiles, at the Church of the Epiphany, Erma Rosena, only daughter of Mr. James A. Grobb and the late Mrs. Grobb, St. Catharines, Ont., and Herbert John Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Rush, Peterborough, Ont.

CLARKE—DINSDALE.

A quiet wedding took place at eight o'clock on the evening of Saturday, May 31st, at the residence of the Rev. S. Cruikshank, 626 George street, when Mr. Cruikshank performed the ceremony which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Adella Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dinsdale, 296 Sherbrooke Place, and William A. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarke, of this city.

The bride, who wore a handsome gown of grey crepe de chine, and black hat, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses, was attended by Miss Viola Redpath, of Lakefield, wearing sand crepe de chine and black hat, and carrying colombia roses. A Brother of the bride, Carl Dinsdale, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will reside in Peterborough.

HOKUM.

If you are within earshot of business leaders, you hear them discussing the business slump and their explanation of it usually includes a mumble about "those investigations in Washington."

Those investigations have had no more to do with it than if they had taken place in Timbukto, on the edge of the Sahara desert.

Business slipped because the public curtailed its buying. Stagnation in the retail field ntaurally backs up into wholesaling and manufacturing channels. The late spring started dullness in buying.

Former Finance Minister Under Poincare Announces Ministers Of Cabinet He Has Formed.

ACCEPTS PREMIERSHIP

Friends of President Millerand Foresee His Enforced Retirement.

PARIS, June 9. — (Canadian Press).—The new French Cabinet named Sunday by Frederic Francois-Marsal to take the place of that headed by M. Poincare which recently resigned, is as follows:

Premier and Minister of Finance—M. Francois-Marsal.
Foreign Affairs—Edmond Lefebvre Du Prey.
Justice—Senator Antony Ratier.
Interior—Justin De Selves.
War and Pensions—Andre Maginet.
Labor and Hygiene—Paul Jourdain.
Navy—Desire Ferry.
Public Works—Yves Le Trocquer.
Education—M. Landry.
Commerce—Pierre Flandin.
Agriculture—M. Capus.
Devastated Regions—Louis Marin.
Colonies—Jean Fabry.

The Ministry was made known after a final interview between President Millerand and M. Francois-Marsal. It will make its appearance before Parliament Tuesday, when the Premier will read a message from President Millerand in the Chamber, explaining the political situation as the President sees it. Simultaneously the Minister of Justice will perform a similar duty in the Senate.

Doomed to Defeat.

The initial appearance of the Cabinet before the Chamber is likewise likely to prove its farewell. The general impression is that France, which has been without a responsible Government since June 1, will have one Tuesday, but only for a few hours.

The Francois-Marsal Cabinet has already been referred to by its friends as an "evanescent Cabinet," while the Opposition has dubbed it "the still-born Government," so certain is everybody who concerns himself with politics that the message from the President, the delivery of which to the Parliament is the sole purpose of its formation, will find the Government in a minority upon the first vote.

Millerand's Message.

M. Millerand's message will call attention to the provision in the constitution fixing the duration of the Presidential mandate as for seven years. Contrary to the spirit and letter of the constitution, according to the President, the leaders of the political majority by refusing to form a Cabinet selected from this majority, have made it impossible for the President to carry out his executive mandate.

The adversaries of M. Millerand have determined to refuse to recognize the Marsal Ministry, the composition of which, they declare, is in opposition to the people's wishes, as expressed by universal suffrage. This may result in the entire Left bloc leaving the Chamber as the Premier appears in the House on Tuesday.

Should this occur some of the deputies friendly to the President will address the Chamber on the Government's foreign policy and force a vote in which the Left must join or be defeated. The Millerand followers have made up their minds that the Chamber must take a position on the Presidential situation beyond a doubt, whether on the matter of foreign policy, or direct resignations.

Whatever happens, it will not be possible for the two Chambers meeting as a Congress at Versailles to elect a new President of the Republic before Friday.

At Decisive Stage.

United States Fliers Arrive At Hong Kong

HONG KONG, June 9—(Canadian Press).—The three United States Army planes which are on an aerial flight around the world arrived here from Amoy at 12.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having made the 300-mile flight in three hours and 15 minutes.

The planes reached Hong Kong, a half hour sooner than they had been expected. A typhoon threatened to break in this neighborhood on Saturday night but the storm blew over.

The fliers had difficulty in discerning the landing place picked out for them, three miles off Hong Kong Island, but the United States torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones communicated with the planes by heliograph signals and a shot fired from the service lighter enabled the aviators to steer for the bay.

LABOR FIGHTS RED STRIKERS

MacDonald Government Resents Communist Conspiracy That Cripples Railways.

SERIOUS SITUATION

LONDON, June 9. (Associated Press.) — The British Communists on Saturday showed their hand in the rail strike, which is continuing to spread while the public is awaiting a further statement of the government's intentions beyond Labor Minister Shaw's declaration that it would endeavor to maintain the public utilities and protect the men who are continuing to work.

The Communist party of Great Britain issued a statement declaring that the workers had tried vainly to get their grievances remedied through constitutional trade union machinery and had decided to strike only after it was evident that the officials of the National Union of Railway Men did not intend to act. "The Communist Party," the statement said, "welcomes this growing spirit of revolt on the part of the workers fighting against capitalism, and pledges itself to do all that it can to help them. * * * * We call upon all the workers engaged in the railway industry to rally to the assistance of the strikers and upon all the other sections of the workers to give their moral and financial support."

Fight Conspiracy.

The Daily Express to-day says the Cabinet has "decided to fight the Communist conspiracy which is crippling the London underground railways."

A plenary strike committee has been formed to take charge of the situation empowered to take whatever steps it deems necessary, the paper says, adding:

"It is going to be a stand-up fight between the government and the principal trades union leaders against the unofficial strike leaders, who now are known to be acting on Communist instructions."

The paper asserts that the government possesses fullest details regarding the conspiracy, and the source of the money for its support which it says, amounted to £80,000 in 1922.

The Government Strike Committee according to the Express, comprises the Secretary of War, Stephen Walsh, Home Secretary, Arthur Henderson, the First Lord of the Admiralty, Lord Cheimsford; Postmaster General Vernon Hartshorn; Labor Minister, Tom Shaw, and the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Colonel Wedgewood.

The Daily Telegraph, which in a long article traces the origin of the strike to the Bolsheviki, says that a special cabinet meeting Saturday discussed the situation, and that the government is prepared, if cimcumstances warrant, to invoke the Emergency Powers Act, which it arranged to put into operation during the previous strike.

A half dozen Government Ministers are staying in London to watch the situation during the week-end holiday, while the others are in the country. Premier MacDonald has gone to Lossiemouth in Scotland but it is stated he will return if it becomes desirable to take direct action. The Labor Minister has cancelled a projected Continental tour, and is staying in London.

MUSSOLINI HAS CONFIDENCE OF MOST DEPUTIES

Majority Of 250 In Italian Chamber Support The Goverment's Policies.

EULOGIZES LABOR

Italy Must Remain In The League Of Nations.

ROME, June 9 (Associated Press).—Premier Mussolini, speaking before the Chamber of Deputies which on Saturday gave his government a vote of confidence by a very large majority, reviewed the foreign situation. He commented on the outcome of the French, German and British elections, made special reference to the British Labor Government, and touched upon the reparation problem and the League of Nations.

The Premier denied that the German election showed a swing to the left, since Germany, he contended, was a country the national pastime of which was to revel to Socialist theories, without, however, putting them into practice.

"Can we claim a definite result from the French elections?" he asked, and answered this by saying:

"The French Left parties elected only 276 deputies against 264 for the Right. But there are 29 Communists and these engage only in making trouble for the Left, certainly not for the Right."

Regarding Great Britain, he said:

"Despite the anti-demagogic and unpopular platform of Premier Baldwin, and the defeat of his party at the polls because the people were out to vote against the high cost of living, the Conservatives polled only 16,775 less than in the elections held in 1922. This cannot be regarded as a displacement of the electoral vote without considering that the English Labor Party is something entirely different from certain Socialist parties in Europe.

"Labor is a matter of evolution; Labor fought its way through centuries after hard toil in an attack for recognition of the individual; yet Premier MacDonald is sometimes embarrassed by his own party, especially by the Scottish miners."

Here Premier Mussolini compared the results of the Italian election with the others, and pointed out that his party was brought into office by such an overwhelming majority as to make the other parties virtually helpless.

Will Help Italy.

Reverting to the foreign policy of the Government, Mussolini said that many questions had been settled in a way favorable to Italian interests, and added:

"Undoubtedly there are still many big questions to be settled, notably repartions. This has been facilitated by Germany's acceptance of the Dawes plan, which I believe will also ameliorate conditions in Italy more than in any other country."

In conclusion, after declaring that Italy must be watchful of some treaties entered into with a spirit which could not be hers, the Premier said:

"We must remain in the League of Nations, not only because the League discusses problems, but makes decisions, and Italy cannot remain absent."

After a fortnight of discussion punctuated by numerous fisticuffs and challenges to duels, the Chamber of Deputies on Saturday voted support in the policies of the Mussolini Government by a majority of over 250.

By a vote of 361 to 107 the Chamber adopted a resolution expressing approval of the speech from the throne and full confidence in the work accomplished by the Government of Premier Mussolini and in the programme for the future set forth by the Premier.

Premier Mussolini, in an address marked by clarity and directness of statement, emphasized his intention to work legally with the assistance of the Chamber and to avoid entirely recourse to royal decrees on the condition that the Opposition assist the majority to legislate.

YOUNGSLAYERS TO FACE JUDGE ON WEDNESDAY

Blaming Each Other For Revolting Crime They Await Trail In Silence.

EQUAL GILT IN LAW

Milwaukee Man Offers To Hang For Two Lads.

CHICAGO, June 99. — Arraignment of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, the nineteen-year-old youths, who have confessed they kidnapped and killed thirteen-year-old Robert Franks, is now set for Wednesday instead of to-day as originally planned. At this time Leopold and Leob must plead "guilty" or "not guilty."

Chief Justice John R. Caverly also must set the date for the trial when the boys are arraigned.

State Attorney Crowe will ask the Court to set 15th July, the first date possible under state laws, while the attorneys for the defence hope to obtain a delay.

The two boys, faced with the problem of adapting themselves to the prison routine, are showing marked contrast.

Leopold, suave, indifferent and inclined at first to boast of his part in the crime, is unpopular with his cell mate and other prisoners. He eats little, takes no exercise, and talks not at all. Yesterday he appeared weaker than at any time since he was been under arrest.

Loeb, the first to confess and apparently weaker in every respect, is standing up well under imprisonment. He eats heartily, mixes with other prisoners during the recreation periods, and appears hopeful of ultimate freedom.

Pass the Guilt.

All blame for the murder of Robert Franks is placed upon Leopold by his former chum Loeb in a confession made by the latter to State Attorney Crowe a week ago, and now made public.

"I want to say that I offer no excuse. If it was not for the suggestion and stimulus of Leopold the crime would not have been committed," Loeb said in ending his confession.

The confession showed the desperate effort of the two youthful slayers to place the guilt upon each other.

Leopold's affidavit, the only one read to the Grand Jury, and the only one heretofore given out by the State Attorney, declared that it was Leopold who drove the death car.

Loeb, in his confession, said it was he who drove the automobile.

Identity of the driver is important, Crowe pointed out, because it is evident that it was not the driver who struck young Franks over the head with the tape-bound chisel.

Crowe indicated, however, that the two boys were equally guilty before the law, as they togather had planned the crime.

Offers to Hang for Slayers.

Curt Giessler, a tailor, admitted he had written a letter to the Chicago police offering himself as a substitute on the gallows for Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, says a despatch from Milwaukee, on payment of $1,000,000.

"I did it because I wanted to help my family in Germany and the poor tailors of America," he declared. "I have been out of work. So have other tailors. Their lot is hard. I wanted to help them. It is my intention that half of the $1,000,000 would go to my parents in Erfurt, Thuringia, Germany, and my five brothers and one sister there. The other half is to go to the poor tailors of America. I am not afraid to die."

"Ready for the trial was the word at State Attorney Robert E. Crowe's office last night after the arrival

FOLLIES BEAUTY TELLS COURT OF TINNEY'S BLOWS

He "Drug Me All Over The Floor" Imogene Wilson Testifies.

SHE TRIED SUICIDE

Evidence, Reveals Character Of Prominent American Comedian.

NEW YORK,, June 9. — Even Magistrate Levine, of the West Side Court, who is routined in the horrors of a great city, called it a hard day when Imogene Wilson, the Follies blonde, completed her painstaking story of the beating administered to her by Frank Tinney, the comedian.

She forgot none of the incidents of that evening and added to them a graphic account of how Frank "finished me with a cigarette stand" and a casual reference to the two occasions on which, for love of him, she swallowed everything on the bathroom shelf.

With her testimony and that of two others the people's case against Tinney was completed.

Over Till Wednesday.

Magistrate Max Levine gave himself until Wednesday to think over Imogene's strange testimony. On that day the defense will be heard.

To a court audience which expected her to be brought to the bar in three fractions at least, Imogene on the witness stand presented an unexpectedly lovely picture. She spoke up bravely to all questions and revealed inner turmoil only by momentary lapses of grammar.

She got to the heart of her story early, when she told Assistant District Attorney James Magee where she had first seen Tinney on the night of the assault in her apartment at No. 157 West Seventy-second street:

"He was sitting in my room when I came in after rehearsal. He was lolling there fully dressed."

Such correct behaviour was not to last long. Imogene proceeded to relate how Tinney had refused to go home to his wife in Baldwin, L.I., and had elected rather to prepare to stay the night. She said:

"He got out of his clothes and into my blue silk kimona. Then he put on my maid's earrings and came out and began to perform around and use perfectly vile language."

Imogene told how this Russian frolic had been interrupted by the arrival of a newspaper reporter, who was questioned by Tinney regarding professional motives in spite of his note book and police card. In fact, said Imogene:

"Frank said it was a frame-up and the reporter got dignified and went away."

Then came the beating, of which Imogene told in a level voice which faltered only once when she told how—

"Mr. Tinney drug me all over the floor."

Feared For Face.

It was the chance of damage to her face, she explained, which made her nervous. But she managed to keep this priceless fraction of the "Follies" line-up out of harm's way, and, behold, it was for the camera men Saturday will the face that launched a thousand fists.

Frank now, she told, sank into a sleep of exhaustion, and she, for motives which sounded more plausible in her mouth than they will look here in print, continued her evening as follows:

"I bled from the nose and mouth a little while and then

DEADLY QUIET PERVADES CITY OF CONVENTION

Few Incipient Booms For Vice-President Nomination At Cleveland Are Only Signs.

COOLIDGE FOR CHIEF

None Of The Old-Time Thrills Are In Evidence This Year.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 9.—In a political atmosphere that presents no striking features there is nevertheless a prospect that, in one particular, the Republican National Convention, which will begin its sessions here Tuesday, may furnish a spirited contest of interest and importance.

This prospect lies in the selection of a candidate for Vice-President, to serve on the ticket with President Coolidge, whose nomination is assured by such an overwhelming vote that no doubt remains of his complete leadership of his party.

To-morrow is the opening of convention week, but there is yet no sign of that intensive excitement which ordinarily marks the eve of a great quadrennial gathering of national politicians to outline the plans of a Presidential campaign, choose candidates for President and Vice President, name campaign managers, adopt a platform of principles and otherwise arrange the fundamentals of an appeal to the electorate.

Only one personally conducted Vice Presidential campaign is in operation. This campaign was begun to-day with the arrival in Cleveland of Colonel Edward Clifford of Chicago, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. He assumed charge of an effort to bring about the nomination of General Charles G. Dawes of Illinois as Vice President, but admitted that he was taking this course on his personal responsibility with the sanction of General Dawes, and that the campaign was a one-man affair.

Outside the hotel room, Colonel Clifford put up a modest placard with this legend:

"A World War Soldier, General Charles G. Dawes. He did his best over there, let's do ours now."

Beyond this there is no visible evidence of the Dawes boom except in some small cards which are being distributed. They contain one illuminatint line, "Helen Maria." To people who read the newspapers the identification was perfect.

Boom Also for Lowden.

A boom intended to bring about the nomination of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois as Vice President is also in evidence, but not through any resort to the customary advertising and publicity methods. It is a substantial boom, however, for it is fathered by a large segment of the membership of the Republican National Committee. There are no indications yet of a conflict between the two Vice Presidential booms for the same State, but it is inevitable that either Mr. Lowden or General Dawes must give way if the honor is to go to Illinois.

In the quiet that prevails it is difficult to realize that the convention will assemble in three days. In recent years Cleveland has grown by leaps and bounds, both as regards population and industrial enterprises, until it is now one of the foremost cities of the country; yet to convention visitors familiar with pre convention scenes of the past a strange quietude prevails. Even a crowded metropolis shows the effect of the convention stimulus with in a few days of the meeting of a party's leading workers. Perhaps the reason Cleveland seems to be devoid of visible political activities is that with the usual chief interest of the convention made negligible in the knowledge that President Coolidge will be chosen to bear the party standard in the campaign of 1924, there is no compelling incentive for delegates, party workers and a host of convention visitors to invade the town at this early date. Besides, most of the hotels have reserved rooms under contracts, which do not begin to operate until Sunday or Monday.

No Boosting of Candidates.

The contest, if it may be called that in its present stage, over the selection of a candidate for Vice President is of a somewhat nebulous character. There are no expensive suites of hotel rooms given over to headquarters for candidates. Cloth and pasteboard signs do not proclaim that there is the head centre of the boom of this or that conspicuous Republican who aspires to second place on the national ticket, and only a few lithographed portraits of President Coolidge are in evidence.

Nobody seems to be intensely anxious to obtain what has recently come to be regarded as a great prize. From all out ward appearances, the Vice Presidential nominations, as in the past, is something to be made perfunctorily and at the very end of the convention's work when hasty action is necessary.

Inquiry develops, however, that one group of persons prominent in the pre convention situation has the matter of the selection of a candidate for Vice President very much at heart. The group is composed of the veteran regulars of the National Committee, those whom it is customary to designate as the Old Guard. They are the permanent party workers in the national field who have borne the brunt of battle, have experienced many hard knocks, and feel that they are entitled to some consideration from the party's representatives when they come to distribute party honors.

Toronto Doctor Scores Success In Cure Cancer

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(Canadian Press).—The North American will say to-day in an article withheld from publication for fifteen months, "in the interest of science," that the cause of cancer has been discovered; also a treatment for it, which, although still in the experimental stage, is producing remarkable results.

The discover is Dr. T. J. Glover, a native of Toronto, Canada, who the article will say, has established scientifically that the disease is due to a micro-organism, and who has isolated the germ and proved by the 'conclusive laboratory test known as the 'Koch Cycle,'" its part as the causative factor. Dr. Glover has conducted his research work in New York City for four years.

PRINCESS ALICE MADE GOOD SHOT

Hartebeeste Wounded Earl Of Athlone And Princess Shot It At Close Quarters.

IN TRANSVAAL

CAPETOWN, South Africa, June 9.— Governor General the Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, and his wife, Princess Alice, are reported to have been placed in considerable danger in a hunting adventure at Messina, in the Transvaal.

They had stalked and wounded a bull hartebeest when the animal charged them. It was shot dead when within thirty yards of the party.

One report of the hunting adventure says the Earl was wounded by the hartebeest.

Another says the Princess was forced to take refuge from the infuriated animal behind a sapling and that she shot it at close quarters.

The Earl of Athlone became Governor General of South Africa, succeeding Prince Arthur of Connaught on October 25, 1923. He fought against the Boers and perhaps the first man to welcome him to South Africa upon the occasion of his appointment was a former enemy, General Jan Smuts. Prime Minister Smuts referred to the incident in his welcoming address and said that it showed that there was a constant call on humanity for breadth of vision and greatness of heart.

The Earl of Athlone is the youngest and favorite brother of Queen Mary. In the Boer War he fought under Kitchener and took part in the relief of Kimberley and of Mafeking. During the World War, in which he attained the rank of Brigadier General, he was at the front in France and Belgium four years.

Princess Alice, wife of Lord Athlone, is the only daughter of Queen Victoria's youngest son, the late Duke of Albany. She is said to be a democratic minded Princess and some years ago dispensed with the state maintained by the other members of the reigning house of England, including her ladies or gentlemen in waiting, chamberlains and equerries.

SMALL GIRL MET DEATH WHEN AUTO OVERTURNED

TORONTO, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Gertrude Alice Crozier, aged 9 years, was fatally injured yesterday morning whe an automobile, driven by Ernest Harris, toppled over on her on Dundas Street highway three miles west of Palermo.

The child died about three hours after the accident.

The little girl was one of a family party of five who left yesterday morning by motor car for Niagara Falls.

When north of Burlington a tire blew out, and the girl's father was engaged in fixing the puncture, and the children were playing in the ditch at the side of the roadway, when an automobile, driven by Harris, approached, and in some manner was upset into the ditch and upon the children.

Gertrude Crozier was the only one pinned down.

Senate And Commons Preen Feathers In Anticipation Of Prorogation in July.

SOME OPTIMISTS

Murdock Admissions Make Hearing Shorter By Releasing Witnesses.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press).—Members of the Senate and House of Commons are beginning to discuss the date of prorogation. Usually the Senate is ready to wind proceedings up early and has to wait for the Commons to finish its business, but it is being suggested in some quarters that the Senate may keep the House waiting this session. There are some rumors of the session lasting till the end of July or even later; and there are optimists who still hope for closing by the end of the present month. The prevalent opinion, at present, however, lean to the view that prorogation will come about the middle of July.

The week opens with a debate in the Commons tomorrow on the much-discussed treaty of Lausanne. The Premier is expected to give a full explanation of the course pursued by the Government in not asking Parliament to approve the treaty. The Government leader in the Senate, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, informed that body recently that Canada is at peace with Turkey, through the action of his majesty in ratifying the treaty of Lausanne, and it is anticipated that Premier King will interpret relation between Senator Dandurand's statement and the decision not to ask Parliament to approve the treaty. Additional interest is lent to the debate by the discussion of the Lausanne treaty in the British House of Commons in which Premier MacDonald expressed himself as in favor of a conference on constitutional relations.

The investigation of the charges against Hon. James Murdock will be resumed to-morrow morning and it is likely that the hearings will move swiftly to a conclusion. Mr. Murdock's statement on Friday cleared the ground a good deal and the facts admitted by him have, it is believed had the effect of shortening the list of witnesses to be called. The inquiry is quite likely to close tomorrow or Tuesday; and obserevers of the proceedings of the committee would not be surprised if both a majority and a minority report were presented.

The Church Union Committee is scheduled to meet on Wednesday to grapple with a motion to rescind the amendment previously adopted, which makes the coming into force of the bill dependent on the result of the action already started in the Ontario courts. There is said to be a possibility that the committee will alter its attitude on this issue, but if it does not do so, the question is practically certain to be raised again in the House. In addition to the rescinding action there are a number of disputed sections yet to come up, bearing on the rights of non-concurring congregations and on the proposal to recognize the principle of compensation for groups of "non-concurring members."

In the House there is understood to be a debate coming on Wednesday on the proposal to widen the reference to the Banking and Commerce Committee in regard to amendments to the Bank Act. The present reference deals with the Home Bank and with amendments designed to protect the rights of depositors. The proposal to be discussed on Wednesday is that the committee should be instructed to take up the question of a central bank to combine the functions of inspection and re-discount. Already the Acting Minister of Finance, Hon. J. A. Robb has given notice of amendments providing for Government inspection of banks.

The Senate is still devoting itself to the discussion of the Branch Line Bills of the Canadian National and its railway committee is likely to have several more sessions on them this week. Two of these bills, those relating to Vancouver Island have already been killed, and a number of others have had their fate suspended. The same committee has before it the amendments to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act designed to prevent changes of wages without a hearing by a board of inquiry, and representations in regard to the amendments are to be made by spokesmen for the railway unions. This bill was introduced last year but fell by the wayside owing to disagreement between the Senate and House of Commons.

THE ROTARIANS DISCUSS PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Today's Meeting Devoted Largely to Talking Over Details of International Gathering Next Week.

PLAN A CARNIVAL

The Peterboro Rotary Club devoted its meeting to-day largely to a discussion of the International Convention in Toronto next week and to the plans in connection with Peterboro's representation thereat. There was no speaker to-day, the convention and the Rotary Carnival which is to be held here next month being the principal matters before the meeting.

Among the visitors was Rotarian Chas. Crowe, an old Peterboro boy, who is now president of the Davenport, Iowa, Rotary Club, and who brought the greetings of that organization to Peterboro Rotarians.

Rotarian Lee Baines, who attended a recent meeting of the Worcester, Mass., Rotary Club, told of the enthusiastic welcome given him when it was announced that he came from Peterboro.

Rotarian Thos. Barrie told of attending a meeting of the Regina Rotary Club, and also of being present at several Kiwanis meetings in the West. He had been struck by the enthusiasm at the meetings and by the manner in which civic issues and projects were discussed.

President Wren announced that Rotarians W. R. Morris and C. H. Rogers were appointed official delegates of the club at the Toronto convention, and that Rotarians Leon Frazer and A. C. Kay were appointed to see that the Peterboro Rotary display at the Toronto convention, which includes a working model of the Life Lock, was looked after properly.

Geo. Benton was introduced by Rotarian Reg. Turner as the man who would look after their camp and property during the convention.

Rotarian Leon Frazer called attention to the conference on Wednesday in connection with the automobile ferry service between Rochester and Cobourg, inviting Rotarians to take in the trip.

A letter was read from Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, asking for Rotary co-operation in connection with the Government industrial farm for under-privileged and delinquent boys which the Government proposes to establish near Bowmanville.

The project was endorsed by President Wren, Rotarian F. L. Roy and other speakers, and the official delegates to the convention authorized to support it.

Rotarian J. H. Seels gave further details of the Rotary Carnival next month, and thanked the committees for their co-operation. This promises to be one of the big events of the year.

Owing to the convention there will be no meeting of the club next week.

Commandant J. A. Smith, of the Salvation Army, was congratulated by his fellow Rotarians at to-day's meeting on his promotion.

BOBCAYGEON MAN KICKED BY HORSE

The Horses Made a Break For Liberty -- Others Hurt.

LINDSAY, June 9. — A rather serious accident occurred in Bobcaygeon at the week-end. Mr. H. Freeman and son were at Henderson's blacksmith getting a waggon which had been repaired, and while changing from one waggon to the other, Freeman, Jr., was severely kicked in the breast and thigh by one of the horses.

His father, who was getting out of the waggon at the time, was thrown to the ground and run over.

The horses freed themselves and made a bolt for liberty.

They crashed into W. Jackson's verandah, doing considerable damage. Mr. Henderson started in pursuit of the animals, as did also Mr. Thibideau.

The former had his kneecap kicked off and the latter sustained a deep cut across the forehead.

Mr. Freeman had his leg and his head badly cut and bruised, and one of his arms pierced by a bolt.

A Chinese carpenter can look at a place that has to be repaired, and go back to his bench and cut the boards so that they will fit exactly.

THE GUMPS—A GUMP DEFYING THE LIGHTNING

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Regiment Will Go to Belleville for the United Loyalist Celebration.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9.—The Campbellford Company of the Northumberland Regiment will go to Belleville on Monday next, under command of Major J. M. Bygott, to take part in the military exercises that will be held on that date as part of the U.E.L. celebration. The company will be headed by the Campbellford Band which is the official Band of the Northumberland Regiment.

A meeting of the Regiment has been called for Wednesday evening to arrange for this event. Officers and men alike are ambitious to make a good showing at Belleville, both in number and appearance and every man belonging to the Company is being urged to turn out. At the encampment held in Cobourg last fall the Company was rated as one of the best in the Regiment and the Band was commended by veteran officers as being the best military musical organization in the district.

It is expected that at the meeting Wednesday night arrangements will be made to have a parade in town on Thursday evening by way of preparation for the Belleville trip, this parade to be headed by the Band.

May Camp Here

An effort is being made to have the annual encampment this year held, under canvas on the Exhibition grounds. Military District, No. 3, Kingston, will furnish all the tents and other equipment required. This would attract visitors from the parts of the district and would bring thousands of dollars to Campbellford

There s a general feeling here that aCmpbellford is entitled to this honor. The local company stands high in the militia of Ontario. This town is now the headquarters not only of the Regimental Band but of the Signal Corps, the latter unit being commanded by Sergeant Matt and Sergeant D. A. Montgomery.

Sergeant W. W. Ellis has been raised to the rank of lieutenant.

Keeping the Sabbath

Rev. Dr. Campbell of Toronto, spoke in St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning and in the Methodist church in the evening under the auspices of the Lord's Day Alliance. The preacher believes that the sanctity of the Sabbath is threatened by the greed of people to acquire wealth and by their desire for pleasure, the chief danger arising from the latter source.

Dr. Campbell called attention to the fact that in Manitoba, the Lord's Day Act is not now officially recognized following a decision of the Court of Appeals in the province making Sunday excursions legal. This decision threatens the existence of the Act in every province of Canada.

The matter will be carried on appeal to the Privy Council and this will call for an additional expenditure of $10,000 in legal fees. The appeal will be sponsored by the alliance and contribution to raise the amount required will be contributed from the Christian people of the Dominion. Altogether, Dr. Campbell says, the Alliance should have, in addition to the ordinary revenue for the year the sum of $35,000.

A repreesntative of the Alliance will work in Campbellford this week securing subscriptions.

Sam. Hutton Hurt.

Sam. Hutton, one of the pitchers for the Campbellford baseball team, was seriously injured Friday while working on the new power house which the Hydro is erecting at Dam No. 8. A stone which was being raised to position fell, striking Mr. Hutton on the leg above the knee. The limb was not broken, but was severely bruised and is very painful. The injured man will be laid off work for at least a week, and will be out of baseball for a longer period.

Buys New Truck.

The British American Oil Company have purchased from C. H. Davidson a 520-gallon motor truck for the distribution of their products throughout the district. The truck has been brought here by J. N. Plumpton, who will operate it. It is a nicely painted affair, weighing nearly three tons, and capable of a speed of 16 miles an hour.

Vital Statistics.

There were two marriages, three deaths and six births in Campbellford during the month of May, according to the official record in the office of Town Clerk McGregor. The majority of those contemplating matrimony evidently decided to wait until the fashionable month of June.

The New Regulator.

The Trent Canal authorities have decided to get the supply of electricity required to operate the new automatic regulator at Dam No. 10 from the municipal plant, and satisfactory arrangements have been made by the engineer of the Canal. The wiring is nearly completed, and the current will be turned on early this week, when the new apparatus will be tested.

Leave For Cobourg.

Reeve Davidson and Deputy Reeve Dorie, Reeve Van Volkenburg and Deputy Reeve Nelson of Seymour, and Alex. McGregor, representative of The Examiner, leave for Cobourg to-day to attend the June session of the Counties Council. Mr. McGregor will report the sessions for The Examiner, and will also attend the international conference to be held in Rochester, N.Y., during the week to deal with the question of establishing a car ferry across Lake Ontario between that city and Cobourg.

Bowling Starts.

Bowling has started on the green, which is in excellent shape, but on account of the cold weather the attendance has been small. The first game was played with three men on a side, C. S. Gillespie and J. A. Stewart being skipped by Mayor Meyers, and Dr. A. Haig and J. P. Archer by J. R. Wilkinson. The latter team won by a score of 19-13.

The same teams played again on Friday afternoon, with A. Humphries filling in on both sides. This resulted in a tie, the score being 11-11.

In the evening there was a game between the following teams:

J. R. Wilkinson	G. Ivey
P. J. Kelly	J. P. Archer
J. A. Stewart	L. B. Glover
W. Wiggins	A. J. Meyers

ENDORSE THE GLOVER SERUM

Treatment For Cancer Distributed Among the Hospitals.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 9 United Press). — The cause of cancer and a treatment for the disease have been discovered by Dr. T. J. Glover, of Canada, according to the Philadelphia North American, which has investigated Dr. Glover's research work.

The North American publishes a report of Dr. Glover's experiments.

Associated in the work with Dr. Glover are two prominent Philadelphia physicians, Dr. W. P. Warmuth and Dr. F. J. Donnelly, both members of the staff of the National Stomach Hospital, where the first clinic was established late in 1922.

These doctors were assigned the work of determining the value of Dr. Glover's serum in practical use, the best method of administration and proper dosage.

The output of this serum is limited at present, and must be so for some time.

Dr. Glover has distributed a small amount of the serum to hospitals in various parts of the country to be tested under pledge of secrecy and without charge, pending the official announcement.

From these experimental clinics have been received highly favourable reports of results which coincide with the results obtained in Philadelphia over a period of 18 months.

The clinical tests made in this city, as well as all others, have been free to patients based on a cardinal principle of medical ethics and in keeping with the express stipulation of Dr. Glover and his patron.

WHEN WILL CANADA HAVE MINISTER AT WASHINGTON

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Canada's foreign relations will be fully discussed in the House of Commons to-day when estimates for the Department of External Affairs, of which the Prime Minister is head, are reached.

The appropriation for Canada's part in the League of Nations will give the leader of the Opposition his opportunity to tell the House what he thinks of the Lausanne Treaty.

Another question likely to be asked in connection with external affairs is, "When is Canada to have a minister of her own at Washington?"

WILLIAM HONE'S REMAINS EXHUMED

Stratford Man Who Was Found Dead With Revolver Beside Him Was Buried Without Inquest

STRATFORD, June 9—(Canadian Press).—Crown Attorney McPherson, K.C., on Saturday morning issued an order to Dr. James Moore, of Listowel, county coroner, to have the body of the late William Hone of that town exhumed. Mr. Hone's death occurred on Wednesday, May 28th, and it was thought to be suicide as he was found dead with a revolver by his side. Dr. D. A. Kidd, of Listowel, who attended, thought the case was sufficiently clear and no inquest was held. An inquest will be held at Monkton. The story given at the time of his death by Melville Cumming and Harry Thibideau was to the effect that Hone had told them that he was going to shoot himself some of these days, and had sent them on some business to Monkton, a few miles from the farm, and that on their return they found his dead body on a bed, partly dressed, and revolver by his side.

Suspicion of foul play has been aroused by the report that Hone had drawn $500 out of the bank a few days before he met his end, and that the money was missing.

Alberta Received Rain in Time to Save Crops

Southern Part of Province Drenched in Two Days' Downpour.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., June 9.—(Canadian Press). — Southern Alberta received a drenching rain during Friday and Saturday. The rain, which started to fall early on Friday morning, continued throughout the day and night, and at ten o'clock on Saturday morning it was still falling intermittently. At Lethbridge over an inch of rain fell, while at a number of other points good rains came just in time. Much of the later grain sown on spring ploughing had not germinated, while early sown crops were standing still. Following the rains a large acreage of forage crop will be sown. The general crop outlook at the present is on a par with 1923, though the south-eastern part of the province would be benefitted by receiving such a soaking as the south-west received.

TULLE SCARF.

The tulle scarf has returned to favour and almost every evening gown is softened about the shoulders by this cloudy effect.

Carson Pokes Fun At Plan to Bring In the Dominions

LONDON, June 9 (Canadian Press Cable). — In a speech at Belfast yesterday Lord Carson, one of the leaders in the Ulster opposition to the Free State dominance in Ireland, said he had been told that there was going to be a number of different appointments from the far ends of the British colonies to try to settle what was called the Irish boundary question.

It was a remarkable situation, and one which he regretted. He was disappointed that the British Government could not get anyone in the United Kingdom and that it was necessary to go to Timbuctoo or some other place to find somebody to solve the knotty problem. He was sure that whoever was chosen would do his best, but the speaker did not envy him his job.

No matter how many men were brought from the Antipodes to decide the affair, they would come down in the long run to the solid question whether they were going to settle the frontier between Ulster and the Free State or filch Ulster territory.

Premier MacDonald announced in the House of Commons last week that the Chief Justice of Australia had consented to become a member of the proposed Judicial Committee to settle the constitutional and the judicial issues involved in the Irish boundary question, and that he hoped a member of the Canadian bench would also be available.

PETTY ISSUES FAIL TO ATTRACT VOTERS

Premier Smuts Declares Nationalist-Labor Party Made Tactical Error.

CAPE TOWN, June 9 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — After concluding a three-weeks' tour of the constituencies Premier Smuts gathered that the prospects for the Government's return in the Union general election, which takes place on 17th June, are excellent.

Supporters of the Nationalist-Labour pact have made the very grave mistake, says the Premier, of regarding the result of recent by-elections as an index of what will happen in the general election. They began their campaign on small and petty issues, overlooking the fact that the people view the general election from an entirely different angle and forgetting that the whole policy of the pact parties in the past and for the future would come under review.

Supporters of the pact, continued the Premier, are now discovering to their dismay that the pact itself is really the great issue of the election.

The parties to the coalition also are not so keen for the pact as they were at the start.

The Labour party is beginning to realise that the arrangement is a poor one for them because even if they do succeed in helping to bring in a pact Government they may be left out in the cold by the Nationalists, concluded the Premier.

SEEKS ENDORSATION AT THE CONVENTION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 9.—(United Press).—Senator Robert M. Lafollette has challenged the Republican National Convention to condemn and repudiate former Attorney General Daugherty and formerly Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

Furthermore he calls upon the convention for a ballot approving those republicans who voted for the recent tax reduction bill, asks a Republican pledge not to support the Mellon Tax Program and demands applause for these Republicans instrumental in carrying recent probes of alleged governmental irregularities.

AUTO KILLED BOY.

Companion Injured and Removed to Hospital—Driver on Bail.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 9.—(Canadian Press).—A car owned by P. I. Price, and driven by his son, Gerald, struck two boys at the corner of Niagara and Church Streets on Saturday night. Henry Miller, aged ten, was instantly killed, and Walter Fisher, aged 14, was taken to the hospital seriously injured. It was believed yesterday afternoon he would recover. The driver was arrested and admitted to bail. The boys were running across Church Street when struck.

HOOKY

"Rush to the colleges is ebbing," says a headline. It was one of the queer reactions of the war, the overnight sky-rocketing of college attendance. Now things are getting back to normal and colleges are near pre-war business.

The same thing will happen to the post-war epidemic of intense interest in history, science and other forms of knowledge. War stimulates brains, whets the mob's intellectual appetite. But thinking is a dull business at best, and pleasure is forever at best, and pleasure is forever calling enticingly. Each mental spurt, though, carries humanity one step higher up the ladder of average intelligence.

A POSTMASTER FOR STIRLING

Change Made Last Week —Miss Judd Retires After Fifty Years' Service

STIRLING, June 9.— Mr. F. R. Hulin, the new postmaster, has assumed control and was sworn into office.

Miss Judd is still in the office for a time until Mr. Hulin gets acquainted with the work.

The retiring postmistress has been realing out the mail at Stirling post office for 50 years and has thus held office under various governments of both shades of politics, and has given faithful service.

Beautifying Lawns.

The residents are vieing with each other in who will have the most beatiful lawn, and a play was presented in the opera house last week in aid of the Horticultural Society, to which a lot of credit must be given, as this society has, through its organization, been the means of creating interest in the matter of beautifying the village. The play was fairly well atended, but not, as it should have been, considering the worthy object the proceeds were for.

Mr. Thos. Solmes and his mother motored to Toronto last Wednesday returning Friday night. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sine of Sine.

Mrs. M. W. Sine was present on Sunday at the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of her brother, the late D. V. Sinclair, in John street Presbyterian church, Belleville.

Her neice, Miss Ruth Sinclair, came for her, by motor car.

A Busy Saturday.

The usual number of motorists were in the village on Saturday evening, and the merchants were quite busy.

Mrs. Jas. Wright, who suffered a stroke some week ago, succumbed to the trouble and was laid to rest Saturday in Stirling cemetery. In the absence of Rev. Mr. Barrett, the Rev. Mr. Hoskins conducted the funeral service, which was held in the Methodist church.

Mrs. W. S. Martin is visiting friends in Bloomfield, Prince Edward county.

Mr. W. R. Mather and daughter Helen, also Mrs. T. J. Doak, of Toronto, were visitors in town last week, and many of their old friends were pleased to see them.

Mr. Thos. Montgomery is attending the Presbyterian Assembly at Owen Sound.

The Hornerites are holding service in a tent on Henry street.

Mr. Atkin, district representative, had to kill his valuable Boston bulldog. It was badly injured by a motor car Friday evening.

Mr. Geo. Weaver lost his Clydesdale stallion, "Hiawatha," on Monday of last week. He had about disposed of him at a good figure to a Madoc man.

The Oddfellows will hold their annual decoration service next Sundayafternoon, June 15th. There are about 50 graves of deceased members to place flowers upon.

Mr. Wilbert Hagerman of Anson, has improved his barn by a new sidin gand a hip roof.

HERBERT DALY NOW DECEASED

President Defunct Home Bank Succumbed to Long Illness.

TORONTO, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Herbert J. Daly, president of the defunct Home Bank of Canada, and who faced several charges in connection with suspension of the institution August 17, last year, died this morning. Daly was taken seriously ill shortly after the bank closed its doors and was unable to attend the preliminary hearing of charges against him in court.

Organization, development and failure of Home Bank of Canada, has had singular accompaniment of deaths among its principals. Brigadier General James Mason, who with late Sir Frank Smith developed bank from Home Savings Company, died some years ago. Colonel J. Cooper Mason, son of the General Mason, who succeeded his father, as general manager of the Bank, died on August 6, 1923, just eleven days previous to suspension of the institution.

T. S. O'Connor, who was private secretary to the late President H. J. Daly, died on December 17 last as a result of a fracture of the skull, sustained in a fall downstairs. H. J. Daly, last president of the institution, whose death occurred this morning, had been ill for some months.

He was born in Peterboro, Ont., in 1882, and after attending Orillia High School, entered a Montreal grocery firm in 1899, coming to Toronto a year later to conduct a similar business. He subsequently occupied positions with the Dominion Permanent Loan Co. and the National Cash Register Company, being general manager for Canada for the latter concern from 1915 to 1918. Mr. Daly then took over the firm of A. E. Rea and Co., of Ottawa, trading as the Daly Co., Ltd. He became president of J. A. Ogilvie Co., Ltd., Montreal; director of Murray Kay Co., Ltd., Toronto; president of Mr. N. Prior Cabinet Co.; vice-president of the Western Canada Pulp and Paper Co.; president of Porcelain Products, Ltd.; vice-president of K. and S. Rubber Co., and president of the Manufacturers' Holding and Investment Corporation. Mr. Daly became president of the Home Bank in 1920. He is survived by his widow, four sons and one daughter.

His mother, Mrs. James Daly, resides in Peterboro.

MONTREAL, June 9.—(Canadian Press).—Napoleon Bechard, aged 38, of Notre Dame De Stanbridge, and Aldie Sansterre, aged 34, of St. Alexandre, were fatally injured when the Boston train due in this city at 7.30 last night struck their automobile.

Mothers!

Give the children WRIGLEY'S after every meal

A prominent physician says:

"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

WRIGLEY'S aids digestion too, and acts as an antiseptic wash for the mouth and throat. Several flavors-all of WRIGLEY quality.

IF YOU don't walk five miles every day, or play a round of golf, or spend a half-hour in the gymnasium—you'll probably have a system out of order.

If you are tied down to the busy life of the city, where you get little fresh air or exercise and are often obliged to snatch hasty, unsuitable meals, you need Post's Bran Flakes every day.

Post's* Bran Flakes eliminates poisons—keeps the whole system clean and tingling. Yet it is a cereal you can eat with delight every day—thin, crisp flakes with a delicious flavor and with most of the valuable food elements of wheat.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

The announcement that plans are being tentatively suggested by Ottawa calling for a conference in the autumn between representatives of the Provincial Governments and the larger cities to consider the unemployment question, not only indicates that there are many Canadians out of work in some centres, but also emphasizes the fact that Peterborough is in a very favourable position in this regard.

There is an amount of unemployment here, of course, but it has not assumed formidable proportions, nor are there more than the usual demands upon relief agencies for assistance.

In some cities it has been necessary to make arrangements with the Salvation Army and other organizations to feed the unemployed—and it is evident that the situation elsewhere is much worse than in Peterborough.

That furnishes another reason why there should be optimism among the city's business men as to the future, for the conditions here as regards employment are much better than in most centres—and business is bound to benefit as a result.

COUEISM IN BUSINESS.

"Business is good."

This slogan, printed in red on bright green posters, was distributed by the wholesale in Toronto the other night, pasted on shop windows, while small cards with the following inscription were dropped into letter-boxes:

"Now, Mr. Business Man, for your own sake definitely promise that you will say for the rest of 1924, 'Business Is Good,' and say nothing else. Display it in your store, post it on your windows and your delivery wagon—tell somebody every day, write it every day, think it every day."

This attempt to apply Dr. Coue's treatment to business is interesting, and the Examiner believes that it might profitably be adopted by local business men.

It is so easy to fall into a frame of mind that causes one to answer "Rotten" when some one makes an inquiry as to the condition of business.

And such answers have a cumulative effect.

It is not long before everybody is saying "Business is rotten," and somehow the effect spreads to the consumer, to the man who could buy but doesn't because he feels that nobody else is spending money and he had better save his.

Editors of weekly newspapers from the West, meeting in convention, bring a cheerful message from the Prairie Provinces that conditions are improving, crop prospects are excellent and a feeling of confidence is driving out the gloom.

That is the kind of talk that should make the adoption of the slogan "Business Is Good" easy for everybody.

A MATTER OF HEALTH.

While Peterborough has not made much progress in the direction of providing camping facilities for automobile tourists, it is interesting to note that in New York State there are now so many free camps that the State Department of Health has found it necessary to impose drastic sanitary regulations to prevent springs, reservoirs, streams and other water courses from being polluted.

Motor camps are rapidly increasing in numbers in Ontario, and the Provincial authorities may find it necessary before long in the public interest to insist that similar regulations be put into force here.

It can readily be seen that unless there are restrictions upon such establishments there is a real danger to the health of the community.

Visitors are not likely to be careful about the disposal of their garbage and other refuge, nor particular as to whether or not the bathing place they select happens to be a stream the waters of which is used for drinking purposes.

Regulations forbidding motor camps from setting up their tents within fifty feet of a stream of water used for drinking purposes, forbidding bathing in such streams and providing for the proper disposal of garbage will soon be necessary in Ontario if the motor tourist traffic continues to increase.

Peterborough is falling behind the procession in this matter, and is not placing herself in a position to cash in on the trade that is caused by an influx of visitors of this type.

THE ENGINEER IS RIGHT.

City Engineer Parsons made a protest the other night against permission being given for the erection of a number of what he described as "tin shacks" within the fire limits, and the Council should do well to give some thought to this matter.

The bylaw which sets forth the specifications of such buildings as may be legally erected within the fire limits was not hastily frame, and its violation should not be hastily authorized.

It is designed to eliminate fire hazards as far as possible, and to preserve within the business section of the city some regard for appearances as well.

The City Engineer's authority to refuse permission for the erection of any building that does not meet the requirements of the bylaw should not be interfered with by the Council, because each time the city fathers sanction a violation of their own bylaw they simply pave the way for other applications which it is most difficult to refuse in the face of precedents established by the granting of earlier requests.

If the building bylaw is in the public interest and is sound, let it be strictly observed.

If it is wrong, amend it, but at all events while it remains on the statute books it should be carried out.

The way should not be left open for unsightly and dangerous buildings in the centre of the city.

GERMANY LETS IT RIDE.

One month ago yesterday the German people went to the polls and voted the two extremes against the middle, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Nationalists, junkers and old-regimers were raised to a position where they might be the balance of power in the new Reichstag. Communists quadrupled their representation, the election results showing that one out of ten among all the voters voted their ticket.

The middle parties, upon which the Marx-Stresemann Government depended for support, were weakened to the point of impotence. To remain in power they needed the aid either of the Socialists or the Nationalists. As the Socialists did not care to participate in the Government, here was a chance for the Nationalists. If they had taken it, they might have fought the reparations settlement and, in the face of Poincare's overthrow in France, might have brought Germany out on top.

The net result of the elections and of the frenzied political manoeuvreing since is that the Marx-Stresemann combination remains in office, though it is in a hopeless minority. Nevertheless, there is assurance that the Socialists will support the Government in measures for the execution of the Dawes program, and the Nationalists themselves are only lukewarm in opposition.

The situation involving the reparations settlement is, therefore, virtually unchanged—so far as Germany is concerned. Marx and Stresemann are able to proceed with their conciliatory policy.

Much, however, still depends upon what happens on the other side of the Rhine. If the Poincare foreign policy remains unaltered, the Dawes plan can be put into effect; if the Poincare financial policy is carried through, France will be able to reap the fruits of a settlement. If, however, there is any sign of weakening in Paris upon either of these counts, the German Nationalists in Berlin will not fail to turn it to their own and Germany's advantage. They will be watching and waiting for a false move that may give Germany the whip-hand in the reparations situation. In such a contingency they will leap into the saddle—and ride.

THE SIX SUICIDES.

Six suicides in Japan because of the American exclusion act is not a phenomenon which our neighbors should regard with either amusement or casual pity. Suicide may strike the Westerner as a singularly ineffective method of retorting upon an "enemy." But it is not at all a question of how it strikes the Westerner. It is the Oriental whose psychology is to be considered. In China, no deadlier blow can be aimed at the object of your greatest hate than to commit suicide on his door-step.

These six suicides in Japan will not only stir the Japanese nation to its depths today, but they will be long and bitterly remembered. Six anti-racial murders of Japanese by Americans would be far less lasting and provocative in their effects. So far as these suicides are genuinely anti-American—and there appears to be some doubt about three of them—they are political crimes, and so fall into the class of the assassination of Sarajevo.

The passion against "America" which is sweeping Japan today would seem to be a tremendous price to pay for the satisfaction of dealing summarily with the admittedly undiplomatic Japanese protest against the exclusion bill, and possibly the barring out of a few hundred Japanese laborers who might otherwise have gone in under "the gentlemen's agreement." The hate of a nation is always dangerous. It is apt to fester and spread until an occasion comes when it can erupt.

* * * *

Informed circles in Great Britain are very much disturbed over this clash between Japan and the United States. The reason is that "informed circles in Great Britain" are really informed about Asiatic opinion and political reactions. All along the China coast and in Japan, it is the Britisher who is on the inside, both commercially and politically. No one can properly appreciate the power of "England" until he has measured it in Asia.

The reasons why the British do not relish the thought of friction between Japan and the United States—quite apart from humane and pacific reasons—are sufficiently obvious. The British have a great deal to lose by any inflammation or speeding up of Asiatic unrest anywhere. They have their hands full in India. They are the first to be disturbed and damaged by trouble in China. They have given the Asiatics in Hong-Kong and Australia far greater and more valuable hostages to ensure their support of peace in Asia than has any other nation.

British policy is clearly based upon co-operation with the United States in the Pacific Ocean. That was the real objective of the Chinese Treaties at Washington. The idea is that these two great commercial, land satiated, pacific and English-speaking Powers shall preserve peace in the whole Pacific world during the crucial decades while the Asiatic peoples are awakening to the advantages of Western "materialism." That will be good for everybody all round. But it implies something very close to a limited alliance between the British and the Americans.

* * * *

So Great Britain is inevitably disturbed at the spectacle of this sudden flare-up between the only Asiatic Power in a position at present to do any harm and her American friend. It is especially disturbing when studied in relation to the situation in Europe. A new rapprochement has just been reached between Russia and China. Russia and Germany are natural allies; and they gather into their train all the discontented little nations of Europe. This anger with America makes Japan ripe for any combination which seems to offer a chance for revenge.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It looks as if the swimming season will be shorter than some of the bathing suits.

Simcoe is added to the list of towns that are holding an old boys' reunion this summer. The plan seems feasible everywhere else but in Peterborough.

This year, as the Globe points out, no mere male disputes the wisdom of women wearing summer furs.

Now it is proposed as a relief from the congestion of motor cars in large cities to allow only cars with even license numbers to enter congested areas one day and those with odd numbers the next. The system might be a strain upon the mathematical training of the police.

TAKING TO BOOKS.

Recent lectures on Browning, through WEAF, New York, under auspices of Columbia University, have resulted in greater interest in books, in the opinion of Professor H. N. Fairchild, who delivered the series.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Citizens west of the Rockies are out of luck.

No way has been discovered by which they may enjoy the Republican and Democratic conventions that will be broadcast by a dozen or more stations throughout the east and middle west.

Unless—

1. Some enterprising broadcaster attempts to catch the broadcasting of station WDAF at Kansas City or some other middle west station from which convention proceedings will be transmitted, and rebroadcast it after amplifying the program received.

2. Fans have ultra-powerful sets that can negotiate beyond the mountains, and through the dead spots over the western wastes.

Of course, say officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph and the Western Electric Companies, in charge of the broadcasting, there will be attempts to reach the coast by powerful transmission, but no arrangement has been made to send the convention speeches and other sounds by direct line beyond Omaha and Kansas City.

The only other arrangement, outside of direct line communication with Cleveland and New York, will be that made by KDKA broadcasters in Pittsburg, Pa., for transmission of the convention proceedings on a 100-meter wavelength to KFKX at Hastings, Neb., for retransmission on a higher wavelength farther west.

Since KFKX has been heard regularly on the coast and beyond, it is expected many fans with at least three-tube receivers may be able to listen in on the conventions, by this method.

This, however, is the only way coast radio fans will be able to hear the conventions.

CKAC, Montreal, is being transformed into what may be the most powerful station in the world.

FOLLIES BEAUTY

I took off my blue sweater suit and put on Frank's clothes and went out to get some cigarettes. I did that so he couldn't get away, and I thought I'd get a policeman."

But Imogene changed her mind that night almost as often as she changed clothes. So she went to a newspaper office to have her picture taken. She explained:

"I wanted to tell my story to the press so the world would know what kind of a man Frank Tinney is. I was perfectly willing to ruin my own reputation."

Under cross-examination by Tinney's counsel, Monroe Goldstein, the tale of Imogene's attempted suicides and other diversions was elicted, Goldstein stating that he expected to prove that she would try almost anything once or oftener.

Imogene cried passionately:

"I ate five morphine tablets to stop my heart from beating. I was tired of being beat up by Mr. Frank Tinney."

The Magistrate asked:

"So there were other beatings?"

Goldstein asked:

"And weren't there other suicides?"

Imogene admitted:

"I committed suicide Easter Sunday with lysol."

And, to Goldstein's elastic question, in which he bade her figure her most recent deaths in round numbers, she protested:

"I've tried suicide only twice in my whole life."

Goldstein gained from Imogene the admission that she went on April 27 to Tinney's home and discussed ownership of Mrs. Tinney's husband with the mistress of the house on the verandah. But Imogene, denying that the meeting was in any sense a breach of the peace, said:

'We didn't swear at each other at all. We just talked nice and I asked her to settle this thing about Frank once and for all."

Imogene was unable to explain how and why two Long Island policemen joined the party on the porch and broke it up before the dispute about Frank had been settled.

At times Imogene refused to answer, smartly delivering the formula:

"On the grounds that it will incriminate or degrade me."

She thus refused to discuss a taxi ride wtih Frank during which, Goldstein intimated, Tinney got kicked in the face.

Maid a Witness.

Carrie Sneed, Imogene's negro maid, and Dr. Herbert Adler, Imogene's physician, were called, the maid to tell of sharing Frank's fisticuffs with her mistress and the doctor to list the injuries.

Carrie left the stand after Magistrate Levine had commented:

"Here you are—185 pounds—as big as Tinney, and you stood around idle while this man manhandled your earrings and your mistress."

Carrie retired mumbling:

"Oh, I saw lots of those fights; I got used to them."

Magistrate Levine, when he denied the defence's move to dismiss, read a short personal tribute to stage people in which he warned that the couple in court are not typical of the profession.

Tinney, with his clothes pressed, stood attentive throughout and peered at the witness. He did not open his mouth once.

It will be his turn next Wednesday to tell what the thinks about glorifying the American girl.

PETERBORO BROTHERS DROP THE WILL CASE

Case Settled Out of Court and Estate of $200,000 Will Be Divided—Terms Disclosed Later.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., June 9. — Following a settlement out of court, the terms of which are likely to be disclosed when the estate is appraised for inheritance taxation, objections to the probate of the will left by Edward E. Ball, late brother of Abraham and George Ball, of 391 Smith Street, Peterborough, Ontario stands to-day withdrawn and the will admitted to probate.

Abraham and George Ball were the contestants. They charged fraud, undue influence, lack of sound mind and memory, and demanded trial of the issues raised by them before a jury.

The jury request was granted to them, but the objections, with the approval of the Court, were withdrawn at the request of the contestants.

Mr. Ball, who was a wholesale butcher, lived here at 170 St. John's Place, where he died on 15th July, 1923, leaving his net estate to be divided as follows:

Alice J. Hunter, friend, of 430 Sixth Avenue here, the realty at 170 St. John's Place, with all contents therein; all of the wearing apparel, jewellery, money on hand and banks, Liberty loan bonds, and all other bonds found, as well as all of the securities.

Annie Flanagan, housekeeper, of 170 St. John's Place, $10,000.

Take 2 Peterborough brothers w-

John Koenig, Sr., John Koenig, Jr., both of No. 308 Twelfth street, and Jacob Koenig of No. 128 St. Marks place here, described in the will as business partners, each $5,000.

Rose Carroll of No. 398 Butler street, Marcella O'Hara of No. 263 Fifteenth street, and Theresa A. Keenan, of No. 652 Forty-ninth street, described in the will as cashiers in the decedent's business, each $2,000.

What then remains, if anything, equally between Mary A. Murty, of No. 553 Walden avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., William Ball of No. 276 Ravine avenue, Rochester, N.Y., John Ball of No. 85 St. Josephs avenue, Buffalo, N.Y., Abraham and George Ball, sister and brothers.

William Danaher, friend and agent for decedent's real estate, at No. 9 Park place, without bonds, was named as the executors of the estate.

In their objections to the probate of the will the contestants charged in part:

"That deponents are informed and verily believe that immediately prior to his (decedent's) death, that the said Edward E. Ball made a visit to Florida in the company of one Alice J. Hunter and returned from Florida in her company to Brooklyn, to his home, at No. 170 St. Johns place, where he died a short time after.

"That the morning after his death the said Alice J. Hunter appeared at his home presenting the paper now offered before the Surrogate of King's County as the last will and testament of the said Edward E. Ball, at the same time declaring that she had appointed William J. Danaher, the petitioner herein, the executor of the said will.

"That under said alleged last will and testament of said Edward E. Ball, deceased, said Alice J. Hunter benefits by being made the devisee of house and lot at 170 St. Johns place, Brooklyn, New York City, valued at approximately $15,000.

"That said alleged will purports to give her in addition the contents and furnishings of said house, all of the jewelery owned by the said Edward E. Ball at the time of his death. All of the monies on deposit in banks, all cash not on deposit in banks and all United States' bonds and other bonds, the property of said Edward E. Ball, at the time of his death, which have no description except as in language.

"That said alleged will appears on its face to have been executed in St. Augustine, Fla.

"That said decedent, Edward E. Ball, at the time of his death, was of the age of seventy-five years.

"That deponents, at the request of their brothers, John Ball and William Ball, and their sister, Mary A. Murty, respectively of the cities of Buffalo and Rochester, and now because of business and family obligations are unable to be present in the County of Kings (Brooklyn; N.Y.) and in their own behalf have filed objections to the probate of said alleged last will and testament of Edward E. Ball, upon the ground that said instrument was not executed by Edward E. Ball in conformity with the requirements of law.

"That at the time of the alleged signing thereof said Edward E. Ball was of unsound mind and incapable of making a testamentary disposition of his property.

"That the execution thereof, if the same was ever executed by said Edward E. Ball, was secured by fraud and undue influence and that the desires and purposes of others were substituted for those of said Edward E. Ball, deceased."

The estate, according to the contestants, amounts to about $200,000.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

MARSAL CABINET

on between President Millerand and the Chamber for the past eight days has reached a decisive stage. The President appears to have abandoned his most effective weapon, "dissolution of the Chamber by the Senate," and now is satisfied to put the responsibility squarely up to the Chamber and have the names of the deputies voting to dismiss him recorded in the official journal for future reference.

There is no one, even among the President's closest friends, who does not believe that M. Millerand must and will go, but many maintain that the Chamber has not yet won the battle, which may drag beyond Tuesday's momentous session.

The members of the Radical and Socialist Parties, at a special session of the Chamber Sunday afternoon, appeared loath to place themselves on record as to the unseating of the President, but voted a motion that "they would have nothing to do with the Marsal Cabinet if it presented itself before the Chamber."

Public Not Interested.

M. Millerand, apparently unconcerned on the outcome of the battle on which depends his political life, took a long walk in the Bois De Boulogne yesterday morning, stopping here and there and listening to the conversations of the groups gathered about. He appeared surprised and pained that the general topics of conversation were far removed from politics.

The correspondents keeping closely in touch with the President ascertained that the people of Paris were discussing racing, the running of the French Oaks at Chantilly, the bicycle race around Paris, Holland versus Sweden in the soccer football match, and similar entertaining subjects.

REDEMPTIVE VIEW OF GOD IS URGED

The Presbyterian General Assembly Devoutly Honors Sunday—Sermon By Rev. Dr. D. Christie.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Sunday at the Presbyterian General Assembly was honored in the devout reverent manner characteristic of the church for hundreds of years in Scotland and in other lands. The large assembly church was crowded at the morning and evening services. In the morning the Rev. Dr. David Christie preached the sermon on the text, "To whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" He spoke of the arm of God, thrust out, of the arm of God crooked, and of the arm of God pierced. He quoted the verse, "He made known His ways unto Moses, his acts unto the children of Israel." He interpreted this as meaning that the rank and file of men, such as the children of Israel, saw only the outward acts of God, as indicated in many providences of nature, etc., while the great leaders, such as Moses, saw more than the outward act, they understood the spirit behind the act, namely, the ways and purposes of God. He said that the conception of God with the arm crooked was the popular conception of God at the present time and urged that the people of the world must see God with the arm pierced for their redemption. The sermon was a most earnest presentation of the gospel message for which the church stands. At the First Methodist church the Rev. John Locks expressed his pleasure that the homes of the Methodist churches of Owen Sound had been opened as freely to the commissioners as the homes of the Presbyterian churches and he seemed to intimate that the latest information which had come through from Ottawa was to the effect that the obstacles to the consummation there would be soon removed. With reference to the theological basis of union he declared that the theology of the Presbyterian church was the theology of the Methodist church, one in faith and doctrine, one in charity.

In the afternoon the Rev. Dr. Clarence, moderator of the assembly, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Jonathan Goforth, of Honan, China, and the Rev. Dr. R. W. Ross, of Port Massey church, Halifax, dispensed the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to the commissioners. Elders selected from the various synods from the Atlantic to the Pacific took part in the distribution of the bread and wine and there was an earnest spiritual message from the moderator with prayer to God for His blessing on the communion throughout the world.

Urges Great Committee To Handle Unemployment

British Legion Held Memorial Service at London Cenotaph.

LONDON, June 9.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—The Duke of York on Sunday inspected three thousand members of the British Legion who afterwards, led by bands, marched to the cenotaph where the Legion's annual memorial service was held. The Duke of York and Field Marshal Earl Haig together carried the Legion's poppy wreath and deposited it on the cenotaph. After the sounding of the last post and a reveille many official and private wreaths were laid about the cenotaph.

The chairman, at the opening of the annual conference of the Legion at which over a million ex-service members were represented, pointed out that a half million ex-service men were still unemployed and he urged the appointment of a great national committee to tackle the unemployment question.

FIRES.

Fire destroyed 508 million dollars worth of American property in 1923, the underwriters estimate. Enough to pay several soldiers bonuses.

Fully three-fourths of these fires are preventable. Especially forest fires. Camping season is at hand. Never break camp until absolutely sure the fire is completely extinguished. Never throw away glowing matches or cigaret stubs in the woods or from the window of a train. A little more caution on the part of all of us will hold down one factor of high cost of living—fires.

DANGEROUS FIRE BURNED UP COAL

Westboro Lumber Plant With a Thousand Tons of Anthracite In Blaze.

OTTAWA. June 9 (Canadian Press). — Fire which threatened for a time to assume dangerous proportions, caused damage estimated at $30,000 to the M. N. Cummings lumber plant in Westboro, near here, on Saturday night.

In addition to the town's fire brigade, firemen were summoned from Ottawa to fight the blaze, the origin of which is unknown.

A thousand tons of anthracite coal, a coal trestle, and 300 cords of stove wood were consumed in the fire.

Insurance of $18,000 was carried.

FABLES ON HEALTH

Each month the food bills attracted quite as much attention in the Mann family as did the rent, light and other bills

"By gosh, where does the money go to?" Mr. Mann would ask.

How many families find that question bobbing up each 30 days — or each seven days, for that matter?

And how many hunt out the sources of leakage?

Checks in a great number of cases will show that the little dainties added to even one meal a day will send the cost up considerably—and it is likely to be found that the dainty was quite unnecessary to the well being of the diners.

An average dainty is likely to cost from 10 cents to 25 cents per diner, particularly if purchased at a cafe. In a family of four this dainty might add 40 cents to a single meal, or $12 a month and something like $150 a year. Two a day would double this.

And how many of the unnecessaries find their way to the table when vitamine-containing essentials are given little consideration?

Figured silk will keep its colour washed the Lux way

—says well-known manufacturer

ONE of the largest silk manufacturers on this continent writes regarding their tests of washing their silk and other goods as follows:

"The silks kept their sheen. They were as lustrous as before the washings. The crepes de Chine did not pull or look "wavy" as they often do after laundering. The colours in the printed fabrics remained clear throughout.

"In our opinion, the results obtained with Lux are due to its very unusual mildness and purity. Our sheerest and most delicately-colored silks were laundered in it in entire safety."

Your finest silks will come out of the pure Lux suds with colour and lustre unharmed. They will look as fresh and new as the day you bought them.

Why the Bonds of Atlantic Coast Collieries, Limited Are a Good Investment

Because they are secured by a mortgage on assets worth, at very conservative valuation, more than double the present issue. The proceeds from the sale of these bonds will increase these assets in the form of equipment and development work by forty per cent.

Because the earnings of the Company are just as certain as that there is a market for every ton of coal that can be mined.

Because the Mabou coal mines can be operated at a cost assuring a profit at prices which would mean no profit to other mines.

Because the quality of a large part of the output of the Mabou mines is higher than that of any other mine in Nova Scotia, and will command a premium when sold on an analysis basis.

Because there is an assured market for all the coal that can be produced at prices which will yield substantial profits.

Because the Company is soundly financed and will be managed and operated by able, practical men of long experience in the business.

Because it has every element of success—abundant and accessible coal, economy of extraction, market and profit.

Because the bonds carry a bonus of 20 per cent. in common stock which has good prospects of becoming valuable.

We recommend the purchase of the 7% first mortgage bonds of Atlantic Coast Collieries Limited.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HAD ANNUAL CONVENTION AT MILLBROOK ON FRIDAY

Reports From Branches Were Encouraging—The Institute Has Done Splendid Work In the Territory Covered.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—The annuala meeting of the East Durham Women's Institute was held in the town hall, Millbrook, on Friday afternoon, about forty delegates being in attendance. Mrs. T. A. Skitch, of Bailieboro, district president, occupied the chair, the secretary-treasurer of the district, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, also having a seat at the table.

Reports from the various branches were most encouraging, showing that the motto, "For Home and Country," is being kept distinctly in the foreground and is prompting much real service in each community represented.

Cavan Institute, which has a membership of twenty-five, took advantage of the circulating library last year, held a two weeks' sewing-class, the practical results making the effort well worth while, did necessary local relief work, held a bazaar at which $61.00 was realized, and raised a total of $76.13. Miss Bertha McNeil is the energetic president, and Mrs. H. Tinney the secretary-treasurer.

Mt. Pleasant has sixteen names on the roll, and they also enjoyed the circulating library, procured from the Department of Agriculture in Toronto; a successful concert and bazaar added materially to the funds raised, while a commendable amount of work was done for benevolent enterprises, including boxes of fruit, quilts, and clothing sent to Toronto and other points, and flowers were also provided for sich members. Sixty-four dollars and forty cents was the treasurer's report for the year. Mrs. Albert Rutherford is president, and Mrs. Thomas Graham the secretary-treasurer.

Charlecote, while the newest branch in the district, is most energetic ,having thirty-four members and raising $114.11 during the year. This Institute provided plants for its members, bought cooking utensils for the school, sent money to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, sent a generous donation to the "Save the Children" fund, and to the Children's Shelter, besides keeping up local activities for the community's welfare. The president is Mrs. T. McCann, Port Hope, and the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. G. Welch.

The Bethany branch is one of the most active in the district, the street lighting of the village being its most helpful contribution to the community's well being. The upkeep of the lights involves considerable expense which is met by the sale of ice-cream during the summer months, giving entertainments of various kinds, serving meals at the athletic grounds when occasion offers, and in other ways. Seven hundred and seventy-six dollars and sixty-seven cents was the total raised during the year. Bethany also used the circulating library and found the venture well worth while. All the Department asks is that the express on the books be paid to any point where they are to be in circulation, and that some responsible person be appointed to look after their safe return when the period of use has expired.

Mrs. S. Jamieson is president of the Bethany Institute, Mrs. A. Monk and Miss A. Preston being the secretary and treasurer.

Community Hall.

The community hall at Garden Hill is the result of Institute enterprise and undaunted effort, its upkeep also being provided each year by funds raised by this organization. A booth at the School Fair, one or two dances in the winter, other entertainments, and by careful planning and tireless endeavor, $203.14 was raised last year. Local relief work and help for a number of charitable institutions was also done by this branch. Mrs. A. C. Beatty is the president, and Miss Hattie Duncan, the secretary-treasurer.

Street lights for Bailieboro was the special object which the Institute had in view in the year just closed, and this was successfully accomplished when the lights were used for the first time on the 3rd of June—a just cause of pride to the community. Unfortunately electric power is not yet available but the Coleman lamps make a good substitute and are considerably better than no lights at all. The "speed limit" boards are another improvement, the expense of which was borne by the Institute which, besides providing plants for its members, assisted with charitable work, both local and farther afield. Two hundred and twenty-eight dollars and sixty cents was the financial result of the year's efforts. Mrs. T. A. Skitch is the capable president, and Miss Louise Jackson the secretary-treasurer. Bailieboro has 78 members.

Elizabethville, with 22 members, raised $104.67 last year, and was most energetic in keeping up the various enterprises which make up the sum of the organization's undertakings during the twelve months. Plants were provided for the members and ten meetings held. The president is Mrs. A. Muldrew, and Mrs. T. G. Sowden has the office of secretary-treasurer.

Millbrook has 100 members, though the average attendance is much smaller than it should be with such a showing of names on the roll. The new flag which was used on the flag-pole in front of the town hall for the first time on Empire Day was the gift of the Institute to the community. Sixty dollars' worth of plants was purchased this spring, and distributed to the members, any over the number required being sold.

The treasurer's books showed a balance of over $500 at the beginning of the year, and there is now in the bank $654.01, the disposal of which in the best interests of the community has yet to be decided upon. Mrs. C. Thorndyke is the newly-elected president, Mrs. Wilbert Thorne the secretary, and Mrs. E. Grandy, treasurer.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers for the East Durham Institute took place on Friday, resulting as follows: President, Mrs. T. A. Skitch, Bailieboro; 1st vice-president, Mrs. T. Wood, Bailieboro; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Millbrook; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbrook; district director, Mrs. A. Rutherford, Mt. Pleasant; auditors, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, and Mrs. W. Armstrong, Cavan. Directors of branches—Bailieboro, Miss L. Jackson; Garden Hill, Miss S. Gray; Millbrook, Mrs. R. J. McKnight; Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Ira Lowes; Cavanville, Mrs. H. Keegan; Charlecote, Mrs. S. Sculthorpe; Elizabethville, Miss V. Blanchard; Bethany, Mrs. W. McCartney.

On motion it was decided to print new programmes, covering a period of two years, with new subjects for each meeting, the secretaries of each branch being instructed to send in a list of suitable topics, as suggestions for the guidance of the executive, as soon as possible. "O, Canada" will probably be printed on the outside front page instead of the "Maple Leaf," as formerly, these patriotic songs are mentioned to be used as the individual branch may prefer.

The Millbrook Institute served refreshments to the delegates and a pleasant social hour was spent together before the gathering finally broke up.

Mrs. Eakins and Mrs. Skitch were appointed delegates to attend the Provincial convention, and the Federated Women's Institute conventon, respectivly, both gatherings being held in Toronto in November.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB GIVEN AS WARNING

Dr. Barker of John Hopkins Says Prevalence of Abnormal Thought is Unrealized.

URGES PREVENTIVE ACTION.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 9.—The crimes of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, charged with blood lust murders, were brought before four hundred of America's leading authorities on diseases of the mind, attending the convention of the American Psychiatric Association here in a remarkable address delivered by Dr. Llewellys Barker, Professor Clinical Medicine at Johns Hopkins University.

Pleading for an awakening of the public mind to the prevalence of inental disorder and need for widespread educational efforts toward prevention as against current public satisfaction with institutional systems of incarceration and treatment, Dr. Barker drew a startling picture of the mental health situation in the United States.

"If the public could be accurately informed," he said, "of the prevalence of abnormal thought, feeling and behavior in the United States, such indifference as now exists regarding prevention would become inconceivable. If the public fully realized how much insanity, mental deficiency, criminality and incapacity for social effectiveness actually exists, and how easily much of these could be prevented by the adoption of wise measures that are practicable, even in the present state of knowledge, one cannot but feel that apathy would be displaced by activity and that a vigorous prophylactic campaign through education and legislation would be peremptorily demanded."

Discussing the relation of precocity to abnormality and the necessity for supervision of the mental health of students in schools and colleges, Dr. Barker cited the case of the Chicago youths as an example.

"It is a matter for the gravest consideration," he said, "through ill-regulated immigration on the one hand and through the relatively insufficient fertility of the mentally superior stocks on the other, that the general level of intelligence and character in the United States is bound to fall unless we take the necessary steps to prevent it.

"As race-hygienists with biological training and understanding have made clear to us, the decay of a people composed of a mixture of superior and inferior stocks can be combatted either by diminishing the fertility of those who are below average capacity, or by increasing the fertility of those above the average capacity. Of the two methods the latter is probably of far greater importance than the former, but the task of devising methods by which the capable can be induced to become adequately fertile is not an easy one."

"The future of the American people has already been definitely jeopardized in the past by the importation of large numbers of slaves of the colored race; by the admission of hordes of derivatives of inferior hereditary stocks through lack of effective supervision and other legislative policies that favor the proletarization of the population rather than the improvement of its innate endowments. Many of these errors can never be retrieved, but corrective measures should wherever possible be employed in order to prevent the extinction of the best constituents of our mixture of racial stocks.

MedicoLegal Battle Predicted.

The real responsibility for the tragic careers of Leopold and Loeb rests with their parents, according to the consensus of opinion expressed hereby the delegates to the convention.

The delegates include many of the most eminent American specialists in mental diseases, and the prediction was freely made that the trial of the two youths will bring the greatest medico-legal battle ever staged in this country.

While no resolution was passed, the delegates generally favored the establishment by each State of a permanent alienist board, composed of experts, who could give accurate and impartial judgment as to the sanity of persons involved in legal proceedings. Such a judgment, it was pointed out, if accepted as final, would obviate long drawn out trials and the giving of wha were termed "partisian" sanity decisions by opposing alienists employed by opposing counsel.

Interest in and discussion of the Chicato murder case was stimulated among the delegates by the reading of a paper entitled "Some Emotional Problems Seen in the Superior Child," presented by Dr. Marion R. Kenworthy, medical director of the Bureau of Children's Guidance of New York City and a well-known psychiatrist. This paper was written some time before Robert Franks was slain, but the instances of youth precocity it recorded, in the opinion of the delegates, paralleled those presented by Leopold and Loeb.

Dr. Kenworthy warned against the development of the intellectual phase of a child's life to the detriment of his general physical and emotional growth. Referring to the precocious, or abnormally briliant youth, Dr. Kenworthy said:

"What happens to Johnny if mother and father and all the admiring relatives seem to place such a high premium upon his scholaristic ability that in order to satiate their hunger for satisfaction he gives up his physical pursuits in order to gain more praise and petting?"

An instance was then given of a boy who, because he was quick at learning, was forced through schools and college at too early an age, to the neglect of his general physical development. Being unable to mingle properly with his older classmates he was practically ostracized, and eventually had contempt and enmity for his associates.

Called Mentally Depraved.

Some of the delegates remarked that the accused Chicago youths were brilliant students and were improperly developed, their parents feeling flattered at their unusual mental achievements. In addition, they were never made to face the realities of life, money always being provided to smooth away every difficulty.

Leopold and Loeb are psychopathics; neither morons nor subnormal, but very intelligent with depraved and perverted ideas of life, in the opinion of Dr. T. J. Currie, First Assistant Physician of the Willard State Hospital, Seneca County, New York, who is staying here.

"These young men are brilliant mentally, according to the newspaper stories, and that is not difficult to believe, but they are mentally depraved," he said. "Their tendencies, natural perhaps, have been accentuated by their mode of living—too much money has been given to them, too much opportunity for indulging in their weakness.

"When children are noticed to inflict cruelties on animals for the purpose of idle amusement, they should be admonished immediately, for such acts indicate the development of a similar mental condition as Leopold and Loeb have proved beyond a doubt to have. Taken in time and treated intelligently, such children may be spared the horrible mental stage these young men are in."

When asked if the type represented by the Chicago slayers is on the increase Dr. Currie said:

"It is the fashion to say that since the war people are more reckless, more careless and more wicked, but I do not believe it to be so. The percentage remains about the same as far as my observations lead me. There are, however, more of the psychopathics around us than we are aware of, in a mild form they are cranks, those who do not conform to the general ideas held by people, in conduct and dress, for instance.

NET TRIMMING.

THE PRODIGIES

Ten months ago the ornithological world was playing unstinted tribute to Nathan Leopold, Jr., to-day held for the murder of Robert Franks. Never before had the Kirtland, or Jack pine warbler, been photographed. But Leopold succeeded in doing it, obtaining both still and moving pictures. The rarest of American songbirds, which for years had fled from all men, even ate from his hands. This photograph is an enlargeemnt of the film the Michigan Conservation Department took at the time. It shows Nathan in the act of feeding a warbler.

"I have never known a young man of finer appearance and manners than 'Dick' Loeb," says Thomas D avern, Chicago photographer, who took this picture a few months ago in the Loeb home. "If he is guilty of the crime charged to him, there is no doubt but what he is insane."

SUPER-AIRSHIP IS ENGLAND'S ANSWER TO FRENCH MENACE

Empire Proposes To Build Fifty Aerial Leviathans For Both Peace And War Uses.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.

LONDON, June 9 (United Press).—Construction of a gigantic super-airship, to be the first of a fleet of British aerial leviathans—primarily for commerce but potential for war—is being considered by the Cabinet, upon a favorable subcommittee report.

Cabinet approval will mean speedy commencement of construction of a monster dirigible, beside which all preceding aircraft will seem dwarfed things.

The dramatically successful flight of the French aviator, Lieut. Pelletier D'Oisy, in passing the British round-the-world flyer, Commander McLaren, has spurred sentiment here for increased British air-strength.

Unless a new conference can be called to limit aerial construction, many European authorities apprehend a race between the great powers for air supremacy which will bring greater expenditures, greater tax burdens—and possibly eventuate in a greater war—than preceding competitions in naval or military forces.

A Race With France.

Officially no government authority here says in so many words that England must enter an air-craft construction race with France. But actually that is the precise meaning of the present plans and the present situation. The government has already voted a programme of large increases in army airplanes—although not sufficient to overtake the French lead. If the super-airship scheme, now being considered, is fulfilled England will surpass any other country in lighter-than-air craft.

The first giant airship will have a capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet, an air displacement of 130 tons, a carrying capacity of forty-four tons, or of 200 passengers and eleven tons of freight.

It will be able to make a non-stop flight from London to Australia in five days and nights, or to maintain a speed of eighty miles an hour for 10,000 miles without stopping. At a reduced speed of forty-five miles an hour the giant airship can remain aloft 20 days and travel 20,000 miles.

The maximum non-stop cruising range with a light cargo, will be 24,000 miles at forty miles an hour, with a maximum time in the air without lighting of wenty-five days and nights.

Fifty Great Airships.

Commander Dennis Burnley, who prepared the plan which has been reported by a cabinet committee and is now before the cabinet itself, recommends that the first air leviathan, if successful, be followed by the construction of fifty similar ships, to establish commercial services to Australia, New Zealand, China, India, South Africa, the West Indies and Canada—every part of the British Empire. Services to North and South America, Japan and other countries would probably follow.

For peace purposes these crafts would have luxurious cabins, baths, dining and smoking rooms, etc., for 200 passengers.

For war, each ship could carry three fighting planes and two torpedo dropping machines, in addition to a large quantity of bombs and the crews of the airplanes which would "hop off" aloft from the mother airship.

The first ship to be built, if the Cabinet approves the scheme, under a combination of private enterprise and Air Ministry operations, and will be tested out in experimental flights to Egypt and India.

OCCUPATION OF RUHR BROUGHT STAGNATION TO DUTCH COMMERCE

The Dutch Trade Has Dropped To The Bottom During The Past Year.

THE HAGUE, June 9.—It is only in the allied acceptance of the experts' report, and the consequent stabilizing of Germany and the Ruhr, that Dutch financiers and traders profess to see a possibility of bringing Dutch trade out of its present depressed state Economically the occupied districts of the Rhine and Ruhr form a Dutch "hinterland," with the result that Dutch trade has dropped to the bottom during the last year.

The result of the occupation has been a heavy reduction in business all over the country and a rise in the cost of living. The influence also is felt in the transport trade, and the two principal ports of the country, which are far too big for their own requirements, have suffered considerably, as their primary function was catering to the industrial districts bordering on the Rhine.

This detrimental influence has extended also to the export trade of Dutch agricultural produce which has been interfered with by the interruption of trade routes through the occupied territory and the fluctuating exchange rate of Germany, Holland's largest buyer.

At the outset of the Ruhr occupation Dutch merchants attempted to allow business to slide along without stopping their production in the hope that the occupation would be only a matter of a few weeks. A different result, however, forced them to close factories and cut off the source of supplies, and after the prosperous war period, produced a trade depression of a magnitude never before known in Holland. The present state of affairs has continued about ten months, and can hardly be relieved until the problem of the occupied territories is solved.

In contrast to this a temporary benefit has resulted to many Dutch industries which have been able to regain old markets and have endeavored to open out in new directions, as is noted by R. V. Laming, commercial secretary of the British Embassy at The Hague. Moreover, the introduction of artificial silk work has resulted in successful Dutch competition with foreign goods.

Trade conditions have been reflected in the public finance. The state revenue has dropped some 30 percent from the figures reached during the war years and resulted in a large deficit in the national exchequer. This has made retrenchment necessary.

In presenting the new budget, the minister of finance stated that the estimated deficit of 48,000,000 florins for 1923 would not be reduced and that the 1924 deficit is estimated at 50,000,000 florins. The loss on railroad operation and the cost of keeping up the state educational institutions represent a loss of about half the deficit of the country, which cannot be reduced under present conditions.

Rome Also Knew Strikes.

Musicians Walked Out in 311 B. C., but Wine Brought Them Back.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor, among whom are some students of the classics, have discovered that ancient Rome was no more immune to strikes than modern New York or Chicago. They have discovered that Livy and Ovil described a strike of musicians in Rome.

The strikers, who belonged to the guild of musicians (tibicines) refused to work because the banquet which was traditionally accorded them every year at the expense of the State, was omitted in 311 B.C.

The musicians all left Rome and went to Tibur to await overtures from the State. The situation created by the walkout was very embarrassing to the authorities, for the sacrifices could not be carried out without music. The men were finally lured back by strategy. They were served freely with wine and taken to Rome "dead to the world." The men won their strike, however, for the authorities decided that a privilege so long accorded had become a right and the banquet was restored.

MINE DEAD FOURTEEN.

Wilkes-Barre Explosion Leaves 75 Children Orphaned.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 9.—Fourteen dead was the toll of the gas explosion Friday at the Loomis Colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Company after State Inspectors and mine workers had made a complete search of the mine.

Three missing men's bodies were located and removed. Two men are in a hospital seriously injured, while four or five, slightly hurt, are at their homes.

From fifty to seventy-five orphans and dependents are left by the accident, and officials of the United Mine Workers set about organizing measures for their relief.

Just what is the economic importance of real estate mortgage bonds?
Answered by
BENJAMIN BILLS
Director of Sales, American Bond and Mortgage Company.

City building is surely sufficient economic justification for real estate mortgage bonds. The providing of homes and firesides, of great places for recreation assembly, of hotel and inn facilities is surely meeting a basic need.

Man building is likewise an economic justification for the offering of real estate mortgage bonds. It is well known that about the first investment a man makes, who has learned to save, is in real estate bonds. His same instinct of thrift is still more energetically engaged in the real estate bonds' higher rate of return. His intelligence is broadened as to values and revenues. The service he renders by his savings is concretely demonstrated to him.

The up-building of our cities and the development of our savers into investors afford ample evidence of the economic importance of real estate mortgage bonds.

WHAT LURES THEM TO OLD NEW YORK?

Wall Street And The Stock Exchanges And The Skyscrapers Have a Lot To Do With It.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The question, "What things peculiar to New York City most tease the curiosity of the person who never has been there?" has been answered in thousands of inquiries received from prospective visitors to the Democratic national convention.

The answer is: first, Wall Street and the Stock Exchanges; second, the Woolworth and Metropolitan skyscrapers; and third, Coney Island, the order representing the relative popularity.

Curiously, those who profess the greatest interest in the Stock Exchanges almost invariably add, "and the scene of the Wall Street bomb explosion in front of J. P. Morgan's." Others, seeking assurance that the will be able to view the famous skyline from the dizzy towers atop the Woolworth and Metropolitan structures, plaintively inquire, "What has become of the Singer and the Flatiron buildings?" those architectural marvels of a generation ago that now squat in the shadows of rivals which scratch the sky much deeper.

Bronx Zoo and Botanical Gardens rank about fourth in popularity as metropolitan wonders, with the Statue of Liberty and Tombs Prison close competitors for fifth place. Then, in order named, come the American Museum of Natural History and the Metropolitan Art Museum, the subway system and the under-river tubes, Greenwich Village, Brooklyn Bridge, Ellis Island and "The Little Church Around the Corner," the Church of the Transfiguration.

It was noted by the convention bureaus which are mailing answers to all these queries that Chicago people, for instance, were interested above all in New York's subways; that the Stock Exchanges were the first things town and village bankers wanted to see; that parents who will bring children here with them invariably wanted to know "will the zoo and the aquarium be open?" and that inhabitants of moderate-sized mid-Western cities were most curious about the reputed bohemianism of Greenwich Village.

Thousands of prospective visitors wrote, "Can we see the slums, and Chinatown and the Bowery?" or inquired about the accessibility of Grant's Tomb on Riverside Drive, the Navy Yard, historic Bowling Green on the Battery, Central Park with its miniature lake and mountain playgrounds, the great universities, the Public Library, St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Trinity and St. Paul's Churches of pre-Revolutionary days, the world's two biggest railroad terminals, down through the long list of famous places and things, modern and historical, with which this city abounds.

An inquirer with a facetious pen wrote Stanley J. Quinn, directing vice-president of the local citizen's non-partizan National Convention Committee:

"I have heard that the Island of Manhattan was purchased from an Indian chief for $24 worth of beads and rum. Will the beads, or the rum, be on exhibition?"

Mr. Quinn replied that "they probably won't," but that everything else in the metropolis worth seeing would be; that the Stock Exchange galleries would be thrown open to visitors, the Woolworth and Metropolitan towers would be open, Coney Island would be bally-hooing full blast, and all the other attractions the city could boast would be made readily accessible to sightseers.

WHOLE COUNTRY ABLAZE

Fire Sweeping Over Territory From 50 to 75 Miles in Extent.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 9.—The whole country is ablaze for one hundred miles north of McMurray, from fifty to seventy five miles east and west of that place, according to word that has been received here.

Colonel J. K. Cornwall, a north man, declares that it is the worst fire in the past twenty five years. As far as can be learned the blaze originated on the head waters of a creek where beaver hunters had established a camp. It is difficult to estimate the potential loss in fur. Practically the entire beaver country has been destroyed. It will be necessary to shut down on beaver for the next five years. The loss in timber is up in the millions of dollars already and the fire is still raging.

SEEKS DIVORCE DECREE.

Anne Nichols Can't Get Certificate Before Going Abroad.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., June 9.—Mrs. Anne Duffey, authoress of "Abie's Irish Rose," under her pen name of Anne Nichols, visited the Court-House Saturday to get a certificate showing that she had obtained a divorce from her husband, Henry Duffey, an actor.

The interlocutory decree was granted by Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., of Mount Vernon on March 25 last. Mrs. Duffey told the court clerk that she intended to sail for Europe on June 18. She will be on the ocean when the final decree of divorce becomes effective on June 25, and will not be able to get the certificate showing her marriage to Duffey is at a final end until it has been mailed to her in Europe.

Over 36,000 last year

"Hello, Mrs. Brock, do you know who's speaking?"

"No, I haven't the faintest idea."

"It's Irene — we just had our telephone installed and I thought you would like to know our number."

"Why that's fine, Irene, I've often wished your mother had a telephone."

And so Mrs. Brock returns to her paper with a new and greater appreciation of the fact that "every new subscriber adds to the value of YOUR telephone."

Of the net gain of 52,018 telephones in Ontario and Quebec in 1923, over 36,000 (or 70%) were installed in residences.

Merchants and shop-keepers should not overlook this large addition to the number of householders they can reach by telephone.

June Is Readjustment Month in The Cressman Stores

During the month of June much department readjusting will be carried out, featuring as the major event, the enlargement of our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department in the Main Store, by adding what is now known as The Redfern Store. By doing this we will have achieved our ambition, namely one of the largest and finest stocked Ready-to-Wear Departments in the Province.

To successfully make this change it will necessitate the clearing of many lines now in The Redfern Shop, and so it comes in our effort to make shopping more pleasureable and more convenient to our patrons. MANY NOTEWORTHY PRICE ATTRACTIONS will be forthcoming during this eventful month of June.

"Better Service Is Our Aim"

By continually watching our advertisements throughout the month, Peterborough shoppers will have brought to their notice SPECIAL OFFERINGS IN LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR at prices so interesting that the cost of procuring the summer wardrobe will be cut to the minimum.

"The Store of Smiling Service"

Canada's Century

By ARTHUR HUNT CHUTE

When I was ten years old Canada crossed the line from the Nineteenth to the Twentieth Century. At that time Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in memorable and prophetic words, contrasted the United States and Canada. Those words kindled rosy visions. But how many of these visions have remained up in the clouds?

Saint John, the Divine, saw the Holy City coming down from Heaven. Many, apparently, have expected to see the Canadian Nation coming down in like manner.

At ten I was told, "This is Canada's Century!"

At twenty, I was told, "This is Canada's Century!"

At thirty, like Polonius, "still harping on my daughter," they continue that refrain, "This is Canada's Century!"

I will feel pretty sick, when I am forty, fifty, sixty, and finally when I'm sipping gruel in the Old Men's Home, if they are still telling me, "This is Canada's Century!" with nothing more to show for it than the past two decades.

To wish and not to will, is a spiritual collapse, a house built on the sand.

"Where did you come from, Sam?" someone asked a little negro boy.

"I'se jus' happened," was the reply.

Up to date, there has been altogether too much of the "I'se-jus'-happened" idea, about this Canada's Century.

The United States grasped their destiny in the Nineteenth century by their own initiative, audacity, and perseverance.

We will not become possessed of our century as a heirloom from our fathers, wrapped up in cotton wool. It will be ours only in so far as we match vision with achievement.

Professor Fisher, an American historian, turning from "manifest destiny" to less pleasant conjectures, says, that if events had been otherwise, "We (Americans) might have been a tamer, less inventive, people, like the Canadians."

The Professor must have had his eye on some of our Twentieth century sleepers when he uttered these words. It is certain he knew nothing of that iron-corpuscled breed that made Canada a name of renown aboard the eighteen-twelvers.

We have listened to our politicians chanting that Circean word "resources," until we have all been wafted into the fond conceit that we were millionaires. But, then we put our hands in our own pockets and, lo, they are still quite empty.

The truth is, we have had nothing like the progress and prosperity in Canada that we should have had.

It would have been a poor outlook for the United States, if, in the first thirty years of their century, they had not made more progress, than Canada in the first thirty years of her century.

The word "resources" might, with a special appropriateness at this time, be relegated to the shelf, while we listen instead to that much more needed word, "development."

A boasting about resources that belonged to the Red Indian is a sorry pastime on the part of people that have scarce begun to unlock those same resources.

In Canada the pioneering spirit must be continually revived — the spirit of high and strenuous endeavor.

The side of the street that breeds strong men is the opposite side from Easy street.

With our century hardly yet begun, with our empire to the north, and west, as yet unconquered, ours is indeed the "Opposite side from Easy street."

If we were truly awakened to the spirit of Canada's Century, we would be as proud to say, "I'm a Canadian," in peace as we were in war.

In October, 1914, the first Canadians landed at Plymouth. Rudyard Kipling said that we "painted Plymouth pink." Rudyard is a discriminating color-man in letters. But for once, he was too pale in the choice of a word: We did not paint Plymouth pink, we painted it crimson and vermilion.

What was it that stepped ashore into the old world, with the new world troops? It was Drake, and Clive come back again. It was the audacious heart answering the lure of a great adventure.

It was glorious either to have lived, or died upon that tide. And now, while some have begun to look backward, we're needing a voice to give again the young high heart.

"The song that nerves a nation's arm is in itself a deed."

Canada's Century is waiting for that song that nerves the nation's arm, for that song which will call her back to fire, and joy, and dash, and daring, back to the light courageous hearts.

We are building a nation on the last frontier. If we have grasped the greatness of our task we must rejoice in the privilege of being Canadians.

Our veterans of France, and Flanders have returned not to peace, but to the joy of a greater struggle. If they will only fight against nature, as they fought against the Hun, it will be theirs to exclaim, "In our early days we wrought for Canada her fame, in our later years, we established her greatness."

Hope dwells not with those, who are old in spirit, who are willing to rest on what their fathers did.

The hope of Canada is the youth of Canada, that can watch a young nation with the spirit of a young high heart.

We have been sending immigration agents to England, and to Europe, to bring in new citizens. That is well. But true nation building requires that we shall go to the deepest sources of our power.

What's the good of expecting to bring in fire from without, if we have not yet enkindled the fire from within?

The hydra of self-satisfaction, and self-complacency is what we wear above all else. We must look to the dreams of youth to safeguard us against this foe.

With a special fitness a Young Italy of Mazzini's day, might be revived in a Young Canada of our own day.

Have faith in Canada, and in her century.

Envy no past time, and no past country.

Covet not the American's gold reserve, nor his estate, at present more developed than our own.

When the United States, the most prodigal and wasteful, nation on the earth, is at the end of her natural endowment, we will still be a virgin land, to whom the U.S.A. must look increasingly for necessities of mine, and field, and forest.

We need to renew our faith in Canada, and in Canada's Century.

Let old nations gaze with longing at their golden age that lies behind. When they lament, "Best times are gone," we sing, "Best times are yet to be had."

In the immortal words of Sir Wilfrid, "Our horizons are not in the past, but in the future.

SAY MAN'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Alfred Beard Was Examining Revolver When It Discharged, Companion Declares.

MADOC, June 9. — (Special). — Alfred Beard, aged 19, of Port Colborne, Ontario, was shot and killed on Friday evening in the north-east corner of Hastings County, about 45 miles from Madoc. Beard, accompanied by two other men, Albert Woodman and Elmer Pringle, had been prospecting in this county and it is said by Pringle that Beard accidentally shot himself with Pringle's revolver. Pringle stated that he handed Beard his revolver, and a few minutes later, while examining the gun, a bullet discharged, and Beard died about half an hour later from his injury. The three men came from Port Colborne, Ontario, and have been in this part of the country for the past ten days. It is reported that Beard was well-known in Port Colborne, and that his parents are wealthy citizens. An investigation is being made by the Provincial police.

TOURIST CAMP SIGNS TO BE MADE UNIFORM

Ontario Motor League Considering General Plan of Supervision.

The adoption of a uniform sign for official tourist camps in Ontario is now being considered by the Ontario Motor League. These signs will probably consist of a red arrow on a white background with the words "Free Tourist Camp" in the centre of the arrow, the letters "O.M.L." beneath the arrow and the name of the municipality above the arrow.

The adoption of an aggressive campaign looking toward the establishment of tourist camps throughout the Province has been strongly urged on the Motor League by Geo. P. France, secretary of the Sarnia Automobile Club, who tells of the great success achieved by such a camp at Sarnia.

"In the first place, municipalities must not look on the tourist camp as an 'individual' municipal proposition for in a great many cases if it were measured from this standpoint it would be considered a failure," states Mr. France. "The tourist camp must be considered from the broad angle of Provincial-wide distribution. The amount of money left in any individual tourist camp may not be very great, but the aggregate is tremendous, and each municipality and every individual ultimately receives a proportionate share of the new wealth thus brought into Ontario.

Importance of Camps.

"The importance of this business to the Province may be instanced from the case of Sarnia, where the tourist traffic during the 1923 season exceeded 43,000 cars, tourist inquiries at information bureau were 231 per cent. over 1922 figures, tourist campers were 530 per cent. over 1922, Canadian campers increased 144 per cent., U. S. campers increased 574 per cent. and touring club members increased 380 per cent. The heaviest traffic in order of volume came from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, New York and Indiana.

"The location of a tourist camp should be of prime importance. The tendency has been to shove the tourist into some back lot or corner, treating him more or less as a necessary nuisance. This is certainly bad practice and poor publicity for the municipality. It is quite essential that the tourist be started on his way at the port of entry pleased with a smile, and that he be kept in a continuous state of good humor throughout his stay in Canada. He is then a booster for Canada and a motoring publicity man, who will spread good news about our Province in a way that we could not purchase for money.

Equipment Required.

"Certain standard equipment should be provided by the touring camp before its approval and advertisement should be given by the League. The essential requirements are: Pure water supply, toilet facilities, provisions for cooking, benches and tables, and available fuel supply.

"A record of all tourists should be kept as they visit the camp. This record should include the name of the parties, where they came from, where they are going, how long they are going to stay, whether they are club affiliated or not, and how many there are in the party. This record could be kept in a register at the camp, or, as is the case at Sarnia, by means of a system of registration cards, which are handled by the parks supervisor, who visits the park every evening and early every morning.

"The average amount spent by the tourist who camps is approximately $6 per day, exclusive of any merchandise purchased, such as clothing, dishes, pipes, toilet articles and hundreds of other articles which they buy."

LOSE WEIGHT.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 piece crisp broiled bacon, 1 cup spring vegetable soup, 1 cottage cheese sandwich, 8 ounces halibut steak, 3 new beets sliced in lemon juice, 1-2 cup combination vegetable salad, 2 tablespoons pineapple sponge, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 tablespoon croutons with soup, 2 slices rye bread.

Total calories, 1152. Protein, 296; fat, 332; carbohydrate, 524. Iron, .0192 gram.

Pineapple Sponge.

Two cups chopped fresh pineapple, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 2 eggs (whites), 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin.

Combine water, sugar and pineapple and cook for 10 minutes. Soften gelatin in four tablespoons cold water. Let stand 10 minutes. Add to boiling fruit and syrup, remove from the fire and stir until gelatin is perfectly dissolved. When cool and beginning to thicken add the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and put on ice to chill and become firm. The yolks of the eggs are used for a boiled custard sauce for the rest of the family.

Total calories (without sauce), 1202. Protein, 110; fat, 12; carbohydrate, 1080. Iron, .0088 gram.

Two tablespoons of this dessert is less than one-eighth of the whole.

GAIN WEIGHT.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 2 slices bacon, 1 fried egg, 3 slices fried corn meal mush, 3 tablespoons maple syrup, 1 cup spring vegetable soup, 2 heaping tablespoons corn souffle, 1 cottage cheese sandwich, 8 ounces halibut steak, 3 new potatoes in 1-4 cup cream sauce, 3 new beets in lemon butter, 1-2 cup combination vegetable salad with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons pineapple sponge with 4 tablespoons boiled custard sauce, 1 cup fresh cherries, 1 pint whole milk, 1 toasted bran muffin, 2 tablespoons croutons with soup, 4 slices rye bread, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 cheese cups to accompany dinner salad.

Total calories, 3937. Protein, 476; fat, 1631; carbohydrate, 1830. Iron, .0209 gram.

Add more butter to the vegetable soup for this menu and if possible make it of whole milk or cream.

If actually measured, two heaping tablespoons of any dish like corn souffle would mean four level tablespoons.

This cottage cheese sandwich should be made rich with cream, butter on the bread and mayonnaise.

When preparing the beets, sprinkle liberally with sugar, spread generously with butter and then add lemon juice to make piquant.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

FOREVER

Another sure sign of spring—William Jennings Bryan, the hardy quadrennial, now 64 years old, announces that he would "consider the matter" if the Democrats decide to "draft" him as their presidential candidate.

He is receiving so many letters, urging him to run, that he has had to print a form letter to answer them. Neither party has a shrewder politician. He has manifested his shrewdness by his comparative silence in the last few years. As a candidate, he might "run" amazingly. He usually does.

DEAD?

Strange things happen to us. In this day and age if we aren't constantly "on the job."

Aged Isaac C. Crane meets a friends and gasps and says, "Why Ike, you're dead.' "Doggone if I am," says Ike. But he learns that the courts declared him legally dead after a long absence. Now he craves legal resurrection, to claim a share of a $25,000 estate. It will be an interesting fight.

SING-SING.

Fiftfy per cent of the prisoners in Sing-Sing are under 25, and 87 per cent are under 30. The number of boys between 16 and 20, who are serving sentences in New York prisons, is larger today than ever before.

These condition do not reflect any sudden change in "the younger generation" of our period. The roots of it all were the environment and training of as far back as 30 years ago. Lawabiding adults are reaping the whirlwind of past neglect of youth.

RED-TAPE.

Death takes Elijah Watt Sells, born 1858. He was one of the original efficiency experts. Readers with long memories will recall that in 1892 Sells and Haskins revised the bookkeeping system of the United States government.

If the simplified Sells-Hawkins system is still in use, it's lucky we haven't the system used prior to 1892. Especially in the income tax auditing department. Thorough checking-up is necessary. The real trouble is that the tax law is too complicated, a quite natural condition in view of its being framed by lawyer-politicians.

BAGDAD.

We Americans seem to be able to handle hot potatoes with fewer burns than any other people.

It looks now as if American capital will operate the Bagdad Railway. Germany's determination to control that line was one of the main causes of the World War. And yet Americans could take charge with little or no friction.

We appear to have a sort of destiny as an international referee. Graybeard nations look to a young America for advice. That's unusual. However, they don't always take the advice.

BRAINS

On the way to work, we passed a banker humming jazz. A block farther on, a ditch-digger whistling grand opera.

Brains and instinctive culture, like lightning, strike in unexpected places. Some of the finest brains in this country to-day are found in factory, shop, plowed field and humble home. Mentality is one form of wealth that cannot be cornered.

SOVIET.

Soviet Russia is beginning to eat its own fiery words. Having vigorously repudiated the pre-war debts contracted by the czar's government, the Soviet is feeling out London along this line: "We recognize our pre-war obligations in exchange for a long-term loan."

A similar arrangement is not impossible between France and Russia.

Money is the Real Government in every country.

CAPEWARD

Close to 4000 millions dollars of American money are now invested in South and Central America.

Of this, 3150 millions are industries, the rest in government securities.

It means that tremendous Latin-American trade is in store for America. Foreign trade follows loans. Business is done 95 per cent on credition—internationally, the same as at home.

PROTESTS FORWARDED TO DOMINION SENATE AND THE GOVERNMENT

British Columbia Lumbermen Believe Canadian Nationals Are Honestly and Efficiently Managed.

VANCOUVER, June 9.—Strong protests have been forwarded to Ottawa regarding the attacks made in the Senate on the Pacific Coast management of the Canadian Government merchant marine and the Canadian National railways. The Timber Industries Council, representing the largest business interests of the province, in a resolution states that in its opinion, the western departments of the Canadian Government marine and the C.N.R. are "honestly and efficiently managed and are capable of handling any situation which may arise or develop for the benefit of business in British Columbia. The council views with regret attempts to bring the Canadian Government merchant marine and the Canadian National railways into the sphere of politics.

The British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Associations, representing thirty-eight of the lumber companies operating in British Columbia in a letter, a copy of which has been forwarded to the Prime Minister of the Dominion, also outlines the views of its members as expressed at a fully attended meeting. It was the unanimous opinion that the purchasing department of the Canadian National Railways efficiently managed in the interests of the railway and the Dominion.

I do not think it would be a difficult matter, says the secretary-treasurer of this Association, for Senator Taylor or his representatives to be allowed access to the order file of any one, or all of our member lumber mills and it would then be an easy matter to determine whether or not the C.N.R. were paying more than others for their lumber. What concerned us more than anything else was the all too evident desire to bring these services into the political arena and the unanimous opinion was that the country as a whole, but British Columbia in particular, was sensibly against this attempted procedure.

Recent investigations based on the statements of discharged employees have not given us any confidence in the result of investigations so inaugurated and I am to state that the general feeling of the lumber industry was that the general management of these services was much more capable of supervising the various departments of these services than either the Senate of Canada or the House of Commons of Canada and he also credits them with being on the alert for routing out any disadvantage which the service would be under by inefficient or incapable management.

Dealing with the Canadian Government merchant marine the British Columbia Lumber and Manufacturers emphasizes the value of the services maintained from British Columbia ports.

We wish to state unqualifiedly that the lumber industry which is the premier and most important industry in the province has been greatly benefitted through the co-operation of the Canadian Government merchant marine and various instances can be cited where orders have been secured through the instrumentality of this organization. Some of these orders were obtained at times when they were vitally necessary to the lumber industry in British Columbia which means that they were vitally necessary to the working population of this province.

Tributing to the inauguration of the Canadian Government merchant marine the lumber export sales to China and Egypt were very small, but since the Canadian Government merchant marine put on services to these countries a market has been opened up which gives an outlet for grade of lumber which in the past has been very hard to dispose of, we wish to stress the point of the competition which we run against with the United States' Shipping Board, who have inaugurated a line to New Zealand and Australia, giving monthly sailing and these sailings favour United States' shippers to secure space for parcel shipments, consequently one of the most useful features of which we call attention of the Senate of Canada to, is the amount of good that could be done by representation to the Minister of Marine of the necessity of continuing the service of this steamer to Australia, New Zealand, China, and, if possible, India.

We speak only of what we know and that is the present western management of the Canadian Government merchant marine have always been willing to co-operate in any way with the lumber industry in opening up new markets, and we desire to bring to your attention the advisability of every effort being made to not only keep the present services but extend them at any favorable opportunity.

A SUMMER CARNIVAL BY THE ROTARY CLUB

One of the biggest days of the half holidays on which entertainments will be put on in the city, will be the summmer carnival, under the auspices of the Peterborough Rotary Club, on Thursday afternoon, July 17th.

This is going to be a real big day and everybody should make it a point that the only engagements they will have will be their attendance at this great carnival.

MASONIC GATHERING

Greatest Assembly Ever held in Canada on Monday, June 17.

TORONTO, June 9. — The largest Masonic gathering ever held in Canada, will assemble at the city of Belleville, Ont., on Tuesday, June 17th, when the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario will lay the corner stone of a monument which is being erected to the U.E. Loyalists at Belleville. Besides the Grand Lodge officers, five thousand Free Masons from Canada and from the City of Rochester, N.Y., and other American cities, will participate in the ceremony.

The monument will be of a simple character to typify the humble beginnings of the U.E. Loyalists, and will consist of a representation of a log cabin mounted on a solid expansive pedestal with four seats underneath. It will be constructed of cement made from stone and clay off a farm originally settled by one of the pioneer settlers.

BAND OF RUFFIANS CAUSE EXCITEMENT

Dance Hall, Inhabited by Americans and a Few Chinese Women Was Raided by Gang.

TOKIO, June 9. — (Canadian Press.)—Beyond the expressions of regret from the prominent Japanthese, there has not yet been any tangible aftermath of Saturday evening's demonstration at the Imperial Hotel here, when a band of thirty political ruffians, raided the dance to solidify the national sentiment against the United States' exclusion act. No arrests were made, although the police say they are investigating. The Chief of Police expressed chagrin and embarrassment. It is said that the raid was made for the purpose of shaming Japanese dancers for mixing with foreigners which certain classes of Japanese have condemned for some time. One demand of the demonstrators was the expulsion of American missionaries..

Attributing their action to "public demand," owners of motion picture theatres in Tokio to-day decided to launch a boycott against the American films. After July 1st no American films will be shown in the city.

Mammoth crowds attended public memorial service yesterday at the grave in Aoyama cemetery of are unknown subject of Mikado who committed hari kari as a protest against the enactment of the United States exclusion act.

Premier Viscount Kato, recently appointed, and former Premier Takayassi sent wreaths.

LONDON COMMENT.

LONDON, June 9.—Comment of mornning papers on anti-American demonstration in Tokio Saturday night is tinctured with anxiety. The Morning Post says Americans in their immigration policy have legitimate ambition to protect their country against "peaceful invasion" which might threaten its economic stability while Japanese have legitimate grievance.

"It is one of the most difficult "problems besetting our age. It says: "It is a manifestation of a racial struggle, which, unless carefully handled, may replunge the world into bloodshed."

The Daily Mail says the situation concerns all countries who desire international amity but expresses satisfaction that relations of the two countries have not been strained. The Express urges a careful review of the immigration policy by the United States and Japanese to prevent recurrences of the demonstration.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE STORE IN THE WOODS

Over the door was a sign.

Mister Bags had a cute little store in the woods, and one day when Nancy and Nick were out hunting for wild flowers, they found it.

They had their magic shoes on, that's why. Without the help of magic, they never would have found it in a hundred years.

And even if they had found it, they never would have seen it, half hidden in the trunk of a big tree, with scarcely a sign of a door.

That's what magic does. It opens your eyes to lots of things, and when the Twins came along, it was not surprising that instead of a lot of rough bark, they saw a funny doorway with windows on each side simply stuffed with things.

Over the door was a sign which said "Mister Bags—His Store—We Sell Everything But the Toothache."

Right in the front of one of the windows was a sign which said "Boy Wanted."

"That's always the way!" declared Nancy crossly. "You would think girls were in the road. They might just as well say 'Girls not wanted,' so they might."

"Well, when he finds out that we're Twins he will take you, too," said Nick. "You're half of me—sort of."

So they opened the little door which went ting-a-ling-a-ling when they touched it, and walked right in.

And there stood a little fat man behind the counter, his glasses up over the top of his bald head and his stomach sticking away out.

"Hello!" he said jovially. "I don't have many two-legged customers in here."

"We're four legged," said Nick quickly. "I've two and Nancy's two—that's four. And we're Twins, too—if you take me you'll have to take her for she's sort of—"

"Pickles and porcupines!" cried the little fat man. "What are you talking about?"

"Why, your sign says you want a boy and we came in to see about it," said Nick.

"Pickles and porcupines!" cried Mister Bags again (his name was Mister Bags). "Is that what you little monkeys are up to? After a job, eh?" And he laughed and laughed until his tummy shook like Santa Claus', and all the tin pans on the shelves rattled.

When he had stopped shaking and the pans had stopped rattling, he went on. "Well, you both look smart, and that was a bright remark you made about legs. So I'll hire you both at ten cents a week to run errands and deliver my bundles."

"Thank you," said the Twins politely.

"Do we have to run?" asked Nancy. "Mayn't we walk sometimes?"

"Well, now, I'll tell you a secret," said Mister Bags, leaning over the counter as far as his tummy would allow. "I knew all the time that you were coming. The Fairy Queen sent those shoes to you and they led you here. I'm a fairy myself, although I look more like a Brownie, I guess. All the wood people and meadow and water folk deal with me. I keep the general store for three counties and the three of us will be kept humping. Here's a customer now."

In walked Mosey Mud Turtle.

NEW PASTOR IN BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Norman R. McLeod Assumes Ministry to Park Street Congregation

Taking his subject, "The Hour of Atonement," Rev. Norman R. McLeod, formerly of Brantford, commenced his pastorate in Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday by delivering a powerful attack against unpreparedness in one's personal life and in the home, the state and the nation. The reverend speaker's address was very interesting throughout and held the attention of the large audience that filled the church to its doors.

At the morning service he gave a striking address on "A Question Addressed to the Park Street Church," while in the evening he turned the thoughts of the congregation to a far greater thing that happens in most every one's life, in "The Hour of Atonement," when aemnds are made for the wrongs done in the walks of life. Everyone should be prepared for this happening in life.

The speaker took his subject from the 12th chapter of John, 23rd to 33rd verses, and spoke mainly on the hour in which the Son of Man was glorified. The minister said, "He that loveth his life shall loose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall live unto life eternal. The time has come when men believeth in the light of life but in the days when Jesus Christ was on earth the people did not believe and after his preachings and miracles they still were not convinced. The Hour of Atonement came to these people and they were not prepared and they perished and the same hour will come to the people of to-day and if we did not worship and believe in our Heavenly Father we will perish likewise. Walk in the light when you have light for nobody knows when darkness will come and he that walketh in the darkness knoweth not where he goeth. The light of God is the only light and it is a narrow path leads to this light. People are steadily walking off this path and into the darkness and once off they find it much harder to get back on than it was to get off. The younger generation are steadily breaking away from this wonderful path as they are not brought up in the right way. The church leads to the path of light and should be sought by the large masses of people on this earth a great deal more than it is being at the present time. Jesus spoke to the people of Bethany and told them that if they served Him and followed Him, His Father, the King of all Kings, would honour them. Jesus spoke to His Father and said, Father, save me from this hour, and a voice from Heaven said, I have glorified it and will glorify it again. The people that stood by in amazement said that it was an angel that spoke and still were not convinced. The people of to-day have read of these miracles in the scripture but still do not believe and live the life that was set for them.

Special music was rendered by the choir for the occasion, and following the service, communion was held in which a large number took part.

CARTER ON TOUR THROUGH STATES

Will Return to Mummy of King Tut in the Fall

TORONTO, June 9 (Canadian Press). — All differences between Howard Carter and the Egyptian Government are now things of the past, the famous Egyptologist, and with the late Lord Carnarvon, co-discoverer of the tomb of Tutankhamen, stated here.

Further than to say that the entire affair was now "a closed book," Mr. Carter declined to discuss the repudiated misunderstanding, which, at the time, was supposed to have halted the work on the tomb.

Work will be resumed, with Mr. Carter in charge as previously, as soon as the climatic conditions permit, probably about the end of November or the beginning of December.

The mummy of King "Tut," he said, would be lef in its tomb.

Mr. Carter, who arrived in Toronto on Saturday night, is now nearing the close of his lecture tour of the Eastern United States and Canada.

EXCURSION OPENS ON THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

The first chartered excursion under the auspices of the Canada Steamship Lines down the St. Lawrence River is scheduled for 13th June, when a party of three hundred members of the Association of Railroad and Steamboat Agents of Boston will leave Montreal on the s.s. Richelieu. This will be the first trip of the well-known de luxe steamer. It is through the courtesy of the Boston and Maine Railroad, the Rutland Railroad, the C.N.R., the Pullman Company, the Canadian Transfer Company, and especially the Canada Steamship Lines, that this trip has been made possible, states Mr. F. W. Briggs, the president of the Association. The party will arrive by special train on the morning of the 13th and the boat will leave at 9 a.m., affording the passengers a daylight trip down the mighty St. Lawrence. No stop will be made at Quebec on the way down, but the steamer will go straight through to St. Alphonse. On the return, visits will be paid to Tadousac, Murray Bay, and at Quebec luncheon will be served at the Chateau Frontenac. The visitors will have a daylight view of the Saguenay River, described by Sir Hall Caine as the "Wonderland of the World." There will be an inspection of the salmon fisheries and the hotel and also at Murray Bay, where in all probability the party will be received by ex-President Taft, whose summer house is one of the attractions at the "Newport of Canada." On reaching Montreal a dinner dance has been arranged prior to leaving for home.

EAST CITY CHILD MET TRAGIC DEATH IN FALL

Go-Cart Upset and Child's Head Struck Rusty Nail That Projected From a Board in the Ditch.

When Mrs. Thomas Anthony gave her little baby daughter a piece of bread and butter and sent her off for an afternoon ride in her go-cart, in care of her six-year-old sister, Marguerite, and then settled down to do some more sewing, one afternoon last week, she had no intuition of the fate that would send the little thing back to her arms, half an hour later, unconscious and covered with blood. The shadow of the Grim Reaper who lurked down the street, half a block away, did not extend to the little house at 472 Rogers Street, where small Regina ("Jean") Anthony waited this morning in her white coffin for the motor to come and take her away to the cemetery.

The strange pranks that Life and Death play with unsuspecting mortals were strikingly exemplified in the tragic little story of the small baby daughter of Mr. Thomas Anthony, a fruit dealer and grocer of 91 Hunter Street East. The mother put her little plump, brown baby in its go-cart last Thursday afternoon about four o'clock, and sent her off in charge of little Marguerite. Near the house is the East City drain, that unruly public service that works havoc with East City cellars in spring seasons. A wooden fence beside the walk serves as a safeguard on the eastern side for unwary feet over the deep ditch in which the drain lies. Just here, a few rods away from her home, Marguerite met a small girl friend, who playfully pushed her off the walk. The go-cart capsized into the ditch, on the western side, just at a point where a rusty three-inch nail, projecting from a small board concealed by the long grass could pierce and penetrate the baby's forehead, and make its way to the brain.

The small Marguerite pulled board and nail from her little sister's head, then rushed with the bleeding child to the mother. The little thing was taken immediately to St. Joseph's Hospital, where, some hours later, an operation was performed by Dr. F. P. McNulty. The nail, however, had penetrated to the full length of its three inches, and the baby never regained consciousness, even when its frenzied mother called to it again and again, "Jeannie mia, Jeannie mia!" On Saturday convulsions started, and about half-past seven o'clock that evening, it died. This morning, at half-past ten o'clock, in its little white silk dress, a wreath of white flowers over the small pierced head, it went away to the cemetery. While the mother wailed over the little creature, small Frankie, three years old, rushed for the broom to defend his mother, thinking that someone had hurt her, and he must help her in some way.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anthony have six remaining children: Joseph, fourteen years old; Adelina, ten years; Angeline, eight years; Mary, seven years; Marguerite, six years, and Frankie, three.

THINKS JAPANESE PRESTIGE WOUNDED

Belligerent Spirit Will Die Down in Time

Press). — That belligerent spirit which is prevailing in Japan on account of the exclusion clause in the new United States Emigration Act will soon die down, was the statement made by Admiral J. Takahashi of the Japanese Navy, and hero of the Battle of Chin Tow, who arrived here on th Whit Star-Dominionttaa here on the White Star-Dominion liner Megantic.

"Japan does not challenge the rights of other nations in making their own immigration policy, but she reminds them that other people have rights and pride," he said.

"Japan's pride and prestige have been wounded by the United States, and in the Far East prestige is a vital factor."

Mr. U. Haraishi, Judge of the Supreme Court of Japan, accompanied Admiral Takahashi on a two months' tour of Europe, and also arrived on the Megantic. He stated that Japan was ready to meet the wishes of the United States, so long as they were wishes and no open discrimination.

LOTS OF BLOOM ON FRUIT TREES

Good Prospect in South Monaghan for Bountiful Fruit Crop.

BAILIEBORO, June 9. — If an abundance of bloom is the sign of a bountiful fruit harvest South Monaghan has every prospect for a splendid crop.

The cherris, plum, pears and apple trees are very heavily ladened with bloom. The gardeners who grow strawberries claim that there is an unusually large bloom on the strawberry plant this spring. It is thought that the berry crop will be somewhat later this year on account of the cold backward spring.

On Wednesday evening about thirty-five of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thompson met at their home and presented them with many useful gifts, in honour of the fifth anniversary.

Quite an enjoyable evening was spent in games and music and lunch served by the ladies brought the happy event to a close.

SOFTBALL GAME ON SATURDAY EVENING

At Central Park on Saturday the Y.W.C.A. girls and the Westclox nine met in a soft ball game. The Y. showed old-time form and walloped the Westclox for thirty runs that won the game handily for them by the score of 30 to 14. The Y. outfit hit hard and often everything Miss Staples had to offer and in the pinches the Westclox aggregation fell down badly and had a great number of errors chalked against them. Wild throws were plentiful and need of practice was easily seen. The Y.W.C.A. also played rather ragged ball in some stages of the game. Miss Gimblett was on the mound for the Y. and pitched a nice game, but was touched for a number of hits. Her faithful receiver, Miss Cooper, picked them all off and also came through at bat with a number of hits. Miss Staples, who did the hurling for the Westclox, started off well, but soon weakened and when her team blew up the runs crossed the plate in bunches like bananas. Miss Downs was behind the plate for the Western Clock makers and put up a fine exhibition of catching. Alex. Kay umpired.

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS STANLEY HARRIS
Manager, Washington Nationals

One of the most important features of second base play is the ability to handle the ball quickly.

A majority of the plays of the infield revolve around second base.

Perhaps more ball games are lost each year through failure to complete a double play than from any other one fault.

Often such plays are lost by a step.

Failure to quickly give the ball to another player, completing the play, or inability to get the ball away quickly yourself in an effort to win the decision, tells the story.

Work constantly to speed up your handling of the ball.

Don't be a sluggard.

PROTEST THROWN OUT.

Uruguayan's Soccer Victory Over Holland Confirmed by Olympic Committee.

PARIS, June 9 (Canadian Press).—The Olympic protest jury has confirmed the victory of the Uruguayan Olympic soccer football team over Holland in the semi-finals on Friday, disallowing the protest made by the Dutch team against the referee's decision allowing the penalty kick which resulted in the winning goal.

Uruguay will meet Switzerland in the finals.

The Uruguayan team yesterday won its protest against the appointment of M. Mutters of Holland as referee. The French Olympic Committee recognised their protest, withdrew M. Mutters, and appointed M. Slawick, of France, to judge the play. The South Americans enthusiastically accepted him.

The Uruguayans, in making their representations against M. Mutters, said they did not question his impartiality, but that they felt a referee from some other country than Holland should be selected.

CRICKET NEWS

Peterborough C. C. versus De Laval C.C.

The above game was played on the Field Sports Day, Saturday, June 7th, at the Exhibition grounds, and resulted in a victory for the Peterborough eleven by 26 runs. The pitch was in good shape but the outfield was decidedly rough.

For the Peterborough Club Thorpe 20 and Langley 16 were the highest scorers, and both bowled well, Thorpe with 5 wickets for 17 runs Langley 3 for 8 runs.

FIELD DAY WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Bicycle Parade Drew Much Attention While About a Thousand Sight Seers Turned Out at Exhibition Grounds

About seventy-five boys and girls with decorated bicycles took part in the bicycle parade from Central Park to the Exhibition grounds on Saturday. The Rangers Band led the parade that startled the eyes of the large crowds that gathered along George street to see the flashily dressed bicycles of many different colours and styles. The bicycles were decorated in red, white and blue and every colour of the rainbow. Small kiddies on tricycles also stepped out with flashy decorations and carried off their prizes, which were donated by White Brothers.

Harold Wiman, of 500 Aylmer street, was the winner of a beautiful headlight for the best decorated bicycle and boy rider. Vera Gatfield of 137 Rubidge street, also won a headlamp for the best decorated bicycle and lady rider. Both these riders and their bicycles were gorgeously decorated and were no doubt worthy of their prizes, as the way in which their wheels were decorated showed that considerable time and pains had been taken before the task was finished. Another startling feature of the bicycle parade was the "float" made by Tom Griffin and his two sisters. This vehicle was composed of two bicycles with a seat fixed in between, on which one of the Griffin girls sat and tuned in on a radio while the other two did the peddaling. The contrivance was rigged with a wireless and each rider had a pair of ear phones. A waterproof cycling cape which was to have been the prize for the oldest gentleman rider was presented to Mr. Griffin. The prize for the youngest rider on a decorated bicycle was won by Graham Niven, while Alfie Pink took first prize for the best decorated tricycle.

In the two mile bicycle race, R. Evans carried off first prize, 2nd prize John Holland, 3rd prize H. Bannon.

Raymond Derrick, who wheeled in the 2 mile race, won it handily but only went as a pace maker, as he was over age and could not compete.

Boys 15 years and under, 1-2 miles bicycle race—1, B. McCartney, 2 H. Field and 3 K. McDonald.

Boys' tricycle race, 7 years and under—1 Alfie Pink, 2 John Dowson.

The Queen Mary girls carried off the honours in the relay race for girls from the Public schools. The Queen Mary team consisted of the following: Mary McCannan, Dorothy Henry, Ethel Muir and Isobel Thirdbeck. In the boys' relay race between the Collegiate Institute and the St. Peter's Separate school, the Collegians came out in front by about 20 yards. The P.C.I. team consisted of Allen Henry, Howie Young and the two Craw brothers.

TRUNKS RETURN AS ATTRACTION NEXT SATURDAY

Belleville Back Again for Week-End Game and Record Crowd Expected

KINGSTON IN CELLAR

Most of Central League Games Decided by Narrow Margins Since May 24th.

The Central Ontario League race was materially tightened up as a result of Saturday's games. The defeat of the Petes pulled Belleville up on even terms with them again, while Oshawa handed Kingston their fourth consecutive defeat, sending the Ponies down to the basement, where they are in sole possession. Here is the standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Peterboro	3	2	.600
Belleville	3	2	.600
Oshawa	3	3	.500
Kingston	2	4	.333

Games this week:

Wednesday—Oshawa at Belleville. Peterboro at Kingston.

Saturday—Kingston at Oshawa. Belleville at Peterboro.

Belleville will be back at Riverside Park again on Saturday, and the game promises to be an even more bitter battle than last week's. Whatever the result of Wednesday's games, the Saturday fixture will have the leadership at stake, and as the first half schedule is moving rapidly along, the Petes cannot afford to drop any more games at home. They are naturally peeved over the loss of Saturday's game, and are determined to even the count by bumping Oulette and company in this week's engagement. A huge crowd is a certainty. The attendance Saturday, in spite of the Field Day counter attraction, was the largest of the season, and the number of out-of-town patrons continues to increase each week, the quality of ball and the exciting nature of every game played proving an irresistible magnet.

So far in the Central League race there have been eleven games played. Six of them have been decided by the narrowest possible margin of one run, and three have been won by two runs and one by three. The only one-sided score so far was the Belleville-Oshawa game on May 24, which was played on a muddy field with a gale blowing. The race is the closest in the history of the League, and the teams most evenly matched. The Petes, for example, have won two games by one run and one by two, and have been beaten by two runs and one.

Cook, the former Woodstock player, made an impressive Central League debut on Saturday as a pinch hitter. His single when he batted for Hall in the ninth was a clean line drive over Meagher's head.

Batten, who performed at shortstop Saturday, because a right-handed pitcher was working for Belleville, sprained his ankle going into second in the fourth inning, and will be out of the game for two weeks. Holyman finished the game at short.

Red Legon, who just got out of the hospital at noon Saturday, kept up his consistent hitting. "Red" hurt his thumb in the game against Oshawa and it became infected after the Kingston fixture, necessitating hospital treatment. The sore thumb did not interfere with his stick-work Saturday, however, and he is leading the Petes in batting and the League in run-getting.

Despite their win on Saturday, Belleville do not look as formidable as last year, and if Peeny Mills has permanently quit the club, as was intimated on Saturday, the Trunks will have a hard time winning out. Oulette is being given the whole pitching burden to handle, and Williams is missed. So is Brownscombe, who helped to beat the Petes more than once last year. Young Weir, who replaced him, is a neat fielder, but his hitting will be very light. However, the Belleville crew have the same old habit of bunching a flock of hits in one inning, and any team that does that is always dangerous.

The Petes pay another visit to Kingston on Wednesday, their last appearance in the Limestone City during the first half.

CANADA IS PROUD OF HER ATHLETES

Phillip Granville of the Hamilton "Y" Walked 10,000 Meters on Saturday.

TORONTO, June 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Those to whom is entrusted the task of watching over the destinies of track and field athletics in Canada have reason to feel satisfied with the Ontario Olympic trials held at University of Toronto stadium Saturday afternoon. Not only because of the fact that several of those in competition gave promise of earning a place on the Canadian Olympic team, but more particularly because the majority of competitors even though showing of great number was mediocre, are young athletes who have every reason to expect will improve greatly within the next couple of years, is their cause of satisfaction.

As a result of their showing on Saturday thirteen athletes will be sent to the training camp at Montreal and given a chance to earn a place on the Canadian Olympic team at the final trials to be held at Molson stadium in Montreal.

The expenses of the thirteen named will be borne by the Amateur union and clubs which the athletes represent.

Others may make the trip at their own expense. Those selected are: Anthony Vince, University of Toronto and Broadview "Y," sprints; Eddie Rae, Hamilton "Y," middle distance; Irvine Francis, U. of T. and Victor Pickard, Hamilton C.I., pole vault; Rolph Barnes, Hamilton, C.I., mile; H. P. Gorman, London East A. C., sprints; William Wanless and Ken Hunter, London East A.C., 400 meters; Alan Christie and Horace Aylyn, Hamilton C. I., 400 meters; Phillip Granville, Hamilton "Y" and Jake Freeman, Toronto Central "Y," walk; Jack Histed, Hamilton "Y," jumps.

In beating Freeman of the Central "Y" in the 10,000 meter walk, Granville covered the distance in 48 minutes, 13 2-5 seconds, only seven seconds slower than the world record for this event.

BANK CASE WILL NOT BE DELAYED

Death of Herbert Daly Will Not Stay Enquiry

TORONTO, June 9 The death of Herbert J. Daly will not stay the investigation or the prosecution of the Home Bank case, stated Attorney General Nickle to-day.

It will not be necessary to alter the indictments.

An X-ray examination made about a month ago revealed stomach trouble which had not been located by the doctors on the previous examinations.

Two weeks ago Mr. Daly was taken to his summer home at Lake Simcoe in the hope that a change would expediate his recovery.

Instead of improving he steadily became worse and he was rushed back to Toronto.

Several doctors consulted on his condition and it was decided that an operation would have to be performed in the near future.

Late last night it was realized he would not recover and at two o'clock this morning the family were called to his bedside. Mr. Daly died three hours later.

WELDON ILL TO-DAY.

T. E. Weldon, the liquidator of the Home Bank, with G. T. Clarkson, was unable to come to Toronto this morning. He is confined to the Lindsay hospital from a hemmorage from the nose.

WRIT SERVED ON COUNTY COUNCIL

Result of Accident on Provincial Highway a Few Days Ago.

LINDSAY, June 9. — Victoria County Council has been served with a writ for damages as the result of a serious accident which occurred on a County-Provincial highway a few days ago.

It appears that four young people of Mariposa township, Misses Clara Dillman, Gertrude Glenny and Messrs. Innes and McTaggart were proceeding along the highway in a buggy, and when near the Cat-tail bridge, east of Little Britain, the vehicle with the occupants were upset into the deep ditch.

The horse became frightened at some lumber and shied violently.

The young men not being able to get the hores disentangled until the buggy das destroyed.

Miss Glenney suffered from severe cuts and bruises, and Miss Dillman is suffering from a displaced hip, a wheel passing over her body. She is still in a critical condition.

SUZANNE AT WIMBLEDON.

LONDON, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Suzanne Lenglen, world's woman tennis champion, is to play in both the women's singles and doubles in the Wimbledon tournament.

This fact became known last night when a telegram was received from the French girl announcing her entry in both competitions.

In the doubles she will play with Miss Elizabeth Ryan.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

POLA IN GREAT STORY OF PARIS LOVE. AT HER BEST!

Pola Negri's latest starring picture for Paramount, "Men," proves that a story may be a great tragedy and yet end happily.

The picture was produced by Dimitri Buchowetzki, who was brought to this country from Europe for the purpose, from his own original story.

"Men" dramatizes the heartless persecutions which countless women suffer at the hands of the stronger sex. It also presents the retaliatory measures which women sometimes adopt in their battle against life.

"Cleo," the role which Pola Negri creates in "Men," is the cumulative effect of the many magnificent characters she has played since she first flashed, meteor-like, across the world's dramatic sky.

A waitress in a cheap restaurant of a French port, Cleo keeps a watchful eye upon her father, a decrepit musician who provides music for the guests. One night a handsome stranger attracts her attention, and for the first time the young girl experiences the emotion of love.

The Stranger bribes Francois, a penniless ancient who is on intimate terms with Cleo's father, to persuade the girl to go to Paris. There she is promised a career as a dancer. By a pre-arranged accident, the Stranger appears on the same train by which Cleo and Francois go to Paris. The love interest in the Stranger ripens in Cleo's heart. In Paris, Francois receives his money and disappears, leaving Cleo alone.

Frightened, Cleo accepts the Stranger's offer to take her to his sister's home where she is introduced to an elderly roue, but the sister is not in evidence. The Stranger dines luxuriantly, fills his pockets with cigars and leaves by the front door, vanishing out of Cleo's life forever.

The following morning, Cleo, carrying in her lustreless eyes the despairing expression of a lost soul, emerges from the house to which she was lured and wanders away, too stunned to care what becomes of her..

Years elapse and we find the girl has become the most famous dancer in France. Her brilliance and her beauty are universally admired. Many men contend for her favors, but she is known as a woman who takes all and gives nothing. Finally, in a mood of desperate cynicism, she offers to auction herself away to the highest bidder. A wild scene follows in which some of the world's greatest fortunes are pitted against each other.

Sold by her own will to the richest of her suitors, she realizes when it is too late that she really cares for another. The battle between the man who won her with his money and the man who won her heart is a struggle which gives wide range for Pola Negri's superb art.

The picture, which begins at the Capitol To-day for three days, is splendidly cast, with Robert Frazer playing opposite the star, and directed with the skill which made Buchowetzki famous in Europe.

HARRY CAREY HAS A THRILLING ROLE

"The Lightning Rider" Gives Him Opportunity to Show His Versatility.

"The Lightning Rider," which the Royal Theatre is showing now, gives Harry Carey a splendid opportunity to show how versatile he is, because he has a dual characterization. By day, before the villagers, he is "slow Phil Morgan," who finds all his excitement in whittling dolls for children, but at night he becomes the fearless man of action, scouring the country to find the Black Mask, the bandit who is the bane of the countryside.

To draw the fire of the outlaw, Phil dresses like him. He makes love to his lady fair in the interesting garb, and, when the lady's father is murdered, Phil finds himself in rather a tight hole. It is this and other situations as thrilling that make "The Lightning Rider" first-rate entertainment. The suspense is sustained throughout and there is plenty of rapid-fire action.

Unlike the usual "Western," "The Lightning Rider" has vivid interiors as well as beautiful exterior shots. The photoplay throughout is excellent.

Virginia Brown Faire, a dark beauty of the Spanish type is a most alluring leading lady. Others in Carey's supporting cast are Thomas G. Lingham as the sheriff, Leon Barry as the real Black Mask, Frances Ross as his associate, and Mme. Sul Le Wan and Bert Hadley. "The Lightning Rides" is directed by Lloyd Ingraham. It's a mighty interesting picture.

100,000 FILM FOR ROYAL —INCE PAYS THAT AMOUNT FOR SCREEN RIGHTS OF "ANNA CHRISTIE"—THURSDAY

Fortnight Spent Filming Special Sea Scenes for "Anna Christie."

A shipwreck was staged so realistically in the San Francisco Harbor, where the Ince Company recently spent a fortnight filming special sea scenes for Thomas H. Ince's "Anna Christie," that the lifesaving station mistook the activity for a signal of distress and quickly sent two big life-boats to the rescue.

During a dense fog, in which a steamer is wrecked in the collision with a derelict barge, "Matt Burke," played by William Russell, and several other stokers on the big ship, escape drowning by pushing off in a rowboat. They are later picked up by a coal barge belonging to "old Chris," the father of "Anna," around whom the powerful story dramatically unfolds.

As Russell lowered the remaining small boat, spectators began to gather on the shore. When the three men made the jump for the boat before the waves carried it beyond their reach, there was a terrified shout from the people on land. One of the men had missed the side of the boat and disappeared in the water. An alarm was quickly sent in by someone in the crowd and a few minutes later two lifeboats hit the waves in "high" and headed for the drifting men.

Director John Griffith Wray sent up an agonized wail from the raft where the cameras were grinding, but the rescue boats had already "hogged", the scene and the "punch" of two hundred feet of film showing the three men fighting an angry sea was lost. Before the scene was reshot, Director Wray warned all the life saving stations and "Good Samaritans" within a radius of ten miles around the harbor to ignore any frantic S.O.S. that might come from the motion picture "set" in the bay.

The footage finally obtained carries thrills warranted to shiver the most blase spine. "Anna Christie," a First National release, will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Thursday.

AT THE REGENT

VITAL DOMESTIC PROBLEM IS PRESENTED IN "DOES IT PAY?"

New William Fox Production Throws Interesting Light on Penalty Paid by Married Men Who Yield to the Wiles of "Gold Diggers" and Relinquish Marital Security for False Love.

Powerful in theme, "Does It Pay?", the Fox Corporation's special which comes to the Regent Theatre for three days throws new and interesting light on the price the transgressor pays for his breaking of the moral law. The story has the sharp clash of character that is the foundation of all real drama. It also calls for the employment of rich and impressive settings and actors of the highest grade.

The domestic problem referred to by the title, "Does It Pay?" is one that strongly affects the happiness of modern life. John Weston is living happily with his wife and children when his wife brings another woman into the home as a companion for her and their daughter Alice. One of the leading citizens of a small town in Connecticut, he respected but did not love his wife when he married her.

The companion arrives, and turns out to be a regular "gold-digger." Weston becomes infatuated with her, and she makes up her mind to oust the present Mrs. Weston and take her place as her employer's wife. Her scheme proves successful. Weston divorces the mother of his children and marries the "gold-digger."

At her suggestion they move to New York. An expensive aparment and the extravagance of his wife, who, with the help of her mother, invents all sorts of schemes to get him to write her out checks, does not open Weston's eyes to her true character. Later he discovers that she is carrying on an affair with her music teacher. Charged with it she turns on him and calls him a fool for not knowing that she married him solely for his money. The effect of this is to completely upset his wits. He is taken to an asylum. Broken in health, he is finally released and brought back to his old home. Here he meets his former wife and his children. The loyalty and love of Alice restores his reason and the once happy family is reunited.

This William Fox special, so truthfully depicting a prominent phase of modern life which is the cause of much unhappiness, has been produced with every aid to its artistic and financial success. Directed by Charles Horan its scenes range from the calm domesticity of a Connecticut village to the hectic existence of the fast set in the metropolis.

The cast is a notable one. Hope Hampton, for the past three years at the head of her own picture company, has been especially engaged for the part of the "gold-digger." As Doris Clark she has every opportunity to wear several of the elaborate gowns for which she is famous. The character of John Weston is in the capable hands of Robert T. Haines, who was last seen on Broadway as the leading support of Marjorie Rambeau in "The Goldfish."

Cobourg C.N.R. Wrest 12-Inning Game from Raybestos. Leafs Lose Two

COBOURG RAILROADERS SNATCH HOT VICTORY FROM RAYBESTOS IN LAST SECONDS OF TWELFTH

Three Low Batters In C. N. R. Line-up Deliver The Goods At Right Moment.

JINX FOLLOWS LOCALS

Score Tied Three Times And Then Ended 11 To 10.

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 9.—Old Man Jinx was hot on the trail of the Raybestos outfit Saturday and after losing a heart-breaking twelve inning struggle to Cobourg C.N.R. by the breaks of the game they came in for all sorts of car trouble on the way home and the last of them arrived in town at 2.00 a.m. Sunday morning.

After tying the score three times and going into the lead twice the Brakemakers lost out in the twelfth when the three low men of the C.N. R. batting order came through with successive hits to score the tying and winning runs.

The visitors opened the scoring in the first session on a single, a double and a sacrfice. The C.N.R. raised them one with a double, a walw and a single. The Brakemakers evened the count in the second on a single, a stolen base and an error. In the third they drove Landymore from the mound with Nichols' triple, Corrin's double and Coursey's single. Derry took up the burden and retired the next three batsmen. The railroaders went into the lead again in their half when they got to Duggan for four hits and three runs. The Raybestos got one back in the fourth on Pidgeon's single, a neat sacrifice by Butcher and a double by Nichols. The Cobourg team went up one in their half when Bowen doubled and Butler single. The scored was evened again at 6 all in the fifth when Coursey and Duggan singled and Skitch missed Rogers' roller. The railroaders went ahead again in the sixth when a single, a walk and a dropped fly yielded three easy runs after two were down. In the next frame Duggan got one back when he tripled to deep right centre and Bowen let Butlers' throw to third go to the stands.

Butcher Tied.

Butcher drove in the tying runs in the ninth when he hit for three bases with two men on. The first two overtime innings were scoreless, both teams leaving runners stranded. In the twelfth inning after Butcher and Lundy had struck at the evening breeze, Nichols, Corrin and Coursey came through wit successive singles to put the Raybestos one up. Duggan's arm had gone back on him so Delehaye was sent in to hold the slender lead. The Lakeshore boys were not to be denied and O'Grady singled, stole second and scored on Rolling's single. Rollings went to second on the throw-in and scored on Bowen's double with the winning run.

The Cobourg management has been having hard luck in getting efficient umpires. Saturday, Umpire Duncan called a runner out although Markey dropped the ball and rolled it around before picking it up. When Rogers who was coaching said, "He dropped the ball' the umps threatened to punch his jaw if he didn't go to the bench. This greatly angered the Raybestos team and Manager Miller threatened to leave the field if the offence were repeated.

Agnes Geraghty Sets New Record

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N.Y. une 9.—(Canadian Press).—Establishing a new American breast stroke record for 200 yards, Miss Agnes Geraghty, of the Women's Swimming Association, New York, Saturday was the star of the first day's events in the women's final Olympic swimming tryouts.

Miss Geraghty set a new 50 foot pool mark of 3 mins., 33 25 seconds, in a preliminary heat, shattering her own record of 3:37 3-5 made last February at Miami, Fla. She won the final heat in two-fifths of a second slower time.

Rivalling Miss Geraghty's performance was the feat of a 13-year old girl, Matila Shurich, also of the Women's Swimming Association, who won another heat of the same event in 3:36 3-5, which also bettered the former record.

GIRLS STAGED A BIG BATTLE

C.G.E. Won At Exhibition Grounds 19 To 13—Pleased The Fans.

HITS WERE NUMEROUS

The Canadian General Electric Girls' Soft Ball team defeated the Thistles on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds by the score of 19 to 13. The game was a battle between two heavy hitting teams, the huskier aggregation winning out. Both teams showed lots of pep but the heavy hitting of both made the score very large. This Thistles who were composed of a much smaller bunch of girls put up a game battle and were always dangerous. They fielded their positions nicely and were right there when it came to wal loping the old apple. A couple of balls that got away from the thistles in the earlier stages of the game were costly while in the remainder of the contest the C.G.E. batted the ball all over the lot.

Alex. Kay did the umpiring and made a proper job of it. He got every thing and made it a real game for the fans. The teams lined up as follows:

C.G.E.—Miss Taylor 1b; Miss McCarthy rf; Miss Mortimer c; Miss Hayes, 2b; Miss Blondon lf; Miss Burns rf; Miss Nixon p; Miss White ss; Miss McLaren 3b; Miss Bolam ss

Thistles—Miss French lf; Miss Deyell, 1b; Miss Evans ss; Miss B. Vincent p; Miss Abbott ss; Miss Bearne 2b; Miss Janeway 3b; Miss Constable c; Miss A. Vincent cf; Miss Hunter rf.

Burns Won Easy Bout on Points From McEwan

Plans to Build Thousand Homes To Relieve Shortage.

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Carrying the fight to his opponent all the way, Tommy Burns, of Detroit, scored an easy victory over Tex McEwan, of Philadelphia, and formerly of this city, in a ten-round affair here on Saturday night.

At no time did the former Ottawa boy look like a winner, but he took a very bad beating in a game manner, and was given an ovation at the end. He took counts of nine in the first and third, but came back for more, and in the eighth seemed to rally, but it was short-lived, and Burns obviously refrained from knocking him out in the tenth.

Burns, a former Winnipeg boy, weighed 166 pounds and McEwan 171 pounds.

The management announced that winner (Burns) would be matched with W. L. (Young) Stribling, the Georgia schoolboy, here at an early date.

In the preliminaries Dennis Crichelow (coloured), Ottawa won the decision over Charles McCarthy, of Montreal, ex-champion lightweight of the American Army, in a listless eight-round bout.

Percy Dubois, Ottawa, ex-amateur featherweight champion of Canada, outpointed Young Corneau, Hull, in six rounds.

Lou E. Marsh, Toronto, refereed the bouts.

WOOLLENS LOST TO THE QUAKERS

Eliminated In Good Game From Phelan Charity Cup Ties.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 1

The Quakers and Canadian Woollens played their first round of the Phelan Charity Cup Tie on Saturday afternoon at the Oval in very strong, windy weather. Play was even throughout the entire game and the Quakers gained the verdict over the Woollens in a fast game by two goals to one. The following players lined up in the teams:

Woollens—Hillman, goal; Chambers and Perry, backs; Read, Monkman and Sawyers, half-backs; Warde, Wyllie, Mitchell, Roberts and T. Jones, forwards.

Quakers— Pellow, goal; Honor and J. Willshaw, backs; J. Logan, Metcalfe and Butler, half-backs; Meyette, Craig, G. Logan, Wilson and R. Willshaw, forwards.

Refree—J. C. Russell.

The Play.

The Woollens were first to move or with any definite purpose and Honor had to clear a low centre from Warde in early stages of the game. Individual efforts were made to penetrate the steady defence of each team and nice play was witnessed between the forwards and defense half-backs as they made new departures from the usual to get within shooting range., which compelled them to have long shot for goal that did not add to the scoring list. There was nothing of importance in the first half, which ended with no scoring.

Half Time.

On resuming, the Woollens added pressure upon the Quakers' defense to gain the opening goal from a wellplaced centre from Warde to Mitchell, who made no mistake with his shot. A few minutes later, Tommy Craig in one of his characteristic efforts evened up the score. Each goalkeeper was called upon to make clever saves from the forwards on solo raids. Chambers was injured again for the second time, and during his absence Craig scored the winning goal of the game. The Woollens were overshadowed during the last thirty minutes and Quakers deserved to win by the two gols to one.

Goal scorers—Craig, Quakers, 2; Woollens, Mitchell, 1.

ROSENEATH AT CAMPBELLFORD

Campbellford Keeps Up Losing Streak But Hopes to Turn the Corner Before Season is Over.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9. — Campbellford has now tried conclusions with every team in the League except Hastings and has lost all of the four games played their latest defeat being recorded Saturday when Roseneath won here. But the supporters of the team are not discouraged. It is still early in the season and the jinx will be routed before the year is much older. Campbellford last year dropped the first five games played and then pulled itself together and finished second among the eight Northumberland teams in the league.

The team has not yet struck the stride of last year and the want of an experienced pitcher has been keenly felt but now that difficulty has been apparently overcome. Hutton and reporttow kh· rdyeV bz bb bbb Scott who started the season are both suffering from injuries met with outside of the game. Brody, who more perhaps, than any other man on the team, brought Campbellford to the front last year, has left town and this left the team in a hole as he was expected to do better box work than ever.

But two promising pitchers have been secured. Foyser who pitched against Roseneath aSturday for seven innings, proved reliable in pinches, cool at all stages and a perfect master of all the rules of the game. It was his first appearance this season and in the seventh inning he showed signs of the strains and was hit freely, Eagleson took his place and the heavy hitting Roseneaths were able to get only one scratch hit off him in the two innings, Shearer being the lucky man.

Tom O'Connor, a well known resident who has a good amateur record in baseball who was in Toronto last winter studying dentistry, has been secured. He is a good pitcher and all round player.

For each of the four games dropped this season Campbellford has lost every one of them by balloon ascension in a single inning. The game should really have been won by them on Saturday but all the freaks were against them. In one inning, Hume, one of the most cool headed and reliable of the old guard made a mistake in judgment that cost the team dearly. With two men out and the bases, a fact that had evidently escaped his attention, Hume stopped a grounder and insead of throwing to first to catch the runner shot the ball to the plate. The man from third reached home and more runs were scored after the side should have been retired on an easy out.

A Day of Accidnts

In the third inning Moore, the big center fielder for Roseneath sent a fly to Weston who to make the catch had to stand on the line from the home plate to stand on the line from home plate to first. Moore ran with him—by accident it was generally conceded, and Weston was injured in the collision. After first aid from his teammates resumed his position but was obliged to have a substitute to run bases for him. In the fifth inning Weston missed a high throw from Nesbitt on third who handled a hit grounder from Davey. Before his injury Weston could have got the ball easily. This would have retired the side and four runs would have been topped off the visitors score.

When Rosencath went to bat in the sixth, Weston went to centre field and Shillinglaw took his place at first. If the former thought he would have a chance to rest in the outfield he got no fewer than six chances and accepted them all, several of his catches being made after hard runs. Three hits, after his accident, was his record at bat.

Take 2 Roseneath

Thackeray, catcher for Roseneath, in attempting to get a foul fly, ran into the crowd and collided with a youth who stood behind the players' bench. It required the services of a physician to revive the catcher, but the boy, who was floored as though a freight train had struck him, was able to lose himself in the crowd.

A Team Hard to Beat.

The team that beats Roseneath this year will have to go some. They have won three of the four games played and this gives them a percentage of .750 and second place in the league, Colborne being first. Colborne and Roseneath will play on the latter's grounds Wednesday and if Roseneath win the teams will be tied for first place.

The team that Roseneath put in the field Saturday was very strong at every point. All were good hitters as the record shows, the two players who are not credited with safeties making sacrifices that meant runs. They are gentlemanly and true sports, whether they win or lose. Davey, the young second baseman, who teaches school in private life, and whose father, another teacher, is the official scorer for the team, is second to none as a guardian of his corner. Six outs and five assists was his record Saturday. Another professional man on the visiting team is Dr. Armstrong, left fielder, who received his high school education in Campbellford and played his first baseball here. Luck was against him on Saturday. In five times up he landed on the ball every time but never once managed to place it safely.

When Macklin, Roseneath's umpire, officiates, the opposing team is always certain of a square deal.

When Campbellford went to bat in the last inning the score was 11-1 and the Roseneath manager appeared to believe he had the game on ice. He sent in Dunnett to relieve Leach, the latter not having been given a chance to warm up. When Campbellford, making one of its last inning rallies, for which the team was famous last year, had piled up four runs and was still going strong, Dunnett was taken out and Leach finished what he had so well carried on from the start.

The batting honors of the day went to Holmes, who made two doubles. Armour made a double in the third and the Thackeray brothers one each. The score:

COLLEGIANS SEW UP THEIR ROUND

Cobourg Won At Home On Saturday By 5 To 4.

A SNAPPY GAME

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 9.—A brace of three runs in the final innings won Cobourg Collegiate a 5 to 4 victory over the Peterborough Collegiate nine, who attacked the Lakeshore lads on their Horse Show grounds on Saturday. This triumph for the Cobourg school ties up the round of home and home games, the locals having won at Riverside on June 3.

Jack Baird's work at the hot corner for the visitors stood out. He made a sensational one-handed grab of Gibson's clout and accepted two other chances faultlessly.

The Petes did not get their batting eye until the fourth innings and during the first three innings only ten of them faced "Gubby" Gibson, the Cobourg pitcher, and six of those struck out and only two hits were netted. In the fourth however, they cut loose and hit his offerings for three extra base hits and three runs. In the fifth they increased their lead four when Cheu got on with a clean single and scored on Wood's double. The Cobourg school, who had been grounding out in order to the P.C.I. infield up till then, broke into the scoring in the fifth with two runs, the second of which by all appearances, was cut cold at the plate by Baker. In the sixth the P.C.I. did nothing. Cobourg won the game in their half of the frame when Rollings, first up, cracked out a double, and another double by Cameron came at the opportune time to send across Rollins and Shelton, who was safe at first when Woods failed to touch the sack. Cameron scored on an overthrow. Peterborough nearly rescued the game in the seventh, for they got two hits in a row, one a double, and a man reached third, but a bonehead cut their chances short. ROTARIANS AND KIWANIS TIED

Score Was 4-4 At End Of Three Innings In Field — Day Clash.

PROGRAM CUT GAME

Good pitching by "Doc" Green of the Kiwanis nine kept the heavy hitting Rotarians from piling up a big lead in Saturday's fixture at the Exhibition Grounds. The game went three and one half innings and at the end of this time the score stood, 6 to 4 in favour of the Rotarians, but on account of the Kiwanis not having their last pokes the score was reverted back to the end of the third inning when the score stood 4 to 4. Greene had speed to burn and whiffed 10 of his opponents in great style, while his team mates behind him succeeded in having two put outs, and three errors. DeGraw who was on the mound for the Rotarians also had plenty of speed and turned in a nice game. He struck out 4 men. He also led his team in batting when he scored three of his team runs and netted two nice hits. Chris Graham also clouted the pill for two hits in three trips to the plate.

Account of the Kiwanis not getting their half of the fourth.

Grand Trunks Even Up With Petes. C.G.E. Trounce Cobourg

PETES FAIL TO OVERCOME BAD START AND ARE BEATEN BY BELLEVILLE 6-5 OLD RIVALS ARE AGAIN TIED IN RACE

Grand Trunks Scored Four Runs In First Inning On Five Hits, An Error and Passed Ball--Petes Fought Up Hill All the Way But Could Not Wipe Out the Opening Setback.

Swanston's Bat Busy.

Those pesky Belleville Grand Trunks, always a tough proposition for the Petes to overcome, blew into town Saturday and once more kicked over the old dope pail by beating Peterborough 6 to 5 at Riverside Park, thanks to a bad defensive start by the home talent, which their fighting finish failed to overcome.

Thus instead of the Solomon crew tightening their hold on first place they are once more sharing the top shelf with the Belleville gang, while Oshawa, triumphing over Kingston, are close on the heels of the leaders.

It is a merry old race.

Saturday's defeat was unexpected.

With Heckman ready to shoot in at the invaders after a week's rest, the Petes' chances of victory were considered excellent.

But there is nothing more uncertain than a ball game.

The Petes' right-hander had nothing on the ball in the first inning, Johnston let the first batter on by missing an easy roller, and after Weir had sacrificed Williams Harry Mills, Hagerman and Meagher singled and Casey doubled, all in a row.

The net result was four big runs.

Gift of Two More.

Even that bad start wouldn't have beaten the Petes, however—for they are a battling crew this year and never throw up their hands until the last man is out—if it hadn't been for a lapse on the part of Third Baseman Helson, who misjudged one fly and dropped another in the fourth, and two runs eventuated, thanks to a single and an unsuccessful attempt to break up a double steal.

That left the visitors in front 6 to 1 at the end of their half of the fourth, and although the Petes' defence was flawless thereafter and only two of the visitors reached first base in the last five innings, the old game had been settled.

Casey Prevented Tie.

The Petes fought it out until the last ditch, were robbed of a tie score in the eighth by a beautiful catch by Casey that cut off two runs, and the tieing run was on its way to the plate in the ninth when the same player grabbed Heckman's long fly to right for the third out.

It looked as if Heckman was not sufficiently warmed up before the game, for after the first inning he allowed the visitors but four singles and would not have been scored upon again had it not been for the unlucky fourth. The invaders never threatened after that frame, while the Petes were on the runways in every inning save the second and sixth.

Oulette Used Curve.

Oulette did the gunning for the visitors and his curve ball was working nicely. Johnny's usual dialect when talking to the batters is a fast ball that whistles past them, but on Saturday he placed more reliance upon his hook, and outside of Swanston and Legon the home hitters did not have much success in solving his delivery. Swanston had two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate and Legon got two singles in the same number of appearances. Helson had no trouble in connecting, but was out of luck all the way, hitting three right on the nose, but for outs. Oulette was very lucky in this respect, for Legon and Heckman also hit terrific drives that were right at somebody, Heckman's knocking Meagher out, the second baseman collapsing after he had made the throw to first.

Features of the game were Casey's great catch in the eighth when he tore over toward centre and grabbed Helson's hard hit liner on the dead run, Swanston's timely hitting and the work of Harrison at first base. "Hap" handled sixteen chances in big league style.

A Bad Start.

The doings in the first inning make a dark story. Ross, first up, dribbled a roller at Johnston, which trickled through the second baseman. Vernon Weir laid down a sacrifice bunt, neatly fielded by Swanston, and Ross was on second. Only for a moment, however for Williams cracked one on a line near second, scoring his team mate. Harry Mills rolled a single into right field, sending Williams to third, and stole second on the first ball. Hagerman nearly tore a leg off Batten with his single which carromed off into the centre field, Williams and Mills romping home. Heckman intercepted Hall's toss to the plate, and threw to Johnston in time to nail Hagerman going into second. That made two out but the circling of the bases was not over yet. Meagher kept up the fusilade by singling to right and a passed ball put him on second. Then Babe Casey, one of the Belleville heroes of the day, shot a near double over third base, on which Meagher sprinted home with the fourth run of the inning. A. Weir, the ex-bat boy, who is now a regular, helped materially by striking out and ending the disastrous frame.

Attack Checked.

The Petes started to work on Oulette as if that four-run lead was gone to be wiped out in no time. Red Legon opened the attack by singling sharply to left, and Johnston, pastmaster in sacrifice hitting, bunted him to second. Swanston slashed a single between short and third and the Petes had one run back. Then Oulette got his curve working and disposed of Heckman and Collins on strikes.

It was a different story in the second. Swanston tossed out Oulette to start with. Ross rolled to Johnston and was out by a step at first, and V. Weir bounced one to Heckman for an easy out.

In the homesters' half, Harrison fanned, Batten was thrown out by Meagher, and Helson cracked one into Williams' hands.

The third was equally unfruitful, so far as runs were concerned. Williams' roller to Heckman snuffed the batter out at first. Harrison made a nice catch of Mills' high foul, and Batten took Hagerman's bounder and tossed him out.

Hall fanned to open the Petes' half and Legon flied to Casey. Johnston singled past Meagher, but was forced at second when Swanston rolled to Williams.

Trouble in Fourth.

The fourth frame was another blue one for the Petes. It opened harmlessly enough when Meagher lifted a fly to Hall in centre. Then came trouble. Casey popped up to Helson who dropped the ball. Then A. Weir's fly, which started foul, was blown into fair territory, was misjudged by Helson and dropped untouched behind third for a cheap hit. The result was two runs after the side should have been retired, for Oulette tapped a roller past the box for a single, his first of the year, to send Casey home, and after Ross had rolled one to Johnston who tossed A. Weir out at the plate, Swanston's throw to second to stop Ross' sacrifice, was low and wide, and Oulette registered. Weir rolled to Heckman for the third out.

The Petes got one back and with any luck might have decreased the margin by more than that. Heckman opened with a terrific drive, which struck in front of Meagher, the ball bounding and striking the Belleville second baseman in the stomach. He managed to toss the runner out and then took the count, play being delayed for a few minutes until he recovered. Collins fanned but Harrison drew a walk, stole second, and scored when Batten slashed a single to right which Meagher only succeeded in knocking down. Batten stole second but sprained his ankle going into the bag and had to retire. Johnston running for him as Belleville's selection. Helson's high fly to Mills ended the inning.

For the balance of the game Belleville did not seriously threaten.

Williams' first up in the fifth rolled to Holyman, who had replaced Batten at short. Mills grounded to Harrison, and Hagerman hit to Helson, Harrison making a fine play on a low wide throw.

Double Steal Worked.

The Petes lost a beautiful chance. Hall got free transportation, and Legon drawing Williams in for a bunt crossed him up by passing a fast one by him for a single. Hall and Legon pulled off a double steal as Johnston fanned but Swanston flied to Ross, the running failing to advance, and Heckman lifted a long fly to A. Weir.

In the sixth, Meagher rolled to Johnston, Casey singled to right and went to second on a wild pitch. A Weir and Oulette struck out.

For the Petes Collins grounded to Mills, Harrison bounded to the box and Holyman fanned.

Ross opened the seventh by beating out a hit to short but was forced at second. Heckman to Johnston on Weir's bunt. Johnston then took William's high fly and grabbed Mill's roller to retire the batter at first.

One for the Book.

There was excitement in the homesters' half owing to an unusual incident. After Helson had lined into Mills' hands, Hall struck out. Hagerman apparently caught the third strike, but when he made the customary toss to first base his throw was bad. Hall ran down to first and was called safe, and there was much indignation in the Belleville camp. Hagerman put on a storm scene, assisted by Meagher, and the former and Manager Solomon nearly came to blows. The net result of all this agitation was that Hall remained on first, Umps. Hallinan declaring that Hagerman had not caught the third strike. Legon met one on the nose, but A. Weir made a nice catch to retire the side.

In the eighth Holyman threw out, Hagerman and Meagher flied to Legon, and Swanston made a fast play on Casey's roller.

The Petes made a big bid for victory and nearly succeeded. Meagher made a fine stop of a hard hit ball from Johnston, but tossed over Mills head, the runner reaching second. Swanston doubled to centre, Johnston being held at third. Heckman rolled one to Weir, who threw high to first, Johnston and Swanston scoring. Collins drew a walk. Harrison fanned and Holyman hit to Weir, who fumbled, but recovered in time to free Heckman at third. Helson pounded what looked to be a sure double to right centre, but Casey sprinting desperately reached and held the ball—a beautiful catch. Had the drive got away the game would have been tied then and there.

A Weir, first up in the ninth, grounded to Helson; Oulette struck out and Ross flied to Legon.

Manager Solomon called upon some of his reserves in this frame. Cook was sent in to bat for Hall and responded with a slashing single into right centre. Shaughnessy was put in to run for him but was forced at second on Legon's roller to Weir. Johnston hit to Mills, and was out at first, Legon going to second. Swanston cracked a beautiful double double over Ross' head to score Legon, and the tieing run was on second. Heckman, however, lofted a long high fly to Casey, and it was all over.

"MICK" MURRAY CLOUTED HOMER

Kingston Lost At Oshawa In Borrowed Plumes—Gallagher Had Edge On Dainty.

LEFT UNIFORMS BEHIND

OSHAWA, June 9 (Special to The Examiner). — Manager Daley and his Kingston ball team came into Oshawa on Saturday minus their outfit and had to borrow the necessary equipment from the locals to start the game when Umpires Sullivan and Allan pulled the watch for the game to begin.

Two left-handers started on the slab, Gallagher for Kingston and Dainty for Oshawa, and the former had a slight edge on the local boy, but the motor crew hit when the punch was needed, and with Mickey Murray clouting out a homer with one on in the fifth, they took the lead, never to be headed, and winning by 5 to 2.

Kingston got men on in every frame up to the fifth, but all were left stranded, but chased one across in that innings when Purvis hit for two bases and he scored in two sacrifice flies to centre field.

They were blanked in the sixth, but put their last over in the seventh, with Purvis again being the one to cross the pan as the result of his single, a sacrifice, and a two-base clout by Teepell

Oshawa went out in order in the first three frames, but got number one in the fourth, when Rowden singled and stole second when Tyson scored him with a liner to deep left.

They added two more in the fifth when Morrison got on through a fielder's choice, and Mickey Murray hit for the circuit.

Two more were added in the eighth after two were out, W. Fair hit to centre, Rowden hit for two bases, and Tyson scored both.

C. G. E. BATSMEN HIT DYEWORKERS ALL OVER PARK

Visitors Outplayed At Exhibition Grounds When Tally Board Showed 16 To 3 Against

ROSE MADE HOMER

Dugan Put The Game On Ice In Second With Double.

The Dye Works of Cobourg were no match for the heavy hitting C.G.E. team in their game at the big Field Day on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds. For nine innings the Generals walloped the Cobourg pitchers and when the contest was finished the score stood C.G.E. 16, Dye Works 3. The game was very one sided and a large number of the crowd left before it was half over.

Four pitchers were used in the battle and the two from Cobourg, one of who was Piper who twirled for the Cobourg Central League team a few years ago were touched for 13 hits between them. Lefty Turner started for the Electrics but he hurt his arm in the second innings when he was hit while at bat. He went great guns in the first two innings but his arm went back on him in the fourth and he was relieved by Lefty McElroy who finished the game in great style. Edwin Dugan put the game on ice for the C.G.E. in the second inning when he clouted out a beautiful double with the bases loaded, the three men who were riding the bases crossing the plate on the hit. A few minutes later Bob Ross tripled, sending Dugan over the plate for another counter. This innings was featured by heavy hitting on the part of the C.G.E. and ragged fielding on the part of the Dye mixers, and before the third man was counted out eight runs had been registered. With the kind of ball the Cobourg team was playing the Generals had the game cinched but they never let up and doubled their score before they finished. The feature clout of the game was the one that Abbie Rose landed on the cricket green for four bags. Johns at short for Cobourg also cut one onto the cricket field but only succeeded in reaching third, thanks to Jeff Hardill's snappy fielding and great throw.

Turner on the mound of the Electricians started off in great style and it looked as if he was going to have one of the best games of his career but after he was hit in the second his arm gave trouble and he was touched for two hits and two runs in the fourth. He fanned three and allowed three hits and two runs in the four innings he pitched while Lefty McElroy held his opponents to three hits, that were bunched in the sixth inning and one run resulted. The C.G.E. team as a whole gave their two twirlers sterling support and had but one error chalked against them.

Johns at short turned in a nice fielding game while he also led his team at bat. He netted two of their three runs and had two hits in three trips to the plate while W. Campbell was the manufacturer of their third counter. Scotty McPherson led his team at the plate when he clouted out two doubles and a clean single in five trips up while Abbie Rose gets the credit for the longest hit made in a game at the Exhibition Grounds this year. Bob Ross came through with a triple and a double in five trips up and Jeff Hardill in the left garden reaped in two nice flies.

MASSEY JUNIORS LOSE TO DUMMER

Munro Kicked Three Goals In a Row For Winners In a Pleasant Game.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED

The Masseys journeyed to North Dummer on Saturday afternoon to fulfil their League engagement and after a very pleasant game were defeated by 4 goals to 2. Munro doing the hat trick scoring 3 goals for the Township men.

The Masseys won the toss and began to bring pressure to bear on the Township goal Bryan, the new goalkeeper, saving a dangerous drive from Edgar. The Township men too began to settle down and it was soon to be seen that Munro was in great form. Saunders saved a shot from this sharp shooter. Naish and Edgar were very prominent on the left for the Masseys and it fell to Naish to have the honor of opening the scoring, beating Bryan at close range from the centre kick. Bell and R. Payne made a combined effort which resulted in Bell placing Munro in possession and he made no mistake beating Bryan all the way. The game was both even and interesting. The Backs on both sides were having plenty to do. The Massey forwards were playing well together and were a source of danger. Vinet was very unlucky with a shot that hit the post. He, however, had better luck soon after when he received a beautiful centre from Edgar and put the Masseys one ahead. The Township men went at it now in great form Rufus Payne and H. Darling were sending some dangerous shots from their respective wings. Munro got hold of one from Darling and placed it well out of the reach of the watchful Saunders and made the game even. Half time was called with the game standing two goals each.

Second Half

Upon resuming, the Township men with the wind in their favour made an effort to gain the lead, Cooper heading out a dandy from Darling. The Township men were at this period getting the best of the argument and Cooper and his comrades were kept on the alert, Saunders saving a grand drive from Mell Payne. From his return Munro fastened on to the ball and shot well out of the reach of Saunders and put the Dummer men one up from the centre kick. Laughlin became very prominent, with a nice run and shot with great force, Bryan giving a corner. Goldie took the kick and Garveth headed out of danger. Taylor sent out to Darling who raced away along the left and passed to Munro who gave to R. Payne who was well placed and he scored the best goal of the game. The Masseys were making headway by the aid of Edgar who is in great form this season but his centre went just outside the front post. The game was from now to the call of time very evenly contested. There was no further scoring and a good clean and pleasant game ended in a win for the Township team by 4 to 2.

After the game the Masseys were entertained to refreshments by the winning team.

CAMPBELLFORD LOST A PHELAN CUP TIE GAME

Follis Got Two Goals In Early Period That Carried Nomads Into Next Round.

SCORE TWO TO NIL

Parrish On Visitors' Half Line Played Clever Football.

The Nomads made their initial appearance this season with a win over the Campbellford team by 2 goals to nothing in the Phelan Charity Cup Tie, on Saturday afternoon, as one of the attractions of the Field Day. The Campbellford eleven put up an excellent brand of soccer and made the Nomads travel all the way to win.

The Play.

A few minutes behind time, Follis gave the initial touch, but Nomads' attack petered out, and soon Gatfield slipped neatly through to the centre forward but Smith relieved. Marsh returned upfield to Abraham who was slow with his passing cross. Armstrong punted clear to Osborne, and running along the wing shot the ball across the goal mouth awaiting the necessary touch through from a Campbellford forward. It was early apparent that the rugged ground would seriously affect the game, players, indeed, finding it difficult to control the turn of the ball.

Gay's Brilliant Save.

Even play was in evidence for a while until a slip forward by Long left Follis the opportunity to outwit the defence and running ahead into goal with Smith and Armstrong worrying him, he shot hard for goal but Gay jumped into the picture as he made a brilliant save and a goal looked positive. Immediately afterwards the Campbellford goal-keeper had to admit defeat from Follis as he sent a shot inside the upright out of his reach for the opening goal.

Follis' Two Timely Goals

At this reverse, the Campbellford forwards worked their way back upfield through Haw and Cleverly. Hawerigg, the centre-forward swung the ball across to Osborne who tested Turner with a first timer. Long sent the Peterboro boys down in the Campbellford area where Armstrong, at left full-back, mis-kicked to let Young pass across to Follis. Smith was a fraction late as Follis' parting kick registered goal number two. Succeeding play was of a featureless description, owing to the strong wind blowing across the pitch, and consisted mostly of attacks by the respective forwards, which was lacking the essential sting behind their shots at goal. Just before half-time Parrish was accidentally injured but was soon fit again after getting Billy Gatfield's attention. Half-time—Nomads (Peterboro) 2 goals, Campbellford 0.

Second Half.

After the usual breath rellever, the Campbellford boys took up play seriously and hemmed the Peterboro defense into their goal but could not penetrate Turner's goal. Ultimately Campbellford's right wing were awarded a corner that resulted in Hosker handling inside the penalty area.

Turner Saved From Parrish.

The big tall centre-half of Campbellford was trusted with a kick which Turner saved amid excitement, then some infringement committed by their forwards brought relief to Nomads' defence. Splendid defense work by Long and Marsh held the Campbellford forwards at a far distance from goal thereby giving Turner an easy chance to clear from the sudden attacks.

Parrish, Clever Half-Back

Parrish was always in evidence throughout the whole ninety minutes with his clean-cut breaking-up tactics and spoiled many a neat movement of the Nomads' forward when making raid after raid. He checked, punted and fed his forwards with the ball, then would go forward to force the play into the Nomads' territory but Long and Marsh seemed to be invincible, in fact, the latter would bob up to spoil Campbellford's attack. Play ran from end to end without any result. Truth to tell, the Nomads fell away considerably during the second half which was the result of no training and their first game this season. The Campbellford boys have an excellent defence, also a well-balanced half-back line, and their forwards play a nice combintion but hang too long on the ball when in front of the goal—goals count boys. This is Campbellford's first year and have made a creditable debut in senior soccer circles. Full time—Nomads 2, Campbellford 0.

Goal-scorer—Follis.

At the conclusion of business, the members and wives and lady friends will enjoy a social hour, when song, story and refreshments will be the bill of fare. Will the ladies kindly be on hand at 9.30, just after the Choir business has been disposed of.

CHINESE PICTURES.

A very interesting exhibit of Chinese pictures in colour will be posted on the bulletin board of the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Department for the coming three days. At the end of this time they will be shipped to Belleville for showing in the Boys' Department of that city.

These pictures should prove of great interest to the boys of the city in that they illustrate certain stories that every boy in China learns as a boy. These deal with legends, etc., and are made use of in much the same manner as is the story of George Washington and the cherry tree on this continent. With the pictures is the original bamboo mailing tube in which the pictures were mailed from China. The address labels show the many cities in which this exhibit has been shown to the boys.

GORDON HEARD IN BANK CASE

Related Conversation With the Minister of Labour.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press)—G. N. Gordon, deputy speaker of House of Commons, this morning gave committee on privileges and elections review of his conversation with Hon. James Murdock, in regard to continuation of Home Bank.

"I intimated to him that it was a lame buck and would be next to go," said Mr. Gordon, in answer to question by W. M. German, Liberal member for Welland.

Conversation had taken place in office of the Minister of Labor on August 9, six days before Mr. Murdock withdraw four thousand dollars from bank.

He had no special information. He knew that stock of bank had been away down for some time. He had also talked with lawyers and others who were in position to know some thing about the condition of the bank We were talking over work of session," Mr. Gordon said in explaining how discussion arose, "and I thought it would have been wise for Government to have brought in some measure of bank inspection. I said that Home Bank might have to be taken over."

"Your opinion was not founded on any inside information?" asked R. B. Hanson, Conservative member for York-Sunbury.

"I won't say that," was the reply. "Why?"

Mr. Gordon replied that he had been in conversation with H. J. Daly former president of Home Bank, some time before and Mr. Daly had told him that it was extremely difficult for smaller institutions to get on.

"Did he say Bank would fail?" "No."

"And failure came as a shock to you?" pursued Mr. Hanson.

"Well I though it was coming," replied Mr. Gordon.

"Did you know that Mr. Murdock had a deposit in Home Bank?" he was asked.

Mr. Gordon replied that he had known this at time. He was asked if he had mentioned matter to anyone else and replied that he thought he had told the Prime Minister that the Home Bank was in a bad condition. He said that Bank had been talked about, among those who knew, about a year before its failure.

Mr. Gordons' testimony was preceded by evidence from officials of Home Bank and Royal Bank of Canada in regard to withdrawal and deposit of money by Mr. Murdock. Teller of Royal Bank who took Mr. Murdock's deposit which had been withdrawn from Home Bank, testified that account which Minister opened was in name of Miss S. McCool in trust. Miss McCool was Mr. Murdock's secretary. Mr. Murdock stated that he had no personal account in Royal Bank at the time deposit was made.

All evidence is now in and argument will be opened on Thursday.

CHURCH UNION DEBATE TODAY

No Intention to Restrict Debate on the Question

OWEN SOUND, June 9.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Dr. Ephram Scott, Montreal, who is largely responsible for the formation of the Presbyterian Association, was the first speaker at the resumption of the debate on Church Union this afternoon. The definite question before the Assembly is the decision of resolutions which declare that such has a right to legislate in all matters of doctrine, etc., and reject amendments to the Church Union Bill introduced by the Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons. It is very likely that a separate vote will be taken on the resolution.

There is no intention to restrict the debate on the question, so that it is a question whether the vote will be reached to-day. Rev. Dr. J. D. Mackenzie Naughton, representing the Bishop of Huron before the Assembly early in the day, referred to the possibility of union between the Anglican Church and the other great churches of Canada. He said that with many men this might seem impossible, but that with God all things were possible.

Aside from the question of Church Union, there is nothing to come before the Assembly this year, and it appears at present as if the business of the commissioners would be concluded Wednesday night. Already there have been about fifty applications made to the clerk for permission to the commissioners to return to their homes, but they have been refused.

AN INTERCHANGE OF TWO TWO CHURCH CHOIRS

Last evening an interchange was made by the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and the choir of the Methodist Church in Cobourg.

About thirty-five visiting choristers from Cobourg sang in St. Paul's Church last night, while the local choir, about fifty strong, went to Cobourg. The two choirs met at Bewdley at five o'clock, where lunch was served, and were afterwards entertained by the ladies of St. Paul's and the Cobourg church respectively.

MASONIC VISIT LOCAL LODGES

University Masonic Lodge Spent Pleasant Evening With Peterboro Lodge

On Friday evening last, 6th inst., being the monthly meeting of Peterborough Masonic Lodge, the Craft, was honored by a visit from the officers of University Lodge, of Toronto. This lodge is one of the most representative of the Masonic organizations of the city, and unique in that it was instituted for the convenience and gratification of fraternal assembly of men connected with the University and of those attending and who were domiciled, during the college course, in the city.

It had been arranged that the visiting brethren should take the work of the evening and so demonstrate to the local brethren something of the expertness and routine in which the city brethren have become so efficient. Not necessarily that in so doing they excel the Home Craft in this city, but that a different personality and fidelity to tradition presents different phases of work and side lights on the manner in which the several duties and functions are presented. The entire routine was taken over, on arrival, following being those who participated. As many of the officers are prominent in the educational and college life of the city, in addition to the indication of Masonic rank, note of scholastic attainment and position is supplied.

W. M.—W. Bro. Harvey McNairn, professor of Geology, McMaster University.

D. of C.—W. Bro. W. J. Dunlop, director of University extension, Toronto University.

P.M.—W. Bro. C. H. C. Wright, professor of Architecture, Toronto University.

I.P.M. —W. Bro. H. Irwin, engineer, Provincial Highways Dept.

S.W.—Bro. W. S. Kirkland, vice-principal, Toronto Technical School.

Chap. —Bro. E. A. Allcut, professor Thermodynamics, Toronto University.

I.G.—Bro. W. H. Bonus, assist. Superintendent of Buildings, Toronto University.

J.D. —Bro. C. S. Higginbotham, accountant, Toronto University.

J. S. —Bro. A. Young, of Staff of Technical School.

J. W.—Bro. R. O. Hurst, druggist.

S. D.—Bro. W. A. Doige, druggist.

S. S. —Bro. R. A. Williams, dentist, and accompanying Bros. H. Jardine, G. W. Fanning and M. E. Parrish, also W. Bro. W. G. Currie.

The visitors were met at the train and escorted to the Masonic Hall, and were immediately pressed into service; Peterborough Lodge officers vacating the chairs.

At the close of routine work all adjourned to the refreshment room where lunch was partaken of. Then followed a series of short addresses from the visitors, the usual fraternal toasts being proposed to by officers of Peterborough Lodge.

"Our Visitors," proposed by Bro. W. Richardson, Junior Warden, expressed the pleasure of the Peterborough brethren in having had the Degree work so well exemplified as it had been done. He trusted that such occasion would be an annual event. Some day, if matters proved auspicious, the visit could be returned, and the Peterborough men further edified and informed. As an admirer of neat Masonic work, he thoroughly approved of the technical expertness of the officers of University Lodge.

Wor. Bro. McNairn, for University Lodge made suitable and gracious reply. He sketched in suitable words the connection of crowned heads, men of letters, statesmen, scientists, and even politicians, of Europe, who all gave allegiance to the principles and practice of Masonry. Told of his connection with University Lodge, of its privileges and the gratification that connection which it afforded to himself and very many others connected with educational life in the city. In the lodge were met a large number of young men, students, and others, who found companionship during the period of tuition and so were enable to form connections of large usefulness and personal friendships that existed in after life.

Songs and stories were slipped in as an interlude by Bros. Smith and Hendry, of Peterborough Lodge and Bro. Higginbotham, for University Lodge. A ten minute interval for laughter and musical interest.

W. Bro. W. J. Dunlop, of Toronto, and University Lodge, spoke for the visitors. Remembering that he had at one time been on the educational staff of the Peterborough schools and institute, he briefly referred in complimentary terms to "The Old Home Town," and to this visit to his Mother Lodge. Following several stories, told by Bro. Hendry, illustrative of the Scotch habit of closeness, W. Bro. Dunlop gave a few, as he said, newly imported and which he had secured abroad. These were enjoyed. He, in the main, decried the habit of telling stories at the expense of the Scotchmen, but admitted that such said to be about the only thing one could do at the expense of the Scotch.

It had been suggested that as he had just returned from a stay at the Wembley Exhibition, Britain's great advertising and informative effort, that he should tell of his impressions, he having been for nearly two months in charge of the exhibit made by nine of the Canadian Universities, to show that while Canada was rich in resources the education was not neglected. This exhibit was an unique one, and attracted much attention and provoked very many enquiries. It revealed to the British public an attainment not hitheto believed to have been reached in the Dominion. In another column, of issue of Saturday last, some extension of account of what had been done, as related by W. Bro. Dunlop, was printed.

Prof. White also spoke of University Lodge. He had been heard on the occasion when he came and delivered to the fraternity an address on Architecture, especially as related to Masonry. He now, in the limited time at disposal told of establishing University Lodge that there might be a home in Toronto for student members of the Craft, and to which all so qualified were urged to come and participate. Many open meetings were held which were open to all, members and non-members. It often occurred that students, who had entered with the Craft in the town or village where the student as youth and young man had resided, were received by University Lodge and passed on and perfected in the work and the several degrees conferred, thus avoiding the routine of the applicant having to return to his Mother Lodge, from time to time for Masonic advancement.

He said he believed that he voiced the thought of thinking men that Canada now needed all it could find of steadiness and bulwark against the wave of unrest that was incited throughout the land and the readiness to make of opportunity the utmost in lawlessness that had sprung up. Masonry was a steadying influence, and the larger number we had in the ranks of Masonry the better the influence that would be disseminated, the better for our institutions and Canadian future. There was much in sight, and more to be offered, seeking to wreck our Canadian national life, to pervert and emasculate, to create habits of indifference and to hold lightly that which was sacred. To help break up the idea, now prevalent, that public office was only an opportunity for personal benefit, that men who achieved position and wealth were to be able to set aside relations of probity and honesty and claims immunity from law and order. Such example, and we had such before us, was a noxious thing to the growing youth, and one of the functions of Masonry was to set its face against everything that would be detrimental to an honest, helpful and industrious life.

The gathering then closed with the National Anthem, as it had begun the interesting proceedings.

LAUSANNE TREATY HAS POWER TO BIND CANADA SAYS MACKENZIE KING

But Obligation Of Maintenance Remains For Government Decision, He Thinks.

MEIGHEN CRITICAL

Premier Warmly Defends His Actions At Imperial Conference.

OTTAWA, June 10 (Canadian Press). — "We have not in the past, we do not now take the view that Canada is not bound legally by this Treaty when it is ratified, but we do say that the moral obligation resting upon this Government under this Treaty when it is ratified, will be vastly different to the moral obligation imposed on this country under the Treaty of Versailles, having regard to the different manner in which the whole negotiations were carried on."

So Premier King, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in defence of his attitude towards the famous Treaty of Lausanne, and his speech prefaced a keen debate in which questions of constitutional status were argued back and forth.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was leader of the Opposition, was sharply critical. He charged the Prime Minister with having acquiesced in the most cheerful manner in a position "which reduces us to the colonial status again."

The debate came on estimates for the Department of External Affairs.

Premier King reviewed at length his much-discussed correspondence with the British Government over the Lausanne conference, denying that Canada was represented at Lausanne. He declared that at the Imperial Conference he had distinctly stated that Canada had not been represented at Lausanne. He had then, Premier King said, given the reason why Canada did not take exception to not being represented at Lausanne.

"If," Mr. King challenged, addressing the leader of the Opposition, "if my right hon. friend thinks we have not taken a right course in not submitting this Treaty for approval, let him bring in at any time between now and the conclusion of this session a resolution condemning the Government for not having submitted the Lausanne Treaty, and we shall debate the question and see what the result will be."

Mr. King drew the attention of the House to the correspondence which has been tabled between the Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Governor-General of Canada. The first despatch from the Duke of Devonshire to the Governor-General opened with the words, "Yesterday invitations wer sent by the Governments of Great Britain, France and Italy to the Japanese, Roumanian, Jugo-Slav, Greek and Turkish Governments to send representatives to Lausanne——."

Mr. King drew attention to this phraseology. A statement had been given to the Dominion Government that these invitations had been sent yesterday. Also the Dominion Government was informed that invitations had been sent by the Governments of Great Britain, France and Italy. Not within the four corners of this despatch would be found any intimation that the Dominion Government was expected to be represented, said Mr. King. It was an embarrassing feature that all the correspondence in a matter of this kind could not be tabled. Communications passed between the Governments which, though harmless as far as parts of the British Empire were concerned, it might not be advisable to reveal to the world. There had been another communication, of a confidential nature, which should be read in conjunction with the one he had quoted from. That communication gave to the Dominion Government the reasons why Canada should not and could not be re-

REAL ROLLING ROTARY RIOTS

The City Will Be Aroused From Its Summer Slumber on July 17th.

On Thursday, July 17th Peterborough people had best be at home. It is likely that that particular Thursday will be one of the weekly half-holidays in commercial business centres, and if so, so much the better. The doings of the day will be a big competitor to the automobile, and the attractions keep the car within the borders of the city. And for why?

Peterborough Rotary will put in its first Rotary Carnival. The Club has gotten down to brass tacks in the matter of preliminary preparation. Such an undertaking has to be parcelled out, as it were, among the willing, enthusiastic and ready-to-work men in the Club. A special committee, has gone over the membership and assigned to the several sub-committees the men best adapted to handle details. But more of this anon. Which means presently.

A Carnival, such as Rotary contemplates putting on means any old thing that will make fun. Good, clean, laughable fun. Man, we are told by Rotarian Young, wants but little here below, but he wants that little snappy. And Rotarian Young knows. So does Rotarian Jack Seals, for he was contrived as the General Commissioner of the Carnival, as Seals expressed it. And from amongst his expressings it is learned that The Day will be one Georgeous Whirl. Just think of what's coming. Man, it bangs Banniger.

Consider the Midway. A peach of a street. All sorts of diversion. Some of the most complicated contrivances one could imagine. A dollar's worth of gaiety for every twenty-five cent admission. That is to the shows on the Midway. It will cost nothing to get into the grounds, but "This Freedom" has its limitations when one comes to see what he or she shall see. More will be told of the attractions in this Unrivalled Department so soon as arranged. Just now the time of incubation is the rule and a whole

Must Cover Neck To Enter Church Says One Bishop

BRESCIA, Italy, June 10.—(Canadian Press).—Bishop Baggia has determined to put an end to immodest dressing and has had posters placed on the doors of all churches, and also orders read during all masses, stating: "Ladies and Girls are warned they will be expelled from the churches if they dare present themselves with naked arms and low necks; if, in other words, they are dressed contrary to the modesty which any well-bred woman should feel. It is painful to be obliged to adopt such measures in a christian country, but the effrontery of certain women who dare exhibit their nudity, even in temples sacred to the faith, has obliged us to impose the respect which the church exacts."

REFUTES CLAIM OF CANCER CURE

New York Doctor Denies That Dr. Glover Has Secret of Origin.

IS NOT GERM BORN.

CHICAGO, June 10.—(Canadian Press).—The American Radium Society yesterday heard Dr. James Ewing of New York refute the claim of a cure for cancer made in an announcement by Dr. J. T. Glover of Toronto.

Delegates to the Assembly saw radium act in a new role at a scientific exhibit, held in connection with the convention. It was operating a clock and demonstrated visually for the first time, a process, the discovery of which is said to have revolutionized chemical and physical science. The radium, it was declared, would keep the clock in operation for ages without winding and for 2,500 years without readjustment.

Referring to Dr. Glover's claim of a cure for cancer, Dr. Ewing declared that a report made by the Toronto Academy of Medicine had showed Dr. Glover's "reported cures to be unreliable."

"There is NO micro-organismal cause of cancer," he asserted, "and as soon as the public learns this fact, the less likely will they be deceived by claims such as those Dr. Glover makes. As cancer is not a germ-born disease, a serum treatment would be worthless. The effective treatment of cancer is accomplished by surgery, the X-ray, and radium in combination."

POSTAL REPORT READY

Civil Service Commission Recommendations Approved By Government.

OTTAWA, June 10 (Canadian Press). — Recommendations of the Civil Service Commission regarding the postal workers' pay have been approved by the Government, and an Order-in-Council giving effect to revised wages is awaiting the signature of the Governor-General.

It will be tabled as soon as it is signed.

This was the reply given by Premier King yesterday to a question by J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York).

A $50,000 Policy Is Applied For

A $50,000 insurance policy against loss through static in a radio broadcasting program will be applied for today by Ernie Young of Dreamland Park, Newark.. Static is the atmospheric condition which interferes with radio.

Mr. Young plans to broadcast a program through Station WOR on June 21. If, through static interference, he says, the singing should not meet with the approval of the hearers, Mr. Young says he would suffer a loss, for which reason he will apply to Lloyd's for a policy.

CLOSE EARS TO SIRENS WHO SING COMPROMISE AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Example Of Loreler Held Up By Dr. Murray In Union Debate.

CARRIED BY 5 TO 1

Amendment To Bill Defeated In Same Proportion Late Yesterday.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 10.—(Canadian Press.)— The successive votes on church union last night were as follows:

For the amendment—92.
Against —444.
For the first resolution of the union committee—428.
Against —94.
For the second resolution of the union committee—403.
Against—93.
The first vote was a standing vote, the second and third were taken by the calling of the roll.

In the debate preceding the vote, Principal W. H. Smith, of the Vancouver Theological College, devoted most of his speech to an explanation of the decision in the case of the Free Church in the year 1904. The decision of the Privy Council at that time gave $60,000,000 of property to a few churches of Scotland, most of them in the Highlands. The decision was in accordance with the letter of the law, but was according to every human conception a great moral wrong. Out of this bad decision there had, however, come decisions of the greatest value to the United Free Church of Scotland, and the Church of Scotland, that these churches had the absolute and inalienable right to state and restate their religious faith. Dr. Smith then went on to speak of the response which had been made in various cases in the past history of the church when it was left destitute by the circumstances of history or by unjust decisions. He spoke of the great disruption of 1943, and of the response of the people of Scotland when an appeal was made for the church, bereft of everything. He also referred to the great response made in 1905, when the Free Church of Scotland lost everything as a result of the decision of the Privy Council in favor of the Wee Frees. In the same way in this case, if the Presbyterian Church in Canada was deprived of everything by a decision of the courts, there would be the same great financial and spiritual response from the people of Canada.

Rev. Robert Johnston of Grace Calgary spoke for the anti-unionists and made a strong appeal for time for further consideration, for conciliation, and for a manifestation of brotherly good will. He supported the amendment, he said, because the adoption of the resolutions made further efforts at conciliation impossible.

There was, he said, no difference of opinion with reference to the spiritual independence of the church. What was aimed at in the present movement was a mere mechanical realignment, and God had never had any regard for mere mechanical alignment. He thought it quite proper that the Church might take under the review the question of the revision of the confession of faith, but he considered it a suspicious circumstance that this revision or alleged revision was made, when the question or organic union was raised. He suggested that instead of revising the Presbyterian confession, it might be more to the point to revise the sermons of John Wesley. He came to the defence of parliament. Members of parliament were as much the servants of Jesus Christ as the Commissioners of the Assembly They did not wish or desire to be Lords over God's heritage. He conceded that the majority in the Assembly, if it was a majority, might have the right and the power to secure the success of the Union movement. There was however, something greater than right and power. Right and power were matters of this world. The greater word was privilege. The majority had the privilege of giving consideration to the minority. The question of economy was raised. This was a question of money, and the church ought to beware lest it should be said to her "Thy money perish with the." The last vote of the people, he said, had been taken in 1914, ten years ago, since that year a new world had come into being. The world had changed more in the past ten years than it had in the previous fifty years. He pleaded therefore for a new vote of the people under these new conditions.

Took bit in his teeth

Dr. Murray of the University of Saskatchewan made a direct reply to the Rev. Robert Johnston of Calgary. Dr. Murray, in the language of the street had taken the bit in his teeth, and without waste of words told the unionists exactly what they must do under the present circumsances. He dealt with the suggestion of further conciliation and told what had been done in the past twelve years.

There had been a meeting with the minority, and the minority had said that as a preliminary to negotiations

Berlin Gets Beer By Special Train

BERLIN, June 10.— Berlin consumes four carloads of beer every hour. This was revealed in connection with the strike of brewery workers, which has closed every Berlin brewery and forced the dealers to bring in the beverage from the outside.

To meet the emergency beer is being brought in from Munich, Wursburg and Dortmund by special trains, the first three of which arrived Saturday. Other special trains of about thiry cars each are expected today to relieve the city's thirst during the holidays.

Beer shippers say that if a hot spell develops they will be compelled to double the supply of beer now coming in from the outside. Berlin brewers claim they are losing a half million dollars daily because of the strike.

Workers Are Shot When They Demand One Dollar a Day

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 10.—(Canadian Press).—Two workers were killed and several policemen injured in a labor riot which took place here yesterday.

The laborers had demanded a minimum wage of one dollar per day. The demand having been refused, the workers beseiged the municipal plant, assaulted the official and smashed up the office. The police were called and the Riot Act read. When the rioters refused to disperse the police fired into the crowd. The rioters burned the police patrol wagon.

DANCERS' STEPS LEAD TO ALTAR

Tommy Leaman Must Lick the World For His Sixteen Year Old Bride.

"SET OUT A DANCE."

NEW YORK, June 10.—When Thomas P. Leaman, yachtsman, returns from a cruise he is making, he will be greeted by his son, Tommy, and a bobbed-hair girl who will call him father.

Tommy, Jr., who is twenty and daring, and Julita Hoyt, who is sixteen and charming, eloped from Norwalk, Conn., to Port Chester, N.Y., and had Squire George Bailie tie 'em up in proper style.

They met for the first time two weeks ago at a dance at the Norwalk Country Club. Tommy, who had been studying arduously at the Harstrom Preparatory School, forgot books when he gazed into Julita's wistful eyes of blue.

"Let's Sit Out a Dance."

That was Tommy's suggestion. They did. Only the two of them know what was said then between the heir to millions and the pretty girl.

Arrested on a Drive.

But Edward M. Thorne, eighteen, of a fine old Bridgeport family—and a fellow student of Tommy's—must have had a suspicion. You see, it was whispered around Norwalk that Eddie and Julita were to be married next month. Possibly something that happened April 15 caused that report.

Eddie was driving Julita around Norwalk at 11.30 p.m. in his swift car at a fast pace when he was arrested for "one-arm driving." All sweethearts know what that means. Eddie, being caught, and being a gentleman, pleaded guilty next day in police court to prevent Julita being called to the stand to testify. Fine—$35.

When the married youngsters returned to Norwalk they broke the news to Mrs. Hoyt. As she described it:

"Well—it's done. They're married. I might as well acquiese. Of course, both are etreemly young, but some young marriages turn out well. I hope they will be happy."

Called On His Aunt.

Tommy and Julita journeyed to New York to consult Tommy's aunt, Mrs. Warrington, who lives at the Hotel Chatham.

The youth would have taken entrance exams. for Lafayette College in two weeks. But now he must lick the world and put the spoils at his pretty bride's feet, unless Mr. Leaman wants to do something unusually handsome.

Julita, until a month ago, studied at a church school in New Jersey. But Julita has the highest higher education of all—to know how to capture the right sort of man.

LIBERAL ELECTED.

The vacancy was caused by the death of Robert Douglas, who also was a Liberal.

Earned Fifteen Cents In Sing Sing Prison

NEW YORK, June 10.—When Mrs. Anna Buzzi, recently granted a new trial on the charge of murdering Frederick Schneider, leaves the Sing Sing death house this week she will have ten days wages, amounting to fifteen cents coming to her. The exact day of her release is undecided.

The wages are paid her for the ten days she was in Auburn Prison, where inmates work, but in Sing Sing condemned prisoners do not labor, so Mrs. Buzzi earned no wages there. A deputy sheriff will take her back to Bronx County Jail.

POLICE GUARD RUSHED TO SLAYERS' PARENTS TO PREVENT ASSAULTS

Faces Treason Charge

BARON COPPEE

Who, it is alleged furnished the Germans with materials to make poison gas for use against his countrymen.

TREASON TRIAL STIRS BELGIUM

Greatest Sensation Since German Invasion in Arrest of Baron Coffee.

SOLD WAR MATERIAL.

BRUSSELS, June 10.—Belgium is having the greatest sensation it has experienced since the Germans invaded the little state. Baron Coppee, the Rockfeller of the country, the great captain of industry, the multi-millionaire, has been haled into court on a charge of treason.

Fancy it—this man who lives in a palace, who has thousands upon thousands of employees, is sitting upon the bench of the accused in the Assizes Court of Brabant!

"Prisoner stand up! What is your name?" demands the stern judge.

"Evence Narcisse Joseph Coppee, Baron Coppee."

"Your profession?"

"Business man."

"Your residence?"

"Brussels."

"Sit down, Coppee!"

Thus begins the first act of a court drama, expected to last two months, so many are the witnesses, so multiple the documents to be gone into.

Shorty after the armistice accusations were formulated against Coppee, but they were dropped for want of proof.

Socialists Prevailed.

Then the Sosialist newspapers took up the cry and just when Coppee was getting ready to sue them for libel, the state itself took new action against the magnate. It was claimed that new documents, left behind by the Germans when they evacuated Belgium, had given the government damaging evidence. . .

The act of accusation in the present trial consumed three days of solid reading. It consisted of 180 pages of printed text, which set forth the allegations that Coppee kept his furnaces and retorts working full time during the war; that he delivered benzol, coal tar and oils to the Germans by thousands of tons; and that he acted freely, voluntarily and knowingly.

In delivering these materials to the Germans the state claims he furnished war material sto the enemy.

The benzol Coppee is alleged to have delivered to the Germans could be used not only for the manufacture of asphyxiating gases to be used against Belgian and allied troops, but for the manufacture of the explosive for millions of shells used against the allies.

The state admits that the Germans could have requistioned the materials manufactured by Coppee, but alleges that he intensified his production, perfected his methods and increased his plant.

Not only does the state charge that the Coppee deliveries were used in making poison gases and shells, but also in running airplanes and submarines. Thus, it claims, the Germans saw their military power increased by reason of Belgian benzols.

Coppee has already indicated part of his defence.

FIRST—That the Germans were all powerful in Belgium and could requisition anything they pleased, enforcing its delivery.

SECOND — That deliveries he made were supposed to remain in Belgium for the benefit of Belgians.

THIRD—That Count de Brocqueville, who was Belgian prime minister at the time, authorized him to trade with the Germans, as the Belgian population could not be allowed to die for want of work.

Threats Made To Families Of Leopold And Loeb Taken Seriously.

RIVETTING THE CHAIN

State Attorney Gathers New Evidence Against The Slayers.

CHICAGO, June 10. — Developments in the Leopold-Loeb-Franks case took an unexpected turn yesterday, when it became known that threats of bodily harm to tht families of the two youthful murderers have become so numerous and alarming that additional guards have been placed about the homes of Nathan Leopold and Robert H. Loeb.

The threats have been communicated by both telephone and mail. At first they were believed to be only the work of harmless cranks.

Yesterday, however, the police and the Leopold and Loeb families apparently decided that no chances should be taken.

They would not say just what the theats were, but admitted they were seriously uneasy over the matter of protection for the two families.

Half a dozen more men in uniform and plain clothes have been stationed about the Leopold mansion and the same number at the Albert H. Loeb estate.

Steps also were taken yesterday by Mr. Loeb to have a guard placed about his magnificent country place in Charlevoix, Mich. This step of precaution was taken following telephone orders to Charlevoix, presumably from Mr. Loeb, that all packages received there must be opened outside of the house.

Additional Evidence.

Meantime State Attorney Crowe was adding to the chain of evidence which, in the main essentials, was nearly completed with the finding of the typewriter on Saturday on which the ransom note was written, discovery of the flashlight which guided the killers to the culvert grave of young Franks, and the time tables from which they selected a train from which Jacob Franks was to throw the $10,000 ransom.

Additional bits of evidence, developed yesterday, although not directly essential, were, nevertheless, of great importance as being corroborative of the details of the two confessions. One was the suitcase containing the books which young Loeb left in the room assigned to him at the Morrison Hotel, where he went to establish a temporary stopping place prior to the kidnapping.

Trace Origin of Books.

There were four books, all the property of the Chicago University library, in the suitcase.

The library issuance cards in three of the volumes carried no indication that Loeb had withdrawn them, but as a clinching record, further bearing out in its mute way the confessions, was a card bearing Loeb's signature beneath the signatures "C. C. Phipp" and "Russell."

These two signatures were scratched out, showing the signers had turned the book in and that Loeb had been the latest to take it out.

Loeb had said in his confession that they had registered at the Morrison, carrying a suitcase with four books in it ;that he and Leopold had failed for two days to go to the room assigned them, and that when they returned it was to find the suitcase had been removed.

Somewhat alarmed and fearing that the hotel officials had become suspicious over their absence, they decided not to ask about the suitcase.

Experts See Writing.

As the books were being examined, Assistant State Attorney Joseph Savage was consulting with two

COBOURG COUNCIL OPENED SESSIONS

First Meeting Yesterday With Warden Fowlds in the Chair--Help for Fall Fairs.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 10.—The Little Parliament by which name the Council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham is known was called to order in mid-summer session by Warden W. M. Foulds of Hastings at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon with a bare quorum,—20 of the 39 members—present. Reeve Davidson and Deputy Reeve Dorie of Campbellford were in their places as were Reeve Van Voklenburg and Deputy Reeve P. B. Nelson of Seymour, Reeve McCubbin and Deputy Reeve W. H. Nelson of Perry and Reeve Wood of Millbrook.

Reeve Honey of Alnwick Township, who is recovering from a severe illness, was among those who answered the roll call, although he is still showing the effect of his long sojourn in the hospital. Other members arrived last evening.

Mondays' session was brief as all the matters brought up were referred to the various committees.

Help For Fall Fairs

A communication from the Ontario Department of Agriculture called attention to the good work that is being done by the 360 Fairs in Ontario and urging the Council to be as liberal as possible in the matter of making grants to the Fair boards in the United Counties. This matter was referred to the committee on Agriculture.

Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr asked that better ventilation be installed in the court room and this request will be dealt with by the committee on county property.

Supt. McMillan of the House of Refuge reported that there were nine deaths in that institution during the past year. The sanitary condition of the home for the unfortunates is excellent and the building has been remodelled throughout.

The Campbellford Bridge

The question of a new bridge at Campbellford has again been referred to the committee on roads and bridges with every prospect that the expenditure will be authorized at the session. Mayor Belford, M.L.A. has the assurance of the Department of Public Works that the Government will pay 40 per cent of the cost of a new structure, the estimate being $20,000. The grant on this amount would be $8,000, and of the balance, $12,000 the county would pay $8,000 and the town the remainder.

To Equalize Assessment

On motion of Reeve Wood and Davidson the deputy reeves were appointed a committee to equalize the assessment, a work which was done by the reeves last year when the equalization was increased by 16 per cent. Where there is no deputy in a municipality the reeve will be a member of the committee.

Reeve Wood of Millbrook was elected chairman.

Auditor's Report.

The report of the county auditors showed that the total receipts in the two counties for the past fiscal year was $608,451.80, and the expenditure $1,936.55 less than this amount.

The report was accepted.

A Case from Port Hope.

A young woman residing in Port Hope, but who was sent to an industrial home in Toronto, fell ill in that city, and a surgical operation was required at once to save her life. The hospital bill was charged to Port Hope, but Warden Fowlds, in view of the exceptional circumstances, was in favour of having the counties pay half the charges. While Port Hope, he said, was legally liable for the full amount, the counties were under a moral obligation to assist as the town had been put to a heavy expense.

Some discussion arose as to how long a person on the charity list had to reside in a municipality to establish a domicile and so render that municipality liable for any expense incurred on his or her behalf.

Warden Fowlds and other members of the Council explained that no time was required, that the place from which such persons are sent is responsible for their care.

Council Takes Recess.

In order to give the various committees time to report the council adjourned until 8 o'clock this evening. The committee on schools had a very heavy budget to deal with as the maintenance accounts of the High and Continuation schools are all in.

Matters to be Disposed of.

One financial bogy has disappeared from the municipal landscape since the January session. At that time the Department of Highways notified the council that it was proposed to spent over $365,000 on the provincial highway within the united counties this year, an amount more than double of that laid out for that purpose in any previous year. At 20 per cent. the counties would be required to pay $73,000, a sum that was regarded as excessive.

The council took action to oppose as far as possible this new charge by reducing the expenditure under their control. The appropriation for county roads was cut from $120,000 to $70,000. The Department was asked to effect a saving of $75,000 by cutting off proposed work on the highway from Port Hope to Welcome.

Estimate was wrong

Since the January session the Department has sent the council notice to the effect that the original estimate was wrong and no such sum will be spent. The total will not exceed $200,00 and this will reduce the counties' share to $30,000, practically the same as that paid in former years.

The agitation to suspend the road grants to towns and villages was started as a measure of economy to meet the extra outlay that the counties were apparently forced to assume. It is now likely that this matter will be dropped and that the usual grant will be given. Campbellford's road grant last year was $3100; Hastings was $745 and Millbrook 784, less ten per cent, in each case.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Adjourned Meeting of the Cheese Board Held Yesterday.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—The adjourned meeting of the Cheese Board was held in their room in the Ferris Block on Monday morning at ten o'clock. President Mr. Robert Innes was in the chair.

There were two buyers present: Jas. Cook, of Belleville, and Geo. Ivey, Sr., of Campbellford.

The secretary-treasurer had sent out circulars to the different presidents of the cheese factories, and the following representatives were present: Messrs. Locke, Yule, Van Volkenburg, W. M. Stephens, Grills, Barnum, Innes and Hume.

Some of the factories had sold during the week to Ivey for 15 13-16c, an increase over last week.

The President called on the secretary for the items of last meeting. All present were unanimous in wanting to continue the monthly meetings. There was considerable discussion as to the grading of the cheese. Mr. Alex. Hume, who was the delegate to the Cheese Producers' Association at Kingston, was present and spoke of the meeting there, and of the steps taken in the interests of the cheese markets and of his objections to some of them.

The election of officers was then taken up.

Moved and seconded by Wm. M. Stephens and Fred Barnum, and carried, that the same officers as last year be elected. They are as follows:

President — Robert Innes; First Vice-President, Dan. Petherick; Second Vice-President, Geo. Vanvolkenburg; Secretary-Treasurer, G. A. Kingston.

It was decided on motion that the fee for the members be one dollar each and that the first Monday of each month at ten o'clock a.m. will be the day of meeting.

The members present paid their fees to the secretary-treasurer.

After some discussion it was decided to have the secretary write Mr. Burgess to see if the government grader would come to Campbellford one day a week and grade the cheese while on the wagons at the station.

It was moved by Mr. Cook and seconded by Mr. Hume that the secretary write the Minister of Agriculture for the Province, asking that the committee appointed by the Government, sit in Campbellford to help the Campbellford cheese district in the cheese market problems. Carried.

The secretary was asked that notices be sent to the several factories of the meeting each month.

Over eight hundred cheese were shipped.

Walter G. Frazer Dead.

Mr. Walter G. Frazer died at his residence, corner of Alma and Palliser Streets, on Monday afternoon about two o'clock. He has been ill all winter and spring. He had a stroke in the early winter, and was not expected to live then, but after a long time he rallied and was improving much in health when his throat troubled him and he had to have an operation. At the last he died quite suddenly, and his death was unexpected. His brother George, who had been to see him, had just left on the 1.35 train, thinking he was better, and he passed away shortly after.

He leaves a widow, two daughters, and one son.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Frazer was building a house not far from his own home when he took sick, and it remains unfinished.

Denies Water Powers Were Ceded to Beck

Minister Of Canals Says Only Hope For Amity Expressed.

OTTAWA, June 10.—(Canadian Press).—A statement attributed to Sir Adam Beck, that the Federal Government had "ceded to him all water power right in Ontario," was brought up in the House of Commons yesterday by W. M. German (Liberal, Welland). Mr. German asked if the Minister of Railways and the Minister of the Interior really had promised Sir Adam these rights.

Mr. Graham replied that he certainly had not. He had not the power to make such a promise. It was a legal matter and could not be settled offhand.

Sir Adam had placed a wide construction on the hope and belief Mr. Graham expressed that all the interests in the Dominion could be reconciled in the matter of water rights.

HIGHWAY POLICY TO BE ENLARGED

Effort Will Be Made to Alleviate Unemployment—Built Another Fifty Miles.

TORONTO, June 10 (Canadian Press). — Influenced by conditions of unemployment existing in the Province, the Ferguson Government has decided to increase by $1,250,000 its contemplated expenditure during the summer upon the Ontario highways.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by the Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways and Public Works.

The policy is the first Governmental attempt to alleviate the unemployment problem, Federal and municipal authorities having so far taken no special steps to cope with the situation.

"Owing to the unemployment situation," the Hon. Mr. Henry said, in making the announcement, "the Government has decided that it is incumbent upon it to push all work which it reasonably can during the present season."

Hon. Mr. Henry said that the decision had been made to undertake an additional fifty miles of road paving during the present season. Work would, he declared, be carried out in places which still formed gaps in the Provincial Highway system.

HASTINGS ROAD TO GET LIGHTS

Several Places on This Road Have Needed Lights For a Long Time But at Last They Have Come.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—At a joint meeting of the Seymour Council and a special committee of the Town Council, arrangements were made providing for the installation of electric lights, on the Hastings road from the town limits to Beatty's Grove, a matter which has been discussed for some time.

There are poles along this thoroughfare carrying light from the municipal plant to the farm of Councillor McKelvie, the poles having been erected and the wires strung at Mr. McKelvie's expense. Another wire will be put up on these poles and six lights will be installed, the cost to be borne by the Township Council. The town will furnish the juice free, the township to keep the line in repair. Engineer Scott of the Water and Light Commission will have general supervision.

This was the agreement reached at the joint meeting but before becoming effective it will be submitted to the Town Council for approval.

FORECAST FOR WHEAT OUTPUT

inety-three Million Bushels Less Than Last Year.

WSHINGTON, June 10.—(Canadian Press). — Ninety-three million bushels less than last year was forecast yesterday by the Department of Agriculture from June 1 conditions. Winter wheat prospects declined 44,000,000 bushels in the month since May 1, due mainly to drought, cold weather, insects and disease, in the principal producing States. Kansas' prospects decline 21,000,000 bushels. East of the Rocky Mountains it was the coldest May in thirty years, with two exceptions, 1907 and 1917, both of which years were followed by cold Junes. The effect on crops was marked. Favorable weather from now on, however, may cause very material change in prospects.

Smaller crops than last year of oats, barley and rye were forecast but a bumper crop of peaches is in prospect, probably the fourth largest on record. In the South and East the peach crop is large, in California, Colorado and Utah it is reported good, but in the north central States, the crops is in poor condition, due to freezes.

May was five to six degrees below normal in most of the corn belt States, one to four degrees below normal in the cotton belt States, and three degrees or more above normal in the Pacific States, where the weather was warmer than any other May on record except 1897. As a result spring wheat conditions were five per cent. lower, June 1, than on that date during the last 30 years for which comparable figures are available. Oats showed the lowest conditions on record for June 1, excepting in 1907, and barley the lowest condition of which there is record, excepting 1898.

Dog was unable to appear in court against Lynch although it is said it will recover, despite earlier reports to effect that it would have to be shot because of its condition.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

The concert by the Peterborough Symphony Orchestra in Victoria Park on Sunday evening was a splendid success inasmuch as it served to introduce the organization to hundreds of citizens to whom it was, before this occasion, only a name.

Many residents of Peterborough who had read of the orchestra's triumphs in Toronto had never heard it play before, and the quality of the programme was a revelation.

The experiment of an out-door concert by an organization in which stringed instruments play such an important part was successful, and the remaining programmes by the orchestra will be looked forward to eagerly by the large audience which enjoyed Sunday evening's offerings.

Such numbers as the Sextette from "Lucia," the Anvil Chorus from "Il Trovatore," the selection from "Faust," the haunting descriptive number "In a Monastery Garden" and the familar hymns, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" and "Lead Kindly Light," were very effectively played.

In giving a series of Sunday evening park concerts the Symphony Orchestra comes into its proper sphere as a community organization.

It has been introduced to the citizens generally, and the result will be beneficial to both the public and the orchestra, which will number many new friends at the conclusion of its programmes.

A GOOD THING FOR PETERBOROUGH.

The conference at Rochester, N. Y., tomorrow between representatives of the C.N.R. and the United States railways affected and representatives of municipalities and organizations in this district in regards to the feasibility of a ferry service for motor cars between Rochester and Cobourg, is one in which Peterborough is greatly interested.

If it is possible to arrange for the transportation of automobiles on the cross-lake ferry boats the influx of motorists into this section of Ontario will be greatly augmented, as the trip will naturally be considerably shorter as a result.

Many automobilists from the Rochester district visit Peterborough as it is, and there is every reason for believing that their numbers would be materially increased if the proposed accommodation can be arranged.

At the same time, too, local motorists wishing to go to that section of New York State would find the ferry service of very great benefit to them, so that in two ways the project is deserving of local support.

Peterborough will be represented on the deputation visiting Rochester tomorrow, and the local delegates will have the best wishes of their fellow-citizens, who would be delighted to learn that the mission has been successful.

Peterborough, already looming large on the motor tourists' map, would in that event speedily assume more important proportions.

THE TROUBLESOME REDS.

The greatest menace to the existence of the Labour Government in Great Britain, as the Examiner sees it, is not to be found among its political opinions, but in the element in Labour's ranks which seeks to impose its will not only upon Labour but upon the whole country.

The strike which threatens to stop the operations of the underground railways is an example.

Here is a disturbance not recognized or sanctioned or ordered by the labour unions.

Instead it was ordered by an unofficial committee which is described as "dominated by Communist influences."

The Communists are not satisfied with the manner in which the Labour Government is taking hold of its duties.

The members of the Government naturally find things different when seen from the inside, responsibility has had a steadying influence and the pet theories and doctrines of the Reds have been thrown overboard.

The Communists are not blind to the change, and it seems to be their ambition to cause all the trouble they can—even to the event of wrecking the Labour Government if they can find a way to do it effectively.

The MacDonald Government will have to grasp the nettle firmly.

GIVING THE BOY A CHANCE.

The support of local service clubs, such as the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, is being sought on behalf of the industrial farm for delinquent boys which the Ontario Government proposes to establish near Bowmanville.

There is no doubt that these organizations, one of the objects of which is to give the underprivileged boy a better chance in life, will co-operate in the Government's plans so far as is impossible for them to do.

The farm colony plan is based upon the Shaubridge Farm in Quebec, which is said to be the leading institution of its kind on the Continent and which is already giving splendid results.

The idea is to provide the juvenile delinquent with a fair opportunity to grow up into a useful and a good citizen.

The old plan of sending young offenders in with older boys in reformatories or in jails was never a sound one.

The youngster thrown in with more hardened offenders stood in great danger of developing into a confirmed criminal.

The influence was always bad.

The new method removes the menace of the older criminal and substitutes a system of education and character-building that is bound to have results on all but the most hopeless material.

The Government need not worry about public support for humanitarian measures of this kind—it will be readily forthcoming.

Ontario's wealth is estimated at $7,353,000,000. Have you got your share?

TRAGEDY OF THE MARITIMES.

Press despatches, a few days ago, told of an association being formed in the Maritime Provinces for the purpose of inducing their people to stay at home and try to bring back those who have moved to the West or migrated to the United States, says the Vancouver Morning Sun.

It is a last desperate effort to maintain the vital spark of population in a wonderful country that has been crushed between the Scylla of false politics and the Charybdis of violated economic laws.

And while the handwriting of extinction is inexorably written on the walls of the Maritimes, this effort to regain population is a tribute to the courage and fighting qualities of a splendid community that has seen, in the past few years, a steady stream of its young men moving to other sections that have not been caught in the whirlpool of adverse economic circumstances.

The extent of that migration from the Maritimes is appalling. In the Kent by-election of 1923 it was found that there were 1,900 less voters on the list than in 1921.

But courageous and vigorous as this present effort to regain population may be, it is totally unavailing.

Communities cannot be held together by societies. They cannot be held together by home ties. Even the pull of family relationships cannot prevent the departure of the fledglings when the soft feathers of the nest begin to fall out.

The first desire of youth is to make a good living—to make money. And a community that is not in a position to gratify that desire is doomed to depopulation.

Confederation prevented the Maritimes from trading with New England. Freight rates prevent the Maritimes from trading with the productive areas of Canada. Cut off from the United States by a political line and from Canada by an economic line, the Maritimes are in a process of atrophy.

It is a tragedy that Canadians must not see repeated.

NOT YET FIVE YEARS OLD.

Poland is being taken to task by a lecturer—who has come all the way from England to preach the gospel of the great international brotherhood of the League of Nations—for its "militaristic attitude" and for the fortifying of her frontiers.

Poland today is the "one blot on an otherwise hopeful outlook of the European situation." "The army of Poland, a young country not five years old, is already larger than that of Austria-Hungary before the war," was the astonishing indictment of the speaker.

"Poland, a young country not yet five years old." Let us throw all the history books aside. The stories of a gallant nation struggling for centuries against the encroachment of hostile neighbors are myths. The stirring deeds of heroism by such devoted patriots as Poniatowski, Dombrowski and Kosciusko are fables by which our elders and teachers cheated us and mocked our intelligence. The partition of 1772 was a delusion and that of 1793 a dream. The grasping selfishness of Russia in 1796, when the Government of the Czar seized all that was left of Poland, according to the word that has been handed down to us, is a mere fiction. "Poland is only five years old!"

"Poland is only five years old." The hordes of the Tartars were invented and the prosperity which Casimir brought to the country is a piece of gifted imagination. And because she is so young her militaristic outlook is all the more indefensible. Of course, if the statement were true and if Poland had not been the cock pit of Europe, her borders trampled on and every sense of international justice defied, there might be some excuse for protest against Poland's action and her outlook. It is because of the history of the last five centuries and more especially of the last 150 years that Poland is recruiting a great army.

Yet even in the last five years Poland has not been ignored by her rapacious neighbor. It is only three years ago since Bolshevists of Russia with the largest army ever put into the field by the Soviet Government made a swift descent on the plains of Poland and hammered their way through to the gates of Warsaw only to be turned back at the very outskirts of the city with the same sterling courage and the same grim determination that the Turks were turned back from Vienna by John Sobieski or the Huns were foiled in their attack on Verdun.

Poland even today has no assurance that the attacks will not be repeated. It is not so many months ago since Trotsky announced that the day would come when the defeat within sigh tof Warsaw would be avenged and "Russia will claim her own as she claimed if after the retreat from Moscow." It is not much good building homes while such a neighbor breathes fire and torment on every possible occasion. The nations of Europe admit the claim of France that she has the right to fortify her boundary against possible attack lest she be caught unawares as she was in 1870. No one questions the equity of France building fortresses on her eastern border, but for Poland to do the same thing against an enemy far more powerful and with far more to gain by attack is called a blot upon Europe.

Poland's fortified boundary cannot be explained unless we re-read our history and then take a big atlas of Europe to study her place in the world. No one can gaze at a map of Central Europe and see how Poland is squeezed in by hostile neighbors and yet wonder why she protects her boundaries with barbed wire.

It is not Poland, but Bolshevist Russia seeking to propagate its pernicious doctrines by physical force, that is a blot upon Europe.

Then, after all, it is not Poland that is not yet five years old, but the League of Nations, for whom the lecturer speaks. Youth is prone to flights of imagination and exaggeration.—Montreal Star.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 10.—Cattle receipts yesterday were much lighter than last week with a goodly proportion of finished. The receipts were 223 cars—3,765 cattle, 760 calves, 3,099 hogs and 606 sheep and lambs. In addition to this 275 cattles were billed through for export and for sale here. Prices for heavy export cattle were a little better and quality considered, heavy choice steers were at about the level of two weeks ago. The export buyers were busy all morning and appear to be taking any quality loads, 1,250 lbs. and up at an average of $8 a cwt. and higher.

Good butchers 'cattle were $7.50 to $7.65 a cwt. and some choice 1,100 lbs. were a little over $8. Average handyweight butchers' steers and heifers sold at $7 to $7.25 and poor mediums at $6.50. One butchers' cow brought $6.75 a cwt. and other good ones $6.25 to $6.40. Good medium cows sold at $5.25 to $5.50. The run of bulls was light and prices were steady. A choice bull sold at $6 a cwt, and another at $5.75. Baby beeves were firmer. One top made $10 a cwt. and others of good quality $9. The market for export and butchers' cattle was variably estimated at steady to 10 to 15 cents a cwt. higher, with the latter view predominant. Stockers and feeders were inactive. One load of 26 western steers, 900 lbs. each sold at $5.80 a cwt. The exporters expect to get 500 to 600 cattle and the market looks like a fair cleanup.

Calves were abtu steady but with too few of the outstanding kind which would bring 11 cents a pound. The average good calf sold from 9 to 10 cents and mediums 7 to 8 cents. Common calves remain a slow sale at 4 to 5 cents.

Lambs dropped a full dollar a cwt. and choice ones did not bring over 18 cents a pound. For the good kind the price range was from 16½ to 18 cents. Common lambs sold at 10 to 12 cents. Yearlings are selling at $12.50 a cwt. and handyweight sheep at $8 a cwt., but heavy sheep are not much wanted.

Hogs were unsettled in price, but no lower than the quotation which on Saturday were raised to $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b. Sellers were asking $8 f.o.b. yesterday morning.

This Estate is Yours —For the Taxes

Suppose someone should offer you a valuable piece of property on condition that you keep the taxes paid during your lifetime—at your death clear title to the property to pass to your family. That would be a very attractive proposition wouldn't it?

But if in addition it should be guaranteed to you

(1) that the value of the estate will not shrink,

(2) that the rates, which are lower than tax rates of most Canadian cities will never be increased, wouldn't you accept a $10,000, $25,000 or $50,000 estate?

This is just the proposition offered you by the London Life Insurance Company in its new Jubilee Policy—the product of fifty years' service.

Example—

An insurance estate set up in 1923 by a young man age 31.

Value of estate.....$10,000.00
Annual taxes (premium) 188.50

Rate: approximately 19 mills on the dollar,—reduced in 1924 to 18 mills.

A Life Insurance Estate is one of the most valuable and stable assets you could have—and so easy to secure under this plan. Ask one of our representatives to explain it to you or write to—

Agriculture Students Shouldn't Get Flapper

DAVIS, Cal., June 10.—Men of the student body at the Davis branch of the College of Agriculture, University of California, have petitioned Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the university, to make their school a co-educational institution.

The young farmers want domestic science and home economics added to the curriculum, so that women students will be drawn. One student explained when he returns to the soil an educated farmer, he "wants a wife educated as a farmer's helpmate.

KIWANIS CLUB CONVENTION

The eighth annual convention of the Kiwanis Club International, which includes over 1250 clubs in that many cities of the United States and Canada, and a membership of over 89,000 will be held in Denver, Colorado, June 16-19.

Over 6,000 official delegates and members representing all sections of the two countries will attend the convention.

The work of the convention will be discussed and action on ways and means to carry out the following four major subjects: (1) The emphasis and intensification of service on behalf of under-privileged children. (2) The development of better relations between the farmer and the city man. (3) The aggressive development of a co-operative spirit towards the Chambers of Commerce and the co-ordination of activities. (4) The fostering of a fuller realization of the responsibilities of patriotic citizenship.

Reports from the various International committees will deal with the various phases of these subjects and will include action on the recommendations that the Kiwanis Club International favor the budget system of administration in government affairs, favor the tax reduction programme in municipal, state and federal government, favor the reduction in money costs of government and in the number of persons employed. The report of the Canadian section of the International committee on public affairs will deal with the recommendation for an annual observance of a Canadian citizenship week and a recommendation that the Kiwanis clubs of Canada favor universal peace as a policy. The general public affairs report to be presented will call for greater augmentation of moral and spiritual thought in community life.

The general report will further recommend that the International organization be represented at the National Motion Picture conference and at the world conference for the suppression of the narcotic evil. The report will call the attention of the convention to the approval given to the bill now pending in United States Congress, calling for the segregation of the sexes in federal prisons, and will outline the relief given to Japan through the Red Cross in response to the call of President Coolidge.

TheCanadian report will discuss Canadian immigration, particularly that part of it dealing with the plan of the British government to send for several thousand British boys between the ages of 14 and 18 to arrive under agreement of engagement by the farmers. The Canadian Pacific Railway has donated a hotel and the Montreal Kiwanis Club has equipped and furnished it to take care of these boys. The report will further deal with the fact that there has been no authoritative treatise was prepared by the dean of the faculty of arts of the McGill University, an authority on International law, dealing with these problems and with the relations between Canada and Great Britain in all government departments, which treatise was published by the Montreal Kiwanis club, who owns the copyright.

Another report that will be presented will be that on service to the under-privileged child, which work is an outstanding feature of the service of all Kiwanis clubs.

Features of the convention will include what is known as "All-Kiwanis Night," when all of the clubs in the United States and Canada will meet simultaneously at the same hour at the opening session of the convention at Denver, on the evening of June 16. All of the clubs of the continent will arrange their meetings in accord with the difference in time. A particular feature of this special meeting will be the "Zero Hour", a fifteen minute period when all the clubs will observe exactly the same programme, consisting of a fellowship moment of silence, a message from the International president and fellowship and patriotic songs. This is the first time in the history of Kiwanis or any other similar organization as far as is known that such a simultaneous meeting has ever been arranged. It is one of the most outstanding examples of unified action that has been attempted in this country and much interest will be attached to the meeting because it will demonstrate the national significance of the possibilities of such unified action by a voluntary service organization.

A number of radio stations throughout the country will broadcast special programmes on that night.

Other features will be the awarding of prizes to the winners of the annual attendance contest, which was held by all clubs this spring and an impressive pageant entitled "The Spirit of the West," which will show the progress from early pioneer days to the present.

An address will be made by Fred R. Marvin, associate editor of the New York Commercial, who will speak on "That Thing Called Boleshivism"; Carl J. Baer, Manager of the Development Service Bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, who will speak on the "Interdependence of Town and Country" and Honorable R. J. Manion, M.P., of Fort William, Canada, who will speak on "The True Values of Life".

Two nationally prominent community song leaders, Jules Brazil, of Toronto, and Peter W. Dykema of the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, will lead the singing by the entire assembly in the large municipal auditorium.

The officers of the Kiwanis Club International are: President, Edmund F. Arras, Columbus, Ohio; Immediate Past President, George H. Ross, Toronto, Canada; First Vice-President, Henry C. Heinz, Altanta, Georgia; Second Vice-President, Douglas J. Scott, Winnipeg, Canada; Third Vice-President, George E. Snell, Billings, Montana; Secretary, Fred C. W. Parker, Chicago, Illinois; Treasurer, Russell E. Ward, Jackson, Michigan; Chairman District Governors, Lewis Mitchell, Buffalo, New York.

BAD BLOOD PIMPLES AND BOILES

Banished By Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worm, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 10. — Generous rainfalls that for the present did away with dry weather as a market factor brought about declines in the wheat prices yesterday, the decidedly bullish character of the government crop report this afternoon being unforseen. Wheat closed steady 3-8c to 3-4c lower; July $1.04 1-4 and September $1.05 3-8 to $1.05 ½ with corn showing 1-4c to 7-8c advance; oats unchanged to 1-8c to 1-4c off and provisions varying from the same as Saturday's finish to 5 and 7c down.

It was generally expected that the government crop report as to wheat would prove somewhat bullish and this circumstance helped to keep the wheat market from any sharper setback as a result of the rains northwest, both sides of the Canadian line. Business throughout the day was largely in the nature of evening up to prepare for the government figures but nothing developed beforehand to indicate that the official forecast would show such a radical curtailment of the estimated production as turned out to be the case when the report reached Chicago after the Board of Trade session had ended.

Some export inquiry for wheat to be shipped by way of the Gulf of Mexico was in evidence, but otherwise the demand from Europe was slow on account of the Whitsuntide holiday abroad.

Announcement of 3,916,000 bushels decrease in the United States visible supply was without much apparent effect on the market, the total supply being still about eight million bushels more than last year.

Unseasonable cold weather that hampered planting and interfered with growth and was responsible for the price upturns in corn. Scarcity of supplied steadied the oats market.

News Of Cobourg And The Surrounding District.

COBOURG, June 9.—Jack Laurenchuck, a Russian, who was killed in Hamilton last week by the police while a revolver duel was going on between him and the police, who were trying to take him in charge for housebreaking, it is stated, is believed to have been one of the gang who broke into P. McCallum & Sons, W. L. Allen's stores, and Plunkett's coal office here last year. At the latter place a safe was cracked but no loot was secured. A large amount of silks was stolen from McCallum's, and the greater part of this was found hidden under piles of leaves on a side street, where the gang had abandoned an auto that had broken down while they were endeavouring to get away with their plunder. Laurenchuck, it is alleged, had quite a police record for safe cracking and theft.

Mr. Norman Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Davidson, was taken to the Cobourg General Hospital ill at the beginning of last week, and on to the Cobourg General Hospital ill at Wednesday underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Death of John Cornell.

John Cornell, a former resident of Percy Township, died at the home for the aged here on Tuesday. He was 78 years of age. Interment took place in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Has Returned Home.

Mr. Gordon Davey, of Precious Corners, who recently had an operation at the hospital here, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his home.

Foot Was Injured.

John May, D'Arcy Street, met with an unfortunate accident at the plant of the Dominion Wheel and Foundries, when a wheel fell on his foot, crushing his big toe.

Two Excursions Coming.

Cobourg is to be the rendezvous this week of two excursion parties. On Wednesday the Toronto Retail Grocers are to come here by boat. On Saturday the employees of the Canadian General Electric are to have their annual outing here.

Customs Duties Are Less.

The Customs duties at the Port of Cobourg for the month of May were $24,718.93. This is some $1,700 less than they were for the corresponding month last year, when the figures were $26,425.54. The reduction is probably due to receipts from coal being less, as general business kept up well.

Johnston Bros., who have done considerable work in the provincial highway west of Oshawa during the past two years, have been given the contract it is understood, for the stretch of highway between Oshawa and Bowmanville. Work on this contract is expected to start shortly.

the majority must give up the idea of union. It was therefore impossible to proceed.

Dr. Murray then pointed out why at the present time any attempt at conciliation was impossible. A court action had been entered upon. Writs had been issued. The opponents of union knew that under these circumstances any concession or appearance of concession by the unionists could be used against them in the courts. Conciliation before court action was possible, conciliation after court action was impossible, there was another reason why conciliation was impossible. The opponents of union were depending for their success in the matter of property on the decision of the privy council in the case of the church and they knew that if they conceded one jot, and one tittle they would be out of court. They could not make the concession of a single hair, because it was their adherence of the last iota of the Westminster Confession that gave the Wee Frees $60,000,000 of property. The anti unionists could concede nothing, they knew it, and they knew the conference and conciliation so far as they were concerned were out of the question.

Dr. Murray then referred to the Lorelei, the Boatman on the River, who heard the song of the siren, and went down in the rapids, he warned the Assembly not to hear the song of the present siren. It was a time of deadly peril. Clear heads and strong wrists were needed, clear heads and strong wrists would bring them safely through.

POLICE GUARD

handwriting experts at 166 Jackson Boulevard, where photographic copies were made of every bit of Leopold's and Loeb's handwriting, or hand printing that has fallen into his hands. J. Fordyce Woods and John M. Tyrrell, handwriting experts superintended the work.

The prosecution's case was further rounded out by the arrival here of Andy Russo, employed in the Mott Haven yards of the Pullman Company, who found the train letter addressed to Jacob Franks, and telling him how to throw the money to the kidnappers of his son.

New Witness Arrives.

Russo to-day will tell the Grand Jury of finding the letter where the boys in their confessions said it would be discovered.

Russo's story carries just such another indication of the fate that pursued the murderer-adventurers to their downfall when they failed to push their victim's body just an inch or two more into the culvert; also when Leopold accidentally dropped his glasses, and when they overlooked the possibility of the chauffeur, Sven Englund, telling of working on the car at the same time Leopold had said he was using it.

Russo explained that the racks in which the letter was placed almost invariably are cleaned after each trip. The note was inserted in the rack of the car "Quarren" on 22nd May. Russo found it on 31st May.

At first he thought it was a hoax. He said:

Nearly Destroyed Note.

"I told friends about it, and they, too, said it was a fake. I started to tear it up, but they said it might be a good stunt to save it.

"For no reason at all I put it in my locker on 1st June. Then my boss called me to say that Chicago police, with the help of Pullman officials, had traced the car to Mott Haven and wanted to know if I had seen anything of the letter. I produced it."

Another important step was made yesterday by State Attorney Crowe toward completing his case. Just after each boy had made his confession in the small hours of Saturday morning a week ago, Loebs confession was read to Leopold. The latter took notes at those points where there was disagreement with his own statements. When Leopold's confession was read to Loeb, the latter noted on paper the differences with his declarations. These notes were seized.

PORT HOPE MAN GETS 3 MONTHS

French Section Hand Charged With Stealing Cheque From Fellow Employee and Forging It.

PORT HOPE, June 9.— Joseph Richard, a Frenchman employed on the C.N.R. section gang, appeared before Magistrate Campbell this morning on two charges of stealing and forgery.

It appears that on June 3rd, 1924 Richard stole from the clothing of his fellow employee, J. Cortemanche, at the boarding cars on the C.N.R. siding a cheque amounting to $6.12.

The charge of forgery was then laid against him, "That Richard did unlawfully and knowingly forge a certain C.N.R. pay cheque on the Bank of Toronto in favour of J. Cortemanche and did cash same at the store of Sanders Electric Co.

Richard does not speak English and when questioned by the interpreter as to why he stole this cheque, the only reason he could give was that the night previous to this Cortemanche came into the cars late and knowing that Richard had some photographs in his pocket he went to his coat to investigate. Richard happened to be awake, noticed this and thought that if Cortemanche had any right to be looking through his pockets he had just as much right to look through Cortemanche's. But he did not state any definite reason for stealing the cheque.

Richard pleaded guilty to both charges, and on the charge of stealing Magistrate Campbell imposed a fine of $5.00 and costs, or one month's hard labour, and on the charge of forgery, which was a more serious offence, he was sentenced to two months' hard labour at Cobourg.

The prisoner is 21 years of age and his home is at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec. He is a single man, but has two sisters, and one brother. His mother is living in St. Hyacinthe, but his father is dead.

Magistrate Campbell stated that he would see that the 56.12 was returned to Mr. Sanders and the cheque to J. Cortemanche.

The court then adjourned as Magistrate Campbell was called to Millbrook to hear a trespass case.

Vive la Chocolate!

PARIS recently celebrated the 400th anniversary of the introduction of chocolate into Europe. Paris does things like that. Paris loves its "chocolatte" and remembers that early prejudice almost succeeded in denying this delicious confection to the French people.

All that France has discovered in 400 years as to the use of chocolate in candy form has been learned by Moir's candy makers. Her succulent flaming red cherries, ripened in the south and providing perhaps the most delicious of all chocolate centres, like a ruby afloat in a nectar-filled globe — is one of the many things Moirs import from France.

In Canada Moirs have been identified for many years with the blending and combining of the world's finest chocolate with all the high quality materials that may be gathered in for candy-making from all corners of the world.

MOIRS LIMITED HALIFAX

France

Anne of Austria, wife of Louis XIII, introduced chocolate into the French court. And what a howl there was! —it was declared that babies whose mothers indulged were almost sure to be chocolate, in shade.

But this libel was left unproven and Paris ever since has been absorbing great quantities of chocolate in the form of bon-bons, cakes and liquids.

LAKEFIELD A.Y.P.A. HELD GOOD MEETING

Delegates Present from all parts of the district

LAKEFIELD, June 9.—The regular meeting of the Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. for the District of Peterboro was held in the Lakefield Memorial Hall on Thursday evening with the president, Miss B. Graham, in the chair. Delegates were present to the number of 100, from the branches of All Saint's, St. George's, St. Luke's and St. John's, Peterboro, Omemee, Millbrook and Lakefield. It was decided to hold the District Council picnic on Thursday, July 10 to Wallace's Point, All Saint's branch of Peterboro being asked to provide the sports committee this year. For the past two years Mrs. Trude Waldon and Mrs. Stenner of Lakefield have acted in that capacity very capably.

St. Johns', St. George's, St. Luke's and All Saint's of Peterboro will form an A.Y.P.A. Tennis League. Christ Church, Omemee and St. John's, Lakefield have organized clubs and hope next year to enter the league. This year they hope to have some exhibition games arranged.

Rev. Walter Cox, rector of St. John's, Lakefield, gave an address, stressing the importance of the place which the A.Y.P.A. is taking in the life of the church, it is a testing experience and it has been tried and found to be a good thing. It utilizes the youthful forces of the church and no church can afford to be without a branch because no church can afford to be inactive. The A.Y.P.A. is a booster society and the world stands for boosters but not for knockers. The speaker commends the interparish visiting as it helps to stave off the evil of being too parochial. There are four planks in the A.Y.P.A. platform—worship, work, fellowship and edification, each of equal length and each one very important.

Mr. Robert Stone of Millbrook invited the Local Council to meet in St. Thomas schoolroom, Millbrook, on the first Thursday in September.

The Lakefield Branch served refreshments after which the pleasant evening was brought to a close in the usual manner.

AVIATORS SURRENDERED

Peaceable End To Bloodless Mutiny Near Lisbon.

LISBON, June 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The siege over the military aviation officers who mutinied last week and entrenched themselves in the aviation camp at Amadora, near Lisbon, ended yesterday. The General of the Division to which the mutinous men belonged, accompanied by 45 officers, all of them unarmed, entered the airdrome and made a speech to the aviators, who surrendered and thus avoided bloodshed.

The mutiny of the aviators in Portugal was due to the appointment of a new aviation chief. Colonel Marias Sarmiento, in place of their dismissed chief, Major Duarte.

Lady Hamilton Watched Nelson Draw His Plans

POOLE, England, June 10.—A naval officer staying at the old inn, "Lord Nelson," situated on the quay here, recently discovered some curious scratchings on the wainscot of his room. Investigation revealed these to be plans of naval battles drawn by Lord Nelson who stayed at that inn with Lady Hamilton. Other marks and scratchings have been identified as dating back to the days of the sea-dogs of the Elizabethan age.

WARM WEATHER GOOD FOR LATE SEEDING

OMEMEE, June 9.—The warm dry weather of the past week, has been a wonderful help to the farmers, who have not finished seeding yet, and the growth of garden stuff is indeed remarkable.

Early potatoes are beginning to peep through the ground, which shows that the recent severe frost did not injure the seed.

Early apple trees are out in full bloom and prospects look bright for a good crop.

NEW MINISTRY TAKES OFFICE

Newfoundland Has Cabinet Headed by Walter Monroe Announced Last Night.

NO CONTEST.

ST. JOHN'S, N.F. June 10 (Canadian Press). — Premier Albert Hickman, whose party was defeated in the Newfoundland general election on 2nd June, presented his resignation to Governor Allardyce yesterday, and Walter Monroe was invited to form a ministry.

The new Premier, whose party was given a commanding majority in the election, asumed office late yesterday.

The new Cabinet, as announced last night, is as follows:

Walter Monroe, Premier and Minister of Education; William Higgins, Minister of Justice; John Bennett, Colonial Secretary; Sir John Crosbie, Minister of Finance; William Woodford, Postmaster-General; Alfred Morine, leader of the Upper House; Michael Sullivan, Richard Cramm, Gordon Bradley, and Joseph Long, Ministers without portfolio.

Ministers outside the Cabinet are: William Walsh, Agriculture; William Windsor, Fisheries; and Charles Russell, Public Works.

It was also intimated that the Legislature would be summoned to meet within two weeks to enable the passage of some of the money votes before the new fiscal year bgins on 1st July.

The Monroe Government last night issued a proclamation setting the date for by-elections for all the members of the Cabinet who have accepted portfolios. This is in accordance with the constitutional provision that a member of the Assembly who "accepts a position of emolument under the Crown" must present himself for re-election.

Nomination day is fixed for 20th June, and polling day will be 30th June. It was not believed here that the elections would be contested.

LAUSANNE

presented. He mentioned that he had sent a copy of this communication to Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, who was also a member of the Privy Council, some days ago.

Not wishing to embarrass the British Government regarding the question of representation, the reply of October 31, 192, was sent, which made it clear that the extent to which Canada might be held to be bound was a matter for the Parliament of Canada to decide.

The question had arisen as to how Canada had come to be at war with Turkey. The facts disclosed that his majority, the King, having declared war, His Majesty's Ministers felt that they should go ahead and conclude the war. The intimations from the British Government had gone further than the mere ending of the war as obligations were referred to. It was for this reason that the Canadian Government hastened to make clear Canada's position regarding binding obligations.

Public Misinformed.

The British public, through the British Parliament, had not been informed accurately as to Canada's position. The different parts of the Empire had been misinformed by the editorial in the London Times of April 29, 1924, which stated that the Prime Minister of Canada had agreed to Lord Curzon as the Imperial representative. The statement of the Times was erroneous, said Mr. King. Canada had never been asked to accept Lord Curzon as the Imperial representative. On the contrary, the despatches from the British Government stated that Lord Curzon would represent Canada and gave reasons for this arrangement.

The Times article had stated that at the Imperial Conference Lord Curzon had explained the Lausanne Treaty and that Mr. King's voice was not heard in dissent. "Here again I am placed in a position of embarrassment," said Mr. King.

The proceedings of the conference were for the most part secret and because he had not disclosed the proceedings, opponents had said that he had been silent and was in accord with all that was done. It had been understood at the Imperial Conference that the Prime Ministers would disclose to their parliaments the proceedings of the conference. At the Imperial Conference, Premier King went on, he had made Canada's position clear in the matter. He had recently cabled the British Government directing the attention of the Prime Minister of Great Britain to his words as recorded in the proceedings of the conference. Mr. King resented the charge that he had been silent at the Imperial Conference on the subject of the Lauranne Treaty.

It was recorded in the minutes of the conference at present on file at the Foreign Office that Mr. King had said that it might not be possible for the Canadian Government to express formal concurrences to the treaty.

"There is the Mischief."

Mr. Meighen asked if these minutes had been made public.

Mr. King: "No, there again is the mischief of the situation."

The Prime Minister declared that the Dominion Government had never raised the question of Canada not being bound by the treaty. "We never said the Lausanne Treaty would not bind the Empire," he stated. "The Dominion Government had never questioned the fact that when this treaty was ratified it was binding on Canada. The action of the King in ratifying the treaty bound the whole Empire, but the extent of this country's obligation in regard to maintaining the treaty was a matter for the Dominion Parliament to decide.

Mr. Meighen asked if Canada's position then was not exactly the same as it was in the case of the treaty of Versailles.

Mr. King replied that he thought not. In the case of the Versailles treaty Canadian Ministers with authority from the Canadian Parliament had been in attendance.

L. H. Martell (Liberal, Hants) interjected the remark that, in spite of assertions to the contrary by the Prime Minister and leader of the Opposition, Canada still had merely Colonial status.

Mr. King replied that if the Govment was to accept the view that the Dominion could be bound by any action which a Minister in London took, this country would dwindle to Colonial status. Out of the war had arisen the doctrine of fuller equality of status among the various parts of the British Empire. If this Government had not maintained that status, the leader of the Opposition would have been the first to protest. The Government was asked why it did not bring down the Lausanne Treaty for approval of the House. The reason was that the Government did not believe Parliament would approve it. The Government was required to take the responsibility for submitting to Parliament what it thought should be submitted and for withholding what should be withheld.

The premier supported his position by citing a declaration by Sir Robert Borden that four conditions were involved in negotiation of treaties which effected Canada. These were: (1) the direct representation of Canada in the negotiations; (2) signature by a represenative of Canada; (3) approval by the Canadian parliament, and (4) assent by the government of Canada to ratification by the King. Further Mr. King read from the correspondence in regard to the treaty a telegram, dated Dec. 31, 1922, in which the British government was informed that Canada could not be expected to follow the procedure adopted in the case of the peace treaties. That telegram was despatched, he pointed out, before the imperial conference and if the British government had any objection to the Canadian attitude that objection should have been stated at the conference.

After arguing that the procedure of the Canadian Government was in accordance with the resolution passed at the Imperial conference last summer the Prime Minister directed attention to the treaty of Lausanne itself, which, he said, was either nominal or carried with it great obligations. He believed that he had evidence that in view of the British Government Canada was not represented at Lausanne. In support of this statement he cited the speech of Lord Parmoor in the House of Lords on February 28 last in which Lord Parmoor had spoken of "the representative of this country," not of the British Empire. In the same debate, said Mr. King, Lord Curzon had mentioned the representation of "Great Britain," but not of the Dominion. The Premier further quoted Professor Keith, the English constitutional expert, as authority for the statement that legally Canada was bound by the ratification of the treaty, unless formally excluded from it, but that such ratification left the Canadian Parliament free as regards obligations under the treaty.

Mr. Meighen asked whether Mr. King considered that Canada was bound by ratifictaion as much as Great Britain.

"Certainly not," replied Mr. King.

Mr. Meighen then pointed out that Prof. Keith had stated that Canada was "as much bound as the rest of the Empire."

Might Be Annexation.

The Prime Minister spoke of three possible future developments in Canadian affairs. There might be complete independence, there might be annextion with the United States or there might be more clearly recognized nationhood within the commonwealth of the British Empire. It was because the Prime Minister believed so strongly in the third of these three possible futures that he had been willing to risk censure in taking the stand of Canada as a nation with the empire having gained equality of status with the other dominions and the mother country. What was needed most of all was a united Canada that would have one aim and one purpose and find its unity within the British Empire.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, said that while all the communications with Great Britain regarding the Lausanne treaty had not been made public, the Prime Minister had placed before him the despatches not yet disclosed. He was under obligation not to reveal these despatches. And he believed that the Prime Minister was not within his rights in discussing the nature of some of the despatches in question. If the proceedings of the Imperial Conference were to be veiled in secrecy let them remain so. It was the Prime Minister's duty to see that his stand should have appeared in the records that could be made public. The understanding that a Prime Minister could make public certain proceedings to his Parliament could not possibly mean that he could invade what the conference had put the seal of secrecy upon.

Mr. Meighen agreed with the Prime Minister that the Canadian people desired that our destiny should be worked out as a self-governing dominion, a self-governing nation, within the British Empire. Such being the case that destiny should be honorably pursued in honorable co-operation with the self-governing dominions. Thta was the heart's desire of the Canadian people, who believed that it was for the good the world and that it was also the best method for attaining the ultimtae end of Canada. He agreed that the only alternative, independence, meant that we should be within the orbit of the great republic.

If this then was to be the future of Canada, it was necessary that we should insist on the full exercise of our self-governing powers. Never was there a time, he remarked, when there was less desire on the part of the British people to abbreviate these powers. If then, Canada was to remain within the British Empire, there must be cordial co-operation between the different parts of that empire. The Canadian people should seeg to find common ground with the other dominions and with Great Britain regarding foreign policy, and we should approach that problem in the spirit of friendship.

Had Canada ben true to these principles in regard to the theaty of Lausanne? Was the correspondence permeated with the spirit of co-operation? Rather was not the spirit of that correspondence that the British Government should go on and if it got into trouble Canada would decide what her course would be? The Canadian Government had been in receipt of communications from day to day, showing the progress of negotiations. Yet they had offered no assistance The result was a treaty which was binding on us as on the whole empire, but to which Canada had not contributed the least breath.

A World Empire.

The speech of the Prime Minister was quite consistent with the theory that he did not think the terms of the treaty of any importance whatever, said Mr. Meighen. If Canada had adopted the attitude that she was an interested party, had asserted herself she might have diverted the British policy from a line which was not favorable to Canada. Great Britain was not, strictly speaking, a European country. Great Britain was a world empire. Her interests extended over the seven seas, and she might unconsciously and in perfect good faith be involved in such committments as would affect injuriously one part of the Empire. Two and a half years ago Canada had asserted her viewpoint in regard to the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and as a result of this a whole line of policy had been abandoned and a line more likely to promote peace had been evolved. The Dominions of the Empire owed it to the Mother Country to advise her.

As it was now a treaty would shortly be binding upon Canada under which Great Britain entered into engagements for the de-militarization of the zone of the Straits which might involve her in conflict. Having regard to the fact that Great Britain was a world empire, he thought this was unwise. He made this statement with the reservation that all information was not available but it might have been available if Canada had pursued a different course. Canada should have taken every opportunity to assist in the direction of policy in this matter.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Meighen continued, took the ground that if it was intended Canada should say anything she should have had a definite invitation. Mr. Meighen pointed out that Canada was represented at Washington and Paris as part of the British delegation. When Great Britain suggested that Canada be contented to be represented by the British representatives, the Government should have replied that it was for them to say whether or not this country was interested. Canada had been interested in the war with Turkey. Surely she should have been interested in the peace. There should have been some man to present Canada's viewpoint.

The Government's policy in this matter, a policy "not of progress, but of retrogression," said Mr. Meighen, had landed Canada where it was thirty years ago, in the old Colonial status where we accepted a treaty without having a voice in its framing.

THE HUDSON RAILWAY NAMED AS MILITARY LINE

Engineer Reports Highway is Valuable for Police, Fire and Game Patrols.

USELESS FOR GRAIN.

Rate is Too High To Make Shipping Profitable.

OTTAWA, June 10. — Canadian Press. — While the Hudson Bay railway, in his opinion, is of no value to Western Canada as grain route, it should be retained as a "back door entrance in the military sense," D. W. McLachlan, engineer in charge of operations at Port Nelson recommended to the Department of Railways in a further report dated February 6th, 1923.

The recommendation of S. J. Hungerford that the steel from Mile 214 to Mile 349 should be taken up and used elsewhere, is not concurred in by Mr. McLachlan, who points out that the highway provided by this railway is valuable for the police, and the fire and game patrols.

Reports of Engineer McLachlan, subsequent to those of 1917 (tabled some days ago) were tabled in the House of Commons yesterday. He estimates the rate from Humboldt, Sask., as a representative shipping point to Liverpool via Port Nelson, at $12.63 per long ton. From the same point via the present lake and rail route the rate would be $12.17. Via the proposed St. Lawrence deep waterways it could be reduced to $10.96.

"Results of the above study of rates," he says, "show that as a grain route the Hudson Bay Railway is of no value to Western Canada. However the writer believes that the road can be of value as a back door entrance in the military sense, and it should be extended to the head of stern-wheel navigation on the Nelson River, 50 miles south of Port Nelson. Light equipment hauled by gas engines of the Plymouth type is all that the traffic offering will require for the 300 miles from Mile 82 to the head of navigation."

Repairs Needed.

Reports on the condition of the ties already laid indicate that they must be replaced. Large quantities of new ballast are needed to replace the "vegetable material" now used as ballast over a good part of the road. The cost of bridges will be big, said the engineer, especially that over the Airhole River, requiring a viaduct 1000 feet long, and 100 feet high. The 91 miles awaiting steel "is said to be graded but is really a mound of vegetable material," says the report.

The report dealing with Port Nelson itself grew more optimistic in later years. In 1923 it was found that the artificial island built there as a base for operations, and the bridge connecting it with the shore, had splendidly stood the test of ice action storms and tides. Surveys of 1918 had proved that it will be feasible to provide for the accommodation of ships up to 26 feet draft, "but no anchorage for the ships can be provided except at huge expense, within 22 miles of the proposed docks. Strong tidal currents and low distant shores will always prevent ships entering or leaving Port Nelson except during clear weather," the report adds. The season of navigation, Mr. McLachlan says, will be from August 20 to October 20, for tramp steamers. The harbor will not be entirely free from ice during that period however.

To accommodate such ships, the report says, four miles of dredging was necessary to 20 feet below low water, and about 4000 feet of dock wall must be built.

A report on the potential traffic from R. A. C. Henry, chief engineer of the Canadian National Railways, dated at Toronto, March 14, 1918, also tabled yesterday, agrees that the cost of handling at Port Nelson probably would be higher.

Mr. Henry thinks there is sufficient grain traffic outbound and a potential traffic inbound to make the road pay. The fact that navigation has not been proved safe, however, would prevent private companies from putting in a fleet of ships, Mr. Henry thinks, and the government would have to provide a line of vessels.

Grain would have to be left over from the previous year's crop to provide cargoes for the first ships coming in.

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

She Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could barely do my housework and washing I was so run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do every thing that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."—Mrs. MARY SAIECHECK, 944 28th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

WAYNE WHEELER MADE BIG FIND

Canadian Rum-Running Company, Involving 2000 Members Has Been Discovered.

WASHINGTON, June 10. — (United Press.)—A new Canadian rum running company has been discovered by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel here for the Anti-Saloon League. It is circularizing the country with its appeals for customers, Wheeler charges.

"The Co-operative Alliance of Montreal, headed by a Captain Archer, with William Mathewson as treasurer, seeks 2,000 members who invest from $20 to $1,000 in shipments of booze to be smuggled into the United States promising a profit of fifty per cent," Wheeler explains.

A circular of the organization made public by Wheeler, states that it is a matter of common knowledge that no serious effort is being made to prevent the importation of beer, wine, whiskey and liquors, except sporadically," and declared that "no seizures of our shipments have taken place so far, and that "our club members have not suffered one penny loss."

For the convenience of customers, orders can be placed with agents in the United States, the circular says.

COULDN'T SLEEP HEART WAS BAD NERVES A WRECK

Mr. H. A. Reid, Upper Musquodoboit, N.S., writes:—"I am very thankful fro the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

When I came home from overseas, in 1920, my heart was very badly affected by concussion, and my nerves were a dreadful wreck. I was very short winded, and could not possibly sleep at night, in fact, I was in such a condition I felt as if I did not wish anyone to speak to me. I thought I would try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had taken two boxes I could enjoy a good night's rest as well as anyone.

There are lots of returned men who are suffering the same as I did, and I feel sure that if they would only try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills they will receive the same relief that I have."

Rum Running Treaty Tabled In The House

Comes Into Effect On June 16 And Provides For Mutual Assistance.

OTTAWA, June 10.— (Canadian Press).— Premier King yesterday tabled in the House the text of the rum-running treaty between Canada and the United States. The treaty bears the signatures of Hon. Ernest Lapointe on behalf of Canada and of Secretary Hughes on behalf of the United States. As in the case of the halibut treaty, the signature of the British ambassador at Washington does not appear.

The treaty provides for exchange of information regarding ship's clearances when liquor or narcotic drugs are involved, for mutual assistance in the prosecution of persons accused of violating the laws of either country in this regard, the restoration of smuggled property, such as automobile, when these have been stolen on the other side of the boundary, and the right to transport liquor across the panhandle of Alaska when consigned to Canadian territory. The treaty comes into effect on June 16.

The American Senate has not ratified the treaty.

This statement was made in the House of Commons, by Premier King in reply to a question by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

ANGRY PRINCE SNUBS RESORT

Rumors That He Would be Paid Attraction Offend Prince of Wales.

FORTUNES THROWN AWAY

DEAUVILLE, June 10. — Strenuous efforts of "Czar" Cornuche to get the Prince of Wales to come to Deauville failed ignominiously when the heir to the British throne dashed over after the Derby to Deauville's great rival, le Touquet, which had the effect of drawing many Americans there. It is understood that the Prince was offended by rumors that he would be paid handsomely to visit Deauville, similar rumors being current when King Alphonso went there in 1922.

At the Casino scores of beautiful women, fifty per cent. of whom are Americans, are recklessly tossing fortunes onto the baccarat tables.

A. K. Macomber, California sportsman, won $20,000 before midnight, but finished up even. Mrs. Walter Hemingway, of New York, was the biggest woman winner, getting away from the tables with quite enough to pay her season's expenses.

OTTAWA, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—A list of a dozen more bills to be introduced into parliament this session by the government was given to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Premier King who added that circumstances might make it necessary to add some other pieces of legislation before prorogation. In addition to the measures to come from the committees on redistribution, banking, superannuation, soldiers and old age pensions, the prime minister announced amendments to the Dominion Elections Act, the Yukon Act, the Criminal Code, the Immigration Act, the Feeding Stuffs Act; the Dominion Land Titles Act, the gold and silver Marking Act, the Annuities Act and the Act in regard to Lake Freight Rates on grain .There would also be a bill he said to consolidate the various revenue collecting services of the government, loans to one or more harbor commissions and there might be bills to ratify certain commercial treaties.

NO HOPE FOR ESTIMATES

OTTAWA, June 10.—(Canadian Press.)— There is no immediate prospect of supplementary estimates being brought down, judging from the answer given by Hon. J. A. Robb yesterday to Sir Henry Drayton's request for information on the point. "I hope my friend won't press too closely for those estimates," said Mr. Robb. Sir Henry protested that he was serious, but Mr. Robb gave no further information.

"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes:

"During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent urination, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

A RECITAL

A very pleasing song recital was given in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, by Miss Ina Allen, artist pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, assisted by Miss Doris Parker, reader, pupil of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, and Roy Rome, violinist, a pupil of Mr. Ferdinand Fillon. There was an unusually good attendance for a late season recital.

Miss Allen, whose recital last evening was a graduating programme, in anticipation of senior examinations, has evidently been taught in a manner that has placed her voice securely and accurately. A most exacting programme, including one selection in Italian, was given entirely from memory, and delivered with ease and poise throughout. Her brilliant soprano voice was heard to advantage in a varied and interesting series of songs, her singing being noticeable for its clear cut phrasing, fidelity to pitch and intelligent delivery. The singer was literally showered with flowers, her floral tributes being unusually large in number and profusion. At the conclusion of the programme, Mr. R. Gliddon extended congratulations to Miss Allen and to her teacher, Mrs. Park.

The readings of Miss Doris Parker were excellently rendered and much enjoyed. They included Samuel W. Foss' immortal piece of philosophy, "The House by the Side of the Road," and Jean Blewett's "In Sunflower Time."

Roy Rome, a junior pupil of the Conservatory's violin department, played two very pretty numbers, in good style: Kreisler's "Andantino," and Schumann's "Traumerei." Miss Jessie Rome played piano accompaniments for her brother, and Mrs. M. C. MacKinnon played for Miss Allen, whose vocal numbers were as follows: "Be not Extreme, O Lord"—(Light of Life) by Sir Edward Elgar; "My Heart Ever Faithful"—(Pfingst Cantata) by J. S. Bach; a group of five short songs, that included two of Chaminade's graceful compositions: "To the Unknown," and "Serenata," Greig's "The Poet's Heart," Goring Thomas "A Memory," and Liszt's "The Loreley," two heavier numbers: Mozarts "Voiche Sapete," from "The Marriage of Figaro," and Massenet's "Then Weep! Thou Grief-Worn Eyes" (Le Cid), and a final group: Schubert's "Evening Boat Song," Zimbalist's Folk Song," Bishop's "Tell Me, My Heart" and Mallinson's "Snowflakes," and "The Message and the Song."

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Good Fishing From the Hastings Bridge—Baseball Game.

HASTINGS, June 10. — A large number of local residents and tourists are fishing from off the Hastings bridge, and a number of inquiries have been made as to what course of action could or should be taken if a person fishing should by accident be hit by a passing vehicle.

A notice has now been placed on the bridge to the effect that anyone fishing off the bridge do so at their own risk, so that if at any time an accident should happen, no one can be held responsible.

Special Service.

Rev. A. M. Lawson, a representative of the Dominion Alliance from Toronto, had charge of the service in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, and in the Methodist Church in the evening. Mr. Lawson is a excellent speaker, and gave many remarkable facts concerning the different methods that are being used by the people of our province. The speaker said that although many were indifferent as to what might be done, he hoped more interest would soon be taken in the work of the Alliance.

Streets Need Oil

The streets in the village are greatly in need of the yearly supply of oil, which has been ordered from the local representative of the Imperial Oil Company. It is expected that the streets will be oiled in the course of two weeks. The reason given for the delay is that the repair work has not been finished on some of the streets.

TORONTO TO GET TOLEDO SUPPORT

Whole Hearted and Energetic Support in Struggle For St. Lawrence Development is Assured.

TORONTO, June 10.—(Canadian Press). — Toronto will have the whole-hearted and energetic support from Toledo in the struggle for consummation of the St. Lawrence development, already firmly convinced of the vast that awaits inland ports of this continent. It needs but the experience of yesterday, when 140 members of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce and Port Commission inspected the harbor provisions which Toronto has made for that future, to give them impetus which will take them back home ardent missionaries.

"Every member of this party is more converts to the St. Lawrence project than ever before," was the declaration of President J. R. Cowell of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We know that the St. Lawrence waterway will be built despite all opposition, and we will develop our harbor with that idea in mind," stated Commodore S. O. Richardson, chairman of the Port Commission.

MILLERAND STILL HOLDS HIS OFFICE

Dangerous Counsellors in Partisian Interest Are Trying to See That New Legislation Begins With Revolutionary Act.

PARIS, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—President Millerand, in a message to the Parliament to-day, announced his refusal to resign office.

Dangerous counsellors, in partisan interest, are trying to see that the new Legislature begins with the revolutionary act by the Chamber, says the message. "I will refuse to follow them. I appeal confidently to the wisdom of both Chambers to their prudence and to their love of France. Conscious of my duty I have assumed my responsibility. The hour has come for Parliament to assume its own."

Premier Francois Marshall's Ministerial declaration accompanying the President's message asks a clean-cut vote, saying that if the message is rejected, the Chief of State will take the decision consequent upon that action.

PRESBYTERIANS HELD A BANQUET

Resolution Was Adopted to Go Forward With Organization for the Continuance of Church in Canada.

OWEN SOUND, June 10.—(Canadian Press). — The Presbyterian Church Association of Owen Sound tendered a banquet last night to all members of the association gathered from the different provinces throughout Canada.

A resolution was unanimously adopted to go forward with the organization for the continuance of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The meeting was most enthusiastic and it was felt on all sides that the Assembly vote for union had continued about the same as in other years. The statistics were presented to the meeting, showing that there were 73,000 enrolled under the banner of the Presbyterian Church Association, and the membership was said to be rapidly increasing. It was felt by some of the speakers at the banquet that the vote of the Assembly was largely official and clerical, and that the people were not truly represented in the vote, and reference was made to the fact that reasonable request for the ballot vote was once again refused.

Brooms Made By Blind Workers Sell Rapidly

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 10.—The state of Tennessee employs several blind persons in the manufacture of brooms.

The state's broom factory for the blind is located on property in the vicinity of the Main State prison, at Nashville, and every employee except the truck driver engaged in this work is blind.

There are about 15 women among the workers and some have married blind men who are employed in the factory and reside in the factory settlement.

The industry has a capacity of 100 dozen brooms a day, is operated at a profit to the state under the supervision of the commissioner of institutions, and the employees are paid a living wage for their services.

The brooms are placed on the market alongside the products of other like factories and find ready sale. The industry also operates a rug weaving and a mattress cleaning department, all of which affords an opportunity for making provision for many who otherwise would become wards of the state.

REAL ROLLING

raft of Rotarians are incubating, that is, thinking up and planning what they will do for the show.

Sports. Well, yes. Double-header game by the League Clubs. As a special and distinct favor, conceded only to Rotarians. A set, or array, or programme of special foot races, for all ages, sexes, colors, complexions and a very special event for men with whiskers. These races include all kinds, foot, hand, etc. Dancing. Well, yes, after hours, that is after sunlight hours, which will be all used up in other diversions. Community singing, at which this community excels, according to Walter Stocker.

Reg. Turner has some special stunts to bring out, and which he speaks of as being "id genus omne," which, as Reg. would tell you, means all of that sort. Then there is Claude Rogers, Jack McHardy, Reid Wren, Allan McNair, and Bob Dobie. All these men have massive brains, regular two-story intellects, and when at the work of divination, which, as John Crane would tell you means discovering things, will unearth something snappy.

Lots more to tell and will be told. If this newspaper were not so crowded with news of the prohibition and church union movements we might go on and tell rafts of things both thrilling and interesting. But there is a whole month in which to inform. And anyway, it is not good taste to fire off all the rockets at one sitting or standing.

In a day or two the Club and its Carnival will be advertising and really make Rome howl. Rotary Day and its Carnival will place Peterborough on the map, as they used to say about Rosa De Erina, the Irish singer, "Greater and Grander Than Ever." Rotary is sending a number of observant persons to Toronto, for the big Convention next week, and these will bring back all the ideas they can beg, borrow or steal. Sure to be some things that we may emulate, which means, brazenly, to swipe. So wait for Rotary, which will do its best to make all happy for one day, as in such case made and provided.

CARBUNCLE CAUSES DEATH WOOLER MAN

WOOLER, June 10.—At an early hour Sunday morning Mr. Wilmot Mitchell passed away at his late home, following an operation in Belleville Hospital for the removal of a carbuncle.

Mr. Mitchell was ill such a short time and being of a robust constitution, and about 35 years of age, his untimely death came as a great surprise to the community.

He was well and favorably known throughout this part of the province, having run a bakery here for over ten years. He married the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Easterly of this place, who, together with one child, he leaves to mourn his loss.

He was postmaster for some time. "Dutchey," as he was familiarly called by all who knew him, was a life-long Conservative in politics.

Ottawa Man Now Says He Can Eat What He Wants When He Wants It Phospho-Cod Has Made a New Man of Him

Had Stomach and Nervous Trouble For Fifteen Years, Nerves So Bad Couldn't Lift Cup of Tea Without Spilling It. Now Eats What He Wants When He Wants It, and Nerves Are As Steady As a Boy.

S. A. Vincent of Bowersville, south of Ottawa, says for fifteen years I suffered from stomach trouble, gas on the stomach, pains in the head, dizziness and headache. I was so nervous that often I would spill my tea when I was lifting it to my mouth to drink it, and after a little exertion I was so weak and faint I could hardly do anything at all. In fact, I was so bad I had to give up my work in the Lumber Mill and go to the country and stay on a farm, to try and get back some of my strength. I noticed the advertisements of PHOSPHO-COD in the Ottawa Journal in February and started to use it, and in all I have used six bottles with the result that my nerves are steady as a boy's, I can eat food I have not been able to touch for years, and I sleep like a baby at night. It surely has been a wonder for me, and I believe that any one who will use it faithfully as I have done will get the same results. I am sixty-three years old, again doing hard work since using PHOSPHO-COD, and don't feel tired when night comes, and go to sleep as soon as I hit the bed, and can tackle my work in the morning with some energy and vim. 'PHOSPHO-COD is doing wonders like this for thousands. If you get up in the morning feeling low and dull and fagged out—if you fizzle out by noon—or if you go down and out by night—if you're listless—pepless—have headaches—want to sleep in the daytime but cant' at nights—if your stomach bloats with gas—if you don't have any appetite—if living, working, the "whole blooming business" seems to be one big job—no matter whether you are fat or thin, pale or florid, you are plumb tired out because the strength makers, your nerves, have gone on a strike and are not on the job. Remember PHOSPHO-COD means restored strength—re-kindled vitality—added energy. Take it and watch the bloom of health come back. Watch that flabby, ill-nourished flesh change into flesh that is firm and plump. PHOSPHO-COD will prove this for you within the first few days' use.

PHOSPHO-COD is for sale by Bond's Drug Store, who will be pleased to send a bottle by mail to those unable to call at the Store, on receipt of 25 cents additional to pay postage. Regular price $1.25 per pint bottle; $1.50 mailed to any address in Canada.

RHEUMATISM GONE TOO SAYS MONTREAL LADY

Mrs. Perron Suffered For 4 Years. Neighbour Recommended Tanlac and It Brought Relief.

'Tanlac has made life a pleasure to me, and I will always praise it," is the grateful statement of Mrs. Evelyn Perron, highly-esteemed and popular resident of 184 St. Laurent Street, Montreal, Que.

"What I suffered from rheumatism in my arms and shoulders for four years can't be described. At times, I could neither raise my hands to my head, put on my gloves, or write a letter for the pain and swelling. I actually dreaded for night to come, for I was so nervous and racked with pain that sleep was almost impossible.

"I was just about to give up hope when a neighbour advised me to try Tanlac, and it has done what nothing else would do. I have not had a touch of rheumatism in weeks, and my nerves are as steady as nerves can be. In fact, I am feeling so well that I am, indeed, happy that I took Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 40 million bottles sold.

BIG GAME OF WEEK BETWEEN JUNIORS

Lakeviews and Crescents Have Argument at Riverside To-morrow.

The big game of the week takes place on Wednesday evening at Riverside Park when the two junior aggregations, the Lakeviews and the Crescents clash in a scheduled game. These two teams have supplied the fans with some snappy ball in their two former battles and expect to do so again tomorrow evening. The Crescents won their first game by the score of 5 to 4 after gradually coming from behind to snatch the game from the hands of Lou Lebarr's smart outfit. The second game was another contest in which the Lakeviews started off well but couldn't keep their lead from the Crescent creepers who gradually gained on them and tied the game 4-4 before the contest ended. This is the kind of ball that the fans like to see and they are assured of another contest of the same nature as neither team has let up on their practices and they are both as sure of a win as before. The Lakeviews state that they are going out now and get down to business and cop the remaining games in the Junior series while the Crescents have in view the long trips that are ahead of them if they win the city league campionship and will be out there fighting all the way.

The remaining batsmen failed before the good bowling of Spragge and White.

The College team soon lost their first wicket Russel being bowled by Thorpe with only 1 run on the board the next batsmen took the score 61 before Kingsmill was caught by Thorpe off Foster's bowling. The school finally carried their score to 110 for 5 wickets when stumps were drawn at 6 p.m.

URUGUAY HOLDS SOCCER TROPHY

World Championship at Olympics Goes to South America —Three Goals to Nil.

BEAT SWITZERLAND.

PARIS, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—The national flag of Uruguay last night floated over the Olympic Stadium as a result of a thrilling victory of the South American soccer football team over Switzerland by the score of 3 to 0.

Uruguay annexed the world's soccer championship by scientific and fast play. The South Americans were really three goals better than the stalwart team from Switzerland. The victory was clean-cut and impressive, leaving absolutely no doubt in the minds of the record Olympic crowd that the best team won. The Uruguayan team was undoubtedly the best of any teams representing 22 nations which competed in the Olympic tournament.

The Colombes Stadium was filled to its capacity of 60,000 persons, while several thousands clamored futilely on the outside for admission.

Uruguay Celebrates.

The capital of Uruguay indulged in a frenzied celebration upon the receipt of news that the Uruguayan soccer football team had won the Olympic championship by defeating Switzerland says a despatch from Montevidio. The steam whistles of all the ships and factories augmented the immense, cheering crowds that paraded the streets. Business was virtually at a standstill.

CHICAGO, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ills., defeated Johnnie Dundee of New York, junior lightweight and featherweight champion of world in ten round contest opening new $50,000 open air arena at East Chicago, last night. Mandell, in opinion of newspaper experts, won every one of ten rounds, by wide margin.

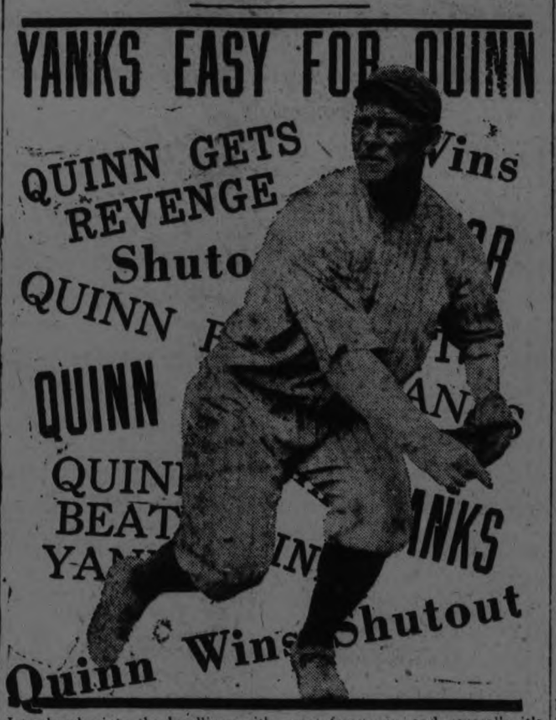
Quinn Is Baseball Marvel And His Chief Delight Is Beating His Old Buddies



Jack breaks into the headlines with great frequency, and generally it's after beating the Yanks.

BY BILLY EVANS

Calling attention to Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Boston Red Sox, the Ponce de Leon of baseball.

Since the New York Yankees traded Pitcher Urban Shocker to the St. Louis Browns, beating Miller Huggins, Babe Ruth and Co., has been his favorite pastime.

However, Shocker has been no more embarrassing in this respect than Jack Quinn, veteran spitball pitcher of the Boston Braves.

Until the season of 1922, Quinn was a valued member of the Yankees pitching staff. His failure to show in the 1921 world series with the Giants, led to the belief that he was done.

When the Yankees made one of their many trades with Boston, Quinn was part of the talent turned over by the New York club to the Red Sox. That was prior to the start of the 1922 campaign.

In the first series of the season between the two clubs, which opened the 1924 race at Boston, Quinn scored one of the two Red Sox victories over the world champs.

Defeated Yanks Ten Times

When asked after the game how many times he had beaten the Yankees since leaving them, he replied:

"A player always likes to beat a team that turns him loose. That is one reason why I can give you some figures on my showing against the Yankees.

"According to my dope I have faced the New York club 12 times and have scored 1 victories.

"I am rather proud of that record, because a pitcher has done a day's work when he beats the Yankees.

"Before the season is over I hope to add at least three more games to my collection of wins and if I am lucky, maybe twice as many."

Quinn Is Pitching Marvel

Jack Quinn is one of the pitching marvels of baseball.

This season marks his 25th year in professional ball. Like the venerable Babe Adams, he has passed the fortieth milestone. He seems good for many years more.

Quinn gives the lie to the general belief that the spitball delivery is hard on the arm.

"I have never had a real sore arm in my life," says Quinn, "and I have used the spitball to a great extent.

"I don't think the spitter hurts the arm if thrown with a free motion. It is the pitcher who snaps the spitter that pays the penalty."

Peculiar Motion Baffles

American League players marvel at the manner in which Quinn throws the spitball. He moistens it with the same motion that he delivers the ball to the batsman.

Holding the ball in his gloved hand, he brings the fingers of the pitching and to the mouth and with the same motion carries through and delivers the ball to the batter.

With most spitball pitchers, moistening the ball is a separate act from the delivery.

Quinn's method of placing the saliva on the ball makes it impossible to determine whether he is going to throw the spitball or fast one.

That in itself is part of the secret of his success.

NEGRO BOXER WON BOUT LAST NIGHT

Wills Not in Old Time Form—Crowd Favored Madden.

NEW YORK, June 10.— Harry Wills, New Orleans negro, who is regarded as the foremost contender for world's heavyweight championship title, won the decision over rugged Bartley Madden, west side Irishman, last night, in their 15 round bout, but suffered loss of prestige in the estimation of about 17,000 people, who paid about $80,000 to witness the bout, Conversely, Madden beaten and battered, gained immeasurably in the opinion of those who saw the bout and saw Madden buffeted about on veritable see-saw blows, stick gamely to his guns through fifteen hard rounds.

Battered by powerful blows of Wills, with blood streaming in a blinding flow from an old cut over the left eye, his right eye almost closed, and swelling on the right cheek, Madden left the ring amid the deafening cries of the frantic gatherings whose sentiments and sympathy, which were with the white man from the start, burst in one terrific, thunderous roar of acclaim at the spectacle of the spirited Irishman who boxed courageously to the final bell. There was no question of justification for the decision. Wills won and advanced to his victory on points in hollow fashion, but this was not the victory the crowd had looked for. They anticipated a knockout. Wills showed that he is not the Wills of a year ago, and many doubted if he actually was qualified to box Dempsey for the title.

Judged on his showing against Madden, Wills has deteriorated to an extraordinary degree. He has none of the flashing speed and cleverness which characterized his boxing earlier in his career.

WILLS' OFF-DAY.

BUENOS AIRES, June 10. United Press. — After reading the cabled accounts of the Harry Wills-Bartley Madden fight at Long Island City last night, Luis Angel Firpo, who had hoped to be signed to meet the winner, said:

"Probably Wills had an off day; every boxer has one; I had mine on September 14th. On any other day I could have beaten Erminio Spalla, the Italian, as easily as I did Al Reich, who is a better boxer than Spalla.

"I didn't expect Wills to make much of a showing against Madden anyway. This Madden has been a stumbling block for many an aspirant."

A few minutes later when Firpo read the cabled comments uncomplimentary to Wills, he scratched his head disappointingly and said he guessed perhaps that the negro was "through."

Juan Homs, Rickards' representative, is awaiting instructions.

RICKARD DISAPPOINTED

NEW YORK, June 10. — United Press. — Tex Rickards said to-day that he would take a couple of days to decide whether to put on a Harry Wills-Luis Firpo bout as originally intended. The promoter said he was greatly disappointed at Wills' poor showing and said the match would not draw as large a crowd as had been hoped for, and that he doubted if Firpo would lower his demands.

McCrone, who played for the Caley's a few years ago, played at right half for the Toronto Scottish on Saturday.

One of the most improved junior players in senior circles is Allan How who played at inside right for the Campbellford boys. He is certainly an acquistion to the Trent boys and a loss to Peterboro soccer.

The versatile football player, Henry Turner, of the famous C.G.E. team turned out for his old favorites, Nomads, on Saturday afternoon in the Phelan Cup Tie, when he put up a splendid exhibition in the goals. They have two goal-keepers signed up. Marsh and Long were a solid defense.

SPANISH CONSUL SEEKS IMMUNITY

Matter Brought to the Attention of the House Yesterday.

OTTAWA, June 10 (Canadian Press). — The arrest of the Spanish Consul in Montreal on the charge of smuggling narcotic drugs was brought to the attention of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by J. S. Woodsworth (Labour, Centre Winnipeg), who asked for a statement by the Prime Minister in regard to the protest against that arrest made by the Norwegian Consul. Mr. Woodsworth asked the Premier whether Canada was, as intimated by the Norwegian Consul "a colony," and whether a consul was immune from arrest and his papers and office exempt from search.

Premier King replied to the first question by saying that Canada was not a colony, but a self-governing Dominion. The Consul in this case had been arrested on a serious charge under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act, said the Premier, and he knew of no provision under which he was exempt from arrest or his office exempt from search.

Mr. Woodsworth asked further whether a protest would be made by the Government against the Norwegian Consul's statement that Canada was a colony.

"No doubt my hon. friend's remarks will serve as such," replied the Prime Minister.

ABBIE ROSE WON BOX SILK SOCKS

This Contest Was Open For Central Leaguers Only, But on Account of Misunderstanding Rose Will Be Given Box

Abbie Rose, short stop of the Canadian General Electric team in the Midland League, was the successful winner of a box of silk hose in Saturday's fixture at the Exhibition grounds, when he clouted out a home run. The socks were given away by L. J. Campbell of the James Horn Knitting Company, Lindsay.

There has been considerable misunderstanding over this hose winning. The first announcement in the paper stated that a box of socks would be given to any player who successfully knocked a home run in a league game while it was later corrected by another item that stated the socks would be given to the first local central league player that hit a home run. A number of the players did not see the last item and on account of the misunderstanding Mr. Campbell has decided to give a box to Mr. Rose, who was the first successful player to do his stuff in a league game. This sock contest still holds good for the first Central Leaguer to knock out a home run but any other minor leagues are not included in this contest.

ANOTHER BIG GAME SATURDAY

Belleville Will Be Back Again and Petes Hope to Get Revenge.

With Belleville billed for another game at Riverside Park on Saturday, fans all over the district are looking forward to a sensational clash. Another defeat for the Petes at the hands of Belleville would be a heavy setback to their aspirations of winning the first half, and the the Solomon crew are determined that there will not be a repetition of last Saturday's game when a bad start gave the Trunks lead enough to carry them through. The usual Belleville-Peterborough fireworks were in evidence last week and may be expected again on Saturday, for the Petes did not relish the bump a little bit and are out for revenge. The out-of-town-attendance for this fixture promises to be the biggest yet, for the fans of the surrounding towns are even keener than the home supporters to see the Central League fixtures. Every game on the home lot this season has been a battle and the lovers of baseball like to come to Peterborough, knowing they can count on a worth while exhibition. There will be no Saturday game next week, but Oshawa will be here on Wednesday with the return game in Oshawa on the Saturday following.

SATURDAY'S GAME AS SEEN BY BELLEVILLE AND LINDSAY SCRIBES

Lindsay Post: Baseball fans are witnessing some exciting and thrilling ball at Peterborough these days. Saturday last the Petes lost a hard-fought game by the close score of 6 to 5—hard fought because for the third or fourth time this season the Petes have started in with the score against them in the first innings and had to fight from "trench to trench" until the last frame of the game. For some reason or other the Petes are stepping out with the wrong foot in every game. A week ago Saturday, Oshawa cracked in a couple of runs in the first innings, which the Petes had to overcome. On Wednesday last Kingston took the lead in the first innings and the Petes had to fight every inch of the way to win out. And so it was a little repetition of the same history in last Saturday's game, Belleville getting four runs in the first innings from two hits and a couple of errors. It was another case where "Shiner" Johnson let a fast one through and the frolic started.

For this reason the game was a thrilling one for the fans, as Manager Solomon pulled every stunt possible to reclaim a victory from the visitors. Time after time he coaxed the rail-birds along and the din and noise of battle could be heard for miles around. Matters were coming nicely for the Petes and steady gain was being made, but again the team slipped a cog when Helson at third misjudged two easy flies behind third (probably as a result of the sun in his eyes) and two more unearned runs were scored by Belleville. These were high pops that the Peterborough third sacker should have gobbled up. However, Manager Solomon stuck to the game right to the finish and died hard. In the ninth he was fighting harder than in the first and so the battle raged.

Belleville Ontario: Minus one of the Trunks' best players, but with the old fight apparent, the Railroaders stepped into Peterborough and at Riverside Park, before a large audience of homesters and a sprinkling of dyed-in-the-wool fans from Belleville, tore into Jakie's ace, Heckman, for five clean blows and four counters and added two more in the fourth, and sailed along under clever hurling by Oulette, to a victory of 6-5 on Saturday. Peterborough made it close by pecking away at Ouellet's offering but in the pinches he was supreme and any rallies that looked dangerous was nipped in the bud.

Every time the Petes and the Trunks hook up, fireworks are looked for and those that were there were not disappointed. They happened aplenty and it was a scrappy game throughout, but Belleville played ball and from the victory the best team won the play.

The Petes are not any stronger than they were last year. They have added a number to their roster but some are not the calibre of the C.O.B.L. One cannot come up to "learn" in this league, they have got to have the ability to hold a regular birth. Jakie had two complete infields working at practice with five gardeners chasing flies, while Belleville just had a ball team there and no more, even being without their trainer.

The diamond at Riverside Park has been completely renovated and looked its prettiest on Saturday. The trees and underbrush back of the outfield have been all cleared away and one now can sit in the stands and see the broad Otonabee River in all its majesty, giving the park a really fine natural setting. The diamond itself has been rolled and the dirt harrowed, while many of the holes in the outfield have been filled.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF G.W.V.A. HELD MEETING

About forty-five of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A. gathered in the G.W.V.A. Hall last evening for their last meeting of the season, which was preceded, as is their custom, with their annual supper, presided over by Mrs. R. J. Devey, president of the society. Several new members were added to the roll last evening. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar in November, the funds to be used for relief purposes.

OUTSIDE LABOR ON ROADMAKING WAS CONDEMNED

Mayor Turner Told Special Meeting of Council in Committee That Fourteen Out of Town Men Will Be Released --Alderman Phelan Will Not Share Caretaker at Motor Camp.

NEW BATHING HOUSE

At a meeting of the City Council in special committee last night the question of the employment of out-of-town men on street paving was vigorously condemned. Mayor Turner reported that about a score of city men out of work had applied to him for relief from the condition that prevails on the present work. He had taken the matter up with the city engineer, who reported fourteen out of the city men working for the contractor. These will be let go on instructions of the engineer, who gave Mr. Carroll final warning yesterday that the clause in his specifications calling for city labor must be lived up to. "It is a serious condition," His Worship remarked, "and a hardship on citizens."

Alderman Maher said Mr. Carroll had told him he had not refused any city man who applied for a job, and would give $10 to any person who would show that he had refused a city team.

Alderman Stocker: "He had seven teams from out of town."

Alderman Stocker declared there were still twenty-one men working for Mr. Carroll whose homes could not be located. "Nobody knows where they come from," he said.

Alderman McIntyre: "We shouldn't stand for that."

Alderman Turner: "We can't create a condition where anyone can go to the contractor and say, 'You have to give me a job; I'm a taxpayer.'"

Alderman Phelan: "Mr. Carroll can't be expected to get a city directory and check up every man who applies to him for a job. I think he will do what is right if his attention is drawn to it."

Mayor Turner agreed with Alderman Phelan and said that Mr. Carroll had had his attention drawn to the urgency of the matter by the City Engineer and he expected that places would be made for the local men to-day.

Tourist Camps.

In discussing the question of hiring a caretaker for the proposed motor camp for tourists in the Exhibition Grounds, granted for the purpose by the Exhibition Board, Alderman Phelan objected to the use of a city-paid man for supervising the athletic grounds, if such was planned. The "organization down there," he said, had held a field day in opposition to a ball game to provide funds for a caretaker for the year. If this caretaker spoken of by the Mayor were just for the camp it would be alright, but if he was to have anything to do with the athletic fields then Alderman Phelan would oppose his appointment.

Alderman Maher suggested that if there is not enough for two men a saving might be effected by having one man look after both ends, but Mayor Turner said someone would have to be responsible for the property left on the camp site and for keeping loafers away.

Alderman Phelan reiterated his stand, repeating that he would not support a caretaker at the Exhibition Grounds to keep a diamond in shape in opposition to the one at Riverside Park, from which the city is getting revenue.

The Chairman of the Parks Committee, Alderman E. M. Turner, was authorized to appoint a caretaker.

In reply to a question, Mayor Turner said any citizens who wishes to take a tent to the site and camp out, is at liberty to do so.

Bathing House.

Quotations on metal bathing houses were received from two firms in response to enquiries, it being planned to erect a permanent dressing-room at Inverlea Beach instead of the marquee that served the purpose hitherto. The prices were $284.50 and $340, with extra charges for erection. After discussion it was decided to ask for tenders locally for the erection of a wooden structure. Alderman Turner suggested a long narrow house, sub-divided into compartments, along the same lines as in other cities.

PRESENTATION OF CLUB BAG MADE TO MISS JONES

Several of the girl friends of Miss alice Jones, 660 Armour Road, who leaves shortly to take a position in New York City, called at her home last evening and presented her with a handsome club bag, the gift of the employees of the Dressing Department of the Canadian Woollen Company, where Miss Jones has been employed. The following address accompanied the presentation:

"Dear Alice,—We, your friends, have gathered at your home this evening to say farewell, as we feel we could not lose so dear a friend without paying a little tribute of esteem. We have a feeling of regret, mingled with pleasure, regret because we are losing one of our dear friends, pleasure because you are leaving to take a better position, in which we wish you success. We ask you to accept this club bag with our best wishes and as a slight token of our esteem for you. Signed on behalf of the Dressing Room of the Canadian Woollens Company."

PETERBORO BAND AT PORT HOPE

(Contributed)

Adj. Smith now promoted to Commandant Smith with his Boys' Band and locals, visited Port Hope Salvation Army, Saturday evening and all Sunday. Sergeant Major and Mrs. Thomas Brooks, Young People's Sergeant Major R. C. Braund, Sergeant Mrs. H. Parnell and Happy Harvey Edmunson with his concertina, rendered help during the series of meetings. It took five cars to transport this juvenile band and helpers to Port Hope and you can imagine the stir in the quiet, beautiful old town of Port Hope when thirty-five of Peterboro's lively band boys started to make things interesting in the Lake shore town. Chief of Police John Brown gave the band every latitude to demonstrate, which when things got going they filled the streets with people. Sidewalks were crowded so the street had to hold the overflow. Saturday night two big open airs were held in different parts of the Main street, and on Sunday the boys played at 6 open air meetings and three mass meeting inside.

The performance of the youngest and smallest band conducted (5 years) in Canada, when he conducted this band of 35 players it caused an ovation. Yes, this Midget Band conductor brought many expressions of surprise from the crowds of Port Hope boys and girls as well as the grown folks.

Bandsman B .Smith, and Stewart rendered two cornet duetts, also Bramwell Smith and Harold James violin solos, Mrs. M. Shadgett was the solo singer at all main parts of the program.

Bandsman Gordon Braund, Gurth Braund, Ronald Routley, Eldon Braund, (all cousins), rendered a fine quartett on their instruments. J. Clark the converted Scotchmen, with his trombone helped the Boys and he did good service in the meetings.

In one section of the town, when the band pulled up for their open air Mr. J. Massie, representative of John Macdonald & Co., called the band up on his fine lawn to stand for their meeting. This was one of the many kindnesses of the Port Hope citizens to the Peterboro Young People's Band. Capt. Ding and Lieutenant Clark are the officers and kindly fed the boys at the Sunday School Hall Saturday and Sunday night but the people of Port Hope kindly billeted the boys at their houses, in fact there were so many wanting boys to their homes, there was not enough boys to go around them all.

We will have to send more boys next time.

Commandant Adj. Smith (with his new promotion for faithful services), did not seem anything in the least excited, for in all the 8 open air meetings and four inside meetings, he held forth in fine style, and certainly deserves great credit for his masterly handling of this Boys' Band of his own creation.

When a busy man affords or makes time to teach and train 35 to 40 boys to the efficiency of the boys, he must surely get credit from the parents and all thoughtful observers.

The People of Port Hope from Chief of Police Brown up gave the Band a right royal welcome and the boys to the last one returned to them a fine service.

They motored back to the fair city of Peterboro and landed here very tired about 11.30 p.m. Sunday night, but not rested enough to go to school Monday morning.

JUNE SESSIONS STARTED TODAY

Only One Case Remains on the Docket — The Grand Jury.

The regular June sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace for the County of Peterborough opened today at 1 p.m., His Honour Judge Huycke presiding. There remained on the docket only one non-jury case, that of Grunison vs. Machine and Motors.

Despite the light docket the Court Room assumed the appearance of a busy Court day when the Grand and Petit Juries assembled.

There were present at the bar G. W. Hatton, K.C., J. A. O'Brien, W. F. Huycke, and J. W. Wearing.

The Grand Jurors wer called and sworn. Mr. Herbert Morphet was selected as foreman of the Grand Jury.

His Honour Judge Huycke, in addressing the jury, welcomed them, and assured them that their duties at this sitting of the Court would be light. His Honour informed them that the chief duty of the Grand Jury is to conduct preliminary hearings for persons charged with crime, but advised them that they were relieved of that duty as the four criminal cases pending will not be prosecuted until next Court. But there is another series of duties for that Grand Jury, that of visiting and inspecting the various institutions throughout the city and county which are partially or wholly supported by public money. His Honour said that these institutions are subject to the inspection of the Grand Jury, and that is one of the purposes for which you are brought here, as representatives of the community and selected for your intelligence and character to act for all classes of people, rich, poor, high and low.

JUNE SESSIONS.

In this duty you must act in a two-fold capacity. You must see if the public money is spent properly, and if the duties in these institutions are properly performed; while on the other hand you must from the inmates' point of view see that their requirements are attended to.

"All the cases requiring the assistance of a jury are either settled or postponed, therefore your sole duty at this sitting will be the inspecting of these institutions."

His Honor intimated that it was the grand jury's duty to call attention to any neglects, oversights or omissions that they might find, and that also that a deserved word of commendation will go a long way.

His Honor remarked that at the present time there are only five inmates in the county jail, among whom is one boy of seventeen charged with housebreaking. It is painful to think that a mere boy in our midst should be charged with such a serious offence, said His Honor. There seems to be a disregard on disrespect for the law on the part of the young, the cause of which I do not know. Some contend that it is due to the lack of religious instruction in the schools. At any rate in too many cases religious and moral training is not given in the home. Of the four remaining inmates, one is charged with an offence in breach of the drug act; another with non-support of his family; and the two others in custody are vagrants.

After the Judge's address the grand jury were dismissed and the petit jury called. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., announced that there were eleven applications for naturalization.

The Grand Jury was composed of Messrs. Walter Bitten, A. C. Buchanan, Hilliard Darling, Thomas Davis James Finnie, Gavin Graham, Herbert Kyle, Herbert Morphet, Frank Pratt, Michael Ryan, Gilbert Thompson, Thomas Tindle and Cecil Williamson.

A pleasing feature of the sessions was the presentation to Mrs. J. Kendry, of Peterboro, the retiring treasurer, of a beautiful bouquet of flowers, in appreciation of many years of faithful service.

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE.

A hard-fought battle, described as a preliminary to the inauguration of a new junior baseball league, was waged at Central Park last evening, when Baker's Tar Babies and Hagerman's Water Rats met in a sanguinary battle, which resulted in the victory of the Tar Babies by a score of 4-3. A spectator, who evidently rooted for the defeated team, asserts that Snider made a good catch, getting a double for the Water Rats, that Chambers made a bone-headed play in the field, nearly selling the game for the Tar Babies, and that Westbrook was the backbone for the losing section. Umpires for the occasion were Cowan on bases and Graham at the bat. The line-up was as follows: Tar Babies — M. Baker c, G. Coleman p, B. Hutchinson 1b, B. Dick 2b, N. Nesbitt 3b, Henry Zacks ss, Mervin Chambers rf, Geo. Kiff lf, D. Dunlop cf. Water Rats—H. Coleman c, T. Westbrook p, A. Millen 1b, D. Snelgrove 2b, K. Campbell 3b, A. Weir ss, H. Chenhall rf, Fred Stanley lf, B. Sharp cf.

CHURCH UNION DEBATE TODAY

Two Resolutions Still Remain to Be Decided

OWEN SOUND, June 10.—(Canadian Press.)—General Assembly to-day continued its debate on church union. There are still two resolutions presented by committee on union to be decided. Amount of routine which will have to be done when the question of union is disposed of, is small and not of a contentfous character, it is therefore believed that the Assembly will be able to conclude its work at noon to-morrow. The Assembly decided to meet next year in College Street Presbyterian church, Toronto.

FERGUSON ORDERS SURVEY OF POWER

Wants to Find Out How Much Power is Available

TORONTO, June 10.— (Canadian Press.)— Premier Ferguson stated this afternoon following an all morning Cabinet meeting with Hydro officials that government had requested the Hydro Commission to immediately undertake a complete survey of the province for the purpose of ascertaining resources of the province for future power development. "We have requested the Hydro Commission to make a survey of the field," stated the Premier. "They have also been asked to report upon all available water powers that can be used for power developed and the advisability of supplementing the present power supply by means of steam." Included in the blanket order for an investigation is understood to be preparation of further plans in connection with development of the St. Lawrence project.

HALF HOLIDAY TO START NEXT MONTH

At a meeting held this morning of representatives of over seventy merchants who are members of the Chamber of Commerce representing the dry-goods, boot and shoe, clothing, druggists, departmental and hardware merchants, a majority decision was made recommending that the general merchants of the city commence the summer half-holidays on the second Thursday in July and continue until the last Thursday in August, being July 10th to August 28th inclusive.

July 1st, Tuesday, being a holiday, it was thought advisable that the stores should remain open on Thursday.

THE CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE HELD MEETING

A meeting of the Catholic Women's League took place last evening in the assembly hall of St. Alphonsus' Lyceum. The president, Mrs. C. Snider, occupied the chair, and gave the members present some information about the work of the League. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. F. A. Hodgson.

An interesting address, giving some impressions of the Irish question, was given by Mr. C. H. Pennefather, whose brief discourse called forth a hearty vote of thanks. The ladies present last evening were fortunate in being favored with a visit from Mr. Ed. Hanrahan, formerly of Peterboro, now of Montreal, who sang three songs with all, and more, of his well-known former excellence. His magnificent baritone, powerful and resonant, was heard in splendid form in "Invictus," "The Minstrel Boy" and "The Bells of St. Mary's." Two violin numbers were given by Miss K. McCarthy. Rev. P. Costello, who occupied a seat on the stage, also spoke at the end of the programme, giving some of his own impressions on the subject of Mr. Pennefather's address.

The accompaniments for the musical numbers last evening were played by Mrs. F. A. Hodgson in her usual proficient style.

THEATRES

NO MIGHTIER SCENES SHOWN IN PICTURES

In all the history of motion pictures, no mightier scene ever has been screened that the "crux" scene of "Anna Christie," Thomas H. Ince's latest picture offering, which will be shown at the Royal Theatre Thursday. Adapted from Eugene O'Neill's successful stage play, the scene has been filmed with even more daring than marked the stage offering. It portrays a girl, deserted in childhood by her father, who thinks he is helping her by sending her far from the influence of the sea which he fears, trapped into a confession of the life into which her father's spurning of responsibility forced her.

When she tells her father, who thinks her a lovely Madonna, and her sweet heart, who has fallen in love with her "because she is the first decent woman he ever has known," just what she has been, the scene works up to a dramatic fury almost unbearable in its intensity. Blanche Sweet, George Marion and William Russell are the actors in the powerful sequence. This is a First National release.

"LIGHTNING RIDER" IS GOOD PICTURE

Harry Carey in Thrilling Story of Masked Night Rider.

The second Hunt-Stromberg production, starring Harry Carey, is playing at the Royal Theatre, and we want to say right away, go see it. Talk about your thrills! They're all there; every kind and size of them. The story is about the Black Mask, a bandit who is the terror of the country. A deputy sheriff who appears to be too lazy and timid to hunt a bird, is disguising as the bandit and riding at night in order to trap the criminal's accomplices and find out who he is. The father of girl he loves is murdered and is Black Mask costume implicates him. There are some very exciting situations before everything is cleared up.

"The Lightning Rider" is one of those pictures which have the true spirit of adventure. Shannon Fife, who wrote it, surely knows the meaning of romance. The deputy disguised as the daring robber holds up a stage coach merely to kiss the hand of his lady fair. He brings back sweet memories of the time we "ate up" Robin Hood.

As usual, Harry Carey is the fast-riding, hard-fighting cowboy. Charming Virginia Brown Faire is a most appealing leading woman.

Others in the supporting cast who do good work are Thomas C. Lingham, Leon Barry, Frances Ross, Bert Hadley and Mme. Sul-Te-Wan.

"The Lightning Rider" will make you forget your troubles. That's what a good picture is supposed to do, isn't it?

AT THE REGENT

HOPE HAMPTON SCORES IN "DOES IT PAY?"

Portrays Role of Society Siren in New Fox Special Photodrama — Wears Stunning Gowns—Social Mystery Drama is Lavishly Costumed and Boasts a Notable Cast.

The initial showing of the William Fox offering, "Does It Pay?" now running at the Regent Theatre, produced a pleasant surprise. Here's a picture that is different. It has a splendid cast, featuring Hope Hampton, supported by a number of players of well-known ability. It is a society drama dealing with a phase of life that engrosses in its vivid depiction as directed by Charles Horan.

Hope Hampton is seen in the role of a "vamp." She isn't the coquettish ingenue, who is sought after by the hero in this picture, she's a keen minded girl, who, with her mother's advice, wins into the home of the Westons. With the purpose to win John Weston for herself regardless that it means severing his home ties in order to marry her, she enters the home as companion to Mrs. Weston. Miss Hampton enacts this role with power and delicacy. Her work, in short, is superb.

Robert T. Haines, as John Weston gives a fine performance. His change in thoughts and outlook upon life is noteworthily portrayed. He achieves that remarkable height of arousing sympathy in the minds of his audience, even when they know he is doing wrong.

Others in the cast include Florence Short, Walter Petri, Peggy Shaw, Charles Wellesley, Mary Thurman, Claude Brooke, Pierre Gendron, Roland Bottomley, Marie Shotwell and Bunny Grauer.

Inasmuch as the story has an ending that is totally unexpected, therefore putting it in a class of a social mystery drama, it shall not be revealed here. It would be too bad to spoil the pleasure you will derive from seeing this remarkable production. Don't miss it.

AT THE CAPITOL

Pola Negri, the temperamental Polish movie star, has plenty of scope for her dramatic ability and emotional qualities in the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for the first three days of this week.

"Men" is a dramatization of Dimitri Buchowetzki's story, produced by the author himself, in his first American-made picture. It has a foreign atmosphere in its screening, which suits the foreign star, making her way through the vivid, sometimes daring, mazes of the picture which shows a cross section of the life of the Parisan underworld. As Cleo, first a cheap waitress in a French port —then a famous dancer, Pola Negri is a flashing figure. She holds the stage throughout with the brilliance of her characterization of the flaming heroine, offering herself at auction to the highest bidder. Gorgeous gowns and settings enhance the vivid atmosphere of a stirring drama of Parisian life.

The comedy is a hilarious Mack Sennett production, with plenty of laughs, in "The Hollywood Kid."

MILLERAND'S MESSAGE READ THIS AFTERNOON

(By Webb Miller.)

PARIS, June 10.— (United Press.) — President Millerand's message to the French House of Parliament was read in the Chamber and Senate this afternoon. It was an appeal for the respect for the constitution and a request that the Presidency of the Republic be not made "the plaything of political groups."

Millerand requested the decision of the two houses immediately.

The Senate, however, voted 154 to 144 taking a direct slap at the President by ignoring his request for immediate action.

FIRST VISIT HOME FORTY-TWO YEARS

Former Peterboro Man Sees Many Changes Here--Farming Improved.

Mr. H. J. Elliott, wife and two daughters Wanda and Reone, of Perrydale, Oregon, are visiting relatives and friends in the city. Mr. Elliott was born in Smith Township and is a son of th late James Elliott. He left Peterborough in 1882 with his parents, four brothers and five sisters for Oregon, and this is his first visit to Peterborough in 42 years.

He left Peterborough as a small boy, and although he has not a vivid recollection of Peterborough, he remembers it as a struggling village. He was apprehensive of Peterborough's growth from a village to a city, but was surprised to find such remarkable progress. He told The Examiner that Peterborough was beautifully laid out and remarked that the growth of the business section and the modern lay-out of the city was more than he had expected.

He said that the farming communities about the city have greatly changed and the many fine buildings throughout the country lead him to think that farming conditions have noticeably improved since '82.

In meeting boyhood acquaintances Mr. Elliott was pleased to learn that many of his schoolmates who remained in their place of origin have done well, many of whom are now prosperous business men of this city.

M. Elliott is in the flour milling business at Perrydale, Oregon, which is situated in the Willamette Valley, the agricultural Mecca of the Pacific Coast. His elder daughter Wanda is attending Willamette University.

Mr. Elliott and his family came via San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Washington, and Montreal, and after a few weeks in the city intends to return via the Great Lakes, Winnipeg and Vancouver, spending a few days in the Canadian Rockies.

WEDDING BELLS

WISENER—McLAUGHLIN.
The Toronto Globe has the following account of the wedding of Miss Jean McLaughlin, physical directress in the 1922 season at the Y.W.C.A. here, and Philip Wisener, which took place in Toronto on Saturday:

St. Paul's Methodist Church, decorated with white lilacs and apple blossoms, was the scene of a pretty June wedding on Saturday, when Margaret Jeanette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McLaughlin, was married to Philip Atlee Wisener, son of Mrs. C. L. Wisener. Rev. Dr. J. F. McLaughlin officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in her mid-Victorian dress of white French chiffon over chantille lace. She wore a long court train and veil of bridal net, caught with bandeau of brussels lace and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley and white orchids. The bride's attendants, Mrs. C. R. Wisener, Mrs. Gordon Flavelle, Miss Anne McLaughlin, Miss Elsie McLaughlin and Miss Audrey Young, were dressed in dainty frocks of poudre blue French chiffon over pale pink, with small leghorn hats, trimmed with chiffon, and carried bouquets of sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Mrs. W. R. Widdess, of Peterborough, sang during the signing of the register. Mr. Charles R. Wisener acted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. A. J. Milner, G. A. Flavelle, C. A. MacDonald, A. G. Spence and C. H. Boothe. Mr. and Mrs. Wisener left for a trip to New York and the White Mountains, the bride going away in a tweed costume with green hat and scarf.

FAITHFUL SERVICE OF PETERBORO GIRL

Reference to Death of Miss Zetta Willson in Trade Publication.

The following from the June number of the Canadian Dry Goodsman" refers to the recent death of Miss Zetta Wilson.

"It is with deep regret that we record the death of Miss Zetta Willson, for many years in charge of the drygoods department of R. C. Braund of Peterboro, Ont. Miss Willson was with the R. C. Braund store for seventeen years and was considered by those in the trade who knew her to be one of the most capable women in the drygoods trade. She did a great deal of the buying for the dry goods department and had the happy faculty of making personal friends of her customers, who knew that they could absolutely depend on her judgment, and looked to her for advice when making purchases. The firm with which she was connected for so many years, feel her loss keenly, for they realize that loyalty and faithful service, such as she rendered them, cannot be easily replaced. They consider themselves fortunate in having secured a niece of Miss Willson (Mrs Brown) to take charge of the department. The immediate cause of Miss Willson's death was pneumonia. She was buried at Thomasburg, Ont., on May 9th."

THE WEATHER.

To-day at noon the temperature was up to 75 degrees in the shade. This is a little better, but still a long way from 90, 95 and 98 degrees which are frequent in other seasons. Cool as it has been, a Scotsman, who arrived in this country last October, has confided in me that he is already suffering from the heat! He at least is due to undergo some interesting experiences before our Canadian summer is over.—W.P.

MILLERAND RESIGNS PRESIDENCY WHEN RADICAL SOCIALISTS TURN DOWN GOVERNMENT HE SUGGESTED

President's Decision Was Quickly Made On Adverse Note In Chamber And Senate When Francois-Marsal Presented His Message Yesterday.

Doumergue, Painleve And Barthon Named As Possible Successors At Nomination Tomorrow — Doumergue Handicapped By Bachelordom.

PARIS, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Alexandre Millerand, the eleventh President of France, will resign from office today. His resignation will be read before both Houses of Parliament, and his successor will be selected by the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate, meeting as a national assembly at Versailles on Friday.

The President's determination to resign came after the reading yesterday in the two Houses of a Presidential message presented by the new Premier, Frederic Francois-Marsal, in which M. Millerand declined to resign, and an adverse vote against the Ministry by both Chamber and Senate, and finally the adoption of a motion offered in the Chamber by Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical Socialists, which in effect eliminated any government favorable to or suggested by M. Millerand.

The resolution was:

"The Chamber is resolved not to enter into relations with a ministry which in its composition is a negation of the rights of parliament. It refuses to accept the unconstitutional debate to which it is invited and decides to postpone all discussion until the day when a government constituted in conformity with the sovereign will of the country appears before it."

This motion was adopted by the Chamber 329 to 214. The vote in the Senate on the question of an interpellation on the presidential crisis was 154 to 144 against the motion.

M. Millerand's swift decision to resign in the face of these adverse votes leaves the victorious Left majority in somewhat of a quandary, with two outstanding candidates—M. Doumergue, president of the Senate, and M. Painleve, president of the Chamber—rivals for the presidential nomination by the majority at a caucus to be held not later than to-morrow.

The Left majority in the Chamber 329, is larger than the Senate's entire membership of 314, which would seem to bespeak certain victory for M. Painleve in the caucus and his election. But precedents favor the president of the Senate, who is the second officer of State, being promoted in the regular line.

Must be Married.

M. Doumergue, however, is a bachelor and tradition insists that the Elysee must have a hostess. Other reasons are advanced for the elevation of Painleve, and the general belief is that he will be named as president of the Republic unless a deadlock between the Left forces of the two Houses makes it possible for an outsider, such as former Premier Louis Barthou, president of the Reparation Commission, to slip in.

M. Millerand may soon be playing an important political role, probably in the Chamber as leader of the minority. The present plan is to offer him a vacant seat from the Department of Neurthe-et-Moselle — the Nancy region—one of the sitting deputies for that Department resigning in order to force a bye-election. In such an event M. Millerand would surely be elected, as the rugged northeast, from which M. Poincare hails, is strongly national bloc in sentiment. M. Millerand, however, may choose to return to private law practice, in which he was very successful prior to the war.

The newly-constituted Francois-Marsal ministry will remain in office temporarily, notwithstanding the opposition of the Left as indicated by to-day's voting.

The Premier and his colleagues called on M. Millerand in order to notify him of the outcome of the Parliamentary proceedings.

In thanking the Cabinet M. Millerand said:

"My dear friends, allow me to express to you my gratitude from the bottom of my heart. With moving spontaneity you grouped yourselves about our friend M. Francois-Marsal, less to support the president, whose collaborators almost all of you have been, than to safeguard the constitution from an attack menacing the regime itself.

"If, despite your efforts and those of clear sighted Republicans the Parliament has closed its ears to our warnings, the country has heard them. The examples of firmness, courage and attachment to the laws you have just furnished will not be lost in this land of good sense. The important thing is to be right. We can await the future without inquietude."

President since 1920.

Alexandre Millerand became the President of France in 1920 when when Paul Deschanel was forced to retire because of illness. M. Deschanel had succeeded M. Poincare, who later became Premier under Millerand. A forceful figure through out an adventurous political career, Millerand was called "The Roosevelt of France" by his admirers, a dictator by others, and a traitor by the Socialists, who, for fifteen years prior to his entry upon the stage as a national figure, had sent him as their representative to the Chamber of Deputies.

M. Millerand was successively Minister of Commmerce, 1899-1902; Minister of Public Works, Posts and Telegraphs, 1909-10, under Briand; Minister of War in the Poincare Cabinet of 1912, and in the Viviani Cabinet of 1914, holding the post until the resignation of the Viviani Cabinet in 1915. After the war he was appointed Governor of Alsace-Lorraine, and in 1919 was called upon by Poincare to for a new cabinet to succeed that of Clemenceau. His next step was the presidency.

POSTAL SCALE NOT APPROVED

Benefits Single Men, But Married Will Be Worse Than Before.

IS NOT AN INCREASE

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—R. H. Hall, Dominion Secretary of the Postal Clerks' Association yesterday expressed very great disappointment with the new postal wage schedule. He said the postal clerks could not imagine how the Government could figure out such a schedule, especially in view of the fact that in the United States the postal clerks were all given a flat increase of $300 apiece.

Mr. Hall said that in the United States the minimum salary for postal clerks was higher in many cases than the maximum salary in this country. He said that 90 per cent. of the married men would get less income under the new schedule than under the old plus the bonus. He admitted the single men would be benefitted but thought the married men needed to be looked after better. "The public will get the idea we are being given an increase," said Mr. Hall, "but this is not true," he added. Mr. Hall said the new scale was very disappointing.

RUMOUR RESULTS IN MANY DEATHS

Widespread Riots Reported at Calcutta Yesterday.

CALCUTTA, June 11.—(United Press.)—Maddened by a report that members of the Hindu sect of Sikhs were planning to murder 150 Mohammedan children as a sacrifice to the "spirit" of a new doctrine, coolie mobs killed 12 Sikhs in widespread riots here yesterday.

As the coollies swarmed to the atack and police reserves attempted to restrain them, hundreds of Sikhs fled to police stations for safety. Most of the dead Sikhs were taxicab drivers and a number of their cabs were burned by the mobs. All the men killed were beaten to death. The story started last week and one Sikh was killed last Friday after being accused of sacrificing two children. It is feared that the outbreak may spread.

OFFICE BOY TO PRESIDENT

F. D. Burpee Appointed Vice-President of Electric Railway.

OTTAWA, June 11.—From office boy to vice president of the oldest traction companies in Canada is the record of Major F. D. Burpee, who yesterday was appointed vice-president of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company and vice-president of the Ottawa Traction Company, Limited, replacing Warren Y. Soper, who died here recently. Entering the services of the Ottawa Electric Company in 1891 at the age of 15, Mr. Burpee rose to the position of superintendent, general manager and now to the post of first lieutenant to his first boss, Thomas Ahearn.

Other appointments were made to-day to the offices held by Mr. Soper in the various associated Ottawa companies, connected with the nameof Ahearn and Soper.

Doxology Showed Methodists' Joy For Union Vote

WINDSOR, Ont., June 11.—(Canadian Press).—The London Methodist Conference concluded its 41st session yesterday after a busy meeting that occupied the entire morning. Election of district chairmen and other routine matters occupied the attention of delegates.

The Conference gaive praise and indulged in some rejoicing when Rev. H. B. Parnaby, of Belmont, announced, after the arrival of the reporters, that Church Union had been carried at the General Assembly in session at Owen Sound. The entire assemblage arose to its feet and sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Owing to the fact that union may be consummated before the next anunal conference, a place of meeting and date was left for consideration of a special committee. The matter was considered and there were several churches in the running for conference meeting place.

SIXTY DIVORCE BILLS PASSED

Question of Re-marriage of the Parties Discussed in House.

TOOK 45 MINUTES.

OTTAWA, June 11. — (Canadian Press).—When the House took up the Senate divorce bills at eight o'clock last night, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, asked why a clause granting the petitioner the right to marry again should be incorporated in each bill. This clause had been dropped and he was at a loss to understand why it had been inserted again. Surely it followed from the fact that the marriage had been dissolved that the parties were entitled to marry again.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said that he understood that the clause had been re-inserted after a conference between members of the Senate Divorce Committee and members of the Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons.

T. G. McBride (Progressive, Cariboo), who was on the Private Bills Committee, said that the change had been made by the Senate. It had been taken up with counsel, which recommended that the clause be put back.

Mr. Meighen remarked that if Parliament was going so far as to embody a specific clause permitting the petitioner to marry again, another clause should be added to each bill allowing the divorcee the same right. As a matter of fact custom gave to the divorcee this right.

In forty-five minutes the sixty-six divorce bills on the order paper of the House of Commons passed the committee stage and were given a third reading.

DENIES PROTEST.

Norwegian Consul Claims He Carried Message From Jailed Spanish Representative.

OTTAWA, June 11.— (Canadian Press.)—A telegram from L. Aubert, Norwegian consul general in Montreal, relative to his connection with the arrest of the Spanish Consul Maluquer on a charge of violating the narcotic drug act, was read in the house of commons yesterday afternoon by Premier King.

Quoting a Canadian Press report of the discussion in the house regarding the matter the Norwegian consul general denied that he had ever called Canada a colony. He denied further that he had protested against the arrest of the Spanish consul, "although," he added, "it is well established in international law that the archives and files of a foreign consulate are inviolable."

He had, he said, left it to the Spanish government to deal with that phase of the question. However, as Doyen of the consuls of Montreal, he had called upon the Spanish consult after his arrest and had conveyed a protest from him to the judge before whom the case came.

NO RASCALITY IN C.N.R. ON PACIFIC LINE

Senator Taylor's Charges Not Proven, Investigator Finds, And Officers Were Zealous.

BOOTLEGGING UNKNOWN

Other Allegations Of Fraud And Forgery Also Dismissed By Temple.

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—The result of the investigation into the charges made by Senator J. D. Taylor of New Westminster, B. C., against the management of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine and the Canadian National Railways on the Pacific Coast, was made known here last night, when the reports of Mr. R. S. M. Temple, the legal counsel who conducted a comprehensive enquiry at Vancouver, were laid on the table of the Senate.

In his findings on the various charges, Mr. Temple makes it clear that he was unable, after the examination of the many witnesses whose evidence occupies more than fifteen hundred foolscap pages, to find reasonable evidence proving the allegations made.

On instructions from Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, Mr. Temple, who is regional counsel of the Canadian National system at Winnipeg, began his investigation at Vancouver in March last, taking up first the charges made by Senator Taylor in connection with the dismissal of Captain W. J. Boyd, of the C.G.M.M. steamship Canadian Farmer.

Senator Taylor charged that a conspiracy existed from the time of Captain Boyd's appointment to the "Canadian Farmer" until his dismissal with the object of having him removed from the ship in order to have First Mate Edgecomb appointed to the command; that his ship's officers did not co-operate with him, and that the officers of the company paid no attention to his complaints. Mr. Temple says:

"There is nothing in the evidence to show that there was any conspiracy or antagonism against or towards Captain Boyd on the part of his officers. The few complaints from Captain Boyd that we have record of were all made in writing, and were all investigated."

It was further charged that there was a conspiracy and fraud in running up a large bill of costs to the shin in drydock at Prince Rupert, with the object of discrediting Captain Boyd and to provide an excuse for his dismissal. That in order to carry out the fraud against the underwriters carrying the risk on the "Canadian Farmer," the ship's log had been forged and that Boyd, because he refused to subscribe to the fraud against the underwriters, had been dismissed.

No Bribery or Fraud.

Mr. Temple finds that, from the evidence, there was no fraud, or attempted fraud, on the underwriters; that there was no forgery of the logs; that, in connection with alleged bribery by the Prince Rupert Dry Dock Co. which is owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways, the surveyors honestly did their work and found the damages as set forth in the specifications; that there was no such thing as bribery, commissions, percentages, or personal considerations paid to

LENIN'S DIARY HAS BEEN LOST

Noted Scholar Who Was Custodian Will Pay With His Life.

TROTZKY A WITNESS.

VIENNA, June 11.—Lenin's diary, acclaimed as the greatest treasure which the Russian leader left behind him, has disappeared. Professor Ismatloff, noted Moscow scholar, is to pay for this loss to the Soviet Government and the Communist Party with his own life, according to a despatch from Riga.

It is alleged that Professor Ismatloff was placed by the Soviet Government at the head of a commission to examine all the private papers and documents left by Lenin.

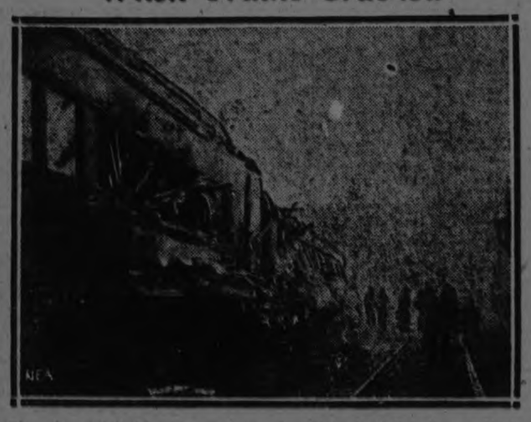
When their work was completed it developed that the diary had mysteriously disappeared.

An extraordinary tribunal was immediately named. Ismatloff and two other members of the commission, according to the despatch, are charged with abstracting the diary for counter-revolutionary purposes.

Trotzky was one of the witnesses called before the commission which investigated the loss of the document.

Ismatloff has been sentenced to death and the other two, Professors Voronozoff and Sergeivieff, to life imprisonment.

When Trains Crashed



Eleven were killed in this wreck on the Wabash Railroad near Attica, Ind. It occurred when a passenger train sidewiped a freight train after crashing through an unlocked switch, according to railroad officials. This picture shows two of the cars, from which most of the dead and injured were taken.

Here is a closeup of the cars of the Wabash passenger train wrecked at Attica, Ind. One of the cars, itwill be seen, was almost turned over.

CHOOSES JURY FROM 184 MEN

Judge And Prosecutor Angered By Challenges Of Counsel For Defense.

BANDIT TRIAL STARTS

MONTREAL, June 11.— After two days' session and out of 184 talesmen, the twelfth juryman was chosen late yesterday afternoon for the second trial of Giussepi Serafini and the first trial of Tony Frank, Frank Gambino, Mike Valentino, Louis Morel and Leo Davis on a charge of murdering Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank collection car here on April 1, when $142,888 was stolen by bandits and Cleroux and one of the bandits were shot dead. All is now set for the trail to commence to-day. The list of jurors is as follows:

Treffle Lacombe, A. E. Tetreault, S. Jolicoeur, John Dougall, A. Leroux, Georges Christie, Napoleon Belanger, L. Morache, Montgomery Charleton, George Digby, Henry Lacombe and H. Hancock.

The choosing of the twelfth juror took over an hour and came immediately after an outburst of indignation on the part of h. N. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, and Mr. Justice Wilson, presiding judge, as to the attitude of the defence in challenging every juror peremptorily, after the "challenge for cause" had been settled by the triers. His Lordship had just pointed out that he was preparing himself for a patient wait until the full limit of 120 peremptory challenges to which the defence is entitled, was exhausted, before there would be any hope of completing the jury, but he regretted to think this would probably entail disturbing some three hundred more people who would have to be summarily taken away from their business duties to supply new panels.

As soon as the jury was complete the special jurors, other than those sworn in, were liberated, the charge lying against the accused men was read to the jury and the court adjourned until this morning when the trial began.

As constituted the jury divides apparently as follows: Four English and eight French. Of the latter, however, two or three speak English, so that the language division is fairly equal.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE.

Victim of Motor Accident Died of Gangrene.

LONDON, Ont., June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Following the death in Victoria Hospital yesterday afternoon of Charles Lane, Thomas Clare, a local contractor, was arrested and charged with manslaughter, Clare's car collided with a motorcycle on which Lane and Ernest Brown were riding last Wednesday night, Lane died of gangrene, the result of his injuries.

LEOPOLD TURNS JAIL'S JESTER

Young Slayer Spends Time In "Kidding" His Fellow Prisoners.

LOEB IS NOT GAY

CHICAGO, June 11.—Does he really feel that way or is he trying to lay the foundation for the insanity defense?

That is what prisoners and attaches in the county jail are asking each other about Nathan Leopold, Jr. He is rapidly earning the reputation of making snappy retorts, of being a genial "kidder," the jail jester.

"Kidding" is his idea of the best way to pass the time when waiting to be hanged, many believe.

Prisoners, guards, reporters, all fall victims to his "sense of humor." A reporter asked him:

"Are you trying to prove you're crazy?"

He responded:

"My dear fellow, I am not allowed to discuss my defense, but if you will present authority from Clarence Darrow, my counsel, I will give you articles on:

"Is our garbage system adequate?

"How I trained the jail rat to do calisthenics.

"Where does the lap go when we stand up?"

Things are different with Richard Loeb, who occupies a cell on the floor above Leopold's. Removed from the influence of his accomplice, he seems to have lost courage. Most of his time he spends with his own thoughts. He is not a jester.

Today he waited in line with other prisoners for a chance to have his hair cut and get a shave. At lunch time, he took a helping from the jail food cart, but soon decided not to eat it, and apologized to the attendant.

Rate War Brings Insurance Rates Down to 3 Cents

WINNIPEG, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—A rate cutting war among insurance companies who issue policies on grain shipped down the Great Lakes has brought about a reduction of the old rate of 30 cents per $100 of cargo value to the low rate of three cents, according to a news item in the Winnipeg Tribune.

It is stated that since the Dominion Government by legislation last year killed the monopoly so long enjoyed by the vessel agents of writing insurance on grain, a rate war has been waged between outside companies and those already in the field.

That an early halt to this condition will be called is freely predicted in authoritative circles as it is recognized that no company can carry on business at a three cent rate and hope to survive for any length of time.

FRUSH MEETS BRETONNEL.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press).—Danny Frush, who on June 1 knocked out Eugene Criqui in the eighth round of a 20-round bout here, has signed articles to fight Fred. Bretonnel on June 24. Bretonnel in February was proclaimed lightweight champion of Europe by the International Boxing Commission, which gave him the title held by Harry Mason, the British boxer, because Mason was alleged to have ignored a challenge of Bretonnel to defend the championship.

Increase In Income Tax More Than Balances Loss In Sales Tax And Customs.

EXCISE DUTIES UP

Interest Payment On Public Debt In May Was Lower Than Last Year.

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Increased income tax collections, which more than balanced reductions in sales tax and customs revenue resulting from the last Budget, were a large factor in a fourteen million dollar decrease in Canada's national debt during May. The total net debt of Canada on April 30 last was $2,399,548,872. On May 31, it had dropped to $2,385,263,512. Last year there was a decrease in the net debt amounting to $4,302,700 during the month of May

The monthly statement, issued through the Finance Department yesterday shows a decrease in the ordinary revenue and an increase in ordinary expenditure of Canada for the first two months of the fiscal year. The falling-off in total revenue for the two-month period amounted to $3,262,852, the figures being $89,359,371 for April and May, 1923, and $86,096,519 for the same two months this year.

During the month of May alone, revenue increased this year by $1,840,399 when comparison is made with the figures for May, 1923. Total revenue for May, 1924, was $61,237,699, while in May, 1923, it was $59,397,300.

Excise Taxes Drop.

Analysis of the revenue figures shows that income tax collections increased from $38,148,716 in the two-month period of 1923 to $41,605,103 in April and May, 1924. For the month of May alone the increase is still larger, amounting to $4,821,990 the figures being, May, 1923, $31,077,481; May, 1924, $35,899,4471.

There was a drop in the collections of excise taxes, due to the reduction in the sales tax, of more than $5,000,000 for the two-month period. Customs revenue dropped from $21,573,207 for April and May, 1923, to $20,223,637 for the two-month period of the present year.

The figures for May alone, however, show but a small decrease in customs revenue when comparison is made with May, 1923. Total revenue from customs for May, 1923, was $10,826,506, while in May of the present year it was $10,502793. There was an increase in revenue from the excise duties from $3,274,218 in May, 1923, to $3,6224,983 last month.

Other Decreases.

On the expenditure side of the sheet, the largest item during May was interest on the public debt amounting to $32,748,756. This was lower than in May, 1923, when interest payments totalled $34,645,826. Expenditures for pensions were somewhat larger than in May, 1923, amounting to $2,831,744.

Expenditures on soldiers' land settlement during May amounted to $168,095 and for soldiers' civil re establishment $784,548. Both these items show decreases from May, 1923.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA HOME AND SCHOOL MET MONDAY

The Queen Alexandra Home and School Association held their regular monthly meeting, Monday evening, June ninth, the president, Mrs. H. G. Walker, presiding.

There was a good attendance and arrangements were completed for the school picnic to be held in Nicholls Oval, Friday afternoon, June 20th. Fathers are urged to attend if possible.

All contributing in any way to the success of the paper collection and rummage sale in May were heartily thanked.

Prizes for general proficiency for the year are to be awarded in each room.

The splendid showing of the Cadets in their first year was a subject for congratulation. A note of appreciation will be sent to instructors and cadets.

Mrs. J. S. Peters, president of the Prince of Wales' Home and School Association, read a splendid report of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations' Convention, at Easter, emphasizing the new law that the mother is coguardian with the father and children cannot be taken from her.

As a little surprise for the summer closing meeting, dainty refreshments were served by the president, Mrs. Walker and first vice-president, Mrs. D. Parnall.

The banner was again won by the junior fourth, Mr. F. H. Dearborn's room, there being eight parents present.

MINISTERS OF GOSPEL LOOK FOR LIVELIHOOD IN MINE AND FACTORY

Appeals Made At General Assembly For Help For Pastors Of Reformed Churches.

FINANCIAL REPORTS

Ordination Of Women Debate Was Postponed—Tithing Discussed.

OWEN SOUND, June 11.—(Canadian Press). —Two most earnest appeals for sympathetic consideration and for financial support were made in the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday afternoon. The first was from the Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, principal of Knox College who spoke on behalf of the Ministers of the small reformed churches of Europe and the second was from the Rev. Dr. R. Laird in the interests of the deficit which is crippling to some extent the work of the denomination .Dr. Gandier visited the continent of Europe last year the representative of the Canadian Church and he gave to the Assembly an intimate personal statement of conditions. He said that Ministers of the reformed Churches in the various countries of Europe who were as cultured and who had in previous years lived as happily as the members of the Canadian Assembly were reduced to the most abject poverty. Widows of Ministers who at one time were in receipt of pensions on which they lived in comfort were now completely deprived of this resource. Dr. Gandier spoke of the General situation in Europe. New lines of division had been laid down, manufacturing areas had been separated from agricultural areas, and normal human interest had been checked, in a new way. All the bad feelings of Europe had been intensified by the great war and still more intensified by the Peace. The middle class of Europe, including the Clergy, the teachers, the professors, was threatened with extension. To deal to some extent with the dire trouble of the ministers of the churches and to secure information regarding conditions there had been held in Copenhagen a great conference at which 37 Protestant churches were represented. At this meeting the story was told of the conditions under which Ministers of the Reformed Churces were living Many were working in the Mines, and in other industries to secure the first necessities of life. French and German Pastors of the Reformed Churches stood together on the same platform to say that something better than Nationalism was needed at once in Europe. These small Reformed Churches, Dr. Gandier said, had an influence in Europe far out of proportion to their numerical strength. The large churches of the United States were maintaining missions in the various countries of Europe, but Dr. Gandier was of the opinion that far more would be accomplished if the Christian churches of the United States and Canada, would get behind the small Reformed Churches which were already in existence in these countries. These were native churches recognized by the Governments and recognized as being of the people of these countries.

Canada to Aid

It had been agreed that the churches of Canada would raise a sum of money for the aid of these struggling and suffering Churches and Principal Gandier asked for the co-operation of 1,000 churches in the movement.

Rev. Dr. Laird spoke of the general financial situation and announced that a week of especial effort would be observed from November 2 to November 9, this autumn and that a special offering for the deficit would be made on either November 9 or November 16, as the individual church might choose. Dr. Laird spoke eloquently of the big human need behind the Budget and several speakers interjected remarks as to the great cost at which the deficit was being wiped out. A certain amount of the Religious and Spiritual work which the Church ought to do was being left undone. It was stated that the Board of Sabbath Schools and young people would co operate in this effort and it was also stated that the Women of the denomination would co-operate fully.

Dr. Laird said that there was three reasons why cautions would be observed in the work of the denomination through the coming year. In the first place it was not quite certain what the condition of the church would be due to the developments in connection with Union, in the second place, he said, it was agreed that the improvement in business conditions in the world would be slow and that conditions would be worse before they were better. In the third place there was the existing deficit of $300,000 in addition to the debts of the Colleges. The gifts of the church Dr. Laird said, had increased in quite a satisfactory way in giving for stipend there had been a gain of 40 per cent. For general congregational purposes, there had been an increase of fifty per cent.

In the Women's societies there had had been an increase of 70 per cent. In the same number of years there had however been an increase of 75 per cent in the cost of getting anything done. This was the cause of the debt of $300,000. Dr. Laird and Dr. Drummond, who presented the report of the General Board made a strong appeal on the ground that this was the jubilee year of the Church, that the entire debt of the home and foreign Mission board might be cleared off this year. The Church will expend in the neighborhood of $2,00,000 and it is asked to provide $1,800,000 which will take care of all balances now due and also provide for the General work.

Judge McKay, Port Arthur, when the question of tithing was raised, quoted figures from United Presbyterian churches of the United States, which have been exceedingly generous in their givings to missions, and suggested that the Canadian church should keep in view the objective of $10 a member year for benevolence. Improvement, it was said, was being steadily made in the matter of early remittances to the treasurer, and considered sums were received early in the year, resulting in large savings in the matter of interest charge .A commissioner stated that his congregation now sent for he schemes of the church a fixed sum every Monday morning.

In connection with the forward movement peace thank offering it was stated that about eighty per cent of the subscriptions had been paid. The total amount so collected was $4,159.76. There was still about one million dollars, outstanding a considerable part of which was collectable. It was recommended that as much as possible of this amount be secured and the fund permanently closed.

In connection with the report of the board of education the question of the ordination of women for the ministry of the church was introduced and action was postponed.

NO RASCALITY

any of them, nor was there any thought of bribery by the dock company. That the charge made by the dock company was a fair price for the work done.

Other charges were that bootlegging had taken place to a considerable extent, that the officers afloat or ashore were interested in this traffic and because Captain Boyd would not subscribe thereto supplied the reason for the desire to get rid of him.

Mr. Temple found that no bootlegging took place on the "Farmer" or the "Volunteer," although some of the crew were found with liquor and that the officials of the company had made and maintained very strict regulations relative to liquor on ships, and that every report of violation was investigated by the Vancouver officials and the offenders summarily dealt with as in the cases of Sargent and Fraser at Ocean Falls and Chief Steward Jones at San Francisco, all of whom were dismissed.

Free From Liquor.

"That to this end the Vancouver officials had secured the co-operation, on the British Columbia coast of the Provincial Police, the Liquor Control Board and the Canadian Customs, and evidence submitted to me by officers and department heads of those Canadian forces together with strong evidence from United States Customs heads at San Pedro and San Francisco shows the vessels of the C.G.M.M. to be exceptionally free from liquor.

"I find that there is no ground whatever for the serious charges made of bootlegging against Edgecombe, mate of the 'Canadian Farmer,' and that such bootlegging did not take place."

Other charges made by Captain Boyd were that claims were carelessly or fraudulently paid by the C.G.M.M., reference being made to paper claims in San Francisco port. Mr. Temple says in his report:

"That no evidence was produced before me in support of the charge that excessive freight claims on paper cargoes had been fraudulently paid at San Francisco, without investigation by C.G.M.M. officials and that Captain Boyd drew an entirely wrong inference from the surveys report which showed injury to 293 rolls of paper.

"In view of the above findings, it may seem strange to say that I think Captain Boyd believes that a great number of the charges that he has brought are true, because his dismissal has preyed on his mind to such an extent that he has almost, if not altogether, persuaded himself that what he alleges is actually true. He has an apparent frank way of speaking and this may account for his having won so warm an advocate in Senator Taylor.

Proved on Mind.

"In connection with Captain Boyd's charges it should be pointed out that he not only denied the truth of the evidence given by practically every witness who was not testifying on his behalf, but he attacked the personal character of very many of them and others in any way connected with the incidents referred to."

Following upon the Boyd enquiry, an investigation was held by Mr. Temple, assisted by E. F. Haffner, barrister, of the legal firm of Munson, Allen, Laird, Davis, Haffner and Hobkirk, of Winnipeg, into certain charges against the purchasing department of the Canadian National Railways at Vancouver. Mr. Haffner concurs in Mr. Temple's findings which were arrived at after the examination of sity-six witnesses. These findings are summarized in another lengthy report tabled in the Senate last night.

UNKNOWN MAN GAVE LIFE TO SAVE BOY

Heroic Act Reported from Owen Sound—Both were Fishing.

OWEN SOUND, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Yesterday afternoon an unknown man, estimated to have been about 22 years of age, gave up his life in a vain effort to save a ten year old lad, Colon More, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben More, of this place. The Tragedy occurred in Sydenham river at Harrison's dam.

Young More was fishing, standingon a raft close to shore. His support parted and he was precipitated into the river. Just a few feet away from him was an unknown man, who immediately took off his coat and jumped into the river in an effort to save the drowning boy.

Both had been fishing and it was evident that in the boy's struggles to cling to the man, the man became so badly enmeshed that neither was able to assist the other and both perished.

When brought to the surface the bodies were twelve feet from shore and were together.

An examination of the clothing of the unknown hero revealed a meal ticket. A five cent piece was all the money in the man's pickets.

On the lapel of his coat was a service ribbon, indicating that he had served in the war.

COUNTY COUNCIL SESSION COBOURG

School Grants Allowed --The Automobile Tax Question.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 11.—The committee on Schools, of which Reeve Holdaway, of Port Hope, is chairman, was the only one ready to report when the Counties' Council resumed its sessions Tuesday evening. All the continuation and high schools in the two counties were allowed the grants asked for, these of pupils attending from outside the section or district.

Campbellford High school gets $5,993.00, Warkworth Continuation school, $2,838.42; Millbrook, grants being based on the number $3,484.10; Havelock, $203.14 for the pupils from Northumberland county; Omemee, $505.91; Norwood $934.15; Lindsay, $1,998.42; Janetville, $442.29.

The time for the payment of these grants was changed from December 15th to October, to give the school boards a chance to close their books for the year and to pay the teachers, some of whom leave before the former date. There was some opposition to this proposition, on the ground that the money would not be available by that time and that it would be necessary to borrow $60,000 for three months. The report, however, was adopted as read. On motion of Deputy-Reeve Dorie of Campbellford, Warden Fowlds, Reeve McColl of Brighton township and two other members voting in the negative.

The bridges in the county were, with few exceptions, reported by the various commissioners in good order. Reeve Van Volkenburg found that the bridge at Healey Falls requires some minor repairs and these he ordered. Each commissioner is authorized to spend not to exceed $50 on a bridge without bringing the matter to the attention of the Council.

Reeve Van Volkenburg gave notice that he will introduce the necessary by-laws, as he is chairman of that committee. One of these by-laws provided for the usual road grants to the towns and villages so that there is likely to be no change in this regard for the present at least.

Reeve Holdsworth of Hamilton Township started a long discussion when he introduced a resolution asking the Ontario Government to permit the municipalities to build their own roads without appointing an overseer other than a member of the Township Council. The Government has given notice that after this year the old system of statute labour is to be done away with. An overseer, approved by the Department of Highways, is to be appointed in each township and 50 per cent. of his salary is to be paid by the Province.

Warden Fowlds and other members opposed the resolution while several approved of it. The Warden said that the aim of the regulation was to secure experienced road builders and to retain their services permanently.

The resolution was lost on a roll call by a large majority.

Auto Tax Question.

Reeve Holdsworth stated that in his opinion the townships could build their own roads without provincial aid if they were given the money collected for automobile licenses.

In reply to this, Warden Fowlds read a letter which he had received from the Department of Highways and which gave figures to show that in the years 1921-1923 inclusive the counties of Northumberland and Durham had received in road grants approximately $4,000 more than they had paid for automobile licenses.

District Representatives.

District Representatives Patterson of Durham and Smith of Northumberland appeared before the Council and gave reviews of the work they have carried on during the past year. Both asked for the co-operation of the members.

Adjourned Till Thursday.

The Council adjourned until Thursday afternoon when the Finance Committee and the Committee on Equalisation will be ready to submit their report. The latter will report in favour of another increase of 10 per cent. in the equalisation of the towns and villages, and this is expected to meet with strong opposition when taken up in open session.

The complimentary excursion to Rochester given by Warden Fowlds to the members of the Council will be held to-day, the boat leaving here at 9 a.m. While in the American city the members will attend the international conference to be held for the purpose of dealing with the question of establishing a motor ferry from here to Rochester.

"Northumberland Forest."

The majority of the councillors, including Warden Fowlds, motored Wednesday afternoon to "Northumberland Forest," the 1,000-acre tract purchased last year by the Council had handed over to the Provincial Government for reforestration. The land is in Haldimand Township, about 10 miles from here. The place is hilly and the soil is light sand, which was worthless for agriculture, and which in a high wind drifted like sand. The land cost the Council $6,100, an average of $6.10 an acre, and this is all the expense incurred, the Government assuming all further outlay. Some of the hills are already covered with a natural growth valuable pine timber, which in a few years will probably be worth more than the cost of the entire tract.

The work of setting out young trees was begun by the Government this year, but the planting season has ended for the year. The trees are set out in furrows four feet apart, and already show signs of healthy growth. The total number planted is 207,063, of which there are 115,000 white pine, 87,700 Norway pine, 48,360 Scotch pine, 33,300 Jack pine, 300 poplars, 700 locusts, and 22,500 tamaracs.

At the end of 30 years the Counties Council is given three alternatives. It may go into partnership with the Government for a share in the proceeds of the timber on a 50-50 basis, the price of the land to be the counties only outlay. The Council may purchase the tract at actual cost or it may sell out to the Government for the price paid for the land.

The Government in the meantime plants and cares for the trees, fences the land and provides fire protection.

Percy Man In Demand.

The services of Deputy Reeve Nelson of Percy is in demand as secretary of committees. At this session he holds that position on no less than four, the committee on roads and bridges, on schools, on equalization and on county property.

SERVICE COMMISSION BUSY COUNTING HEADS

Employees in Ontario Governmental Service are Uneasy.

TORONTO, June 11. — J. M. McCutcheon, civil service commissioner for Ontario, is making a servey of the staffs of all the governmental departments.

When asked last night if this step presaged a reduction of the staff the commissioner declined to comment.

There is considerable uneasiness among the employees in the Queen's Park, however, as Mr. McCutcheon's tour of inspection has given rise to rumours that a reduction is pending.

POSTAL MAN'S WAGE WILL BE DECREASED

TORONTO, June 11 (Canadian Press). — New wage awards of the Civil Service Commission at Ottawa were given consideration at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the Postal Federation of Canada, every branch of the service represented in the Federation having two of their leaders at the meeting, and considerable dissatisfaction was expressed at the finding of the Commission.

Speaking last night after the meeting, one of the members said that the award contained more decreases than increases, and in some cases the decreases amounted to 20 per cent.

Feeling had run high immediately after the awards were announced, but it was decided to delay the final action until careful consideration could be given to the finding in all its bearings.

BOOTLEGGERS STRIKE FOR A HIGHER PRICE

ATLANTIC CITY, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Being potted by the coastguards night after night is worth a dollar a case more, say the rum-runners, who are on strike—the first of the kind on record.

Whereas the price of conveying liquor from Rum Row to the shore used to be $1.00 a case, rum-runners now demand $2.00 because of the added hazards of their occupation.

So far the boss bootleggers have refused to yield, and this, with men refusing to work, has brought scarcity and sorrow to the thirsty.

COURT SESSIONS OPEN AT COBOURG

Judge Ward's Address to the Grand Jury--Cases on the Docket.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 11. — Judge Ward in his address to the Grand Jury at theo pening of the Court of General Session on Tuesday afternoon, said that he regretted that he was unable to congratulate them, as he had Grand Juries on former occasions on the absence of crime in the counties. There were no fewer than four criminal charges to be brought to their attention.

Of these cases all are either from Campbellford or vicinity, an unusual record for that community. James Lindsay is charged with harboring Roy Lindsay, who escaped from the lock-up at Haliburton, and also with obstructing the Campbellford police in their attempt to arrest the fugitive Full particulars of this affair as brought out in the police court hearing at Campbellford appeared in The Examiner recently. Lindsay's home is in Percy township, near Hastings where he has a wife and family. He is defended by A. D. Hall of Colborne and will be tried without a jury.

Two Campbellford Cases

Two youths from Campbellford are to be tried on a charge of stealing liquor from the Queen's hotel, the drinking of this liquor by young men of the town resulting in a number of police court cases and fines for breaches of the Ontario Temperance Act. The boys have been out on bail since their preliminary hearing.

Charged with Stealing Furs

Charles Seguire and his father-in-law, Walter Fowler, both of whom reside near Codrington, are jointly charged with the theft of furs valued at several thousands of dollars from the home of Grant Quick, a dealer in Brighton. It is further alleged that the men in order to commit the theft, were guilty of house breaking.

Judge Warde pointed out to the grand jury the gravity of this charge which if proven might result in imprisonment for life for the guilty parties.

The defendants in this case have retained A. R. Wilmott of Cobourg and R. H. Greer K.C. of Toronto, formerly Crown Attorney for that city and the County of York. A separate trial for each man will be asked for and the jury will be called.

Campbellford Represented

Chief of Police Duncalfe, Special Constable Harry Seaborn and Councillor R. H. Cole were here from Campbellford. The latter with Chief Duncalfe and Constable Seaborn gave evidence before the Grand Jury in the Lindsay case.

Wesley Stephens of Campbellford here on the petit jury as was called in the only case, an action for wages to be tried by jury.

Tree bills were returned by the Grand Jury against the five defendants mentioned above and the case against Seguire and Fowler will be taken up to-day.

Ventilation is Bad

Judge Ward called the attention of the Grand Jury to the lack of ventilation in the court room and suggested that they bring in a report on the matter to be referred to the proper authorities. The Judge said that there is a difference in opinion as to whether the town of Cobourg and the Counties Council as to which is responsible for the upkeep of the Court House and the result is inevitable. What is everybody's business is nobodys business.

Another matter referred to by the Judge in his charge was the apparently growing habit of carrying fire arms, the unlawful use of which, he said, was becoming almost a scandal in the county.

The Grand Jury will visit the Institutions to-day.

Joseph Coulson of Newcastle is foreman.

FAIR WEATHER IN WEST.

Put Thermometer Went Below Freezing at Red Deer.

WINNIPEG, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Fair weather is reported from most districts in Western Canada, following week-end rains, and higher temperatures are predicted.

Red Deer, Alberta, was the only point on the weather map where the thermometer went below freezing point, and there was only one degree of frost registered, not sufficient to cause any damage.

While the season is late, warm weather following ample moisture everywhere will bring along the crops very rapidly.

REMEMBERS WOOD BURNERS

PLAYING THE HORSE RACES.

There has been a slight falling-off in the money wagered at some of the race tracks this season. These figures are taken from the bets placed on the Government-licensed machines, but take no notice of the amounts that go through the bucket shops all over the country.

The sad part of the thing is that there are a great many men who cherish the delusion that they can beat the horse races, says the London Advertiser.

They think they can take out more money than they put in. So it is they spend their time poring over dope sheets, figuring out the performance of each horse in previous races, then staking their money, which they probably need for other purposes, on their opinion of which is likely to be the winner.

It is dangerous business for a man to get drawn into. One loss does not act as a warning; if it did, all would be well. It stands, instead, as a reason why he should keep on and try to cover up the first loss with the second win. It is that magnet that has ruined hundreds.

The odds are against taking more money out of a horse race than a man puts in.The man who bets knows there must be more losers than winners, yet he is keen to pit his own vanity and his own judgment against these odds. No man who has been through the threshing-machine would advise another to go in at the feeding end.

THE "DEATH" RAY.

Ever since electricity as a force of unknown and obviously illimitable powers began to intrigue the imagination of novelists as well as scientists, the so-called "Death Ray" has been a popular toy to play with. It will be recalled that Max Pemberton, the well-known English novelist, some years ago wrote a weird yarn, in which representatives of various Powers were in keen conflict for the possession of a great discovery by which the electrical energy of the world could be harnessed and employed to draw the bolts out of battleships and other ships, and also, in the form of a death ray, to blast human beings dead upon the spot by the mere process of shrivelling them up, much like Ayesha, in Rider Haggard's "She," was shrivelled up in the fire of life to which she so recklessly entrusted her alluring self. This particular book is mentioned here because the first demonstration of this "death ray" took place in the Canadian wilds of North Uganda.

Now the scientific world is all agog with curiosity and assumed scepticism—the scepticism which is the scientist's essential armor—over two alleged discoveries of "death rays," or near-death rays. The inventor of one is dickering over terms. The other inventor has given the British Government his secret and declares he will destroy it if they do not adopt it, instead of giving any other Power an opportunity to secure it. Mr. Matthews, the gentleman who is eager over cash, has made an offer to the French Government, having failed so far to get what he wants out of the British Government. Meanwhile, the British Admiralty has casually announced that it has been experimenting with some such ray for a long time, and with a certain measure of success. It is a fairly safe assumption that the Admiralties of America, France, Italy and probably Japan have also been carrying on experiments in secret with the object of discovering some method of utilizing electric force that will make war impossible.

For that, after all, is the supreme object of all these experiments, all this searching after a power that shall triumph over all other agencies capable of human direction—to make war in the future impossible, by perfecting such an instrument or instruments of destruction as will in themselves constitute a completely successful menace against any Power that proposes war. It is for that purpose that Governments consider these things and scientists carry on research. The man who discovered or invented a death ray capable of human control would in effect be one of the world's greatest benefactors, for he would have provided humanity with an instrument for the destruction of the world's greatest menace—WAR.—Montreal Star.

BRITAIN'S DRINK BILL.

The Bankers' Trust Company of New York publishes the result of a survey undertaken by the United Kingdom Alliance, from which some very interesting information regarding the liquor situation in Great Britain may be got. Though there was a falling-off of £22,500,000 in the value of alcoholic drinks purchased last year as compared with 1922, the total expenditure remains a formidable item—no less than £307,500,000, or £7 2s. per head. Taking England and Wales separately, the expenditure on alcoholic drink last year was £7 5s. per head, as against £6 in Scotland. Taxes collected from consumers in 1923 amounted to £51,500,000 on spirit, £81,500,000 on beer, £3,200,000 on wine, etc., in addition to which the sum of £3,971,000 was received for license duty and monopoly value. It is easy to understand how reluctant the Government is to give up this very large addition to the national revenues.

Exports of British spirits amounted to 7,209,000 proof gallons, of which "the United States and its neighbors" took 2,061,000 gallons, an increase of 468,000 gallons as compared with the previous year. The amount spent on drink exceeded the interest on the British national debt, the latter being £307,000,000. For the purpose of comparison the following details are given: Gross annual value of lands, houses and other property under income tax schedule A, £287,000,000; capital invested in coal industry, 1921 (excluding coke ovens an dby-product plants), £180,000,000; local taxes collected, 1922-23, £176,000,000; estimated expenditure on imperial defense, £132,000,000; on education, £89,000,000; national health and unemployment insurance, £79,000,000; war pensions, £75,000,000; relief of poor, £48,000,000; old-age pensions, £24,000,000. The consumption of milk during the year is estimated at 800,000,000 gallons, while the consumption of beer is given as 930,000,000 gallons. There is not much evidence in these statistics to support the hopeful predictions of some prohibitionists that Britain will be "dry" within a comparatively brief period. Huge as the expenditures are, though, there is no doubt that the people are more temperate in their habits than formerly. There was a reduction of eleven shillings per head in the amount spent last year on liquor as contrasted with the year before, and the restrictions on sale are far more drastic than they used to be.—Hamilton Spectator.

PETERBOROUGH 89 YEARS AGO.

Through the kindness of Mr. W. G. Morrow, the Examiner is today enabled to publish for the benefit of readers of this column extracts from an old volume written by a Scottish farmer who toured a large part of the North American Continent in 1835, and whose references to conditions in this district will be read with a great deal of interest.

The work is entitled "A Tour Through North America," together with a comprehensive view of Canada and the United States as adapted for agricultural emigration, and the author was Patrick Sherreff, farmer of Mungoswell, East Lothian.

Mr. Sherreff visited the Peterborough district during his tour, and the passages in regard to Peterborough and the surrounding country are full of interest for the light they throw upon the early days of this community.

The observer reached Peterborough by way of Cobourg (he spells it Coburg) and Rice Lake, and his narrative continues:

"Next morning we set out in a wagon for Sully, on Rice Lake, a steamer carrying us across the lake and up the river Otanabee to Peterborough, the head of navigation, where we found accommodation at MacFadden's Hotel."

Note the spelling of Otonabee, used by the author throughout. And here's Peterborough as it looked eighty-nine years ago:

"Peterborough is on the Otanabee and likely to become a place of some importance. At present there are a number of mean houses scattered over a considerable extent of surface, and the population is stated at 1,000 souls, although I would not have rated them half so high. It is said to contain a number of military and naval half-pay officers of Britain and the society to be the most polished and aristocratic in Canada."

There are some interesting sidelights on other features of life in this district. The Ontario Temperance Act had, of course, never been dreamed of, although there was evidently some need for restrictive measures, for Mr. Sherreff quaintly says:

"We left Peterborough for Coburg on 22d July, by way of Rice Lake, and remarked that two-thirds of the people seen on the road were tipsy. This was a painful sight, which the heat of the weather did not soften or justify."

Rice Lake and the land on either side of the Otonabee is described by the visitor of 89 years ago in the following language:

"Rice Lake takes its name from the quantity of rice floating in its waters; it is surrounded by gentle rising banks and contains several islands. The lake is formed by the waters of the Otanabee, which from the lake to within a short distance of Peterborough forms an uninteresting sail, being a dense forest on either side, with three or four log huts in the course of sixteen miles. Above the rapids at Peterborough the river runs with considerable impetuosity, the banks become diversified, in size equalling the largest river in Britain, and its water-power, if properly developed, of considerable magnitude.

"To the west of the Otanabee and on the banks of the lake is a considerable clearance, formed by Government for the Massagut? tribe of Indians and called Indian Village (now Hiawatha).

"The soil of the small clearances on the Otanabee, above Peterborough, is not of very fine quality and mingled with stones, but seemed to improve on receding from the river. On cleared ground there was scarcely a plant of clover or even of grass, with the exception of timothy, the seed of which had been sown. At the time of visiting this district I was inclined to think unfavourably of the soil from the want of clovers and grasses, but extended observations convinced me this circumstance had no connection with the quality of soil."

Farm labourers in those days were not so badly paid in comparison with the present-day rates, according to the following:

"Wages of farm labourers in the neighborhood of Peterborough were stated at $10 per month by the year, and at $12 in part of summer. A respectable settler in Smithstown told me he had offered $115 in cash per annum, to be paid when a crop was reaped from the labour. In all cases produce or store pay seems to be given unless by special agreement to the contrary. Cash is a scarce commodity and could not be obtained for wheat at the present time."

As to the value of the land the writer says:

"Accounts of the value of land seem to be exaggerated. Uncleared forest land had, it was said, been sold at some distances from Peterborough at $8 per acre, and some people wished me to believe that all land bore a relative value. A gentleman estimated his property at $20 per acre, while I was offered the adjoining back lot of better soil at $6, and I have no doubt could have got it for $4 cash."

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Parliament seems to be the only place where any worrying is done as to Canada's status as a nation.

Mr. Justice Middleton' according to a news item, ordered a piece of cheese that had been brought into a Toronto Court Room removed. It is seldom that such a strong case is ruled out of Court.

Peterborough is worried about band concerts in the park, because autos make so much noise. Surely the bass drum and the trombone can hold the fort against all comers.—London Advertiser.

A Thought

When in your heart the song seems ended,
And life and laughter no more keep tune
With the lift of the waters, and day seems blended
With shadows that stray from some ghostly moon,
Faint heart, remember the month is June.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 11.—Of Monday's receipts at the Union Stock Yards at 3,847 cattle, 3,330 were sold. Yesterday's first receipts were 50 cars, 578 cattle, 249 calves, 1,385 hogs and 334 sheep and lambs. Later arrivals would indicate with Monday's carry over a total of around 1,500 cattle for today. On Monday the exporters took 700 head, mostly steers. These were bought from $7.50 to $8.75 a cwt. and the average was thought to be about 10 cents a cwt. up from last week. A few bulls cost $4.50 to $5.25, and a small number of heifers $7.25 to $7.50 a cwt.

There were very few heavy cattle in yesterday. Butcher's stuff was as near steady as possible with Monday. Choice heavy butchers are selling at $8 a cwt. Good to choice handy weight steers and heifers sold at $7.50. Passably good butchers made about $7 and poor mediums $6.50.

One load of steers, 1,250 lbs., went to the exporters at $7.85 and four at $7.75. One load of choice butchers, 1,070 lbs each, was sold by Dunn & Levack at $7.60 a cwt. The quality of butcher's cows was not as good as on Monday and the top was $6. Good cows were had at $5.25 to $5.50 and mediums $4.75 to $5. A couple of choice bulls were sold at $5.75 and $6 a cwt. Specialists in feeders and stockers say trade is slow with no short keeps in the market. Good loads of 900 lb. Ontario feeders are about $6.50 a cwt.

Calves are not two firm in price and the calf bringing 10 cents or over has to be well out of the ordinary. Bunches of good ones sold at 9 and 9½ cents. Medium calves run from 7 to 8 cents and common calves 4 to 5 cents.

Sheep and lambs are just steady. One bunch of good lambs over 70 lbs. each brought 18 cents, but others a little low in weight sold at 16 cents and unfinished lambs were not better than 13 cents. Yearlings are 11 to 12½ cents and light ewe sheep about 8 cents a pound.

Hogs were strong on Monday and one sale was reported at $8.65 a cwt. off cars long haul. Bids f.o.b. are not better than $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat went up with a rush yesterday, nearly five cents a bushel. The impetus came from flurried buying, due to the Government crop report indicating that the United States would have but little wheat to export this season. Closing prices for wheat were strong, 4c to 4 3-4c net high, July $1.08¾ to $1.08 3-8 and September $1.09 7-8 to $1.10; with corn 1 3-8c to 2 3-4c up; oats at 3-4c to 1 1-8c at 1¼c gain, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 12c. Most of the big advance in wheat values the liveliest seen in many months took place almost as soon as trading began, but the tip-top was reached on a fresh wave of buying just before the finish. The Government report as to winter wheat showed so much greater loss than had generally been looked for that the trade was taken by surprise. Heavy selling to realize profits led to only moderate reaction from the bulge in prices and the demand expanded with sufficient energy to force the market to equal the highest prices yet touched this season by the December delivery.

Foreigners were said to have had a considerable share in the purchasing that so suddenly lifted the wheat market. They were also credited with having taken future deliveries on a liberal scale, as well as acquiring wheat available for immediate shipment. Other buyers included eastern houses that of late had been doing little in the market. Miscellaneous purchasing too was of unusual extent.

Corn and oats responded readily to the rapid upturn of wheat. Continued cold, wet weather was an additional bullish factor, sending December corn to a new high price record for the season.

Despite hog market weakness, provisions rallied with grain.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Restores Mrs. Hall to Health

Lindsay, Ontario.—"I had very poor blood and was bothered with pains in my side and back. I took kidney medicine for a while without success. I got pale, weak and nervous. My mother, who has used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a number of years with very good results, advised me to take it and I did. It did me worlds of good. I have gained twenty pounds and have not felt so well for a long time. You may use this letter as a testimonial to help others if you think it worth it."—Mrs. MARY E. HALL, R. R. 5, Lindsay, Ontario.

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Avenue, Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value.

Let it help your daughter and yourself. C

CAMPBELLFORD HIGH SCHOOL COST $16,008

Government Grant For Year Was $1,512, Leaving $14,496 as the Town's Share of Upkeep.

WOOLER ASKS GRANT.

County Council Committee Refuses to Accept Government Offer of $100.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 11.—It cost $14,-71.65 to maintain the Campbellford High School last year according to the report sent to the Counties Council and attested by Chairman J. A. Loucks and Secretary Wesley Stephens of the Campbellford Board of Education. The amount paid for interest and debentures brings the total up to $16,008.69.

The Government grant was $1512.25, thus leaving a net expenditure of $14,496.44.

Eighty per cent. of the debenture payment, the amount on which the county is required to pay a proportional share of the cost of the new building, is $1295.04. The share of the county and town respectively is determined by the number of pupils attending the school from each during the past three years.

The total number of days attended by pupils from the county for the time as specified above, was 33,705.

The number of days put in by pupils from the town was 81,524.

Of the year's expenditure, including the debenture payment on the new building, the county will pay $5,-993.00 and the town $8,503.44.

The county's share of this year's debenture payment for this year is not done until 1925 so that the town had to meet this obligation alone but the money will come in every year hereafter until the debt is paid. The Campbellford tax rate was increased as a result by about two mills. If the county's share of the debenture had been received this year the rate would have been 39 instead of 41 mills as Mayor Meyers pointed out at the time.

The county on this year's debenture issue will pay less than half of the total but this proportion will increase as the attendance of rural pupils grows, and that there will be an increase in the number is regarded as a certainty now that the new school is opened.

The total salaries of the teachers in the High School, according to the present schedule is $11,724.00.

School at Wooler.

The school at Wooller, which recently took up two years High School work, applied to the Counties Council, through Reeve Sam McColl, of Brighton, for a special grant to help defray the extra cost assumed by the ratepayers. The school is in Murray township, near the town line, but a large number of pupils from Brighton township attend.

Reeve McColl wrote the Department of Education explaining the circumstances and asking if a grant could be legally given. The reply was that was was advisable under certain circumstances to give aid to schools that were extending their curriculum.

The Department offered to make a grant of $100 to the Wooler School if the Counties Council would put up a similar amount.

This offer was rejected at the meeting of the Committee on Schools on Wednesday morning.

The school board, Section No. 2, Percy, sent in a resolution placing itself on record as opposed to an increase of $1000 in the salaries of the public school inspectors.

PRINCE GIVES UP THRONE FOR BRIDE

Danish Prince Married to American Girl in New York.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Miss Eleanor Margaret Green yesterday became the bride of Prince Viggo Christian Adolphe George of the Royal House of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderbourg-Glucksbourg, that reign over the kingdom of Denmark.

The Princess is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. James O. Green, grand-daughter of the late Mayor Abram S. Hewitt and great granddaughter of Peter Cooper. Her marriage, which was performed by Bishop Manning in Calvary Church, is unique among international marriages involving women born on American Continent, with one exception. The record shows several marriages of heiresses to prices of royal houses, but none to member of a reigning house, except the marriage last February of Miss Lois Booth of Ottawa, to Prince Viggo's older brother, Prince Erik.

Prince Viggo, like his brother, by marrying a member of a non-royal family, relinquishes all right to succesion to the throne of Denmark for himself, his wife and their heirs.

Due to the death last March of Dr. Green, plans for the wedding were greatly curtailed. The bride was given away by her brother, Norvin Hewitt Green, and her only attendant was Miss Emily Lewis Stevens.

Following an ancient Danish custom, the bridegroom's father, Prince Waldemar, acted as best man. Prince Viggo and his bride have not yet announced their immediate plans. They expect to start for England in about ten days.

School's out, and now for romping play!

But in the course of play, young hands touch many things — sometimes dirty, grime-laden, and germ-covered. Disease germs lurk in all dirt and are carried from hands to face, to mouth and food.

What mothers must do

You cannot keep children from this ever-present disease-dirt. But you can, and should, do everything possible to prevent its serious effects.

Children need the rich, purifying lather of Lifebuoy with its wonderful health ingredient to godown deep into the pores and combat the germs ever present in dirt.

RUSSIAN RUBLES WANTED

Unusual Demand Increases the Value From $400 to $3,000 For Million.

NEW YORK, June 11—(Canadian Press).—Russian rubles of the old Czarist dynasty, which on Monday had advanced $400 to $1,000 per million within a fortnight, scored an even more sensational gain yesterday, selling above $2,000 to the million. The market was flooded with bids of $1,500 a million, with offerers holding out for $3,000.

Additional explanation for the sudden demand for the currency, originating in Japan, was found yesterday in the announcement that many Russian foreign trade accounts, contracted several years ago on a Romanoff ruble basis, were falling due at this time and were payable only in these bills.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Children's Day in the Methodist Church--Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10. — A large congregation gathered on Sunday morning in the Methodist Church for the special observance of Children's Day. There was a splendid programme service, "The Call of the Flowers," composed of suitable choruses, recitations, and exercises.

The superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. A. Winters, presided, and announced the different items of the service.

A choir of thirty-five voices, under the leadership of Mr. George Lucy, rendered some excellent music.

Recitations were given by John Phillips, Mervin Malcolm, Florence Bibby, and "A Lullaby" by Kathryn Irwin, assisted by four smaller girls, who gave the accompanying gestures.

The singing of the several birds in their cages hanging in the church made music sweet. When the organ pealed and the choir sang the little fellows would trill and fill the church with their melody.

One of the special features of the morning's service was the graduation class from the beginners to the primary. This class is taught by Mrs. W. H. Ashton, assisted by Miss Cherrie Turner in playing the organ and helping with the singing. About a dozen girls and boys were old enough to graduate and they were able to give from memory the books in the New Testament, The Apostles' Creed, and the Twenty-third Psalm. Afterwards each one was presented with a certificate and New Testament, of which they are all very proud.

The whole beginners' class sang a very pretty chorus and repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union have their meeting on Tuesday at Mrs. S. Johnstone's home.

Decoration Day.

Over twenty members of the Northumberland Regiment Band went to Frankford on Sunday afternoon to assist in the decoration service held there. Some of the men of the Frankford band joined with them. The church was crowded to the doors and many were unable to get in. A great many people from Campbellford motored down for the afternoon decoration of the graves.

The band also went to Frankford on Monday night to give a concert under the auspices of the Frankford band. Besides the several selections from the band, Mr. Herb Leonard sang.

Young People Meet.

The Young People's meeting in the Methodist church on Monday night was very interesting. In the absence of the secretary for a few weeks, Miss Beatrice Ayrhart was appointed assistant. The executive is called to meet next Monday night to arrange programmes for the different evenings for the rest of the year and have them ready for September.

The programme was in charge of Miss Kerr, 1st vice-president. Mr. Maguire, the president, looked after this as Miss Keir was unavoidably absent.

A vocal duet was given by Miss Ayrhart and Mrs. R. Bibby, after which Mr. T. J. Craighead gave a splendid topic on the present missionaries of Japan and then on the greatest missionary and teacher the world has ever known— Jesus Christ. This topic was well thought out and showed great pains in the writing of the work of Mr. and Mrs. Price in Japan and most of all the wonderful life and influence and teaching of Jesus Christ and His mission to save the world. On motion it was decided to close the League for July and August and start again the first of September.

COPY OF SCRIPTURES OVER HUNDRED YEARS

Interesting Relic will be Shown at Belleville Celebration

PORT HOPE, June 9.—Mr. D. A. Valleau of the Customs Examining warehouse here has a number of very fine and interesting old family heirlooms, among them possibly the most interesting is an old family Bible.

The book is a very finely preserved copy of the King James' version of the Scriptures, printed at Edinburgh by Mark and Charles Kerr in the year 1795.

The inside of front cover bears the label of the dealer who sold the copy, namely, Wm. Trumbull, Stationary, 156 Trongate, Glasgow.

The book is bound in leather and though its leaves show the ripening and changing effect of the years, for its pages are yellow and sear but are splendidly preserved and as readable as any modern edition.

The Bible was the property of Cornelius Valleau, who was born in Bergen county, New Jersey, on Feb. 26th, 1777. His name and that of succeeding generations of the family are written in the book. He was married to Mary Anne Rowe, who was born March 17th, 1781.

Among their children was William, who was the grandfather of the present owner of the book.

Mr. D. A. Valleau's father was Andrew Zabriski Valleau, born 1833 and died 1888.

The book contains the names of various other members of the family and is certainly accounted a priceless treasure by Mr. Valleau.

To Be Read on June 15th.

This Bible will be used in religious service that is to be held at Belleville on Sunday, June 15, at the Presbyterian Church of that city, and will be read by Rev. Mr. Morden, himself a descendent of U.E.L. stock.

The Valleau's are descentants of those U.E.L.'s who braved the dangers of forest trail and sea that they might remain under the old flag of their fathers.

If this and the other old volumes and heirlooms could but audibly tell the story of the years of wearisome travels and toil, of the early fireside and community events, of the struggles, of the ambition, of the joys and the tears, of the successes and defeats, of the heartaches and the ecstacies of those old pioneers what a story they would unfold.

From an old report issued in 1897 by the Ontario Bureau of Industries we make the following clipping which refers to the Valleau family.

The Valleaus'

It says: "The Valleaus—Peter Valleau and his sons, Hildebrand and Cornelius, aged 9 and 7 years, were among the first pioneer company. Peter appears to have settled somewhere south of Hay Bay, but no one now can tell just where. He and his son, Hildebrand, moved to Sixth Town (Sophiasburg) before 1800, and settled on the High Shore, a few miles east of Picton, where both lived and died.

They lie buried in the old Conger church burying ground. Mr. A. S. Valleau, now Collector of Customs at Deseronto, is a descendant of Hildebrand, and there are a large number of the family in Prince Edward.

Peter was township treasurer of Sophiasburg in 1880.

Cornelius Valleau, the other son, drew land north of Hay Bay, a second lot to the eastern boundary, where he lived and died. He reared a large family and there are now a large number of descendants, but none of the name are now in the township.

Judge Cornelius Valleau Price, now of Kingston, is a grandson. A number of the family name reside in Richmond township and also a number in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward county, and in other portions of the province. They were Methodists.

WOMAN BOTANIST LEADS HARD LIFE

Mrs. J. M. Finch, Aged 57, Makes Her Living From Gathering Rare Plants in the Woods.

By A. H. FREDERICK.

KERBY, Ore., June 11.—A woman who has found her vocation in places otherwise unpenetrated, save for hardiest of occasional hunters, trappers and prospectors, has her headquarters here.

She is Mrs. J. M. Finch, 57, a botanist who makes her living from gathering rare plants and bulbs.

Her workroom is remote ranges of the Siskiyou mountains of northern California and southern Oregon.

Her equipment is rifle, pack horse, hunting dogs, tent, bedding, pick, shovel and ax, provisions and a knowledge of botany.

"The mountains, I love them!" declares Mrs. Finch. "I have spent all my life in them. For more than 26 years I have worked in the Siskiyous and I have shipped my plants and bulbs to most parts of the United States and Europe."

Mrs. Finch generally makes her trips alone—journeys of a week to 10 days—and meets dangers of storm and blizzard without fear. Nor does she fear wild animals, trusting to her rifle accuracy for protection.

Mrs. Finch became interested in the work when she heard stories of the rare specimens which were hidden away in the valleys and unknown places of the Siskiyous.

She made her first trip, and so satisfactory were the results that she has continued.

Plants and bulbs which she collects are eagerly desired in all parts of the world, rare Lewisias, Mariposa tulips, rock plants and many others.

Mrs. Finch is in the best of health, which she attributes to her active outdoor life.

"I expect to be doing the same work when I'm 60," she declares. "Personally, I think it's a great life for a woman."

Traffic And Radio Among Police Work

DETROIT, June 11.—(Associated Press).—Standardization of traffic regulations, radio communication as a means of increasing police efficiency, adoption of a secret telegraphic code, and discussion of methods of checking the promiscuous sale of firearms, are the principal subjects facing the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police to be held at Montreal July 14-17. William P. Rutledge, superintendent of police of Detroit, is President.

A report on the work done by the Division of Criminal Identification and Police Information at Washington, D. C., also will be heard. This division is a combination of full police records of cities represented by members in the association, and records of the Bureau of Criminal Identification of the United States Department of Justice, making available at all times to the police of the country detailed information concerning criminals of the world.

President Rutledge has devoted considerable attention during the past year to traffic regulation, and the convention for the first time will be attended by representatives of leading automobile and traffic associations who will present their views on means for facilitating prompt motor car movement and decreasing the number of traffic casualties.

A CIGAR SANDWICH.

ANTWERP, June 11.—Henri Puffle showed a new delicacy to the proprietor of an Antwerp cafe and then went to jail. He ordered a ham sandwich and two cigars and put the cigars in the sandwich. But in this way he attracted such attention to himself that he couldn't walk out without paying, as he tried to do. The police took him to jail while he munched on his ham and Havana sandwich.

Bon Ami

Keeps white shoes looking like new!

For all kinds of white shoes—except kid—Bon Ami works wonders.

Put it on with a wet brush—let it dry—then wipe it off with a dry cloth. You'll find that all the dirt, dust and grass stains have disappeared. Just the fresh original whiteness remains—without any pasty, chalky streaks.

When the original whiteness finally has worn off your shoes, clean them first with Bon Ami, then apply a good white dressing. This avoids the ugly, grimy, clogged-up appearance.

Bon Ami also cleans windows, mirrors, white woodwork, aluminium, kitchenware, bathtubs, etc.—in fact, it has scores of uses throughout the house.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTES ON SCHOOL QUESTION MEETING LAST NIGHT

Will Make Extensive Alterations to the South Central School—Plans Submitted -- More Accommodation Needed

Following the report of Mrs. Kate Morris, chairman of the Property Committee, the Board of Education at a meeting last night decided to proceed with the alterations to the South Central School with all possible speed, in order to supply the increased accommodation required for the commercial department of the Collegiate Institute by September 1st. Sketch plans prepared by W. R. Blackwell were carefully perused by the members of the Board. The architect's estimate for the cost of this work is $30,000. It was moved by Mr. J. A. McKone and seconded by Mr. E. B. Fowler, that plans and specifications be drawn up and that tenders be invited. The contemplated alterations are designed to improve the heating, plumbing, lighting, ventilation and general efficiency of the building.

Mrs. Morris stated that the alterations would merely clean up a school now in use, but would be sufficient to cope with the temporary demand for room. Although it takes care of the commercial department, the South Central must be regarded as a public school. There will be several additional rooms for public school use after the commercial department is provided for.

Mr. McKone remarked that it will be as cheap a school as the Board will ever get.

Dr. F. C. Neal thought the Board as a body should declare itself on the matter of school accommodation, as at present the public were at variance as to how they stood. Dr. Neal said that he knew his own stand, but was unable to tell people the view of the Board as a whole on the matter.

Chairman F. M. Green stated that as the report of the Vocational Committee had been approved at a previous meeting, the Board had already gone on record as being in favor of the combination school.

Mrs. Morris was of opinion that the Board had not definiteily declared its stand, and moved: "That the Board express its approval of the combination school as meeting the academic and vocational needs of the students of this city."

Dr. Neal seconded the motion.

Mr. E. B. Fowler interjected that he didn't think that the resolution was necessary, in view of the previous adoption of the report of the Vocational Committee.

Mrs. Morris pressed her motion, and it carried without amendment.

Grant Made.

The usual grant of $25 was made to the Athletic Association of each public school.

A communication from F. H. Campbell, assistant janitor of the Prince of Wales' School, requesting an increase in salary, was received. Mr. A. A. Fowler thought that $18 a week was hardly enough, and this remark met with general approval. This matter was referred to the Committee on Appointments, to be later considered by the Board, following a report of that committee.

The reports of Dr. A. W. McPherson, medical school officer, and Dr. F. Green, school dentist, were received, and Public School Inspector A. Mowat reported that all the pupils of the city's public schools had been examined by the school dentist.

Applications for positions on the public school staff were received and referred to the Committee on Appointments. The Committee on Appointments was authorized to fill any vacancies at the end of the term, on motion of Mr. J. A. McKone and Dr. J. J. Craig.

It was moved by Dr. Neal and seconded by Mrs. Morris that the requests of Miss Scott and Miss Thomlinson for leave of absence be granted.

The resignations of Miss M. Wallace and Miss J. E. Redmond, of the Collegiate Institute staff, and Miss M. E. Redmond of the public school staff, were received, and, on motion of Messrs. McKone and E. B. Fowler, they were accepted.

Miss Redmond and Miss Runnings intimated that they were leaving the teaching profession, and all three expressed their regret at leaving, as their work had been carried on under most pleasant conditions.

THE APPLICANTS FOR CITIZENSHIP

Eleven Will Be Considered by His Honour Judge Huycke.

A substantial increase will be made to Peterborough voters' list if all the applications for naturalisation heard before His Honour Judge Huycke yesterday afternoon are granted. There were eleven applicants, nine of whom were Italians, one an American Jew, and one a Swede.

The applicants were tested in their knowledge of public affairs and were questioned by Judge and counsel with a view to ascertaining their interpretation of the meaning of Canadian citizenship. Some exhibited a good use of the English language, and displayed marked intelligence when queried in reference to the duties and responsibilities of citizenship. Others could read but little English and faltered when asked "Who was the Mayor of Peterborough?" or "What is the capital of Canada?"

One Italian, while being tested in his knowledge of the Canadian political system, referred His Honour to his counsel, Mr. J. A. O'Brien, for the information, stating that "That fellow is to answer those questions."

Morris Abramson, a drygoods merchant, represented by W. F. Huycke, was the first applicant. Mayor J. J. Turner and Sergeant Wigg were called on his behalf.

The other ten applicants were Raaelo Aspro, J. Michele, D. Basciano, Nicolo Bianco, Frank Rucano, Eric Rickard Lundgren, Umberto Marangoni, Joseph Nobile, Nicola D Nobile, Dominico Ronco, John Aquelino Simons, all of whom were represented by Mr. J. A. O'Brien, of Gordon & O'Brien.

Mr. D. M. Minicolo gave evidence of his knowledge of the character and tendencies of the nine Italians. He knew them all personally, and said: 'That these men are earning their bread and butter here, and I know they are anxious to mingle amongst Canadians, learn their customs, and become Canadians."

Sergeant Wigg stated that he had known these men during his nine years on the force, and had found them law-abiding and knew nothing about them that would detract from what had been said.

Mr. David Conroy, of East City, a neighbour of Rickard Lundgren the Swede, was called to the stand on his behalf. Mr. Conroy was profuse in his praise of Mr. Lundgren and wound up by saying "That he was the best man in East City."

Judge Huycke, in addressing the men in a body, after all the evidence was heard, stated that so far as he knew they were all decent, reputable, and law-abiding men, but he would make no order until he had received a report from the Chief of Police after an investigation had been made as to the conduct and record, if any, of the applicants before him. He impressed upon them the great privilege in being a British subject and a Canadian citizen. The granting of naturalisation involved a change in allegiance, the acquirement of new rights, and the assumption of new undertakings and responsibilities. "Before you can become good British subjects, you must be intelligent British subjects," said His Honour, and he urged them to be true to the British and Canadian flags and to appreciate the great privileges of citizenship which we as English-speaking people claim to be the freest in the world.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE GOSSIPS AND THE CRACKER BARREL

"Why, Mister Bags, the cracker barrel is empty!"

Mister Bags' store in the woods was a great place for all the neighborhood folk to meet and gossip.

One day old Daddy Cracknuts came in and asked the price of a new kind of smoking tobacco, and Mister Bunny came in to use the telephone, and old Ringtail Coon was passing and looked in to wish Mister Bags the time of day.

And so it went until there was quite a party.

"It looks like rain," said Mister Bunny wisely, when he had finished talking on the telephone and said, "Much obliged," to Mister Bags, the fairyman storekeeper.

Everybody considered this a moment.

"What do you think, Mister Groundhog?" asked Ringtail Coon. "You're our oldest inhabitant." And of course, being the oldest inhabitant, he was expected to know everything. It was suspected that Mosey Mud Turtle senior, was the very oldest inhabitant, but as Mosey wasn't sure and no one else could remember, it couldn't be proved on him.

Besides Ringtail rather liked the honor.

Ringtail absent mindedly took a cracker out of the cracker barrel before he answered. "Well," said he, "I don't know. It might be going to rain, and then again it might not. But I would say that if it hadn't started by midnight, it won't rain today."

And having delivered himself of this wise speech, he took another cracker out of the cracker barrel and started to munch at it reflectively.

"Did I tell you what happened to me in the last storm?" asked Daddy cracknuts, who had already told the story at least two dozen times.

"What was that?" asked Mister Bunny taking a cracker out of the cracker barrel.

"Well," began Daddy, "by the way, Ben, you might pass me part of your cracker, I had an early lunch and—"

Mister Bunny took a whole new cracker out of the cracker barrel and passed it over.

"Well, as I was saying," said Daddy. "I bought a brand new bumbershoot from Mister Bags here, and also a pair of go-loshes, and started for Stony Creek where I had to do an errand for Ma, when an awful wind came up and—"

"Is that the day Reddy Fox got after you?" spoke up Mister Groundhog. He'd heard the story so many times, his ears were almost worn out, as he told his wife afterwards.

Whether it was that or not, I don't know, but his ears didn't affect his appetite any, and he reached for a cracker out of the cracker barrel.

"Yes!" said Daddy in an offhand voice. He didn't say another word, though, about his adventures. He crunched sulkily at another cracker.

When they had all gone, Nancy exclaimed, "Why, Mister Bags, the cracker barrel is empty! There isn't a single one left."

"I know," said the storekeeper. "It's often that way! But I can't help it."

"I have a plan," said Nick. So they all got their heads together.

LAKEFIELD CORRESPONDENCE

LAKEFIELD, June 11. — The warmer weather of the past week has been of great benefit to the farmer as growth has proceeded at a rapid rate. The grass is luxuriant owing to the amount of rain, this has provided food for the cattle which are enjoying the belated pasture. Some farmers wintered a large number of cattle and the late spring made the food supply a problem. The farmers in the vicinity of Lakefield, while admitting all the disadvantages of the remarkably late season, appear to be cheerful as the farm journals report similar or worse conditions all over Canada and the United States, so that their almost unanimous verdict is that they are not as badly off as they might be.

Sunday being Whit Sunday there were two celebrations of the Holy Communion in St. John's Church, one at 8 a.m. and the other (fully choral) at 11 a.m.

The hymn for those at sea was sung for Mrs. Barker and Rev. C. H. Pratt who are at sea at present.

The Presbyterian and Methodist Churches held Union services on Sunday which were addressed by Dr. Thomas of Toronto, who is making a tour of the district, speaking on the debated question of the referendum. The services were held in the Presbyterian Church in the morning and the Methodist Church in the evening.

The straw sailor, the emblem of summer, has appeared in a few instances but as a general thing the new, even more fashionably clad, are still sticking to the spring felt head gear. One can safely prophecy a short season for summer hats.

Sunday next, June15, will be Decoration Day for the local Lodge of Oddfellows No. 358 and the annual custom of having the graves of the deceased members decorated will be followed. The entire village takes a keen interest in the ceremony which is one of the events of the summer months.

Mrs. J. J. MacDonald is seriously ill at her home on Ermitinger street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sanderson spent Saturday in Peterboro.

Miss Verna Payne is visiting friends in Warsaw.

Mrs. Osborne was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

W. A. Doidge of Toronto is a week-end visitor in the village.

Miss Dorothy Sherin of Toronto is visiting her mother, Mrs. Wesley Sherin, on Regen street.

Mrs. Gordon Northey was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

Lieut. K. A. Mackenzie, R.N. has returned from England and is with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie at "The Grove."

W. A. Elder of the French River district is visiting friends in the village. Mr. Elder was born on Queen street, Lakefield, in a house which stood opposite St. John's Church but has been removed. He left the village forty-one years ago and is making his first visit since then to Lakefield, his home town. He finds many changes of course both in the residents and the village and its surroundings and is glad to see the improvements in the village.

Decline In Marriage Rate In Scandinavia

COPENHAGEN, June 11.—(Associated Press).—Marriages in the Scandinavian countries show a steady decline from the high figures attained during and just after the war.

Denmark reached the marriage peak in 1920, when business was still flourishing and the bottom had not dropped out of shipping. There were 8.8 marriages that year to every 1,000 persons, which was higher than the rate had been since 1854.

The climax was also reached in Swedep the same year, when there were 7.3 marriages to each 1,000 persons. In Norway the peak was attained in 1918, with 7.8 weddings to each 1,000 persons.

Industrial depression and commercial inactivity are reducing the marriage figures of all these countries materially, Norway now having fallen below all other European countries in its percentage of marriages.

CHILDREN'S AID MET YESTERDAY

Nineteen Children in Shelter During Month of May--Seven Newcomers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board-room of the Chamber of Commerce. In the absence of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, the chair was taken by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, first vice-president. There were present: Mesdames Welsh, Devey, Hill, Kimberley, Knox and Holmes, Rev. P. Costello, Messrs. Edgar, Powell, Abraham, Stocker and Parsons.

A standing vote of sympathy was recorded yesterday by the members to the parents of Miss Gertrude L. Brooks, a member of the Board, whose death occurred yesterday.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar, who also gave the matron's report, showing 19 children in the Shelter during the month of May, with 5 brought in and 7 sent out. There was no sickness during the month.

The report of the superintendent, G. W. Powell, showed 8 applications for children during the month, with 3 children (not wards) brought in, and 2 children (not wards) returned to parents. Two children (not wards) were also sent to the Industrial School by the Court.

The report of the Purchasing Committee was given by Mrs. J. Welsh and passed by the Board, who also passed an item of $13, being expenses and gasoline costs for two delegates from the Society, who went by motor to Toronto, to the recent convention. Mrs. Welsh expressed thanks for herself and Mrs. Fanning for the trip to Toronto.

A letter read by Mr. Powell, from a mother who asked the return of her little girl from a foster home, was received, and a resolution passed that the child remain in her present home.

Mr. Powell also read some literature, giving information of a National Conference of social workers, to be held in Toronto, about June 24th.

It was decided to make the next July meeting, as usual, the last for the summer season. After the meeting, which will convene at three o'clock, instead of at four, the Board members will have their annual outing, which will take place to South Beach this year. The ladies will entertain the gentlemen at tea, and arrangements for refreshments will be in their hands, with Mrs. J. Holmes and Mrs. Hill as convenors.

The following donations were received during the month: From All Saints' Church, cake, sandwiches and milk; Prince of Wales' School, cake and tarts; Central Home and School Association, clothing; George Street Church, cake; Mrs. Ritchie, pictures and clothing; Wright's Barber Shop, fireworks; Mr. Roper, Y.M.C.A., corn starch, corn flakes, eggs, potatoes, pepper, shredded wheat, sugar, tea; St. Andrew's Church, sandwiches and ham.

Correction of Error in Prices

An advertisement appeared in last evening's Examiner for Fitzpatrick & Geraghty's two stores, in which the prices of three articles were wrongly quoted.

These articles are Shredded Wheat, Puffed Wheat, and Puffed Rice.

The copy sent to the Examiner read "Shredded Wheat, 4 for 55c; Puffed Wheat, four for 55c; Puffed Rice, four for 75c," instead of 25c in each case, as appeared in the advertisement.

The copy sent in by Fitzpatrick & Geraghty was altogether correct and the mistake is not theirs.

We are making this correction so that those who have read the advertisement (and there was a very large number of inquiries for these goods) will know that it was a mistake on the part of the printer, and not through any fault of the advertiser. The advertisement is appearing correctly on the last page.

COLONIAL QUESTIONS ARE NOT YET ENTIRELY SOLVED

ROME, June 11 (British United Press). — A reminder that the colonial questions between Italy and Great Britain are not entirely solved through the Jubalind agreement is sounded by the Messagero to-day.

The problem of delimitation of the boundary between Egypt and Cyrenaica is still unsettled, says the journal, though there is reason to believe that negotiations to this end will be started soon in the same friendly spirit in which the recent London dealings were conducted.

The Messagero expressed the hope that the Egyptian Government will co-operate cordially in solving this question, which is of the utmost importance to the countries interested in view of its manifold aspects.

PRINCE RUPERT TERMINAL

Item For Elevator Will Appear in Supplementary Estimates.

OTTAWA, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Provision for a terminal grain elevator at Prince Rupert is to be made in the supplementary estimates, Premier King stated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The matter was brought up by General Ross (Conservative, Kingston), who asked regarding the correctness of a statement in a Vancouver paper that the Prime Minister had promised the construction of such an elevator.

Mr. King replied that he did not remember having made the promise. However, the Government had received a request for the elevator last year from a deputation and had since had representations made to it by Alfred Stork (Liberal, Skeena).

Mr. King then added that an item for the elevator at Prince Rupert would appear in the supplementary estimates.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the leader of the Opposition, took occasion from this question to urge that the supplementary estimates should be brought down as early as possible. "The supplementary estimates are being used in the British Columbia election," he said, "and the Government is being put in a position which I know it does not like. It is being made a political catspaw of the local administration. It can,' he concluded, "be put an end to by bringing down the supplementary estimates."

And this is the month when Dan Cupid steps out and makes many love dreams come true. To all of the june brides we willingly shout, Here's luck and here's lookin' at you!

FRANKS SLAYERS' CONFESSION TELLS OF PLANS IN DETAIL

Leopold Describes How He And Loeb Picked Up Victim After Long Hunt And Then Attempted To Cover Ransom Arrangements.

CHICAGO, June 11.—The confession of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., of his share in the Franks murder has been made public. After the usual statements of name, age, address and occupation, it follows:

Q.—"Just go on and tell us the story from the beginning. Tell us the whole thing."

A.—"When we planned the commission of this last November we started on a process to get money, which was much the most difficult problem. We had several different plans and all were discarded for one reason or another. Finally we hit upon the one of having money thrown from a moving train after they had been given the point marked. We finally decided that it was the factory of the Champion Manufacturing Company at Seventy-fourth street, just south of Hyde Park.

"The next problem was the system of notification to the father. We originally planned a number of relays. In other words, the man was to receive a special delivery letter telling him that his son had been kidnapped and was being held for a ransom that was to secure $10,000. He was to secure the $10,000 in denominations as follows: $8000 in $50 bills; $2000 in $20 bills.

"We were to get old bills so the numbers would not be in sequence. The money was to be put in a cigar box and wrapped with white paper and taped. And the ends were to be sealed with sealing wax. The reason for this was to give the impression that it was to be delivered personally to a messenger of a certain executive of the plant. He was then to receive a telephone call instructing him to proceed to a drug store and to wait near the phone booth.

"The store was to be near the Illinois Central tracks and he was to be given only time to rush out to the depot and board a through train and not have time to notify detectives or the police where he was going. In the train he was to proceed to the rear of the car where the telegraph blanks were kept and there he was to be instructed to go to the back platform and face east until he came to a large brick factory that had a water tower on it with the white inscription, "Champion." He was to count two or three and then throw the box as far east as he could.

Must Get Victims.

"The next problem was getting the victim. This was left undecided until the day we decided to take the most likely looking subject that came our way. The particular subject happened to be Robert Franks.

"Loeb was acquainted with Robert and asked him to go over to our car for a minute. This car was near Forty-ninth and Ellis Avenue. Robert came over to the car and was introduced to me. Richard asked him if he did not want to take a ride and Robert said 'No.' And Richard said: 'Get in a minute, I want to ask you about a certain tennis racquet.' After he had gotten in I stepped on the gas and proceeded south on Ellis Avenue of Fiftieth Street.

"In the meantime Richard asked Robert if he minded if we went around the block, to which Robert said: 'He didn't mind.'

"As soon as we turned the corner Richard placed his hand over Robert's mouth to stifle his outcries. He hit him over the head several times with the chisel which was prepared for the purpose. The boy did not succumb as readily as we expected. Richard seized him and pulled him into the back seat. Then he forced a cloth into his mouth.

"Apparently the boy died instantly by suffocating. Shortly thereafter we proceeded to the Calumet Boulevard and Indiana Road and drove along the road that leads to Gary, it being a rather deserted place.

Stopped for Lunch.

"We then stopped for a couple of sandwiches at Calumet Boulevard at, I guess, 132nd Street. The body was covered with an automobile robe, which we had brought along for that purpose. We partially disrobed the body in the car and then proceeded along the path which leads out toward Hedgewich and 108th Street to Avenue F. We had removed the shoes, socks and trousers, throwing the shoes and the belt by the side of the road, concealed in the grass.

"Having arrived at our destination, we placed the body in the robe and carried it to the culvert where it was found.

"Here we completed disrobing. To render identification more difficult, hydrochloric acid was poured over the face of the boy. Then we placed the body in the drain pipe and pushed it in as far as we could. We gathered up the clothes and placed them in the robe and apparently at this point the glasses fell out of my pocket. We carried the robe containing the clothes back to the automobile—a distance of some 300 yards, the socks apparently dropping from the bundle. We proceeded north to 104th Street, from where we telephoned my folks that I would be a trifle late in arriving home.

"I then drove to 147th Street and Woodlawn, and from there I telephoned to Franks' home. I spoke to Mrs. Franks and told her that my name was George Robinson. I told her that her boy had been kidnapped and was safe, and that further instructions would follow.

Mail Special Letters.

"In passing Fifty-fifth Street we had mailed the special delivery letter which had been completed except for the address, which I would get later on. After taking home an uncle I returned to my home, and after my father had returned Richard and I proceeded to his home, where we burned the remaining clothes. We wrapped the robe and washed the blood stains from the automobile and we washed and parked the automobile near my home.

"The next day, at 2:30 Central time (3:30 Chicago time), we went down to the Illinois Central at Twlefth Street, and here Richard bought a ticket to Michigan City on the 3 o'clock train, entered the train, depositing the letter in the telegram blank box. In the meantime we called Franks' home, and I told Franks to proceed immediately to the drug store at 1465 East Sixty-third Street, and to await at the public phone booth for a definite call. I told him A Yellow Cab would be passin gthe door to take him to the drug store. I repeated the number twice, and he asked if he couldn't have a little more time to reply. 'No,' I said; 'it must be done immediately.'

"About the time I was phoning, Richard returned from the train, and we started out south, intending to call the drug store at Sixty-seventh and Stoney Island. We chanced to see a newspaper laying on a stand, and we deliberated a few moments planning what to do, and then Richard thought that the game was up, but I however insisted that it could do no harm to call the drug store.

"That I did and was told that no Mr. Franks was in the building. We then called at Sixty-eighth and Stoney Island—another drug store. We got the same reply, and then gave it up as a bad job and returned the car from the place where it had been rented. Our original plan was to put the letter to Mr. Franks in a 'Help the City to Keep Clean' box at the corner of Vincennes Avenue and Placing Road, but we had difficulty in making the envelope stick to the cover of the box.

Clean Up Bloodstains.

"We then intended to eliminate this delay, so Thursday afternoon after dinner immediately drove the car to our garage and started to clean up the rest of the bloodstains. Our chauffeur, Sven Englund, came out to help and Richard told him it was merely some red wine, which had been spilled.

Q. Who did the cleaning? A. Dick, and I helped him.

Q. In your original plan when you were thinking it out as late as last November, did you have any one in particular in mind to be the victim? A. Nobody in particular.

Q. When did you consider the Franks boy? A. When we saw him on the street.

Q. At that time were you waiting for somebody else? A. No, sir. We didn't care. We had been cruising around watching several groups of boys playing and waiting for them to start home.

Q. You had been looking at them for how long? A. From about 3 o'clock to about 5.

Q. Had you done that to any of the boys prior to that day? A. No.

Q. This day in particular you set out with the idea in mind of getting the boy that day. Is that it? A. Yes.

Q. At what time did you meet Richard Loeb that day? A. Wednesday, the 21st, 1924, at 11 o'clock.

Q. Where did you meet him? A. At the University.

Q. Where is that? A. 1408 East Michigan Avenue.

Q. Then what did you do? A. Rented the motorcar.

Q. Under what name? A. Morton B. Ballard.

Rented One Before.

Q. Had you ever rented a car there before? A. Yes.

Q. Under what name? A. The same.

Q. When did you rent the car there? A. About three weeks previously. Then we would have no difficulty in getting a car the next day.

Q. You occupied the car over night? A. Yes, sir, we made that arrangement Wednesday.

Q. Do you remember whom you talked to there? A. No, sir; it was near 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. I don't remember.

Q. If I came in for a car would they require any security? A. Yes, sir. The first time you have to make a deposit of $50. You are supposed to have an identification card of some kind.

Q. What reference did you give? A. The Morrison Hotel. We had rented a room and left a suitcase there and left same there for the purpose of having the mail addressed there. When I went to get my mail on a subsequent day the suitcase had been taken, I decided then to notify the rented car place that we had changed our hotel to the Oakwood and Grand.

Q. You phoned them immediately that you had a new address? A. Yes.

Q. And did you get your suit case from the Morrison Hotel? A. No.

Q. Did you register at the Morrison Hotel? A. Yes, sir.

Under Ballard Name.

Q. Under what name? A. Under the name of Morton B. Ballard.

Q. What day was that, Nathan? Do you remember? A. It was just—I would say two or three weeks before I got the first car.

Q. And whose suit case was it? A. Dick's.

Q. And you never called for the suit case? A. No, sir.

Q. What kind of a suit case was it? A. It was a dilapidated suit case. I could not describe it very much. I think there were some library books in it.

Q. You went to another place. Tell us the name of the hotel. A. The Trenier. I expected to stop there to change my address and to ask them to hold the mail coming for Morton B. Ballard. I stopped there on a number of occasions after that—as much as half-dozen times. We naturally received mail there.

Q. Tell further what happened. A. I opened a bank account at the Hyde Park State Bank under the name of Morton B. Ballard.

Q. How much did you deposit there? A. $150.

Q. A checking account? A. Yes.

Q. And you have a balance in the bank now? A. No, sir.

Q. After making negotiations for a car on Cottage Grove avenue what happened? A. We drove the car up to Cramer's Restaurant at Thirty-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue. That was Wednesday the 21st.

Q. What time did you leave there? A. About 1 or a little after.

Q. When did you put up the side curtains? A. Just before putting in there to eat.

Q. Wha? time did you get out of there? A. A little after 1 o'clock.

Q. Then what did you do? A. I put my car in the garage and drove over to Ingleside avenue, just south of Forty-seventh street.

Q. And what time did you put your car in the garage that time? A. I should say about 1:20 or 1:30.

Q. Where was the other car while you were putting your car in the garage? A. The other car was right in back of mine. We went to fill it with gas.

Q. In your driveway? A. Yes.

Q. You drove it and filled it with gas, did you? A. Yes.

Q. Then what did you do? A. Then we drove up to Ingleside avenue, just south of Forty-seventh street.

Q. While you were filling the car up with gas did you see any one around the garage. A. I don't remember if Sven came down or not.

Drove to Alley.

Q. Did you see any one there? A. Yes. Mr. and Mrs. Englund. I'm under the impression that Mr. Englund was there; I'm not sure.

Q. You drove where? A. To a point just south of the alley at Forty-seventh street, on Ingleside avenue.

Q. You drove up alongside of where the boy was. A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then what happened? A. Then Dick opened the front door and yelled: Hello Bob! And he then came over to the car and Dick asked him if we couldn't give him a lift home. 'Come in a minute, I want to ask you about a tennis racquet.'

Q. That is the time he got in the car? A. Yes.

Q. Where were you sitting at that time? A. At the wheel and Dick was in the rear seat.

Q. What time was that? A. Approximately between 5 and 5:15.

Q. And then you drove south to Fiftieth street? A. Yes—and then east on Fiftieth street. I believe to Dorchester and Blackstone.

Q. When was the first time Richard struck Robert with the chisel? A. Between Ellis and Greenwood on Fifteenth.

Q. Had he become suspicious of anything when you returned? A. No, because Richard asked him if he minded if we took him around the block and he replied: No.

To Take Any One.

Q. Was the original plan to take any one you saw? A. Yes.

Q. After you made this trip into the country what time did you get back home? A. 10:30.

Q. You still had the car you rented? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What did you do with the rented car? A. We parked it on Greenwood avenue. I got my own car in the garage and drove around to the side street.

Q. And then what did you do with the other car when you came back? A. Let me see—gosh. I think that is when the chisel was thrown from the car. We must have taken the rented car and drove to the Fiftieth street entrance.

Q. That was after you came back? A. I was around there till 1 o'clock.

Q. Where was Richard waiting for you? A. At my home.

Q. What did you do with the rented car then? A. We washed it partly there.

Q. What did you wash it with? A. I found a brush and some soap.

Q. Where? A. In Loeb's basement.

Q. And then you came out and washed it? A. Yes.

Q. And you never got all the stains off? A. It was night and we did not want to be monkeying around too much.

Q. Where did you take your car to get some of the blood stains off? You drove the car some place? A. No. That was the same day in our garage. That was still Wednesday.

Q. What did you do with the rented car that night? A. I drove it back to the place just north of our driveway.

The confession then detailed the return of the car to the garage and the actions of the boys until they were arrested.

LANCASTER BOY OF 14 IMITATES LOEB AND LEOPOLD IN BLACK-HAND LETTERS

Accompanied His Death Threats With References To Chicago's Youthful Slayers—Frightened Many Prominent Folk —Confesses, Turns Sullen.

LANCASTER, June 11.—Notwithstanding his confession, the police tonight were not satisfied that Joseph Denunzio, fourteen years old, was alone responsible for more than a score of Black Hand letters that caused fright among many prominent persons here. The boy was arrested when he attempted to find $50, which he believed had been placed at an appointed place by a citizen who feared death if he refused to obey instructions contained in a letter.

Belief that the boy worked alone was shattered late this afternoon when city detectives and Federal secret service men learned that the city address given by the boy was fictitious. Thus far, according to Chief of Police Eckman, the police have been unable to find the lad's father or mother, and their theory now is that Denunzio escaped from a reform school in New Jersey.

Denunzio's imagination has been fired by stories of crimes committed by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb in Chicago. Frequently in the letters which the police believe he wrote reference was made to crimes of which the Chicago men are charged, and to other sensational murders and kidnappings.

Tonight the boy held in the Rotary Home for Boys is sullen. Chief Eckman has declared him one of the craftiest prisoners ever subjected to a cross-examination. So frankly did he confess that for the greater part of the day police and detectives were kept busy attempting to substantiate his story, but tonight it was pretty well shattered.

Of the score of letters, only two, according to the police passed through the mails. The others were found in doorways and in mail boxes.

Denunzio today took dictation from Chief Eckman. In a strikingly clear hand and spelling accurately, he penned a letter which duplicated a threatening note received by a physician. The writing of the two according to the police was identical. Here is the letter which led to the boy's arrest:

"If you don't want us to kill you put $50 under stone which show you in diagram of place. We are having some one follow you, and the minute you refuse we kill you. We have a secret way of killing people without us getting caught by police. At 7 o'clock tonight put it in an envelope. We have killed the college student Gracey last and we put the revolver in Leopold's home, you know that one who killed the Franks boy. Just to make you remember $50 under the stone first put money in envelope. At 7 o'clock tonight."

The letter was unsigned. On the paper was a diagram showing a stone on East Miffin street, near Duke, under which the money was to be placed.

BOUNTY ON CRUDE OIL WILL BE CUT

Canada Has Been Subsidizing Industry For the Past Twenty Years.

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)— Final stages of bills to give effect to the budget proposals aroused a long discussion in the house yesterday. The debate turned mainly on provision made last year for discontinuance of bounty on crude oil. Sir Henry Drayton and other Conservatives took the ground that discontinuance of bounty had not been justified and that the effect of the government's policy would be to deny employment to a large number of people. Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, took the ground in reply that Canada had been subsidizing industry for twenty years, and surely, he argled, there was no unfairness in cutting off the subsidy.

Third reading was given to the bill amending customs tariff. After considerable discussion third reading was given to the bill amending income war tax, the chief provision of which is to increase exemption for children from three hundred dollars to five hundred dollars.

GAME IS PLENTIFUL AROUND NORTH BAY

NORTH BAY, June 10 (Canadian Press). — Motorists touring in the north country report large amounts of game along the highways.

A few days ago a North Bay party chased a big black bear on the Cache Bay road for a considerable distance. Bruin finally ambling off into the brush to let the car go by, and then returning to the highway.

Last night K. Prescott and J. McLeod had to stop their car near Yollick to get out and chase a calf moose and its mother off the road, so they could get by.

They report that the animals seemed absolutely unconcerned as they approached.

Other motorists on the Callander road reported several deer close to the highway.

YOUNG BOOK-KEEPER DID FIRM OUT OF $116,000

NEW YORK, June 11. — A $2100 bookkeeper of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, who never handled a penny in his duties, has absconded with $116,000 of the bank's money, tricks in money obtained by forgery in other bookkeeping and accounts in other banks, according to the announcement of James H. Perkins, president, last night. On deposit in other banks remain $14,000 which he is alleged to have abstracted from his employers.

The man is James T. Rush, 26, who kept one of the deposit ledgers in the 5th avenue branch at 41st street.

It is suspected that his love for a young woman was the cause of his defalcations.

He went to work for the Farmers Loan and Trust Co., eleven months ago, with the highest references.

NEW SERIAL IN EXAMINER

On Saturday, a new serial story begins in The Examiner. "Paul in Possession" is the title, and it is written by Ruby M. Ayres, an authoress described as a "past mistress in the art of feminine thrills—and frills—and the happy ending."

It is the "story of a wilful, undisciplined girl who defies family and friends—but who must bend the knee to Love." Paul turns her out of her home, but Love leads her back.

"Paul in Possession" is one of those intriguing stories whose ultimate ending is in doubt, from the start. Wanda Griffin is the heroine, and the only nice thing about her, at least in the opening chapters, is her looks. She happens to be a beauty, but she has an incorrigible temper, and the average reader will be quite sure that Paul will have more than he can do to break her intracticable spirit. Just to show how independent she is, she rides an unruly horse, Lion, in direct contradiction to Paul Collinge's orders, and kills the animal in her efforts to get away from its pursuing owner. Then she insults Paul, and when he orders her from the hoose, feigns sickness to outwit his purpose.

With such a promising beginning, the story progresses through a series of episodes that have something of the romantic flavour of the old favourite "St. Elmo," which even to this day is popular mental food for girls who would scorn to talk as Edna Earl talked, or to echo her high-sounding sentiments. The atmosphere of real romance that Augusta Evans Wilson used to inject into her books has a reflex in this story of modern life and its ways.

L. R. STEEL ASSETS TIED UP FOR WEEK

TORONTO, June 10 (Canadian Press). — An order made by Mr. Justice Kelly at Osgoode Hall this morning ties up all assets of the L. R. Steel Co. and of the Steel Realty Co. for the week.

The order was made on the application of D. J. Coffey, representing the creditors and shareholders, who moved for the winding-up order.

The motion was supported by Lewis Duncan, representing the guardian of the Realty Co. creditors to the extent of $15,000 for rent for office premises in the Royal Bank Building.

His Lordship enlarged the motion peremptorily for one week, granting an injunction in the meantime restraining any act by the companies' directors or receivers, or any one acting for them, affecting ther property as assets of the companies within their jurisdiction.

Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Committee received word this morning from Billy Hughes, who is at present in Wiarton, Ontario, that he had accepted the offer of the committee to act as trainer of the Canadian athletes who are to take part in the Olympic Games.

Hughes will arrive in Toronto tomorrow.

Mr. Hughes, who has already had experience in preparing Canadian athletes for Olympiad, had charge of the crack Queen's University football squad which has held the Dominion championship for the last two years. He is regarded as one of the greatest football coaches on the continent, and has few peers in preparing contestants for the field events.

POLICE OFFICERS USE SCHOOL BOYS

Attorney-General Takes a Hand in the Orangeville Scandal.

TORONTO, June 11. — Canadian Press. — The announcement of the dismissal of the police officers involved in the Orangeville scandal, and a straight-from-the-shoulder declaration that "the government is not prepared to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act at the price of corruption of the youth of the community," are contained in a statement dealing with the use of High School students in the capture of a bootlegger issued last night by Attorney-General [illegible] F. Nickle, K.C.

An unusual feature of Mr. Nickle's announcement is that his findings reverse the conclusions which were reached by James Hales, K.C., chairman of the Ontario License Commission who investigated the affair. In his report to Mr. Nickle, Mr. Hales gives credence to evidence of M. McQuarrie and A. Imrie, the two officers involved, and refuses to accept that of four youths who were implicated. Mr. Nickle, on the other hand accepts the evidence of the young men as against that of the special officers and their companion, W. F. Gregory.

Attorney General Nickle and Mr. Hales differ also on the question of whether or not the means employed by the officers were justified, and Mr Hales quotes J. L. Island, the Crown Attorney for Dufferin county, as stating that the conviction secured "has done a great deal more good than any harm that may have been done in allowing one or two young men to have drink."

Mr. Nickle says: "I am not prepared to admit that the end justified the means, and that the apprehension of offenders may be had by such indefensible practices as those followed in this instance."

VOICE OF PEOPLE

THE CRACK OF THE PARTY WHIP

To the Editor of THE EXAMINER:

Sir,—When I was a boy I used to read in the newspapers about the "crack of the party whip," and I wondered what kind of a whip it was and what sort of a lash it had. But I have never seen one, and I have never met a politician who is willing to admit that he has seen one. As near as I could figure it out, each political party accused the other of cracking this whip upon occasion, but at the same time neither party would admit that they ever had such a whip, and therefore, of course, would not admit that they ever cracked it.

The whole thing to me was very abstruse. Nevertheless, I was very curious to see this whip, and I thought that if I could only get one it might be useful in driving our old mare. I entertained the idea that if I could, as it were, step on the accelerator by simply cracking this wonderful whip I would thereby accomplish the twofold purpose of getting a fasr ride and also avoid arrest for cruelty to animals. However, this whip is certainly in existence, for there are frequent references to it in the press, and, besides this, we often see its effects. If one could only forget his country for a while, what unalloyed amusement one could obtain by watching the effects of the crack of the party whip! At the time of the last Provincial election some of the politicians were not content to tell us that, if elected, they would not vote for one dollar of unnecessary expenditure. They went one better. They declared that they would not vote for one penny of unnecessary expense. Now it may be that some of the older heads in the audience were not unduly impressed by this perfervid style of oratory; but, nevertheless, it sounded good to many overburdened taxpayers, and these politicians presently found themselves on board a fast express bound for Toronto, with three additional letters after their names. Now, when they arrived at Toronto, did they continue to hand out the same line of talk about "not one penny," etc. The Recording Angel has written down that they did not. On the contrary, they held up both hands for an unnecessary expenditure of twenty-five million pennies—or, in other words, half-a-million dollars!

The only explanation of this remarkable financial somersault is that they heard the crack of this mysterious, unacknowledged, invisible, intangible, but extremely potential party whip, which had the power to quickly transform these politicians from being shouting, gesticulating advocates of economy into meek and subservient voters for any old thing that will hold the liquor vote. Few, if any, of the politicians will go so far as to say that this expenditure is necessary. And every sensible man who tries to steer his bark true midway between the Scylla of pessimism and the Charybdis of Optimism, knowing full well that nothing can be gained by avoiding the former if he is eventually wrecked in the latter, is aware that, even avoiding these two extremes, our present financial position imperatively forbids an expenditure for which we do not receive full value. And if the vote is taken before the Act has had a fair trial it will be impossible to obtain a fair verdict.

Thousands of good, honest people would probably vote one way who otherwise would vote the other way.

The present proposal therefore has the sinister appearance of being a deliberate attempt to seize a false verdict.

If a true verdict is not obtained, then the people's money will have been worse than wasted.

We may not all agree about Prohibition, but surely we should all agree about honesty in spending the people's money.

WHAT IS KIWANIS?

The Kiwanis Club International is a composite group of business, professional and agricultural men devoted to the rendering of civic and social service to the respective communities in which the many local clubs are located. The international organization is made up of nearly 1,300 clubs in that many cities of the United States and Canada, each of these clubs enjoying self-autonomy, but each functioning in direct connection with district and international administration. Each club is made up of two of the leaders in each business and profession in the city, brought together in close association to aid in the solution of national, State and community problems.

Kiwanis represents a cross section of North American life. It is a mosaic of varied social and economic points of view.

Growth of Kiwanis.

The first Kiwanis club was organized at Detroit, Michigan, in January, 1915. During the following year two more clubs were established, one at Cleveland and the other at Pittsburgh. In the second year 35 clubs were established, and in the third year 35 more clubs were added to the list, so that on January 1, 1918, there were 73 clubs. At the time of the Birmingham convention in 1919 there were 138 clubs with about 15,500 members. Two years later, at the time of the Cleveland convention in June, 1921, there were 533 clubs with a membership of 47,970. When the clubs convened at Toronto in June, 1922, there were 802 clubs and 68,010 members in the international organization. At the time of the Atlanta convention in 1923 there were 1,043 clubs and 78,961 members. Today there are 1,250 clubs and over 89,000 members.

The name "Kiwania" is a coined word. The real meaning to it has come through the constructive unselfish work of Kiwanians. The motto of the organization, "We Build," is an expression of the spirit of Kiwanis.

Purposes of Kiwanis.

Kiwanis crystallizes community sentiment for municipal improvements. It cultivates public opinion for purer politics, and promotes community co-operation in all good things. It develops leaders, urges harmony in business, honesty and integrity in all dealings, and furnishes a forum for the discussion of all fair and interesting questions.

Kiwanis is a representative influence, organized for the advancement of public welfare in its many phases, for the stimulation of morals, charities, health, better citizenship, civic improvement and obedience to law and all the tenets of better living.

The international policies which guide the activities of all Kiwanis clubs include these:

1. The emphasis and intensification of service on behalf of underprivileged children.

2. The development of better relations between the farmer and the city man.

3. The aggressive development of a co-operative spirit toward the Chambers of Commerce and the co-ordination of activities.

4. The fostering of a fuller realization of the responsibilities of patriotic citizenship.

While work on these policies has been made more intensive, activity along established policies is being continued. This includes constant development of better business standards and methods, general service work on behalf of charities, boys' and girls' clubs, playgrounds, hospitals, memorials, safety campaigns, tourist camps, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., the schools, beautification of cities, Americanization, good roads, and many other similar activities.

FAVOR THE VIADUCT.

OTTAWA, June 10. — (Canadian Press).—Liberal members in caucus this morning declared themselves in favor of carrying out the agreement entered into for the construction of the Toronto viaduct. It is understood that the general discussion of railway matters culminated in the caucus expressing its approval of the implementing of the agreement for the construction which was entered into by the Canadian Pacific Railway, Grand Trunk Railway, the Board of Harbor Commissioners of Toronto, and the City of Toronto many years ago.

It is understood that a meeting of all interested parties will be held in the near future for the purpose of discussing the matter with a view to the carrying out of the work with a minimum cost.

MANY PHYSICIANS ARE ATTENDING CONVENTION

CHICAGO, June 10.—(Canadian Press.)—More than 700 heart specialists among the fifteen thousand physicians attending the seventy-fifth annual convention of the American Medical Association, listened simultaneously to-day to the pulsation of a heart.

The demonstration made possible through the use of a giant stethophone, was the feature of the opening of the convention. It was asserted that the new instrument would permit medical students to acquire in three days a technical knowledge previously acquired in three months.

FARM NEWS

PRACTIGAL PLANS MAKE BEAUTY IN THE GARDEN VERY EASILY ACHIEVED

Such Often Forgotten And Neglected Features As The Fath and Lane May Be Made Attractive Points ---Lawns and Choice Of Flowers Important.

DISPOSITION OF SHRUBBERY

The location of the approach road from the highway to the farmstead not only has an important influence on the lawn location, but has an even more important bearing on the convenience of living. This road should provide direct and easy communication with the door that is used as the main entrance for both family and visitors. Any attempt to discriminate between home folks and callers fails, and the result is that practically every one uses the family entrance.

The Eentrance Drive.

If the house has been designed as a farmhouse with the entrance near both kitchen and living-room, the problem of locating the drive is usually easy; but if the house has been planned for town conditions, with the front entrance far from the work of the housewife, the problem is not so easy; for under such conditions the kitchen entrance is almost sure to become the main entrance for every one. To remedy such a situation a modification of the house plan by adding another entrance door is often the most practical solution.

Combined with the entrance drive should be a turn that will make possible an easy return to the highway, as well as direct access to the garage. A neat arrangement where practicable is to have a circular or oval turn around at the side of the house, one side coming close to the door the other making a part of the direct road from the highway to the barns. A direct road from barns to highway is necessary, and it should not come too close to the house; thus the suggested combination is desirable.

Walks Only Where Needed.

Walks should b eprovided only where actually needed. A good plan is to eliminate all walks that are not frequently used in wet or muddy weather, simply walking over the turf in good weather!

About the frame work of the drives, walks and trees, the homelike touch must be added; masses of foliage at various places about the foundations of the house, and on the boundaries of the lawn, as well as clumps along the drives and walks. These should consist of several plants placed together to make irregular out lines as seen against the house or along the boundaries. They should also be irregular in width. This is usually best accomplished by mixing several kinds of plants together in a group and then permitting them to grow into one another instead of keeping them apart in separate plantings.

Sometimes large masses will be needed to hide the work yard or to screen an unsightly object. At other places there should be no plantings, or only low plantings. Above all, there should be no specimens or beds of shrubs nor flowers in what would otherwise be an unbroken lawn.

The flowers should be placed in a garden of their own. This may either be adjoining the house, but not on the public side, or it may be at a distance from the house, enclosed by shrubbery plantings or even a hedge. Flowers for cutting for interior decorating may well be grown in rows in the vegetable garden where they will be cultivated with the vegetables. The decorative plantings are to make the house look at home in its surroundings and so be an inviting place in which to live.

What Plants To Use.

Plants common about the homes of the community or growing wild in the nearby woods should be used. Care will be necessary not to plant a low growing one where a tall one is needed, and vice versa. The bulk of the plantings should consist of from six to twelve kinds. A single specimen each of a few additional kinds may often be used without making the place distracting instead of attractive. If the condition of the purse warrants and the tastes of the family desire it, less common things may be purchased, but it must be done with care not to use plants that do not look at home in the community. Among these are the blue, yellow and golden foliaged specimens. Your agricultural college will send you a list of plants to use.

Such shrubbery plantations should not require cultivation after the first three years, although during that time they should receive reasonable attention so that they may become established. After that a little pruning occasionally, or the replacing of a plant now and then, is about all the attention needed. By doing a little of the planting each year for several years the cultivation required at any time would be very slight, but there is always danger that the successive plantings may not be done, and so it is well to go as far as you can when you get at it. The hardest thing about planting, sometimes, is to get in the right mood.

LATE PLANTING OF SWEET CORN

Several Patches Properly Planted Give Continuous Summer Supply.

A June planting of sweet corn is always in order. As soon as the crop of early peas is used up the vines may be pulled out and this patch planted to sweet corn. Replowing or respading is not necessary unless the soil has got hard and the patch is weedy. In either case prepare the land over again as for a first crop. A rich loam sort of soil is best, one that tends to hold the moisture.

These later plantings should not bs so closely set in rows as the smaller, earlier varieties. Thirty inches is a good width of rows and ten inches a good distance between plants in the row. Planting in drills is best, although some prefer three of four stalks in a hill, the hills twenty-five to thirty inches apart in the row. Either method may be followed.

A small amount of well-rotted manure may be scattered over the patch if available. After the plants are up a very small amount of nitrate of soda or mixed fertilizer will hasten growth. The aim should be to have several patches of sweet corn so as to provide a succession right through the summer.

HASTINGS SEEDING DONE

Much Of Work Was Done Under Difficulties Through Rain.

HASTINGS, June 11.—Seeding has been completed under difficulties this spring, and the farmers in some districts still have considerable grain to sow. In an effort to get in their crop some farmers have "muddled in" part of their grain. A good deal of land, earlier intended for grain, will likely be put into corn, potatoes and buckwheat. The latter is becoming scarce in some parts of the community surrounding here owing to the demand.

LOCAL CROP REPORTS

Oscar J. Dunsford, of Douro Township, reports that the crops in that district are looking much better than they did a few weeks ago and that they have advanced a great deal in the last week. Things could be a little brighter, but with some rain in a few days everything would be all right.

James Dawes of Ennismore Township, states that the crops in that part of the country are coming along fairly well and that the prospects are much brighter now than were expected. Rain is needed, and if the weather keeps warm a fair crop is expected.

William Hetherington, of Smith Township, speaks very favorably of the crops for Smith Township. The fall wheat is looking very good and most of the farmers have all their seeding finished. The gardens have not come along very fast but are expected to do so as soon as the weather gets a little warmer.

NO EXPORT DEMAND

Five Grain Boats Await Orders For Loading at Lake Front.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 11.—(Canadian Press).—For the first time this season there are as many five grain boats in port waiting orders for loading, indicating a lack of export demand for grain in the east. Ten boats cleared yesterday from the harbors of Fort William and Port Arthur, with 1,850,000 bushels of grain, the bulk of the shipments being wheat though two full cargoes of oats went down to Tiffin. The big Canadian freighter Mathewston, took the largest cargo, 360,000 bushels of wheat, while J. J. H. Brown carried a mixed cargo of 321,000 bushels to Buffalo and the Kopp took 312,000 bushels of wheat also to Buffalo.

It is not generally known that flour, sugar, starch, or grain dusts are capable of working greater havoc than a high explosive such as dynamite.

FARM LIFE HAS LIGHT MOMENTS

Sports Are Freely Indulged In And Debating Is Popular Amusement.

By ALEX. McGREGOR.

Life in the country these days is not the drab existence that some urban residents appear to imagine. There is a diversity of entertainment at all seasons. Nearly every hamlet and four corners has its baseball or football team, and the weekly performance of these athletes is the social event of the neighborhood. The country church has not entirely disappeared except, perhaps, in the immediate vicinity of the large towns and cities, and these country churches are always the centre of a healthy community life. There is more good fellowship at such gatherings, where all the people are acquainted with each other and meet on equal footing than there is to be found in any of the big city entertainments. With the extension of education social conditions in the country have improved. The average farm house these days is better appointed and furnished, and is more comfortable in every way than the homes of the moderately prosperous dweller in the towns.

Debate Versus Discussion.

A popular form of entertainment in the country during the winter season, and in church societies in the towns as well, is the holding of debates on questions supposed to be of wide public interest. It is unfortunate that the debate has to a large extent supplanted discussion for there is a wide difference in the meaning of the two terms. In the first the main object is to show that the speaker on the other side is wrong, to flout his opinions and to reject any information which he may possess. The advantage of a calm discussion is that valuable knowledge may be gained, regardless of the source from which it comes. The debate is one outstanding advantage if politics preformant may be regarded as an object of existence, as taking part in such contests may fit a young man for a future career in Parliament or Legislature.

Parliament One Long Debate.

In our legislature talks, one side talks unreasonably against the other without apparently getting anywhere or accomplishing anything beyond throwing sand in the intellectual eyes of the long-suffering public. For the past 45 years the people of Canada have been talked to the point of exhaustion on the tariff question and the statesmen are still on the same talk. The man who could dig up a new idea on that rather grim subject would be a genius indeed. Old straw from which the last kernel has been taken long ago is being flailed year after year with a persistence that represents so much wasted energy on the part of the statesmen and the pity of it is that the debates are expensive matters to the taxpayers.

And the public have lost interest in these talk fests. Years ago when these subjects were new the people sought information but by this time they can be trusted to form their own opinion. To see the time of Parliament taken up largely by the effort of one side to show that the other would ruin the nation to ruin if they had their way have lost all sense of novelty.

The Same Old Tune.

The daughter of the neighbor next door who plays a popular tune on the piano may charm us for a while but if she has only one selection in her musical list and insists on repeating it daily, her performance, if it does not actually irritate, at least fails to interest her hearers. A good story may be worth telling twice but if it is imposed upon us a score of times it becomes a bore. The small boy beating a tin pan in the back yard, under the impression, perhaps, that he is entertaining all those within earshot, soon finds himself regarded as a public nuisance.

Where Parliament Might Learn.

Members of Parliament could easily get lessons in procedure by attending the session of the average township council. These bodies may not handle questions as big as those dealt with by the people's representatives higher up, but the matters which they dispose of more nearly concern the temporal welfare of their constituents. The councillors discuss instead of debating public questions. They approach all matters with open minds, with a desire to regard them from every angle and are willing to be convinced if they are wrong at the outset.

In The Average Debate.

In the popular debates of the day matters are dealt with that could be discussed intelligently only by those who are in possession of wide information on the subject. Resolved: That the monarchial form of government is better than the reputation," is a topic upon which all possible light should be shed, but this can hardly be done when two speakers are put up to reject everything advanced by another pair taking the opposite side. The question whether the late Woodrow Wilson was a better president than Abraham Lincoln is one upon which historians, supposed to be well posted and fair minded, will fail to agree for the next century or more. There is little or anything to be gained by building up an argument, however clever, in favor of one or the other. Much could be attained by a calm and peaceful discussion, free entirely from the acrimony of debate, of the relative claims of each man to greatness, both as an official and a private citizen.

War may have caused more misery in the world than intemperance. The degree of responsibility of each for German suffering after all is a secondary consideration. What really matters is that both are evils and the really valuable policy to praise is to discuss plans for the suppression of both.

Japanese Beetles Are Advancing Through East Devouring Plants With Oriental Insects Opposed

DIAGRAM OF THE ANNUAL LIFE CYCLE OF THE JAPANESE BEETLE AS IT OCCURS IN NEW JERSEY, AND METHODS OF DESTROYING THE INSECT AT DIFFERENT STAGES.

By LARRY BOARDMAN.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A bitter war is being fought in the United States to-day—a war of insects.

On one side are the Japanese beetles, devouring plants and crops, killing vines and trees, spreading destruction far and wide.

Opposed to them are a legion of flies and wasps of special oriental breed, brought here to hold their ravages in check.

At present the beetles hold the advantage, increasing their numbers and their area of operations year by year.

They were first introduced—no one knows just how—in Burlington, N.J., being found there in 1916. At that time they covered half a square mile. By 1922 they had covered 800 square miles. The following year they had spread over 2500 square miles, covering great sections of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

How far they will spread this year can only be guessed. Hundreds of miles at the very least.

Enemies Imported.

But officials of the Department of Agriculture are making every effort to stop the plague. At least two breeds of wasps and one breed of flies have been found in the Orient to be the beetles' mortal enemies.

Four departmental experts are in Japan and China shipping these insects to the United States. A corps of experts in this country is breeding them and releasing them in the stricken areas.

Meanwhile, the department is fighting the beetles with sprays of arsenic of lead, common plant sprays having been found to be ineffective.

By laying down a rigid quarantine, the department also hopes to check a long range spread of the scourge. No farm, garden and orchard products, grain and forage crops, or nursery and greenhouse stock of any kind may be shipped out of the beetle-ridden districts without strict federal inspection.

New Every Year.

During the next three months the beetle scourge will be at its height.

The life cycle of the beetle is one year. As an egg or grub it passes the winter a few inches below the surface of the soil. By late March or early April the grub comes near the surface and starts its ravages by eating the roots of plants, grass and grain.

The full-grown beetle emerges from the ground in June—a red and green insect slightly longer than a potato bug—and the work of destruction is at high tide.

Hardly any growing thing is spared. Fruits, grains, flowers, trees, vegetables, shrubbery—all are eaten and destroyed. There are at least 212 different species of plants now known to be attacked by the omnivorous bugs.

And worse, each female beetle lays from 30 to 60 eggs to perpetuate the scourge.

TELL FARM COSTS BY AID OF BOOKS

Many Surprises Await Farmer Who Keeps No Record.

When farmers study production costs they learn many interesting things. Many find to their surprise they have been producing at a loss. They had guessed they were coming out all right when in fact they were not. Were it not for the free labor of women and children on the farm many lines would show a decided loss. This is particularly true of dairying and vegetable growing.

With bookkeeping introduced on the farm and all costs included, the real situation is exposed. Farming will never be on a firm basis until every farmer keeps a record of these costs that he may know what farm venture pays its way and what one does not. Farm bookkeeping is simple; and once it is started it is interesting.

One can go into the keeping of cost records deeply or in a simple manner. But all labor, fertilizers, seed, horse or machine power, interest on the investment and taxes, and a proper proportion of general up-keep must be charged against each crop, herd or flock. This puts farming on a business basis and shows the farmer exactly "where he is at" in each farm enterprise.

OBSERVATION.

An old professor of chemistry had been complaining to his students.

"Ye dinna use your faculties of observation," he said. "For instance (taking up a jar of chemicals of very offensive odor, he stuck one finger into it and then into his mouth). Taste it, gentlemen," he commanded, handing the jar from student to student.

After each one had licked his finger and felt like slaying the professor, he quietly replaced the jar on the table with a chuckle.

"I told you so," he exclaimed triumphantly. "Ye dinna use your faculties or ye would ha' seen that the finger I stuck in the jar wasna' the finger I stuck into me mouth."

WEATHER PLAYS TRICK.

LONDON, June 11.—On board the White Star liner Majestic, after leaving Southampton recently, persons in one part of the ship were enjoying sunshine and waving to friends standing in deep puddles and under umbrellas on the quay. At the same time the other passengers forward were being drenched by a heavy downpour of rain.

TO SAVE FLOWERS.

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 11. — Three thousand posters will be placed along the roads and highways of the northwest warning people not to strip the forests of their flowers. Tourists are endangering the future supply of forest blossoms, experts say.

TURTLE FACTORY.

MELBOURNE, June 11.—A new industry—a turtle factory—is being established on the Lacerpede Islands, off the northwest coast of West Australia. Green and Hawksbill turtles caught on the island will be treated on the spot at a special factory and the edible flesh will be shipped to London.

Farmers Market Grain Steadily Throughout Wes

WINNIPEG, Man., June 11.—(Special to the Examiner.—With seeding completed and other spring work well advanced, farmers are now marketing grain freely, according to figures issued by the transportation department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. For the period, May 22nd to 31st there were marketed on the western lines of the railway 1,748,033 bushels compared with 930,824 for the week May 11 to 22, and 669,668 bushels for the period May 22 to 31 last year. This year, during May 22 to 31 the Canadian Pacific loaded 3,167 cars of grain compared with 924 for the corresponding period last year.

Loading for the previous week this year were 2,247 cars.

Nearly 50,000,000 bushels of grain have been exported from Vancouver this season, according to figures received by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Exports to the United Kingdom total to date, 34,494,204 bushels; to the Orient 13,984,782 bushels; and to other countries, 475,306 bushels.

EVERYTHING LATE INCLUDING FROST

Feared Last Week That Crops Would Be Badly Handicapped, But Optimism Now High.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11.—Everything was late this season, even the inevitable May frosts failing to arrive on schedule time. Any observing farmer knows by experience that there is always a frost from the 10th to the 12th of May, but this year it failed to arrive until the 24th. For some time it was feared that it had almost ruined the clover crop, which is much more easily injured by an abnormally low temperature than fall wheat in the early stages of growth. Half a crop of hay was generally predicted last week.

Farmers More Systematic.

The farmers in this district have changed their views during the past few days and gloomy forecasts are less frequently heard. Nature, for once at least, seems disposed to make amends as far as possible for her vagaries indulged in to the limit since the departure of winter. Weather conditions at present are all that the most captious farmer could ask for. Men on the land, no later than Monday, were beginning to complain that rain was needed to help the growing crops and loosen the soil which was becoming baked, a natural result of a protracted wet spell. Rain came in just the quantity needed The weather has not been too hot, fo excessive warmth is always dangerou after a heavy rainfall or unseasonable frosts. In fact, the country never looked more promising than it does today; if it were only possible to forget that everything is about a month late.

George Van Volkenburg, Reeve of Seymour Township and a successful farmer, said yesterday that he cannot recall a year when backward crops picked up as rapidly as they have done this week. Everything seems to favor a quick growth. Dairy farmers, and they are in the majority in this district, have no reason to be alarmed. There is every reason to hope that there will be an abundance of fodder for next winter, and this is likely to encourage more farmers to specialize in dairying.

Wool Prices High.

T. S. Baker, wool merchant, is paying farmers from 20 to 27 cents for their season's clip, the higher figure that has been reached since the war. Eggs are bringing 22 and 23 cents. Unfortunately for the farmer, these are about the only commodities we have for sale that are bringing living prices.

Live Stock Prices.

The price paid for hogs in Campbellford on Monday, the shipping day, was 7¾ cents a pound. Even the buyers admit that no farmer, at the present price of feed, can raise hogs at a profit for this price. Calves brought from seven cents up, according to quality In this district there are few beef cattle offered at this season, but any shipped last Monday brought around five cents a pound.

Seed Potatoes.

John Henderick's has brought in a carload of Green Mountain potatoes from Bath, N.B., for sale among the farmers for seed. The shipment consists of 400 sacks, 90 pounds, or a bushel and a half to a sack.

BUILT BUSINESS IN FOUR YEARS

Made Over Agricultural Section And Created Business Of $250,000.

A man who showed how to build over an agricultural section is G. S. Hollinsworth, of Tipton County. Mr. Hollinsworth is a county agent who has brought dollars to every farm home with which he has come in contact. When he started his work he found the farmers of his county largely growing cotton as the main source of their cash income. There was one lone farmer who had a few cows, and this man shipped his cream, for which he received a monthly income of $80.

This situation greatly interested this new county agent. It started him to thinking, then to investigating. He found there was a good market for cream very close to the homes of the farmers. With the facts in hand he sought to interest the farmers in a new business. That was his first job.

Cream separators are necessary when cream is collected, and these were purchased. Most of these farmers had a few cows which were indifferently cared for and fed. They gave milk for the families and that was all that was expected of them. When a better plan of feeding was set in motion the milk production greatly increased. At once there was money to pay for the cream separators.

Now what has been the outcome? When this new business was started, in 1921, only one farmer was shipping cream; to-day 440 farmers are doing it and they have 3,000 cows helping them make money. The receipts are $250,000 for cream. Four years ago they were less than one thousand. Furthermore, not one farmer quit with cows after taking up this new business. He found a regular job that brought in cash money every month of the year. Fine work for one man!

All of these farmers are now growing leguminous crops, which also help the soil and increase the milk yields. The latest steps are testing the milk and getting better breeding bulls. Both will improve the production of the cows and thus make more profitable this dairy business. The low-producing cows are being identified and these are being removed from the herds. The better-bull plan is to form bull clubs and rotate the bulls. Already seven of these blocks or groups are in operation. This plan permits every one participating to have the use of higher-type bulls of known breeding at a very small cost. This is real co-operation.

BLOOM IN ORCHARDS IS INDICATION OF YIELD BUT ATTENTION NEEDED

MANY FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN COMPETITION

Field Crops Will Be Shown In Competition For First Time This Year At Warkworth.

TOUR OF TOWNSHIP

Percy Agriculturists Conduct Affair.

WARKWORTH, June 11.Over 20 farmers in this district have announced that they will enter the growing field crop competition which will be held in the township for the first time this year under the auspices of the Percy Agricultural Society. The crops to which the competition is confined are oats and corn. The society decided on turnips instead of corn at the outset as so many farmers raise less than five acres of fodder corn and that is the acreage insisted upon by the Department, while one acre of turnips is sufficient. Notice was sent out by the Department that no prizes would be given for turnips this year, so that corn was substituted by the directors.

George Poole, C. H. Curtis, Warren Atkinson and J. A. Armstrong, secretary of the fair board, are a committee to arrange the details of the competition. They will make a tour of the township to receive entries from those who wish to compete.

Owing to the lateness of the season, a large acreage of land was not sown to grain in time and this means that most corn than usual will be planted. Present weather and soil conditions are ideal for the planting of this crop.

Twenty-five boxes of cheese were turned out by the local factory—a record output—in one day last week.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW PLANT

Lakefield Has Growing Pains — Personal Mention.

LAKEFIELD, June 11.—Within a week of the passing of the by-law giving a fixed assessment and guaranteeing the bonds of the brass factory, the contract for the building was let and the work started. W. J. Webster has the contract for the cement work and with a gang of men is already at work. The factory will be situated on Queen street, between the Kawartha Lumber Co.'s office and the residence occupied by Mr. William Watson, Jr. This has been quick work and augurs well for Lakefield's new industry.

Soft Ball Games.

A game of soft ball was played on the school grounds on Monday evening between St. John's Bantams and a girl's team. The excitement was intense and the game hotly contested, but as this is leap year, which favors the lady's rights the fair sex had the best of it, winning by nine runs. The line-up was as follows:

Bantams— Rogers Stenner, p.; Hector Edwards, c.; Stanley Dever, 1b.; Wilbert Dever, 2b.; George Stenner, 3b.; Roger Wannamaker and W. Adamson, s.s.; B. Adamson, H. Stuart and Bob Stenner, fielders.

Girls' team— Odell Watson, p.; Mae Irwin, c.; Gladys Manning, 1b.; Ethel Wilson, 2b.; Billy Mackenzie, 3b.; Grace Watson and Constance Stuart, short-stops; Beatrice Junkin, Helen Everett and Ling Stuart fielders.

F. Payne at the plate and K. Junkin on the bases, gave good satisfaction as umpires.

The Dignan company's mill commenced operations for the season on Monday morning and has added another to the list of Lakefield's activities.

HOW TO SPRAY

Spraying And Care Are Required To Restore Strength And Life.

By G. E. STAPLES)

CAVAN, June 11.—The orchards are showing a great profusion of bloom this year. The early apple trees are quite out in bloom now, with later varieties in bud.

This gives promise of an abundance of apples, if the weather continues favorable, so that the bloom may not be blighted by frost.

This is the season for spraying, in fact, one application should have already been given.

Where large orchards are growing, this is always attended to, as apples being the principal crop grown, it must be assured that the crop will be of good quality in order to secure a good price.

Where orchards are small and are only a side line in mixed farming, spraying is often neglected.

A few years ago in Cavan Centre very much more attention was paid to this part of the season's work than is now done.

Mr. Edwin Moore had a good spraying outfit and the farmers of the vicinity had him spray their orchards after his own was done. It added greatly to the quality of the fruit grown, besides being an effectual and speedy way of destroying the caterpillars, whose nests infested the trees and if neglected, so speedily stripped the tree of leaves.

The past few years with late spring seasons and consequent rush of work, also lack of help, has caused this important line of work to be neglected.

Apples Were Inferior.

Last year the bulk of the apples grown were of an inferior type. Many people had very few and they did not seem to keep well, in fact, many were decaying on the trees before picking time.

It seems as though, if good apples are to be grown, the farmers will have to again revert to spraying.

To do good spraying, a good outfit, kept in good working order is necessary. For small orchards, a barrel pump, costing when fully equipped about thirty dollars, will usually prove satisfactory for three to five acres of orchard.

Every apple orchard, whether bearing or not, should receive three applications and under some conditions bearing orchards should receive four or five. The first of these should be commenced preferably just as the buds are bursting, and finished soon after the leaves have begun to come out. In the case of large orchards, however, it will often be necessary to begin considerably earlier. The best material to use for this application is the lime-sulphur mixture at the strength of one gallon of commercial form of this to seven gallons of water.

The second application should be given just as late as possible before the blossoms burst. One should wait until the blossom buds appear and are beginning to show pink. Either Bordeaux mixture or lime sulphur diluted 1 gallon of the commercial form to about thirty-three gallons of water may be used.

The third application is usually called the codling moth spray, and should be given immediately after the blossoms have nearly all fallen, say when 90 per cent. off. For this spray, use lime-sulphur of the commercial form diluted with about 40 gallons of water, and to this add one pound of lead powder or two pounds arsenate of lead paste.

In a very wet June it is wise to give a fourth application about ten days after the third to prevent attacks of apple scab. Either Bordeaux mixture about half strength or lime-sulphur one gallon to 40 or 45 gallons of water may be used.

Mr. S. S. Staples has a fine young orchard of five or six acres on his property near Springville.

Seeding is finished and farmers are preparing their root ground. Some already have their potatoes and early roots in while others are only preparing the ground.

Everything is growing well. The rain Tuesday night has moistened the ground which was beginning to bake. It will help the grain which is only peeping up, as well as grain further advanced.

England's smallest industry is the making of stains which pick out certain bacilli in human tissue when inspected through a microscope.

Curing the Kicks

Old Bolaus is inclined to kick and now and then I get a lick from her ambitious heels, and any man who has a cow that acts unruly savvies how a rookee always feels. There's nothing stirs the human blood in one mad, overwhelming flood like getting kicked will do. Just when a pail is nicely filled—biff! Down you go as bad as killed, dumbfounded through and through! There was a time when I, a lad, lost tongue and temper, all I had, when I got kicked and hurt; I rose in fury, stool in hand, with language all could understand, with heaving chest and shirt. I flayed the cow with might and main until the fever in my brain sank down to normal poise, until the cow with tearful eye, repenting, acted sick and shy, reformed by stool and noise! But now, in these maturer years, I've grown more patient it appears; I have more brains, I know. My governor belt remains in place, the hot blood doesn't find my face; I'm sane, and cool, and slow. When Bolaus lands upon me now I do not flail that erring cow, I do not rave and shout; I gather up my fallen dorn and try with words sublime and warm to coax the devils out. I say: "Old girl, be sweet, my dear, there's nothing you have need to fear!" And say, she's coming now to see she has a friend in me; each week she's kicking less, I see. She's quite a model cow!

Use Discretion in Sizing Up Players On Opposing Teams

Never underestimate the batting ability of any member of an opposing team.

Many ball games are lost through careless work with some weak hitter up.

It is a wise policy to figure that every batsman on the other team is a good hitter, and then proceed to work carefully on each man.

I have learned that batters with the highest average are not always the most dangerous in a pinch.

Don't pitch haphazardly to a batter, depending on natural ability to pull you through.

On the contrary, try to make your work as easy as possible by working on his weakness.

Don't be careless.

GREAT RACE IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

Two Leading Teams Will Clash On Saturday At Riverside Park In Real Hard Game.

FINE FOR FANS

The Central Ontario League race is so close this season that none of the teams have been able to pull away from the others and each game is liable to change the result. First Kingston led as a result of winning its first two games, then Oshawa was in front for two days, Belleville next shot to the fore for three days, the Petes climbed up even, and then went on top for three days and now the teams are tied again and Oshawa only half a game behind.

Today the motor town boys are in Belleville and the Petes tie into Kingston in the Limestone City.

On Saturday Belleville will pay another visit to Peterboro and this fixture, the last appearance of the Trunks here in the first section, should be the liveliest argument of the season. The Petes realize that they must grab off the Saturday fixture or leave their chance of winning the first half rather shaky and from the bat boy up to Manager Solomon the gang are determined to get revenge for last Saturday's beating.

The game as usual will be called at 3 o'clock and indications point to a record crowd, the close nature of the race keeping the whole district interested.

To-night's game in Kingston is played at 6 o'clock daylight saving time, which of course is 5 o'clock standard time. The Examiner will bulletin the result.

The Western Clock are leading the league with two straight wins, while the Examiner are right behind them. The newspaper gang can go into a tie with the Westclox by winning Thursday's fixture and they will be out there to cop off a win.

The Examiner have rounded out a good team this year and have a nice fielding and hitting team.

Manager DeGraw of the Clockmakers says he has unearthed a new pitcher and is undecided whether he will send his dark horse or Herb. Wolfe against the newspaper boys. Manager McCauley of the Examiner team will use either Scates, Holyman or Dorrington against the Westclox.

The game is scheduled to start at 6.00 p.m. sharp tomorrow night. There is no admission charge to the Mercantile game but the hat is passed.

CURLER HEAVER STRUCK OUT 16 FOR CHAMPIONS

Carl Wood Sends Hillcrests To Bench For Four Hits And One Run.

McDONALD STARRED

Last Year's Midget Leaders Away To Good Start In Juveniles.

Alex Kay's Curlers, last year's Midget champs, got away to a flying start in the Juvenile series, defeating the Hillcrests of East City by a score of 5 to 1.

Carl Wood, the Curlers' star pitcher, was in great form, holding the Hillcrests to four hits and striking out 16 men in seven innings. "Bud" Weese also pitched fine ball but was given ragged support by the infield.

"Pine-Juice" McDonald was the batting star, getting a triple and a single in four tries.

Hillcrests got their only counter in the initial frame. After Wood had struck out Weese and Smith, Holland drew a pass, stole second and scored on Ralph's timely single through short. They were dangerous in but one other inning when after two were out in the sixth Smith doubled to centre, stole third, but died there when the next batter whiffed.

The Curlers scored two in their half of the first. McDonald singled to right, and after Barrie was retired, Wood singled through short, scoring McDonald, Wood taking second on the throw in Vinette dropped Baker's third strike but threw to third to catch Wood going into that station. In the mix-up that followed Guerain threw wild to Smith, Wood scoring and Baker taking second. They got two more in the third inning. McDonald crashed a triple to deep right and scored on Wood's single to centre. Wood stole second later when Guerain again uncorked a wild peg to Smith.

In the fifth Barrie doubled to right, went to third on a fielder's choice and scored on Baker's roller to short. In the sixth Alex Baird sent a clean single to left, stole second and advanced to third when O'Brien mussed up Jack Baird's roller, but McDonald went out, Guerain to McLeish.

The fielding feature of the game was a fine one-hand catch of McDonald's hard drive to right by Ralph.

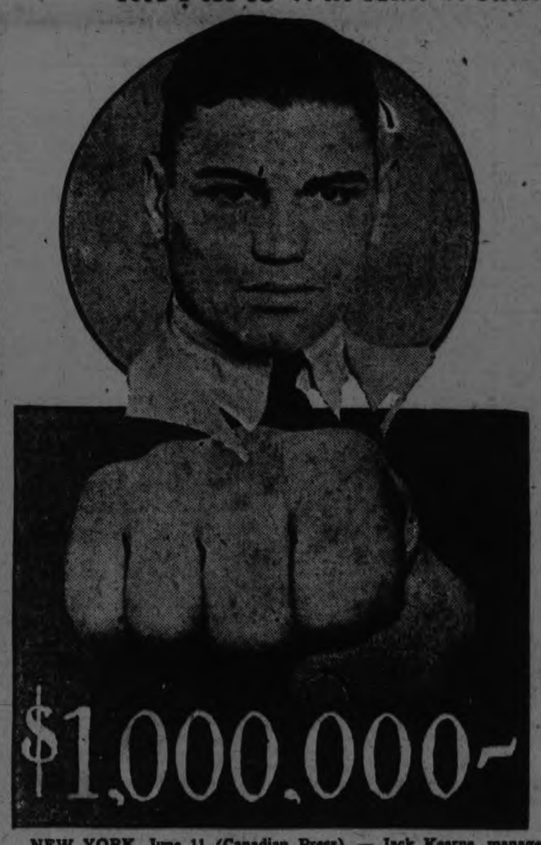
Let Those That Have Brains Use Them But Dempsey Backs His Fist to Win Him Wealth



NEW YORK, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, yesterday turned down an offer of $150,000 for a title fight at the Queensboro Stadium with Bartley Madden, who was defeated but stayed the limit of 15 rounds with Harry Wills, on Monday.

Kearns declared Dempsey's motion picture work would prevent him from fighting in July. In addition to which he asserted the champion would not risk his crown except against an outstanding contender, such as Wills or Firpo.

A Million-Dollar Fist.

Step this way, ladies ad gent.'s, and gaze upon the world's first million-dollar fist, the property of John Harrison Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the prize ring.

Please note that aside from its rather robust dimensions and hard, leathery aspects, this fist is not an unusual specimen.

You have seen larger fists on icemen and iron workers. Now that you recall it, the butcher's fist that wields the cleaver at the corner store is certainly more terrifying.

And yet here is a fist—this one of Dempsey's—that towers, joints and knuckles, above all the fists in the history of the world. For it is the first fist that ever earned a million dollars.

What Other Fists Drew Down.

There have been other remarkable fists in the past. The ham-like fist of the great John L. which wrote the introductory chapters of man-fighting in America; the bone-crushing fist of old Fitzsimmons, the high-speed-geared fist of Corbett, and the rock-ribbed fist of the primitive Jeffries.

But none of these fists had more than an elementary training in the art of money-making, and they were handicapped further by having flourished in the days of meagre purses. Already the Dempsey fist has made almost twice as much as all the other heavyweight champions combined!

First Million Dollar Purse.

Dempsey will demand $700,000 for a return date with Firpo and a cool million for a Wills bout, and the probabilities are he will get what he demands. Another Firpo fight will draw big, a Wills fight will draw even bigger.

The million-dollar fist is on the threshold of a golden harvest. It has already brought Dempsey a million from the prize ring. It is now bringing him another million in the motion picture studios by virtue of a recent contract. Pending bouts promise still another million or two.

The 29-year-old champion has a chance to run his bank balance up to five million before he quits, or is knocked off.

ST. LOUIS SHUT OUT IN GAME WITH YANKS

New York Again Tied With Boston—Big Crowd to Honor George Sisler.

SOX WON IN THIRTEENTH.

ST. LOUIS, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Dixie Davis failed to hold the New York Yankees in check and the Browns were shut out yesterday 5 to 0, in the fourth and final game of the series.

A crowd of 20,000 overflowed the park in honour of George Sisler, the popular Brown playing manager, who was awarded a handsomely decorated certificate, designating him the most valuable American League player in 1922.

Sisler was also presented with a basket of flowers, and he and Babe Ruth, possessor of the 1923 trophy, were photographed together.

The United States blimps TA-1 and TC-3 circled over the field, from the first of which two baseballs were dropped. Ruth caught one and George Grant the other. The score:

St. Louis ..... 000000000—0 6 2

Indians' Fourth Straight.

CLEVELAND, June 11. (Canadian Press). — A pinch single by yesterday's game from Washington Larry Gardner and a pinch double by George Uhle, aided in winning in the ninth inning, 4 to 3. It was the Indians' fourth straight victory over Washington. The score:

Ninth Inning Rally.

DETROIT, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Scoring three runs in a ninth inning rally, Philadelphia defeated Detroit in the last game of the series, 4 to 3. The first seven innings was a pitchers' battle between Harris and Holloway. The score:

Detroit ..... 000000120—3 9 2

Harris, Baumgartner and Perkins, Bruggy; Holloway, Hauss and Bassler.

Went Thirteen Innings.

CHICAGO, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Falk's homer with none out in the thirteenth gave the Sox a 3 to 2 victory over Boston yesterday. Piercy was hit hard, but the low score against him was due to fast fielding. Cvengros and Schalk gave way to pinch hitters, who tied the score in the ninth. The score:

Chicago ..... 0010000010001—3 13 0

DISSIPATION IS FATAL TO PLAY THINKS WALTER

Johnson, With His Speedy But Graceful Style, Thanks His Clean Life.

KNOWS THE GAME

Saves His Arm By Reducing Effort After Lead Is Won.

Why has Walter Johnson lasted so long as a big league pitcher?

That is a question oft put to me by the inquiring fan, because Johnson is a great favorite.

In all probability there was never a more popular idol than Johnson. Even partisan fans hate to see their favorite team beat him.

However, the greatest test of a player's popularity is measured among his fellow players. It is not putting it too strongly to say that every American League player has the greatest admiration for Walter Johnson.

Smoke Ball Artist Tells How.

Eighteen years ago Johnson made his American League debut, an unknown rookie.

His pitching made him famous overnight. He has consistently held that fame by his sterling performances and his likeable manner.

Of the players who were in the American League when Johnson made his debut, Ty Cobb alone remains. Every pitcher in the organization at that time has passed out. Johnson has seen hundreds of twirlers come and go.

There are many reasons why Walter Johnson has outlasted hundreds of big league pitchers, why after 18 years of service he is still one of the outstanding stars of the American League.

In the first place, Johnson lives right. Dissipation of any kind is unknown to him. Baseball is his livelihood, his business and he caters to it most carefully.

Another potent factor in Johnson's long and successful career is his method of delivery. His free, easy, graceful style that place no great strain on the arm, has enabled him to go merrily on year after year.

A jerky delivery can ruin more pitching arms that any other one thing.

A desire to merely win rather than create individual performances has also helped Johnson defy Father Time.

Once Johnson is given a working margin of a few runs, he eases up, and tries to hold that lead with the least possible effort. If pressed he puts on extra steam.

Well do I recall one game in which Johnson had 10 strikeouts in the first five innings. It looked as if he would surely break the American League record.

In the sixth inning his teammates gave him a four-run lead. With a comfortable margin Johnson worked under wraps the rest of the game and struck out only two men in the last four innings.

Johnson has outlasted all other pitchers, first because nature endowed him with wonderful ability, and secondly because he has had the good judgment to conserve that ability.

Horse Racing Pays Reparations Debts Due From Germany

BERLIN, June 11.— Horse racing throughout Germany is enjoying the greatest season since 1913. There are running races three and four days weekly in Berlin, Hamburg, Leipzig and other cities.

The Government has been encouraging horse racing for two purposes: First, as a stimulus to the breeding of blooded animals, which ran down during the war, and, secondly, because of the revenue brought into the State Treasury through the percentage collected in all bets at the tracks. Sixteen per cent of the proceeds of bookmakers goes to the Government, and part of this, it has been announced, will be applied to the fund which is to help pay off the reparation debt to the Allies.

LOCK WORKERS CHASE BANKERS TO THE VAULT

Pitchers Fanned Twelve Each, But Winners Hung Up 15 Runs To 3.

NEW MAN STARRED

Bankers' Twirler Had Poor Support In The Field.

In a ragged game of ball at Riverside Park last evening, the Lock Works defeated the Bankers by the enormous score of 15 to 3. Heavy hitting was the feature and although each pitcher fanned 12 men, they had a bunch of hits registered against them. Bell, who twirled for the Bankers, had 16 hits registered against him, while Neary who was on the mound for the Lock-makers, was touched for 10 hits, which he kept fairly well scattered.

The Bankers gave their twirler very poor support and threw the ball all over the lot. Bell was touched for three runs in the first innings, but in the second he blanked his opponents and held them to one in the third, while his team mates made things more interesting when they tallied in the second and made two counters. Bell blew completely in the fourth and was touched for five hits and five runs and walked two men.

The first man up in the fourth singled, followed by another single by McDougall, advancing Hunt to third. Thorndyke, the next man to face Bell, drove out a clean triple to centre, the two men who were riding the bases crossing the plate. Jobbitt was hit by the pitcher and Connors drove Jobbitt home when he hit through second. Neary fanned, but Collins came through with another single, sending Connors, who had stolen second and third, over the plate. Black rolled to the second baseman, who threw him out, Collins going to third on the put out, but he was stranded there when G. Connors struck out.

This ended the scoring in this frame, but was enough to win the old ball game for the Lockmakers. They registered another in the fifth and five more in the seventh when they batted around, Gord Connors getting two pokes in the one inning. Ragged base running kept the Bankers from scoring on several occasions while in the fourth they succeeded in pushing another one over the plate, making their total 3.

Lambert Collins of the Lakeviews did the clouting for the Lockmakers. He got four hits in five trips to the plate, while Thorndyke, McDougal and Neary came through with two hits apiece. Thorndyke and Jobbitt for the Lockworks got a triple each, while McClarty slugged the ball for three bases into the left garden. Hudon, a new man on the Bankers' line-up, pulled the feature catch of the game when he reaped in a high fly out of the sun in the third innings. Holingsworth at third for the Bankers, also pulled down two nice flies and came through with a timely hit over second base.

Hudon Was Right There.

DIPLOMAS FOR NURSES AT NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

Interesting Event in St. Paul's Church Last Evening -- Names of Graduates.

Seven young ladies graduated last evening from the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses. In crisp white uniforms, spotless and trim, their arms filled with pink roses, they received their diplomas, bound with the purple and gold of the hospital colors. They included Miss Helen Jessie Devell, of South Monaghan; Miss Eva Mae Miller, of Keene, Miss Lily Mary Simpson, of Peterboro; Miss Marjorie Maretta Elgar, of Millbrook; Miss Lucy Bond Way, of Newfoundland; Miss Pearl Isobel Armstrong, of Millbrook, and Miss Kathleen Marjorie Dawson, of Bailieboro. Owing to the illness of her mother, Miss Way, of Newfoundland, was not able to be present at the exercises last evening.

This year's Graduation Exercises of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses took place last evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in the presence of one of the largest audiences ever experienced in the history of the school, there being over eight hundred people present for the occasion. Numerous references were made to the large attendance by various speakers, as an indication of the interest taken in the Hospital and its staff. In the absence of Mr. Richard Hall, through illness, and the absence from the city of Mr. W. H. Hill, who had been scheduled to take his place, the chair was taken by Mr. Robert Fair, representative of St. John's Church on the Board of the Hospital. Mr. Fair, in his opening remarks, alluded with regret to the absence of Mr. Richard Hall, "the veteran chairman of the Board, whose presence through so many years has been one of the features of the graduating exercises." The nurses, Mr. Fair said, had been always pleased to receive their diplomas from the hands of the first chairman of the Hospital. However, although Mr. Hall was prevented from being present last evening, his heart was undoubtedly with them on this occasion.

Alumnae of the Hospital acted as ushers last evening, and a group of nurses-in-training, in fresh blue uniforms and trig white aprons and caps, formed a semi-circle in chairs about the pulpit, which, with the choir loft, was decorated with a profusion of tall palms, ferns, roses and carnations. A pleasant variation in the evening's programme was the music rendered by a ladies' quartette from St. Paul's Choir, composed of Miss G. L. LeBarr, Mrs. Walter Byers, Miss E. Eagleson and Miss J. Herbison, and a quartette from the Male Voice Choir, composed of Messrs. Jones, Crowe, Gibbons and Skitch. Both quartettes gave several pleasing numbers, each singing one accompanied and one unaccompanied number. Mr. M. B. Chenhall played organ accompaniments, and also gave a short organ recital preceding the programme. Devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. Robt. Pogue.

A very thoughtful and inspirational address, addressed to the graduates and audience alike, was given by Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., rector of St. John's Church.

Dr. Blagrave spoke of the many expressions of appreciation of the sympathy and thoughtfulness of the nurses of Nicholls Hospital staff heard by him, and of the small amount of criticism expressed of the institution. To the nurses, he said: "The calling you have chosen is a very arduous one. I consider it one of the most difficult and exacting callings there is. But with this task comes a corresponding nobility and a corresponding greatness which is worth the effort. If you are to discharge this great task in a worthy manner, you must keep your sense of calling high. You must not allow your profession to be deteriorated or over-commercialized. You must preserve as precious the ideals which actuated you when you chose this calling as your life-work, the service which is the high privilege of the vocation you have chosen."

To try and give more than one takes out of life was a worthy ideal, said the speaker, who recommended as goals the capture of a hundred per cent. efficiency, physically, mentally and spiritually. "Do not forget your devotional life," he said. "It is to this atmosphere that you must attune your personality. Let your prayer-life, which is ever the searchlight of conduct, reveal yourselves to yourselves, and keep clear your high purpose, above conflict and temptation."

Following the Affirmation, read to the nurses by Mr. Fair, and responded to by them, and the conferring of diplomas and medals, the latter pinned on by the superintendent of the Hospital, Mrs. F. M. Leeson, an address to the Graduates was given by Major-General J. T. Fotheringham, C.M.G., B.A., M.B., C.M., who is one of the lecturers at the University of Toronto. Although Dr. Fotheringham's address was delivered in a voice pitched too low for the majority of the large audience to hear in its entirety, the subject was scholarly and interesting in the extreme. A wide range of experience and vision, a tactful and yet courageous handling of his subject, which included much useful advice to the nurses, and a kindly, broad viewpoint, was apparent in the address of the speaker, whose remarks were taken in the main from a prepared paper.

"Professional etiquette, translated into action, means only the practical application of the Golden Rule, "to do as one would be done by," said the speaker, who likened the trained nurse to the doctor, both belonging to healing professions that should be animated by an esprit de corps. He quoted Sir William Osler, who said, "To talk of diseases is a kind of Arabian Nights entertainment to which no discreet nurse should lend her countenance," and spoke of the "talent for silence" as an estimable quality in a trained nurse.

Referring to the educational value to any community of institutions where women were trained in the nursing profession, the speaker said there were 9,000 hospitals in the United States, and 90 in Ontario alone, the Ontario output annually of graduates being about 500. The first training school for nurses on this continent was established in Philadelphia in 1863. The doctor also gave a brief review of the institution of nursing orders, from early times, speaking of the Benedictine Order, and its study of medicine and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England. He reverted to the Greeks and the priests of Apollo, learned in the practice of anatomical surgery, and to the great sanitaria, the temples of Apollo, where, however, a birth or death was never permitted within the sacred precincts. The twin sister of Apollo, Artemis, the Diana of the Romans, was recommended as the tutelary deity of the trained nurse, who should strive to resemble the Grecian goddess in the non-technical, as well as the technical qualities, of her ministering profession. In physical, mental and spiritual qualities, the nurse should be trained to the highest degree. She should never forget the qualities of obedience, earnestness, self-forgetfulness, tenderness, punctilious honesty and real piety that were a necessary part of her equipment. Her duty to the patient, the physician, to the family in which she was employed, and to herself, should never be perfunctory with a patient, as this fault was always noted and properly resented by a sick person; she should not always wait to be asked to perform small services for her charge, but should be on the lookout for their doing at all times, and she should "be dumb as an oyster" about anything that comes up in the house of a patient. Dr. Fotheringham regretted that the "sweet term of 'sister'" was not more generally in use, as applied to trained nurses, regarding its non-use in evangelical institutions as being "a Protestant prejudice against the custom of the early church, which gives this title to its dedicated women."

The programme was brought to a close by the presentation, made by Mr. John Crane, of Prizes for Proficiency, presented by the Trustees Board of the Hospital, and won by two graduates: (1) Miss Helen Jessie Devell, of South Monaghan, and (2) Miss Eva Mae Miller, of Keene. The first prize is a cash award of $25, the second one of $15.

A prize from the Trustee Board for bandaging proficiency in the junior class was won by Miss Dorothy McBrien, of Maple Lake, Ontario, and Dr. A. Y. McNair represented the medical staff of the Hospital, making the presentation of a prize awarded by that body to the intermediate class, won by Miss Jennie Paul, of Bridgenorth.

At the conclusion of the programme, Mr. Fair expressed thanks for the assistance of the speakers and the musicians.

Mrs. E. M. Leeson is superintendent of the Nicholls Hospital, and Miss Elleda Walsh is assistant superintendent.

Church Union

OTTAWA, June 11 (Canadian Press). — The proposal to rescind the amendment to the Church Union Bill, which makes the operation of the Bill dependent on the result of the reference to the Courts, was before the Private Bills Committee of the House of Commons to-day.

Discussion centred in whether the motion was in order.

J. L. Brown, of Lisgar, fathered the motion, and William Duff, of Dunenburg, who moved the amendment to the Bill, maintained that Mr. Brown's proposal was out of order and that a motion of reconsideration should have been given.

Chairman McGiverin agrede with him, and ruled the motion out of order.

The committee then took up the question of the rights of non-concurring congregations, and heard counsel for both sides.

It was agreed to drop the provision for non-concurring congregations voting themselves into the union.

A compromise was reached that there should be no vote between 15th March and 15th September.

It was decided to remove the time limit, except in cities and towns over 10,000, where there is to be no vote in July or August.

AT THE CAPITOL

THINGS NEVER COME HALF WAY IN MOTION PICTURES

Thomas Meighan, during the production of his latest Paramount picture, "The Confidence Man," which open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow had no sooner finished eating breakfast all morning long for a scene in the production than the director called lunch. Needless to say all Meighan had was a cup of coffee.

Things never come half way in the movies. "The Confidence Man" is an adaptation by Paul Sloane of the story by L. Y. Erskine and Robert H. Davis. Victor Heerman was the director.

Virginia Valli, star of "A Lady of Quality," is leading woman. Laurence Wheat, in the principal masculine supporting role, was last seen with Meighan in "Back Home and Broke." He has appeared with the popular star in six of his pictures during the past three years. Charlie Dow Clark is well cast as a miserly old gent upon whom Meighan tries to shift some worthless oil stock. Others in the cast include Helen Lindroth, Jimmie Lapsley, Margaret Seddon, George Nash, Dorothy Walters and David Higgins, all well-known names on both stage and screen.

CLYDE COOK IN LATEST COMEDY HIT AT CAPITOL

The versatile and always funny Clyde Cook will be seen in his latest comedy hit at the Capitol the last three days of this week, starting to-morrow night. "The Broncho Express" is the name of Clyde's newest laugh producer. This is a real rip-roaring burlesque on western melodrama, and is considered one of the finest comedies this comedian has ever been seen in. With Thomas Meighan in "The Confidence Man," this rounds out one of the best balanced bills the Capitol has had this season.

NEW SERIAL CRAMMED WITH CLEAN THRILLS IS CAPITOL'S SPECIAL OFFERING FOR CHILDREN EVERY SATURDAY MAT.

Following the triumphant showing of Ruth Roland in "The Haunted Valley," which closed at the Capitol last Saturday matinee, the management announce the starting of a new serial next Saturday afternoon, to continue each Saturday afternoon for the next ten weeks. "The Ghost City" is the title of the Capitol's newest serial. Pete Morrison, the famous screen daredevil, is the featured player, and his stunts are said to be the most thrilling ever performed in the making of any serial. Admission for children at the big children's matinee every Saturday is 11 cents.

AT THE ROYAL

DRAMA OF REAL LIFE AND FACTS

For any one who is not afraid to face life and its facts, Thomas H. Ince's picturization of Eugene O'Neill's powerful stage drama, "Anna Christie," can not fail to hold a powerful appeal. This First National picture opens at the Royal Theatre tomorrow.

"Study life and paint what you see," has been the motto of the romantic-eyed Irishman who tramped the streets of city slums and beat his way across several seas before he wrote "Anna Christie."

"Picture life," has been the ideal of Thomas H. Ince in all his screen productions. He has lived up to his ideal with amazing fidelity in this latest offering. The wracking agony of life's depths; the sordid tragedy of places too often kept hidden from the public eye and thought; the anguish of three pitiful people whose love for each other brings them into violent conflict have been painted unflinchingly both by the dramatist and the picture producer.

"Anna Christie" offers conclusive proof that the great love stories of the world do not need silken backgrounds. In saloons and on a coal barge, deep coated in soot and grime, the romance of Anna flowers and blossoms. It comes to a climax in one of the most powerful scenes ever conceived by a poet-dramatist or pictured by an artist producer.

There are action thrills as well as mighty emotional climaxes in the Ince production. The scene in the stoke hole of the sinking steamer "Anconia," when William Russell as Matt Burke, the Irish stoker, fights his men to keep them from deserting their places, is unforgetable. The lurching ship, the inrushing waters and the clouds of blinding steam, through which the trapped men fight their way to the outer air have been pictured with a master's artistry. Russell's two-fisted fight when he starts to clean up the town after his bitter quarrel with his sweetheart, carries another great thrill.

Blanche Sweet has long been a film favorite, but never has she offered such superb work as marks her acting in the title role of the Ince picture. If any one had any doubts about Miss Sweet's ability to stage a "come-back" after her temporary retirement from the screen, they will be quieted for all time by her remarkable characterization of the waif of the northwest. Anna is a drab, sordid outcast until the winds of the sea and the cleansing fires of a great love purge her. The transitions in the girl have been portrayed with marvelous realism and appeal by Miss Sweet.

George Marion has an equally exacting role, equally well interpreted, as "Chris," the father of the girl. Critics of this country and of Europe, where the stage production of "Anna Christie" was heralded as the greatest American drama of many years, were loud in proclaiming the artistry of Marion, who created the same role for the stage production. His work for the silver sheet promises to win him an international fan following.

John Griffith Wray directed the production, which bears the hallmark of finished technique. In fact, it stands out as unique from the usual run of screen offerings. There isn't a double that "Anna" and her story will live on when most of the season's offerings have been buried in oblivion. It is the greatest drama which the silver sheet has yet offered.

LOCAL INSTITUTIONS WELL TAKEN CARE OF

Grand Jury's Report Shows a Satisfactory State of Affairs in City and County.

The Grand Jury, when dismissed yesterday afternoon at 1.45 p.m., promptly proceeded to the public institutions throughout the city and county and completing their duties last night, presented the Grand Jury report to Sheriff Fred Hall early this morning.

His Honour Judge Huycke, who is to-day in Port Hope, presiding at the June sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace, as a result of the rotary system established by the Attorney General for the Province, stated in court yesterday that he would be unable to receive the Grand Jury's address and directed them to report to the Sheriff or Mr. George Sherry, Local Registrar of the Supreme Court.

The Grand Jury's address commends the capable supervision of all the public institutions and assures the citizens that the Orphanage and Children's Aid are deserving of public support because of the high standard of efficiency in the management and the happy conditions for the children obviously prevalent in both institutions.

The Grand Jury's address is as follows:

Presentment.

To His Honour Judge Huycke, Judge of the County Court of the County of Peterborough:

The Grand Jury in making their report beg leave to congratulate your Honour and ourselves on the absence of any case of a criminal nature. Our duties, which were therefore very light, included a visit of inspection to the following institutions:

The gaol, in which at the present time are confined only five inmates, only one of whom was incarcerated for a serious offence. We found the premises clean and in a very satisfactory condition.

The House of Refuge, with 28 inmates.

The Protestant Home, with 36 inmates.

The St. Vincent Orphanage, with 27 inmates.

The Children's Shelter, with 13 inmates.

The House of Providence, with 65 inmates.

Your Grand Jury were pleased to observe and to report that each and every one of these institutions is in charge of capable and worthy superintendents.

From the general appearance and cheerful countenance of the many inmates we conversed with, we left with the impression that the best of care and attention was being given them, and that these occupants were comfortable and contented.

The Orphanage and Children's Aid are doing a wonderful work and we cannot speak too highly of the care and attention given to these boys and girls, which is also borne out by the bright and happy faces of these little ones. Both institutions are kept scrupulously clean and home-like and are deserving of the liberal support bestowed upon them by all citizens.

In reference to the House of Refuge, for sanitary reasons we would recommend that some necessary repairs to plumbing be attended to at once. Some of the fixtures are out of order and, we are informed by the superintendent, have not been in use since he assumed his duties in April last.

In closing we desire to congratulate your Honour on the very able manner in which the duties of your high office are discharged.

On behalf of the gentlemen of the Grand Jury, I have the honor to be,

Yours respectfully,
H. W. MORPET,
Foreman.

THISTLES TRIM COLONIALS IN GIRLS' SOFTBALL GAME

Score was 15-7—Good Pitching Featured Contest—Played Before Large Crowd.

Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a girls softball game, in Central Park, the Thistles defeated the Colonials 15 to 7. The Thistles walked away from the Colonials in last night's fixture, and were superior in every position.

Miss B. Vincent was on the mound for the Thistles and she turned in a great game. She has a world of speed and good control and the Colonials had a hard job hitting her fast ball which shot across the plate at a great speed. Miss Vincent also fielded her position well.

Miss Vass who did the heaving for the Colonials turned in a nice game. She was hit more often than her opponent. Both pitchers were awarded good support.

The Thistles early took the lead and were never headed. The large crowd of fans that turned out were treated to a good exhibition of ball.

Ab. Delahaye umpired the game in the absence of Alex Kay, who was down at the Exhibition Grounds coaching his Curlers to victory.

The team lined up as follows:

Colonials—Vass, pitcher; Edwards, catcher; Brashaw, 1b; Drury, 2b; Hatcher, 3b; Greenlaugh, ss; Foster, rf; Hill, lf; Wade, cf; Young.

Thistles—B. Vincent, p; Constable, c; Deyell, 1b; Devone, 2b; Janeway, 3b; Evans, ss; Hunter, rf; Johnson, lf; A. Vincent, cf; Abbot.

Umpire—A. Delahaye.

Mollekin, was badly kicked by other horses, as were two three-year-olds, Daybrook and Sternmarch. Soval, an aged horse owned by Frank Curzon, suffered the most serious injuries, and as a result may never run again. Soval ran full tilt into a waterpost, and the water tap penetrated his shoulder.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

No matter how devious the route of tax collection may be, the consumer pays the tax, in the last analysis.

By W. A. Warmer
(Veteran Financial Writer and Newspaper Man.)

Many years ago a man dropped his tax on purchases into a tax box which the government kept in each store after paying for his goods. It was clear that neither the storekeeper nor the manufacturer paid the tax on the goods which he bought.

Now he pays for his goods and the tax all in one lump, which makes the goods higher priced. If taxes are raised, prices are, too. He probably thinks the manufacturer and the storekeeper are paying the tax. They aren't. They are merely collecting it just as they did years ago.

The only difference between the old system and the new is the indirect method of collecting; the consumer still pays the tax.

GUARDING AGAINST NOTE CIRCULATION

Inspection of Head Offices and Branch Offices of All Banks Have Been Made.

OTTAWA, June 11 (Canadian Press). — H. T. Ross, secretary of the Canadian Bankers' Association, told the Banking and Commerce Committee this morning what steps are taken by the Association to guard the bank note circulation.

In answer to questions by H. E. Spencer, Progressive member for Battle River, he stated that the Association received circulation returns from various bank members, which were accepted as accurate. An inspection was made by an officer of the Association covering not only the head offices of banks, but also returns from branches on note circulation.

"Even with this inspection, the Association did not discover that the capital of the Home Bank was impaired," asked Mr. Spencer.

Mr. Ross replied that the Home Bank had sworn in its statement that its circulation was unimpaired. The Association could not go beyond that sworn statement. He stated that the Home Bank had no right to issue notes against impaired capital, and therefore it had made illegal note issue.

He made it clear, however, that the Canadian Bankers' Association accepted no responsibility for the false statements made by the Home Bank.

Mr. Ross expressed the opinion that the proposals of the Government for inspection by the Finance Department would go a long way toward preventing the abuse of the privilege of note circulation. He said that the Association had no knowledge of the condition of the Home Bank prior to its failure. He did not know whether any of the bank members of the Association knew of the Home Bank's condition.

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

THE MINING MARKET

The Mining Market was quiet this morning. Trading was only done in any volume in a few issue. Most trading was done in Argonaut which sold as high as 49. Goldale advanced a few cents selling at 3 1-4, while Dome sold up to 17.30. Lorraine also sold as high as 30.

The Toronto and Montreal markets were active with a firm tendency showing Montreal Power was strong around 174. Also Spanish River at 107. Detroit United also was strong advancing considerably over last night's close. Canada Bread still seems to be in demand around 72.

NEW YORK MARKET

The New York market was more active this morning than it has been for a good while and lead by the rail roads showed some advances on the news of the adjournment of congress this removing any adverse news on the railroads. The industrials followed the lead of the rails but did not show the same buoyancy. The street seemed in a much better mood today but the majority of this buying is theshort covering and when this is complete the market will no doubt settle back again into the same rut, as the past, unless some news is forthcoming to give it additional momentum.

NOCTURNAL VISITORS LEFT FOOTPRINTS ON STREETS OF THE CITY

Sign Manuals Displayed in Many Parts of Peterborough Arouse Curiosity--Have You Fathomed Mystery.

In the very small hours of Wednesday morning, nocturnal workers were afoot on the streets of this city. We do not mean to insinuate when we say "afoot" that the marks they left of their passing were actual reproductions of their footprints, but we do know that they spent much time and used up a great deal of white paint in fashioning the sign manuals they left behind them.

In fifteen or twenty districts of the town, they left a symbol of their passing. Do you know what it means? What does "A B C" stand for? It certainly doesn't mean a certain popular brand of medicament that uses the initials "A B S and C" for a descritive formula. It isn't a new advertising scheme.

The "K" hieroglyphic perhaps has a more readily understandable significance. It was a painting, rather than a "building" excursion that these secretive gentlemen were about when they stayed out of their beds on Tuesday night long enough to leave their mark on the pavement.

After luncheon was served at the Prince George Mr. and Mrs. Morton left for Chicago, and other points in the American and Canadian West. On their return they will reside at 149 Glengrove avenue west, Toronto.

For First Time in Forty Years Millerand Enjoys Private Life.

ELECTION ON FRIDAY.

Thirteens Predominate In French Situation and Painleve is Superstitious.

PARIS, June 12. — (Canadian Press).—The Presidential tri-color yesterday dropped temporarily from the mast of the Elysee Palace when M. Millerand, for nearly four years the Chief Executive of France, resigned and became a private citizen of the Republic.

Some time between four and seven o'clock on Friday the thirteenth, the colors of a new President, elected by the Thirteenth Legislature, will be raised to the flagstaff of the Presidential mansion. The new Chief Executive will immediately proceed to the formation of a Cabinet to succeed the present Ministry of thirteen memebrs. Of the Presidential possibilities thus far mentioned, M. Painleve, President of the Chamber of Deputies, alone is said to be superstitously inclined. Last night, however, he was declared to be leading for the Presidential post.

M. Millerand resigned only after exhausting every means at his command to overcome the opposition of the majority of the Left, which finally voted to have nothing to do with any government which he headed. In a manifesto issued following his resignation, the retiring President served notice that he intended to remain active in the future political affairs of the nation and resume "the fight for liberty for the Republic and for France."

The superstitous votaries among the deputies and senators had endeavored to hurry along the election of a new President in order to avoid what they felt might be an unlucky combination of thirteen. The fates, however, ordered otherwise.

Painleve Heads List.

M. Painleve, thought now to be the sole avowed candidate and most likely choice of the coalition of the Left at a caucus to be held to-day, may have the opposition of many senators and a good many deputies who have declared for M. Doumergue, President of the Senate. The leaders of the coalition of the Left will endeavor to choke the Doumergue candidacy by invoking party discipline and limiting invitations to to-day's caucus to those deputies and senators who voted to oust Millerand. The caucus thus organized would comprise 340 deputies out of 580 and 240 senators out of 311. If all responded to the invitations, this would leave out 240 deputies and 71 senators. The majority of full voting strength of Congress would be 447. The coalition leaders, consequently, are confident that M. Painleve will be nominated by the caucus and will be elected on the first ballot. The voting is secret, however, and party discipline less effective. Some political prophets say the popularity of Doumergue may desnite the action of the coalition, make him a dangerous opponent.

The election to-morrow takes place promptly at two o'clock in the afternoon in the old Chamber of Deputies, built especially for the Parliament of the new Republic of 1875 in the courtyard of the Chateau at Versailles, where the deputies met from 1875 to 1879. It will be an exceedingly simple ceremony, presided over by President of the Senate Doumergue. M. Doumergue will open with the simple announcement of the purpose of Parliament. Then will come the selection of tellers and the invitation to cast votes. The voting is alphabetical, beginning with a letter drawn by lot.

M. Millerand will also be present at Versailles, though not as a member of Congress. Preceded by moving vans which yesterday, while the Presidential flag was being lowered, were taking aboard towering piles of boxes and dressing cases, along with a fine collection of personal gifts the former President received during his occupancy of the Presidential mansion. M. Millerand will proceed to his Versailles villa. There, for the first time since he began his public career 04 years ago, he will enjoy the leisure of a private citizen.

The new President of France, whoever he may be, is expected to call in M. Herriot, leader of the Radical-Socialist majority, Friday evening or early Saturday morning and ask him to form a Cabinet. The Radical leader is said by his friends to have already selected a Cabinet combination so that he can announce the composition of the new Government on Saturday and appear before the Chamber on Monday.

As soon as the Cabinet receives a vote of confidence from Parliament, it is understood that the new Premier will ask the Chamber to give him a few days' time to get in touch with the Allied Governments, in order that he can take up the threads of urgent inter-allied affairs.

Hugged the Girl Till Her Scream Put Him in Jail

NEW YORK, June 12...—Hyman Warsaw, twenty-four, of Linden, N.J., was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary at Newark yesterday when Judge Bottner decided that embracing a woman in a jitney bus against her wishes constituted assault and battery.

Warsaw was arrested by a traffic policeman when passengers in the bus complained of his having annoyed a young woman until she screamed for protection.

DELEGATES GET MONEY'S WORTH

Real Old-Time Enthusiasm At Republican Convention In Cleveland.

CHEER COOLIDGE.

CONVENTION HALL, CLEVELAND, June 12.—(Canadian Press) The first great demonsrtation of the Republican National Conventions broke last night with a mention of the name of President Coolidge.

Chairman Warren of the Platform Committee, presenting his report, mentioned the President' name, and the first real old-time show of enthusiasm was shown in the convention.

State standards were snatched up from their places, delegates leaping to their feet, with cheers and soon the aisles were jammed with a shouting, prancing, whistling, noise-making throng, hurrahing for Coolidge.

During all the demonstration the delegates from Wisconsin, supporters of the insurgent platform of Senator Lafollette, remained silently in their seats surrounded by jeering throngs.

SENATE TALKS RAILWAYS

Branch Lines In Saskatchewan Discussed And One Passed Committee.

OTTAWA, June 12. — (Canadian Press).—It was agreed in the Senate railway committee yesterday that the three Canadian National branch line bills which had been suspended, would be reconsidered next week. The decision was reached after Senator Barnard had protested against the suspension of the two Vancouver Island bills.

The committee then considered the Dunblane-Mawer line in Saskatchewan, a distance of 41 miles at a cost of $2,000,000. G. G. Huel, C.N.R. counsel, explained the shortened hauls that would result from the construction of the line. The cost figure included the construction of a large bridge.

Sir Edward Kemp said he was thoroughly in sympathy with the lines designed to reach into areas where farmers were under severe handicap by lack of transportation. There were "operation lines" which the C.N.R. proposed to construct which, in view of the "startling position financially" of Canada, might be postponed until the country was in better condition. There were still other bills that were not necessary for many years to come.

The committee discussed the proposed line from Redville, 115 miles southerly and paralleling the international boundary, at a cost of $3,708,000. It was estimated that it would save the farmers of the district a haul of 20 miles.

Senator Reid thought the line was not justifiable at present. Senator Calder explained the farm "dry belt." The lack of railway facilities had held up the production of the district.

Mr. Hamilton, minister of agriculture of Saskatchewan, gave statistics regarding the population, and grain production of the district.

The provincial government approved of the line. The bill was held over.

HOME BANK WAS LOST BY LACK OF AUDIT IN 1916

Judge McKeown Finds Investigation Then Would Have Saved Depositors.

AN INTERIM REPORT.

Even 1918 Would Not Have Been Too Late To Avert Catastrophe.

OTTAWA, June 12 (Canadian Press). —Judge McKeown, in his interim report on the Home Bank, tabled in the House yesterday, makes no specific recommendation on the reimbursement of depositors, but he finds that such representations were made to the Department of Finance in 1916 and 1918 as justified an investigation by the Minister of Finance (at the time Sir Thomas White) under section 56A of the Bank Act.

This is the section under which the Minister of Finance is empowered to appoint an auditor.

Had the audit been made, the report continues, the result would have been either:

(1) Liquidation immediately following such audit, or,

(2) Amalgamation with another bank.

And as to the effect of such an audit upon the present position of depositors, Judge McKeown finds that:

(1) If made in 1918 the present depositors would have suffered no loss.

(2) If made in 1918, "I do not think any loss would have fallen upon them."

The report reviews the financial condition of the Home Bank in 1916 and 1918, and the action taken by the then Minister of Finance. It adds that "the only steps the Government could have taken to save the situation would have been to make a thorough investigation into the bank's affairs" which, as already stated, would have resulted either in liquidation or amalgamation.

"I think it right to say also," the report proceeds, "that the Minister's intervention in 1916 resulted in a change of management of the bank, Mr. Haney becoming the vice president with the understanding that he should discharge the duties of president, and have full powers with the respect to the organization of the staff. The change appears to have met with the approval of all concerned, although no improvement seems actually to have resulted from it."

Judge McKeown does not find that any representations were made to the Government concerning the Home Bank subsequent to 1918. Correspondence took place between Sir Thomas White and his successor, Sir Henry Drayton, "but nothing requiring consideration here arises therefrom, as in any way bearing on the substance of the depositors' petition.

An "incidental reference" to the Home Bank was made by Sir Henry Drayton to his successor, Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, but "nothing was said as to the existence of the letters or memoranda" and "no representations of any kind appear to have been made to either Sir Henry Drayton or the Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding concerning the condition of the Home Bank."

The Judge's Findings.

The questions referred to Judge McKeown and his answers thereto, are:

Question No. 1: Whether in the years 1915, 1916, and 1918, representations were made to the department of finance of the Dominion of Canada respecting the condition of the Home Bank of Canada, and if so, what representations were made:

Answer: (a) In the year 1915 no representations were made to the department of finance of the Dominion of Canada respecting the condition of the Home Bank of Canada. Such representations were made in the year 1916, as well as in the year 1918.

(b) The following important representations were made to the department of finance concerning the Home Bank of Canada during the years 1916 and 1918:

(1) That an amount more than double the total paid up capital and reserve of the bank was locked up in four accounts, the securities for which could not be realized upon.

(2) That loans wholly disproportionate to the assets of the bank had been made on inadequate security from which large loss was likely yo occur.

(3) That amounts representing unpaid interest on at least three large accounts were carried into profit year by years and dividends declared on the basis of such fictitious earnings.

(4) That arrangements agreed upon at a meeting of the board of directors with a view of passing upon all credits and making an early statement showing the bank's position, with recommendations, were not carried out.

(5) That false returns were made by the directors of the bank to the department of finance.

(6) That specific instructions given by the minister of finance in 1916 forbidding the capitalizing of unapid interest were disobeyed.

(7) That the president and some of the directors were indebted to the bank in large sums upon personal account and through companies in which they had an interest.

(8) That an auditor employed by the bank from year to year was incompetent, and important matters were concealed from the board of directors and from Mr. Lash, the board's council.

Twenty-three Were Killed in This Fire

Twenty-two inmates and the head matron, Mrs. Drew Thomas, died in the fire that destroyed the Hope Benevolent Home for Mentally Deficient Girls at Playa De Rey, Calif., just outside Los Angeles. From the wreckage, shown in this picture, their bodies were removed. Mrs. Lola May Rodemaker, assistant matron (in inset) risked her life to lead inmates to safety.

SWIFT JUSTICE OR LYNCH LAW

Crown Prosecutor Declares Alternatives in Trial of Montreal Bandits.

MESSENGER KILLED.

MONTREAL, June 12. — "It's a hold-up! We are all dead!" were the last words spoken by Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank collection car, which was rifled of $142,288 here on April 1st, and charged with whose murder, Giuseppe Serafini, Louis Morel, Tony Frank, Leo Davis, Mike Valentino and Frank Gambino, are being tried in the King's Bench Court here.

The above was the evidence of Lucien Brunette yesterday afternoon —one of the bank messengers in the car. He had warned Cleroux, who had paid no attention to his warning. Another bank messenger in the car (Fortier) who suffered a bullet wound in the hand in the holdup, has since had to have a finger amputated —blood poisoning having set in—it was stated yesterday afternoon.

Maurice Thibodeau and Lucien Brunette, two messengers in the car, failed to recognize any of the accused at the bar as the men in the hold up. Thibodeau gave a long description of the holdup and this was corroborated by Brunette. Roland Fortier, another bank messenger, also described the holdup. None of the three messengers could say positively that any of the men in the dock had been present at the holdup. The men they saw were of about the same height and weight but all of them were masked.

At the opening of the hearing yesterday R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, warned that "if we cannot make it clear that in this city swift justice will be meted out to the innocent and the guilty alike, then the only weapon which will be left in our hands against crimes of this sort will be lynch law."

The Crown will endeavor to prove that Tony Frank not only agreed to furnish protection to the participants in the holdup for a consideration but also gave them guns to carry out the crime.

Girl Who Loves Loeb Will Not Desert Him

CHICAGO, June 12.—Richard Loeb, confessed slayer, has a firm friend who will not desert him in his trouble.

Miss Lorraine Nathan, his college sweetheart, who is in Cincinnati, where she was sent by her family to visit friends, was quoted today as declaring:

"I love Dickie Loeb, and I'll testify for him if they want me to."

Miss Nathan, it was reported, was willing to make public love letters Loeb had written to her, in an effort to show that his nature was not bad.

Takes His Overcoat From One-Armed Man To Redeem a Violin

LONDON, Ont., June 12.—(Canadian Press).—It remained for Maxwell Gray, Lobo Township farmer, to put individuality into stealing. Last March the prisoner stole a $45 overcoat from a one-armed man to redeem a violin he had pawned at a second-hand store. Yesterday Gray appeared before Magistrate Graydon charged with obtaining tobacco valued at $74 under false pretences. Gray obtained $40 worth of the tobacco by signing an order made out to bearer with the cognomen of a dead name. A few minutes later he attempted to sell the tobacco for $25. Gray has also been posing as a railroad man and had a uniform adorned with brass buttons of the Detroit United Street Railway. For the theft of the overcoat sentence was suspended, but in the present instance a term in Kingston may result.

UNEMPLOYED WERE JAILED AS VAGS

Demanded Work or Food and Shelter From Council—Witnesses Locked Out.

BAIL DENIED.

PORT ARTHUR, June 12.— Three members of a deputation of unemployed, who waited on the city council on Monday evening, and demanded work or in lieu their food and shelter, have been arrested and are being held on charges of vagrancy.

The arrest was decided upon by the city police after a meeting of the unemployed at which some fiery addresses were delivered in the hearing of Chief of Police Taylor.

The three are Archibald Thompson and Arthur Gordon of Montreal, and C. H. Wood of Liverpool, England. C. E. Searls, who was the spokesman of the delegation which had waited upon the city council with the demand for work, was also arrested but allowed to go on the statement that he was not a vagrant but had some money.

When the trio appeared in the police court yesterday somewhat of a sensation was made by D. R. Byers of Fort William, their counsel, who claimed that entrance to the court had been denied his witnesses.

Chief Taylor replied that any denial of admission was in the interests of peace and order. The Chief also opposed the granting of bail, and Magistrate Palling upheld his contention.

The hearing was laid over for 24 hours. The situation created by the demands of the men and their demonstrations has been somewhat serious.

Among the permanent residents of Port Arthur there is no unemployment and the city authorities object to providing for those who have come from the outside, uninvited, with the possible expectation of being taken care of.

MARKS ON FACE OF DEAD WOMAN

Mrs. Lillian Hoyle Was Found Dead in Faraday Township on Tuesday.

POLICE INVESTIGATE.

LINDSAY, June 12.—(Special to the Examiner).—Haliburton County has another mystery in the disappearance and death of an elderly resident of Highland Grove, in the person of Mrs. Lillian Hoyle. Mrs. Hoyle, who had been an inmate of a provincial institution for some time, disappeared from her home on April 30th, and was found dead in Faraday township, Hastings County, on May 10th.

Provincial Constable Boyd of Haliburton, and Dr. Bell, coroner, of Minden, investigated, and concluded that death was due to exposure. Since then rumors have been freely circulated, and the authorities are now making a further investigation. There were some marks on the woman's face when the body was found.

GOOD WEATHER IN WEST

Higher Temperatures Raise Farmers' Hopes for Crop.

WINNIPEG, June 12. — Canadian Press. — Clear skies and higher temperatures prevailed throughout Western Canada yesterday, and the farmers are rejoicing in the prospects.

Agricultural authorities are of the opinion that the lateness of the season will not necessarily prove a handicap to a good crop if the weather is reasonably favorable from this time onward. All the districts have had ample moisture for the time being.

NEW STORY WILL START SATURDAY

"Paul in Possession," by Ruby M. Ayres, the new serial story, which commences in The Examiner on Saturday next, is a decided contrast to "Hearts Afire," just finished. It has an English setting, with London and a big English country estate as a background, and has a stronger type of characterization and handling than the last serial. However, romance is still the keynote, but it is a romantic theme of a different type. Prudence Page, in "Hearts Afire," was yielding and gentle, but Wanda Griffin, the heroine of "Paul in Possession," is a peculiar little spitfire. She is a vivid, undisciplined creature, spoiled by the old man who has adopted her, given to sarcastic comment and imperious humours. Then her guardian dies, his son, Paul, appears, and proves to be just as decided as herself. To regain possession of the home she loves, she resolves to marry him, and he hears her outspoken resolve. The conflict between the two, told in animated, graphic fashion, makes an interesting tale.

Charlie Chaplin Victim of a Raid By the Dry Squad

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Members of the District Attorney's "dry" squad raided Charlie Chaplin's home in Beverely Hills yesterday and found that the motion picture actor's cellar was crowded with queer copper pipes and a contraption with a gas flame burning beneath it.

They learned, however, that the queer boiler and the copper coils constituted a water softening device.

Beverly Hills water is too hard for domestic use, Chaplin's representatives explained.

BRETHEN TAKES HAND IN UNION

Member For East Peterboro Seconds Motion To Bring Issue Before House.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

OTTAWA, June 12 (Cadadian Press). —the Bill to provide for the Union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches has now been reported by the Private Bills Committee, and is again before the House of Commons. The Bill has been amended by the private bills committee in a number of particulars, but the change which caused most debate was that which provides that the act shall not come into operation until and unless the courts decide that the Presbyterian General Assembly had authority to agree to union, and the bill is not beyond the jurisdiction of Parliament. Two efforts were made yesterday to have this amendment rescinded, but both motions were ruled out of order. A motion was passed, however, to include in the report of the committee a record of the motion to rescind, and this will bring the whole issue before the House, where the effort to strike out the amendment is to be renewed.

This motion was moved just before the committee rose, by J. L. Brown of Lisgar, seconded by G. A. Brethen of Peterborough East. Mr. Brown first proposed that the report of the committee should be amended to contain a declaration in favor of the rescinding of the amendment referring the bill to the law courts.

This motion was ruled out of order by Chairman McGiverin on the same grounds as he had ruled out in the morning a direct motion to rescind the amendment. He explained, however, that the motion could be reported to the House as part of the proceedings of the committee.

Mr. Brown accordingly accepted the suggestion of the chair, and this motion was carried. In accordance with this decision, the report of the committee will include the following declaration, which is the text of the Brown resolution:

"Whereas one of the objects in seeking legislation in connection with the union of the negotiating churches was to avoid the possible application of the House of Lords decision in the Free Church case to the Canadian Churches;

"And whereas parliament is the proper court to which citizens should appeal if their inherent rights are not clearly recognized in law;

"And whereas the assumption which underlies any appeal for legislation is that the law as they exist are either not clear or not adequate;

"And whereas the Imperial Parliament readily granted the legislation necessary to assure liberty of self determination to the Church of Scotland;

"And whereas the amendments made to this bill by a vote of 27 to 23 members of the private bills committee sends the church to the very courts which the appeal for legislation was intended to avoid, and thus defeats the purpose of the appeal of these churches;

"It is therefore recommended that the amendment to the preamble and section 1A be deleted from the bill."

After the motion to report the proceedings of the committee to the House had been passed, the bill was reported and the committee turned the Church Union Bill over to the House again.

Dispute as to Vote.

This disposed of the motion to rescind the reference to the courts, and the committee took up section 9, which has to do with the rights of non-concurring congregations.

On this section counsel for both sides were heard. The main differences were three:

1. The unionists asked for a vote at a meeting of the church members; the anti-unionists proposed a ballot to be circulated.

2. The opponents of the bill asked further that the vote should be held between September 15 and March 15 in order to provide that city populations should be at home.

3. The anti-unionists asked for the dropping of the clause providing for a non-concurring congregation, later voting itself into union.

BLAMES GLANDS FOR MURDER BY TWO YOUNG MEN

News Is Not Comforting To Either of Slayers, However.

WERE NOT INSANE.

Specialist Says They Were Abnormal— Alienist Says Smart Alecs.

CHICAGO, June 12. — "Glands deep within the bodies of Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb made them capable of the murder of Robert Franks.'

This theory is advanced by Dr. William Held, specialist in glands, to explain the crime which involved members of three millionaire families

Alienists and phrenologists have sought a motive in some brain kink of the two 19-year-old slayers. Dr. Held goes to the glands which have been located as the basis of personality, and points to them as the main spring.

The theory is not comforting to the slayers, because the physician declares they were not insane, however abnormal. They knew they were doing wrong and had the power to choose.

"The principal motive the boys have admitted was desire for a 'thrill,' " says Dr. Held.

Joy in Suffering

"Such a confession is in harmony with a form of perversion which finds gratification in suffering and violence. The stimulus would have been furnished not only by the sight of their victim's death, but by the shock to the community and the grief of the parents.

"Cases of this sort arise very seldom, but the details of the Franks slaying suggest it as a possibility. Abnormality in gland secretions would encourage perversion.

"The two glands which I believe are affecting the conduct of these boys are the thyroid and the suprarenal.

"The thyroid gland in childhood induces mental development. Its ceasing to function results in an unbalancing of the personality. The suprarenal gland, by its secretions, makes for positiveness, aggresiveness, courage.

"I believe Leopold had an excessive secretion from his suprarenal gland and an arrested action from the thyroid. The thyroid trouble shows in his face by the noticeable narrowing of his eyebrows at the outside.

"You object, do you, that Leopold was unusually well developed mentally?

"That is true, but after such premature development, the gland secretion was somehow reduced and he failed to build moral restraint.

Leopold Dominated Loeb

"Loeb was the reverse. He was the negative, Leopold the positive. His thyroid gland probably is normal, meaning a balanced mentality. But his suprarenal failed to develop aggressiveness and punch."

The alienists adopt a less unusual theory, and reason convincingly to support it. Here is the opinion of one whose name at present must be withheld because of his professional interest in the case:

"They were simply a pair of egocentric smart alecs. They got a thrill at the thought of giving the city, a finished, artistic, baffling murder.

"After getting away with this, they planned to do another. On their projected trip to Europe with their ransom money, they would have studied up fanciful crimes of three centuries ago and prepared to induce added finesse and imaginary power into their next."

ORLAND LOST A GAME BRIGHTON

Score Was Sixteen to Two in Favor of Home Team

BRIGHTON, June 12. — The long-awaited game between Orland and Brighton was played here yesterday, and to the great surprise of everyone, Brighton won easily and decisively.

Orland were slight favourites before the game, but the league dope was turned upside down.

Brighton only made six hits, but scored sixteen runs. The reason is nine walks issued by the Orland pitchers, three hit batsmen, several wild pitches, and five errors at second base just when they counted most. Then the scarce Brighton hits came at exactly the right moment, when a maximum of value could be extracted from them.

McKee's single in the first really won the game for it drove in the second and thrid run. Houlihan and Dawson each got two hits, Dawson's double in the ninth sending the two Zufelts across.

Roblin pitched a very steady, consisten game for Brighton, and was never in trouble. Frise caught well, and every other player in the line-up gave him good support. Kay, Thorne and Moore contributed brilliant catches to speed up an otherwise dull game.

Orland played the game under protest, claiming that Hugh Moore is ineligible, despite the fact that the O.B.A.A. granted him permission to play, provided the Northumberland League executive passes him.

Score by innings:

Orland	000000002—	2	8	7
Brighton	40154200x—16	6	2

The teams:

Orland—Houlihan, 2b; Belford, rf, lf; Mulhall, 3b, p; K. Zufelt, 1b; A. Zufelt, m, p, 3b; Down, c; Dawson, lf, p; Lamis, ss; Beatty, rf; Way, p, m, ss.

Brighton — Solomon, ss; Archer, rf, m; Frise, c; Moore, 3b; Halliday, 2b; Walt. lf; McKee, 1b; Harrington, m; Thorne, rf; Kay, rf; Roblin, p.

Umpires, Richardson and Adams.

A FINE COMPLEXION

Can be Had Through Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

A girl's complexion is something more than a matter of concern to her vanity. It is an indication of the state of her health. Pallor in a growing girl means a thinning of the blood. Eruptions mean impurities in the blood. Mothers should be watchful of their daughter's complexions, and see to it that these signs are corrected—not covered up.

When a girl in her 'teens becomes pale and sallow, especially if, at the same time, she shows an inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply, but the physical signs are plain. The girl with a bad complexion, or who suffers from occasional headaches, who is easily tired and breathless after slight exertion, should begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once. A good appetite, sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks follow the fair use of this medicine.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEWS OF NORWOOD AND THE DISTRICT

NORWOOD, June 12. — The marriage took place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Clarke, Queen Street, Norwood, of Mary, their only daughter, to Mr. Ross Fennell, of Asphodel.

The bride, who was attired in a cream canton silk dress, which had been sent to her by her brother, Dr. Mortimer Clarke, a medical missionary in China, was attended by her cousin, Miss Finney, of Campbellford, while the groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Wilber Fennell.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. M. Wesley, pastor of the Norwood Presbyterian Church, of which the bride is a valued member and the groom one of its elders.

The young couple left on the 12.30 C.P.R. train for a honeymoon trip to Smith's Falls and points East, after which they will live at the groom's home on the Belmont Road.

SELECT BORAH SECOND FIDDLE

Choice of Convention for the Vice-Presidency

HOOVER IS OUT

CLEVELAND, June 12.—(Canadian Press). — Senator Borah of Idaho was agreed upon by administration leaders here early this morning for Vice-Presidential nomination In a brief session, marked with prolonged demonstration for President Coolidge, the Republican National Convention last night adopted its platform as represented by the Resolutions Committee, and rejected La Folette planks presented by the insurgent Wisconsin delegation. A chorus of nays from the Wisconsin section when the question was put on adoption was almost lost in the great convention hall which had not finished reverberating from the tornado of ayes.

Chas. B. Warren, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, read the platform as it finally was approved and moved its adoption. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin presented the La Folette platform and spoke in its support. Mr. Warren made no extended argument against the La Folette planks, merely reminding the convention that the platform as brought in from the committee had been approved by every member except a member from Wisconsin, and that the committee easily might be considered a fair cross-section of sentiment of the convention.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has withdrawn his name from consideration for candidate for Vice-President.

MADOC NINE DEFEAT THE HAVELOCK CREW

HAVELOCK, June 12. — In the Trent Valley League yesterday the Madoc nine defeated the Havelock crew by the score of 8 to 7, after six innings of snappy baseball, with both teams running neck and neck.

Havelock got away to a nice start when they scored three in the first inning, but Madoc came righ back in their half of the first and evened up the count.

Nobody scored in the second, but Madoc came back once more in the third and registered another.

In the fifth Havelock took the lead by two runs, when three of their men crossed the plate, but Madoc trounced out three runs in their half of the fifth and still kept their one run lead.

Both scored one run in the sixth, but Madoc's lone tally in the third won the game for them in great style as the game was called at the end of the sixth on account of rain.

Jim Hooper did the mound work for Havelock, and turned in a good game, but his team mates gave him rather ragged support, and fell down in the pinches when a timely single was needed to win the game.

Quinn, who did the receiving for him, turned in a nice game, and also hit well.

Stringer, who twirled for Madoc, pitched sterling ball and whiffed a large number of his opponents.

The teams lined up as follows:

Havelock — Jim Hooper, p; B. Quinn, c; A. Armstrong, 1b; B. Towle, 2b; P. Yuill, 3b; B. Copp, ss; A. Cuthbertson, rf; T. Anderson, lf; D. Brennan, cf; Anderson, Brennan, and McGill, subs.

Madoc — Stringer, p; Kuno, c; Blue, 1b; Watson, 2b; Jarvis, 3b; Barker, ss; Moon, rf; Burnside, lf; Carswell, cf.

By innings:

Havelock	300031—7
Madoc	301031—8

Funeral of W. G. Frazer Held Yesterday--Several Property Changes

GENERAL NEWS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12—The funeral of W. G. Frazer, held on Wednesday afternoon, was largely attended. The service, which was at the house, was conducted by Rev. W. Elliott, pastor of the Methodist Church. He took for his text, Psalm 90, verse 10: "The days of our years are three score year and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength, labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off and we fly away." His remarks were earnest and thoughtful, and were applied to those who have gone and those who are still spared.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Chas. Horseman, W. J. Armstrong, J. A. Frederick, S. A. Maguire, Thos. Free and Thos. Upton.

There were beautiful wreaths from the Royal Templars of Temperance, of which he was a member, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frazer, Mrs. A. Berry and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. Davidson, and sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hore and one from Miss Dorothy Heath at Walkerville.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Mr. Geo. Frazer, Smithfield; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frazer, Toronto; Mrs. Dence, a niece, from Seagrave; Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen, Havelock; Mrs. Albert Berry and daughter Edna.

The late Mr. Frazer was born in Seymour West on February 27, 1858. When a young man of about twenty he spent some years in different parts of the United States. He and his brother Abe volunteered and were in the North-West Rebellion in 1884, and he had in his possession some badges and medals for his service at that time.

The late Mr. Frazer was a carpenter, and with the late Richard Bartlett, built the church on the English Line.

In 1891, on New Year's Day, he married Miss Anna Bella Stephens, of Seymour East. For a short time they lived on the east side of the river while building their present home. They have lived in this home on Alma Street, just opposite the Station, since January 25th, 1892.

The late Mr. Frazer was the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frazer. He has five brothers living: William in Duluth, Thomas in Rosebush, Mich., Abe in Penoka, Alberta, Henry in Toronto, George in Smithfield. The oldest brother John died a good many years ago. One sister, Mrs. Jackson, who lived near Midland, was killed in a street car accident while visiting in Ottawa a few years ago. The other sister, Mrs. Barton, of Havelock, was in Campbellford in March, 1924, at her brother's when he was so ill, and she died at her home in Havelock in April.

There is left to mourn his loss his widow, one son Robert, at home; Mrs. Albert Berry, of Walkerville, and Mrs. F. Davidson, of Ford City. One young son, Garfield, was smothered to death in the grain at the elevator near his home in June, 1903, and a little baby girl, six months old, died in October, 1903.

The late Mr. Frazer was a kind husband and father. He was a member of the Methodist Church, though he has not been able to attend for some years on account of his health.

The W.M.S. 'at home' at the home of Mrs. George E. Hay, Rear St., on Wednesday afternoon, was quite a success. A pleasant social hour was spent by the ladies, as they came and went, and all enjoyed the refreshments. The small tables were decorated with tulips and wild columbine.

Those in charge of the tables were Mrs. Thomas Hall, Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. Wiggins, Mrs. D. Mitchell and Dr. Lillian Young.

Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. Kingston poured tea from the nicely decorated dining room table.

The W.M.S. of the Methodists are grateful to Mrs. Hay for the privilege of having the tea at her home. The proceeds amounted to about fifteen dollars.

CREDIT TO GERMANY

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Canadian Press).— United States bankers yesterday completed negotiations for garnting a credit of $25,000,000 to the German Gold Discount Bank, organized by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, extending on initial advance of $5,000,000 made six weeks ago.

BANK VICTIMS EXPECT RELIEF

Interpret Finding of Board in Favor of Depositors

TORONTO, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—"Things will now begin to move rapidly in the campaign to obtain compensation for Home Bank depositors," said W. T. J. Lee, chairman of the National Committee and of counsel, before the Royal Commission last night in discussing the report of Mr. Justice McKeown, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

"There were four meetings of depositors in Toronto to-day," Mr. Lee proceeded, "with a view to bringing pressure to bear upon the members of the House of Commons and the Senate. Meetings were held in anticipation of a report. I likely will go to Ottawa in connection with the case for the depositors."

As to the finding by the commissioner, Mr. Lee said: "On looking it over, it appears to me to be a complete win for the depositors. The commissioner finds that in 1916 and in 1918, if the banks had been taken over, the depositors would have received 100 cents on the dollar and he also apparently finds no representations were made to either W. S. Fielding or Sir Henry Drayton during the years they were in office by any of the bank officials.

"We consider it a complete victory for the depositors, and the depositors have proved their case completely."

REDISTRIBUTION REPORT SHOWS GREAT PROGRESS

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Good progress is now reported from the Redistribution committee, and it is expected the bill will be ready for presentation to the House before long. The meeting of the general committee was held yesterday, at which progress made in number of provinces was set before the full membership. The most helpful sign is drafting of tentative plan for Ontario in sub-committee on that province. Owing to the fact that there are changes in over sixty of Ontario ridings, final working out of all the details is a matter of great intricacy, but it is likely that a sub-committee will come to a final decision in a few days.

BIG ELECTRICAL STORM

LONDON, Ont., June 12.—(Canadian Press).—The first severe electrical storm of the summer swept over this district yesterday afternoon after two days of heat. Lightning put 700 telephones out of commission in the city and disrupted the Hydro power service for an hour. Rain fell in torrents while the sky turned black as night.

FRANK TINNEY HELD ON BAIL

Charged With Beating Actress--Suit Has Been Filed

NEW YORK, June 12 (Canadian Press). — "Broadway is on trial," thus did Magistrate Levinine, West Side Court, yesterday sum up the situation in holding Frank Tinney, comedian, in $2,500 bail on a charge of assault brought against him by Imogene Wilson of the Follies.

The actress, who has filed suit for $100,000 against Tinney, charges him with severely beating her in her own apartment.

Tinney charged Miss Wilson with threatening his life, and exhibited to the Court a pair of battered shins, which he said bore witness to the plaintiff's assault.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER LAUDS RECICROCITY

Says Internationalism is Necessary to Solution of World's Problems.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 12 (Canadian Press). — Sir George Foster, former Finance Minister of Canada, made an appeal for reciprocity "based on just and reasonable grounds," it yesterday's session of the National Credit Men's Association.

"We are rapidly coming to the point when internationalism will be absolutely necessary for the solution of the world's business problems," said Sir George. "We must be idealists and opportunists and remember not to divorce business from humanitarianism.

"Whatever your vocation in life—be a lawyer, a doctor, or a businessman—but first of all be a human being with human sensibilities. Business is not an end; it is the means of an end."

Sir George praised the work of the National Credit Men's Association, and approved the international note lent to the convention which brought together for the first time the Credit Men of Canada and the United States.

Welcome to the Canadian delegates was expressed by Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; F. N. Shepherd, executive manager, American Bankers' Association; and O. K. Davis, secretary of the National Trade Council, New York.

Dr. Klein also spoke at the foreign trade dinner yesterday evening.

Other speakers included Leon L. Lancaster, Mexican Consul at Buffalo, and Thomas J Digan, of New York, who discussed foreign credits.

Takes pills for years—finds first permanent relief in Kellogg's Bran

Have you found permanent relief from that terrible disease—constipation? The woman whose letter follows discovered—as thousands have discovered—that Kellogg's Bran succeeds when all else fails. This is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. This is what she wrote:

"Dear Sirs:

I am so wonderfully happy over my discovery. I feel I must tell the world about it. For years I have been ill continually from constipation, always resorting to pills or the like, never having any permanent relief until I heard of your Krumbled Bran.

Every morning I take two tablespoonfuls before my breakfast—and since the latter part of August I must admit have not experienced one sick spell which I have had for years. I have started my little girl of four years on your Bran, and already I have noticed a change in her. I thank you."

(Name and address on request.)

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Money returned if not effective.

Notice the wonderful nut-like flavor. This flavor is delicious—so different from ordinary, unpalatable brans.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Toronto, Canada, is served by Canada's leading hotels and clubs. Demand Kellogg's Bran. It will bring back your health. Start eating it to-day. Sold by all grocers.

The resolution also expressed regret at the action of the United States Congress on immigration.

A. B. C.

The mysterious white letters, "A. B. C.," that have broken out overnight on the pavements of Peterborough carry a message that, it is hoped, will be driven home because of the manner chosen to place it before the public.

A. B. C. stands for the warning, "Always Be Careful."

The Kiwanis Club, which is responsible for spreading of the message, has chosen a slogan that should stick.

There never was a time when it was more necessary for people to be careful than the present.

The accident record shows an appalling increase, particularly because of the problem of motor traffic.

The streets were comparatively safe in the old days of horse-drawn vehicles.

It is different today with hundreds of fast moving cars on the roads, too many of them handled by careless or incompetent drivers.

The child who plays in the street, the adult who carelessly wonders across in the middle of a block—both are taking chances of meeting death half way.

Not long ago the engineer of a C. N. R. train, running through Peterboroguh, was able to stop his engine in time to save a little child who was calmly sitting on the track.

The engineer was careful. There was no tragedy.

The incident gives point to the Kiwanis warnings which are so prominently displayed around the city.

THE BOOM IN SPORT.

The wonderful boom in outdoor sport that has captured Peterborough is a splendid thing for this city.

Probably at no time in the community's history have so many people been engaged in healthful recreation as at the present time.

Every available playing field is being utilized—baseball, cricket and football at the Exhibition Grounds, baseball at Riverside Park, baseball and football at Nicholls' Oval, softball and lacrosse in Central Park and ball games in school grounds, and every other spot that offers a chance to play—the whole city so far as the young folks are concerned is out of doors, getting fresh air and exercise.

Soon the bathing beaches will be calling their hundreds of devotees, thus adding the splendid developer, swimming, to the list of games that are making healthier and more contented citizens out of the youth of Peterborough.

The English ideal of sport is being arrived at here—that is, the main thing is to have a large number of people participating in a particular recreation rather than to have a few people play it well.

It is difficult to estimate the value of this sport revival to the community.

It means fewer doctors' bills and fewer police court cases at least, for the athlete is getting health with every breath of fresh air, while he is too busy to get into trouble.

Peterborough is to be congratulated upon the strides that have been made along this line, and the only problem is to keep pace with the movement in the matter of suitable recreation grounds.

INVESTIGATING AGRICULTURE.

The committee appointed by the Ontario Legislature to investigate farm problems during the recess has been hearing evidence in the western part of the Province, and some of the testimony given will cause surprise among those who have been inclined to think the Ontario farmer too pessimistic as to the condition of agriculture.

Essex County, for example, is wont to boast of itself as the garden district of Ontario.

Yet evidence is offered before the committee that a number of farms has been abandoned because they failed to produce taxes and expenses.

This is a condition of affairs that should cause an earnest effort to produce a change.

As was to be expected, there has been considerable said about the necessity of a better system of marketing.

There is too great a spread, witnesses claim, between the producer and the consumer, and this is ascribed to too many middlemen taking a profit, to manufacturing overhead and to various other causes, all of which it is expected will be investigated by this committee before its findings are summarized in the form of a report.

Much valuable information has been secured from Western Ontario farmers, and when the committee makes a trip into this section of Ontario, as it will before concluding its labours, the Examiner hopes that the farmers of the district will as readily co-operate as their fellows in the other end of the Province.

All is not right with agriculture, and if the Legislature inquiry hits upon a solution of some of the problems it will have justified its appointment.

WARNING TO GIRLS.

The Toronto coroner's jury which yesterday inquired into the death of Miss Jeanne Ferguson, who died from a fractured skull, caused by falling out of a motor car "driven by a person or persons unknown," added this rider to its verdict: "We strongly urge young women to refrain from riding in motor cars at night with strangers." The young lady who came to her death in such a tragic manner was, in the words of the coroner, "a girl of unblemished reputation." It is thought that she jumped from the car to protect her honor, risking death rather than dishonor.

It is to be hoped that all young women will heed the timely warning of the Toronto jurymen, for the menace is very real and very prevalent, says the Hamilton Spectator. The indifference with which these invitations from strange motorists are accepted is astonishing in view of the numerous cases of similar crime reported in the press. The only safe way is to trust nobody whose character is unknown. Much of the misery and obliquity of today is due to this disposition to take a chance. We have been hearing lately what went on in some of the dance halls of the city. It seems incredible that self-respecting girls could permit themselves to visit such vulgar places. Yet it is not to be supposed that all the frequenters were of loose character. The police may close these halls or impose more stringent regulations; but the remedy lies with young women themselves. They know the danger, and must avoid it. It is pitiful that innocent young people should walk deliberately into such great moral pitfalls, without, apparently, realizing the dangers by which they are surrounded.

THE PRICE YOU PAY.

No matter what we get in life, we pay for it. Nature never gives something for nothing. Whenever we acquire anything, we lose an equivalent something.

Take the family that was poor until the war came and made them rich. Their wealth has brought wonderful things into their lives. But they have lost things that cannot be measured in dollars—including association with intimate friends of the old days, and the joys of simple pleasures.

Maybe they are happier than they were back in the days when a dollar looked as big as a wagon wheel. If so, they are being rewarded for enduring past misery.

The law of compensation—cause and effect—always balances the scales in the long run. The weights that balance the scales are not always visible to outsiders. But it takes a lot of ill-gotten gains to compensate for remorse, shame or an uneasy conscience.

Possibly shame, even conscience, is lacking in some hearts during life. But no one knows what thoughts and feelings are at the instant of death. Nor the price that is collected beyond the grave from people who dodge payment in this life.

Most of the discomforts and reputed loneliness of bachelor life vanish when we marry. But we soon find that we have acquired new burdens and worries.

Observe the mother, slave to her baby. She is praying for the maternal joy that has come into her life.

Ponder the man who flees from the congestion, stenches and irritation of the city. In the wilderness or on a farm he has freedom, elbow-room, fresh air, peace. And he pays the price by not having the conveniences and excitement of the metropolis.

Even knowledge has its price—intense study and surrender of time that might be spent in pleasure.

We pay in full. When we get a thing we lose its equivalent. At the end of the road, old and successful, we look back and would trade it all for youth.

Something for nothing?

Never!

THE MARVELS OF 1840.

Back in 1840, just five years later than the visit to Peterborough of the Scottish observer whose comment on this district is published in another article in this Examiner, a book called "The Cabinet of Curiosities" was published in New York. It had a big sale for those times, because the author realised that every generation thinks it is living in the greatest period of history.

Let us consider one of the marvels of 1840 and compare it with the marvels of 1924. We quote from the old book:

"The world no longer resembles the world of Columbus. On those unknown seas—above which was seen to rise a black hand, the hand of Satan, which seized ships in the night and dragged them to the bottom af the abyss—packets perform regular voyages for the conveyance of letters and passengers.

"Instead of those rude, filthy, infectious, lamp ships in which you had nothing but salt provisions to live upon, and were devoured by scurvy, elegant vessels offer to passengers cabins, wainscotted with mahogany, provided with carpets, adorned with mirrors, flowers, labraries, musical instruments, and all the delicacies of good cheer.

"As for tempests, we laugh at them! Distances have disappeared Steamboats no longer care for contrary winds on the ocean, or for opposing currents in rivers; they are floating palaces of two or even three storeys, from whose galleries the traveller admires the most magnificent scenery. The genius of man is truly great for his petty habitation."

The travellers of 1840 thought they experienced the final word in luxury and progress when they had safe ships with mirrors on the walls, flowers aboard, and genuine carpets on the floor.

We wonder what those same travellers would say if they could come back to life and journey on a modern ocean liner with its electric lights, indoor swimming pool, and radio music from afar.

Or if they could travel in one of those airplanes that are making the round-the-world flight.

Alas, it is a blow to vanity, but our ocean liners and flying machines may seem as pathetically crude to people 84 years from now as the passenger packets of 84 years ago seem to us.

The only consolation is that the 1840 traveller got as much "kick" out of his generation's wonders as we get out of ours, or future generations will get from theirs.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 12.—Tuesday's cattle receipts at the Union Stock Yards ran up to 1,485 with the late arrivals, but the day's sales amounted to 1,378 and this left a carry over of only about 600. For yesterday there was received 4 8cars, 423 cattle, 283 calves, 1,587 hogs and 370 sheep and lambs. Among yesterday's offering there were very few choice butchers or exporters and although the average of prices was lower, this was occasioned by quality rather than any change in the market undertone. Sales showed prices as steady as comparison could make them and any concessions must be conceded to the credit of the buyers.

The exporters made a few selections and paid $7.75 for small bunches of steers around 1,200 lbs. each. A few heifers were also picked up for overseas at $7.25 and $7.50. The exporters are making three shipments this week and will not have many to carry over. The stocker and feeder dealers are not doing much business. One load of 1,000-lb. western steers were shipped to the country by Neil Coutts at $6 a cwt. For three other loads less than 900 lbs. each $5.75 a cwt. was bid, but this was refused and they were forwarded to Buffalo to try out that market.

A small bunch of heavy choice steers were sold for R. E. McIntosh of St. Mary's by Dunn & Levack to the Swift Co. at $8.25 and $8.35 a cwt. Other small lots of choice medium and handyweight but those of good quality were $7 to $7.25. Mediums brought $6.50 to $6.90 and some very common killers $5.50. Butchers' cows were steady with tops from $6 to $6.25. The choice bulls were on sale and fair to good ones sold at $5. There was a steady even trade all morning and very little stuff was left unsold at the close of the day.

Choice calves continued to sell well and some late arrivals on Tuesday brought 11 cents and others 10 cents. The market was quite steady yesterday with a shortage of the right kind of finished calf. Average good calves brought 9 to 9½ cents.

Lambs are not much changed. Real tops are bringing up to 18 cents. Fred Dunn sold a bunch of mediums, scarcely 60 lbs. each at 16½ cents, and others a little below 50 lbs. each at 12 cents. Heavy sheep are dragging but the light handyweight has a market up to 8 cents, but heavier ones with finish will only bring 6 cents. Top lambs were about 17½ cents.

A good sized run of hogs yesterday set the packers bidding 25 cents a cwt. lower and they expected to get them at their price of $7.50 a cwt. f.o.b. One shipper said his contract was $8.40 off cars short haul.

A moderate business is passing in potatoes. Volume of business in butter is small. The tone of the cheese market is firm.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday, 979 cattle and calves, 2,666 hogs, and 66 sheep and lambs.

Trading in the cattle market was dull and inactive, with available butcher she stuff being absorbed at firm prices. In the stocker and feeder classes, choice grades sold at steady prices, but medium varieties were hard to move. Calves were unchanged, the bulk selling from $3.00 to $8.00.

The hog market suffered a drop of 10 cents with thick smooths at $7.00 and select bacons $7.70.

A few choice lambs were disposed of at $17.00 and fair ones from $6.00 to $8.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 12 (Canadian Press). — The wheat market continued very bullish again yesterday and prices advanced under strong buying from all directions, the reduction in United States winter wheat yield and unfavourable crop conditions in Europe providing the necessary momentum for the upward trend. At the high points of the session, July touched 112 3-4 and October 108 3-8, gains of 3 1-8 and 3c respectively, but all of this was not held, a slight reaction setting in during the last hour with final figures showing July 17-8c higher and October 1 5-8c above Tuesday's close.

The closing was strong and much higher prices are predicted by the trade.

Withstands punishment

RAILWAY crossings, stony roads, curb bumps, sudden braking and steep down-grade are typical of the numberless punishments that cause internal heat so destructive to both rubber and cords.

In Dominion Cord Tires you have always had the greatest dependability—but now, by our exclusive new Web Cord process, internal friction and heat caused by cross threads are eliminated.

Our new Sprayed Rubber process increases the elasticity and strength of the treads and side walls, because Sprayed Rubber is the purest rubber in the world. It is used exclusively in Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires in Canada.

The extra mileage and dependability of these new features in Dominion Cord Tires are thoroughly proven by years of actual road tests. They mean no increase in the price of Dominion Cord Tires.

HOME BANK

Investigation Justified

Question number two: Whether, if such representations were made, a state of affairs was revealed concerning the condition of the said bank such as would have justified an investigation under the power conferred upon the minister of finance by section 56A. of the bank act.

Answer: The condition of the bank, as revealed by the representations made, was such as to justify an investigation under the powers conferred upon the minister of finance by section 56A of the bank act.

Question Number 3: What action, if any, was taken by the then minister of finance, upon such representations as may have been made?

Answer: The action taken by the minister of finance upon the representations made to him consisted in:

(a) Calling for special returns from the bank under section 113 of the bank act.

(b) Calling for a report from the banks' auditor under section 56A.

(c) Seeking and obtaining information from Mr. Lash, the bank's counsel, and from its president and other directors including there in detailed statements of accounts regarding the dealings of the bank with the following individuals and firms, viz: A. C. Frost and Company; Pellatt and Pellatt; the Prudential Trust, New Orleans account.

(d) Forbidding further capitalization of interest on doubtful accounts

(e) Securing a promise from Mr. Lash and the president that a thorough investigation would be made of the affairs of the bank under the direction of Mr. Haney and Mr. Machaffie.

Nothing After 1918

Judge McKeown concludes:

"I beg to report that there is no evidence that representations of any kind were made to the government concerning the Home Bank of Canada subsquent to the year 1918.

"After his retirement from office, correspondence took place between Sir Thomas White and his successor Sir Henry Drayton, bearing upon the condition of the Home Bank, as set out in the evidence, given before me by Sir Henry Drayton, but nothing requiring consideration here arises therefore, as in any way bearing upon the substance of the depositors' petition.

"An incidental reference to the Home Bank was made by Sir Henry Drayton to his successor in office, the Rt.-Hon. W. S. Fielding, when the latter succeeded to the position of finance minister, but nothing was said as to the existence of the memoranda or letters above referred to.

"No representations of any kind appear to have been made to either Sir Henry Drayton or to the Rt.-Hon W. S. Fielding concerning the condition of the Home Bank, and although the present minister of finance expressed himself as ready to give evidence before the commission, if required, it did not seem to me that anything had taken place which made such a step necessary. There was nothing to indicate that his attention had ever been drawn to the existence of the various memoranda or to the correspondence above dealt with.

"Having reference therefore to the scope of the enquiry, as enlarged by order in council number 412, I beg to report that there were no representations of any kind made to the government of the day as to he financial condition of the Home Bank of Canada after the year 1918, and consequently no action in that respect was taken by any of the ministers of finance."

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation. and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

A CONVENTION HELD NORWOOD

The Peterboro Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society Hold Annual Gathering.

NORWOOD, June 12.— The Peterboro Presbyterial Woman's Missionary Society Annual meeting was held on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 10 and 11 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Norwood. During Tuesday morning, the ladies of the local church were busy getting the tables aranged for a noon day meal to serve to the delegates, who began to come in about twelve-thirty, from the different thirty-three auxiliaries of the Presbytery and also from the Young Woman's Auxiliaries and the Mission Bands.

The first session which began about 1.30 p.m. was opened with devotional exercises lead by the Campbellford Auxiliary. This was followed by the minutes of the last annual meeting read by Mrs. Wickett of Port Hope, the Recording Secretary A nominating and resolutions committee composed of Mrs. McKenzie, Peterboro, Mrs. J. John, Peterboro, Mrs. Chant, Lakefield, Mrs. Rork, and Mrs. H. Robb of Norwood, was appointed and met for business between the afternoon and evening session. A hymn was sung after which, Mrs. (Rev.) T. M. Wesley, extended a welcome to the visitors from the local societies.

After the auxiliary and Y.W.A. reports were given, a duett: "Will you do your Part," was rendered by Mrs. T. M. Wesley and Mrs. John Rogers.

An address by the President, Mrs. Ewart of Cobourg, on leadership was very interesting and instructive. This was followed by her report of the General Council held in Montreal.

The secretary, Mrs. Harper, of Coldsprings, and the treasurer, Mrs. W. N. McDougal, of Lakeport, gave their respective reports, and both showed that they had given their best to the work. The offering was then taken up by three of the members of the local Y.W.A., and a dedicatory prayer offered by Mrs. McPherson, of Peterboro.

Mrs. Hume, Mission Band secretary, then gave her report, and the Peterboro Presbyterial Banner, which was held last year by the Warkworth Band, was presented to Mrs. Ewart for the Cobourg Band, who had won it for the present year. The singing of a hymn and prayer by Miss M. Dickson, of Peterboro, brought the afternoon session to a close.

Supper was then served to the one hundred and eighteen delegates and some others by the ladies of St. Andrew's.

The evening session opened at 8 o'clock. After the devotional exercises greetings were brought to the convention from the sister societies of the Methodist and Baptist Churches of the village. Mrs. R. G. Lawlor represented the former, and a letter of greeting from the latter, signed by Mrs. F. Raddon, was read by Mrs. McKenzie, of Peterboro. Reeve Pakenham then brought greetings from the village, and Rev. T. M. Wesley from the Presbytery.

A trio, "As One His Mother Comforteth," was then rendered by Mesdames Porter, Wesley and Weir. Miss Robina Templeton, of Belleville, then gave a very interesting address on C.G.I.T. work.

After the receiving of the offering and a hymn the address of the convention was given by Miss Patterson, a returned missionary of Central India. The evening meeting was closed with the Doxology and Benediction.

Wednesday, 9 a.m.

The first fifteen minutes of the session was devoted to prayer and praise for future guidance and past achievements.

The meeting proper was opened by devotional exercises led by the Hasting W.M.S..

The reports of the Mission Bands and of the different secretaries were next received and discussed and unfinished business settled. The Nominating committee then presented their report and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

To Miss Templeton for her interesting address and a very special vote of thanks to Miss Patterson of Ujjan, Central India.

The convention decided to send a delegate to the Whitby Summer School and Miss Edith Tedford of the Norwood Young Woman's Auxiliary was the unanimous choice.

It was decided to hold the 1925 convention in Cobourg.

The convention closed with prayer by Mrs. Rork who offered a special petition for Mrs. John Clysdale, a member of the Norwood Auxiliary, who is seriously ill.

LOCAL POULTRY MEN ADDRESSED

Mr. J. Clark Discussed Poultry Industry From Various Angles

THE UTILITY BIRD

At last night's meeting of the local Poultry Association an address was delivered by Mr. J. W. Clark, of Cainsville, Ont., on poultry, touching the phases of the industry from both the utility and exhibition points of view.

Mr. Clark is one of Canada's most successful poultrymen, and is known the continent over in poultry circles. The speaker delivered his address in a manner comprehensive to the beginner and instructive to the experienced and amateur alike. The demand for exhibition birds is on the wane, while high producing birds find a ready market, declared the speaker. In this respect a great change has been made from the breeders' standpoint. We have today official records of hens laying over 300 eggs annually, and 250-egg records are of frequent occurrence. Since poultry breeders have turned their attention to egg production, great strides have been made along this line, and with the introduction of egg-laying contests, a system of registration has been established at the Dominion Department of Agriculture of hens free from defects and whose Records of Performance show 200 or more eggs per annum. Therefore, a means has been provided so that a purchaser of poultry can obtain offspring from birds with official records as he can with other live stock.

There is no reason, however, continued Mr. Clarke, why the exhibition bird cannot be bred for high production as well. Fanciers must turn to production if they desire to retain the present interest and demand in the exhibition strains. No one, however, likes the unattractive bird, and farmers demand the good looker when looking for utility males. Judges are now required to take egg producing and marketing qualities into consideration, and the time is coming, said the speaker, when the high producing strains will combine beauty and utility.

The Good Layer.

The good layer is profitable, and the flock that will average 150 eggs annually is quite profitable. Unfortunately, however, there are thousands of hens throughout Ontario, particularly on the farm, that are bills of expense. We have too many poor producers, and the speaker said that a male from high producing stock would increase the production in many flocks 25 per cent.

Care, proper accommodation, and systematic feeding are essential for results. The speaker emphasized the necessity for feeding green food, particularly to growing chicks.

The head, Mr. Clark stated, is the best indication of the layer. The good layer has the clean face, and the full bright eye, suggestive of activity, while the poor producer, with the long and sunken face, is listless. President James Ellis, in thanking the speaker, termed this "Henphrenology, a new science."

Mr. Clark commented on the dumping of second grade American eggs into Canada. Often as high as eight or ten carloads of these second-class eggs arrive in Toronto weekly, and are sold throughout the province as first grade. It costs but 3c a dozen to ship American eggs into Canada, while the American barrier demands 8c for each dozen of Canadian eggs entering the United States. The Canadian poultrymen have no objection to the importation of first grade eggs but it is unfair to the breeder and deceptive to the consumer to allow American second grade eggs to be sold along with the home production of the first grade. The Hon. John S. Martin, now in Europe, who is famous the world over for his Regal Dorcas White Leghorns, Mr. Clark, and other prominent poultrymen, are endeavoring to organize the poultrymen of Canada, and induce the Dominion government to regulate the improper importing and sale of eggs. Mr. Clark said that he was sure that the Dominion Department of Agriculture would aid them if they could show that the organized poultry forces demanded it, which would offset the claims of egg dealers, who are opposing the movement with a stern persistence.

In opening the meeting President James Ellis dispensed with all business and called upon the speaker.

The latter part of the address was taken up in discussion, and the speaker remained late, responding to the queries that were hurled at him from all points and angles. The audience was small, due possibly to the rain last evening, but those interested in poultry, who failed to attend, missed a rare opportunity to hear a man who as an experienced poultry breed well known judge and lecturer, could hardly be excelled for the occasion.

A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker on motion of Messrs. Fred Holmes and Harry Lush.

OLD RESIDENT OF PETERBORO BURIED

The Funeral of Mrs. William Redmond Took Place Yesterday Morning.

The funeral took place at nine o'clock yesterday morning, at St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery, of Mrs. William Redmond. The funeral Mass was celebrated by Rev. Jas. Guiry. There were present also in the sanctuary Rev. J. Finn, Rev. J. Collins and Rev. J. McGuire, of Douro. Priests at the cemetery were Rev. P. Costello, Rev. J. Finn, Rev. J. Collins and Rev. J. McGuire. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Thomas and Joseph Redmond of Millbrook, Samuel Redmond of Otonabee, B. McHugh of Lindsay and George Ball and John Torpey of Peterboro.

The late Mrs. Redmond, whose maiden name was Eliza Egan, was a member of one of the oldest pioneer families in this district. She was born in Otonabee, but lived for many years in Millbrook. During the past twelve years, she resided with her daughter, Mrs. John Torpey, at 379 Reid Street. She had been a partial invalid for many years, and although not able to take an active part in the life of the community, was always interested in good works. Her life was necessarily quiet and retired, but she leaves behind her the memory of many bequests to church and benevolent institutions. She was of a kind and charitable disposition and will be mourned by her friends and family. Two sons and one daughter survive: Thomas and Joseph Redmond, of Millbrook, and Mrs. John Torpey, of Peterboro. A third son, Samuel Redmond, of Millbrook, died four years ago.

LONDON, Ont., June 12.—(Canadian Press.) — Without even appearing in court, Thomas Clare, charged with manslaughter, arising out of the death on Tuesday of Charles Lane, motor mishap victim, was remanded to jail for week. Two men riding a motorcycle suffered broken left legs when struck by Clare's car. Clare later surrendered himself to the police on a charge of reckless driving and was held in $1,000 bail. United Grain Growers Again Control of Government Elevators.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 12.—(Canadian Press.) — The United Grain Growers Ltd., present lessees of the 122 Manitoba Government elevators, was again successful in acquiring control of the system when tenders were opened yesterday before Hon. Albert Prefontaine, provincial secretary.

Two propositions were placed before the government, an offer to either lease the entire system on a rental basis of eight per cent. per annum on the 1923 appraised value of $933,605, or the alternative purchase of 43 elevators and lease of the remaining 79. The first offer will involve a rental value of $74,688. Officials declined to divulge the purchase price offered.

The government is considering both offers and after expert appraisal of the value of the elevators sought in purchase a final decision will be given to the company.

SIR THOMAS WHITE ON BANK ENQUIRY

Says Report Reveals Nothing New to the Public

TORONTO, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Thomas White, to-day, commenting upon the McKeown report in the Home Bank inquiry, said —"As to the Commissioner's finding on facts as he was authorized to do under the Inquiries Act, I have no comment to make; in this regard the report adds nothing to the information already possessed by the public and widely discussed by the press.

"As to the statement of the Commissioner that the condition of the bank, as revealed by representations made to the Minister in 1916 and 1918, was such as to justify an investigation under the powers conferred upon the Minister by the Bank Act. The Commissioner had no power or authority under the Inquiries Act to make any such finding. His statement in this regard is therefore a mere expression of his personal opinion, devoid of any judicial weight or value whatsoever. It is moreover an opinion formed eight years after the event and with full knowledge as to the bank's condition as revealed by the investigation of the liquidators, but which in 1916 and 1918 was concealed from the Minister by false and fraudulent statements received fram the bank."

It was very strange, said Sir Thomas, that the report, at least as published, made no reference whatever to assurance given the Minister by western directors as to the bank's condition and prospects, or to critical financial conditions prevailing at a time when the nation was engaged in a life and death struggle for its existence.

Sir Thomas said it was absolutely impossible for the Commissioner or any other living man to place himself in a position of Minister of Finance in 1916 and 1918 and say now what he would have done then if he had been Minister. Moreover, the Commissioner never had been and never would be Minister of Finance and express his personal opinion as to what he would have done if he had been Minister was without special value.

WORLD WILL NEVER SUFFER FROM THIRST

TORONTO, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—That the world will never suffer from thirst, is the statement of J. W. Gregory, Professor of Geology at the University of Glasgow, who comes to Toronto to preside over geography section of the British Association for the advancement of science, August 6 to 13. As a result of recent investigaiton, Prof. Gregory returns an emphatic "no" to the question, "Is the world drying up?" Although in dispelling a popular bogey that the world is passing to a drier time, the geologist is careful to qualify his statement, with the remark, "In so far as the weather is concerned."

WAGE CASE HEARD GENERAL SESSIONS

Case Was Adjourned For Argument and Production Documents.

At the June sitting of the County Court on Tuesday last, the only case that remained on the docket for disposal was a civil non-jury action, instituted by John Grierson against Motors and Machines Limited, for wages alleged to be owing.

The plaintiff was hired by bylaw or resolution of the Board of Directors as a machinist and mechanic at the weekly salary of $35.00.

The full amount of his wages was not paid to him, it was claimed, and the present action was to recover the amount said to be owing for the arrears of wages accrued from the 2nd of January, 1923, to the 19th of May, 1923, at the rate of $35.00 per week.

John Wylie, ex-manager of the company, alleged that at the time he purchased Mr. Grierson's stock, the transfer of stock was in settlement of the wages claim, as well as in payment of the interest of the plaintiff in the company. This was disputed and evidence of the manager of the company and the plaintiff were in direct contradiction. Also Mr. Wylie admitted that at the time of the transfer of stock the question of wages was not discussed.

The case was adjourned for argument and the production of documentary evidence. Mr. Jos. A. O'Brien acted as counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. Jos. Wearing represented the defendant.

SMUGGLING CHARGE.

Spanish Consul Is Now Charged With Conspiracy To Import Drugs.

MONTREAL, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Spanish Consul Miguel Melaques, Raymond Toy de Torrents, Albert Vincent and T. Belanger, arrested last week in connection with a charge of smuggling liquor from Spain into Canada, appeared yesterday in court before Judge Cusson for the continuation of the preliminary hearing which had not been terminated in the case of Vincent, and which had not been started in the case of Belanger, who was only arrested last Saturday. The case was again adjourned to next Friday, after F. Phillippe Brais, for the Federal Government, had stated that new charges were to be brought against the accused. This time it is that of conspiracy to import narcotic drugs into Canada.

CHARGES AGAINST C. N. R.

Taylor Defers His Statement On Temple Report, Denying Reports.

OTTAWA, June 12. — In the Senate yesterday Hon. J. D. Taylor, at the request of the leader of the government, consented to defer his statement on the Temple report on the charges against the C.N.R. administration at the Pacific coast, so that the Railway Committee cuold expedite their work with the branch lines bill.

Senator Taylor accordingly adjourned the debate until to-day, but before doing so drew attention to a personal reference made to himself in the report. These he designated as entirely inaccurate. The reference he said, to statements attributed to him regarding Captain Boyd, were also inaccurate, and a cruel distortion of a conversation he had had with Mr. Temple. A further statement in the report regarding a conversation he was supposed to have had with a Mr. Butler, was also inaccurate, as he did not know Mr. Butler.

The Male Voice Choir

A large attendance and an enthusiastic spirit that bodes well for the coming year marked the fourth annual meeting of the Peterboro Male Voice Choir, held last evening in the Woodmen of the World Hall, George Street.

President W. F. Skitch presided, and encouraging reports were presented from the officers and chairmen of standing committees.

The members of the choir were unanimous in their desire to build up a larger and more proficient organization in the coming year, and to that end extend an invitation to other singers to join in the fall.

Plans are already being made with a view to taking part in the Ontario Musical Festival next year.

While the thanks of the choir were extended to the retiring officers for their efforts in carrying on the work of the organization, much of the success of the past year was attributed to the whole-hearted efforts of the musical director, Mr. Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., who was unanimously invited to continue as director for another year.

During the course of the evening, as a mark of appreciation and esteem for his services, he was presented with $100 in gold.

The retiring secretary-treasurer, C. S. Thompson, was also made the recipient of an honorarium of $25 in recognition of his work for the choir during the past year.

The elections resulted as follows:

Hon. President—J. M. Greene.
Past President—W. F. Skitch.

Chairman, Memebrship Committee—P. Naish.
Chairman, Music Committee—T. Pitchford.
Chairman, Social Committee—P. Manning.
Chairman, Publicity Committee—F. Sutcliffe.

A pleasant social hour with refreshments followed, many of the wives of the members gracing this portion of the evening with their presence.

SAFETY FIRST OF THE KIWANIS CLUB

"Always Be Careful" Slogan on the Sidewalks

The A B C of the "Safety First" idea, the "Always Be Careful" slogan that is the cardinal principle of the campaign to induce carefulness in the public at large, is contained in the large footprints that decorate Peterboro streets just now, with "A B C" in large letters and "K" in an enclosed circle. The "K" stands for "Kiwanis," some of the energetic members of which gathered during the dark hours of Wednesday morning and left their sign manual on the city's thoroughfares. Districts where schools are built were a favorite section for their activity. Altogether, there are some 15 or 20 of these large reminders of the Safety First campaign scattered about the city's streets. Other notices along the same line will follow in due course, carrying out the ideh conveyed in the East City sign which bears the good advice: "Always be right and more people will be left."

THINKS LITTLE OF MACDONALD POLICIES

TORONTO, June 12. — (Canadian Press.)—That the MacDonald Government has played 'giddy fool,' and that the unemployment dole system is tending to inculcate a destructive spirit of pauperism among working people of Great Britain, are two of the considered opinions expressed by Norman Tiptaft, managing director of a firm of manufacturing jewelers in Birmingham, England, in an interview last night.

Britain is forgetting that she is head of a great Empire, declared Mr. Tiptaft. The best thing that could hapen, for her ownp sake and for the prosperity of other nations in the commonwealth, would be an invasion of missionaries from Canada, Australia and the rest, preaching the advantages offered to capital and immigration.

VOLLEY BALL PLAYED BY THE PAPER MAKERS

Last night between 5 and 6 o'clock a very interesting game of volley ball was played on the court of the Nashua Paper Co., between George Crowe's Invincibles, from the wax room and a picked team from the gumming room, the All Stars.

The All Stars won all three games, the last one being played by a narrow margin of one point.

Very clever and dashing saves were made by Messrs. Crowe and Scott of the losers and Messrs. Brown, Anderson and McLeod of the All Stars.

The failure of the Invincibles' clock to rotate was partly responsible for the defeat.

The teams lined-up as follows:

Invincibles—Crowe, James, Donaghue, Bristow, Scott and Greer.

All Stars — Brown, Hamilton, Thompson, Gimblett, Anderson and McLeod.

Referee—Harry Gabbit.
Linesmen—Lockie and Parker.

DANCE ATTRACTS CAVAN PEOPLE

E. Blanchard of Elizabethville, Won an Automobile in Entrance Raffle.

BOYS IN CAMP.

CAVAN, June 12.—There was a big crowd in the Community Hall on Friday evening at the dance. There had previously been tickets sold for the raffling of a car. Each purchaser of a ticket was entitled to attend the dance. On Friday evening it was made known who had won the car. This proved to be Mr. E. Blanchard, of Elizabethville.

Mr. Richard Matchett went to Picton on Friday to attend conference as lay delegate from Cavan Circuit.

Rev. R. T. and Mrs. Richards and baby motored down. Mrs. Richards will visit friends in that vicinity during conference.

Going to Camp.

About twenty-five Cavan and Millbrook boys will go to summer Militia camp at Port Hope under the command of Capt. A. V. Thorne.

The whole Durham regiment will be under Col. E. Snider.

On Tuesday, June 23, the boys are going to Belleville to take part in the U.E. Loyalist celebrations.

The camp breaks up June 20. A day or two afterwards the Cavalry camp, which will be held in Peterboro, commences.

Miss Munroe and friend, Miss Coates of St. John, N.B., spent the week-end at the home of Mr. T. A. Kelly.

Mr. James Paul accompanied Mr. A. Tinney to Oshawa on Monday. They will bring home three new cars, one of which is purchased by Mr. Paul.

Mr. W. Cody is staying at Mr. T. A. Kelly's, where he is superintending the shipping of his lumber which was cut down and sawed at Graham's lumber camp last winter.

The C.N.R. have put in a siding from the C.N.R. line to the camp. This makes it very convenient for shipping.

Mr. Cody motored to Aurora on Sunday and spent the day at his home.

Miss Irene Houston, Peterboro, spent the week-end at home.

POMPEII LIVES AGAIN

NAPLES, June 12.—The glories of ancient Pompeii were brought to life recently when the 700th anniversary of the Royal University of Naples was celebrated. The ruins of the buried city were adorned with laurel wreaths and flowers, games similar to the old Olympic games were held in the amphitheatre, and at sunset the "Carmen Saeculare"—a professional hymn composed by Horace — was sung by costumed choirs.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Leading Character in Play Taken Ill — Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, June 11.—An audience of about four hundred people greeted the dramatic club of the Methodist Church, Millbrook, when they gave their play, "The Plot That Failed," in Port Hope Monday evening. The serious illness of Miss A. Hampton, who takes one of the leading characters, and who was obliged to have the doctor in attendance about 5 p.m., and was quite unable to go, left the club at a considerable disadvantage. Miss L. Beatty, of Port Hope, very pluckily came to the rescue at the last moment and read the part exceptionally well though the book was not in her hands until half an hour before the entertainment began.

The audience made all allowances for the handicap under which both Miss Beatty and the members of the club were laboring, and was most appreciative, the selections of the orchestra, under G. A. Duncan's leadership, being warmly applauded.

The Young People's League, which had the play under its auspices, gave opportunity for a pleasant social gathering at the close of the entertainment, serving refreshments, and making the visitors feel most welcome. The president, Mr. Elwin Brown, the vice-president, Mr. Arthur Crowhurst, and others voiced the appreciation felt for the Millbrook club in giving the evening's entertainment, the president of the latter organization, Mr. P. Stinson, making an appropriate reply. Miss Beatty replied on her own behalf for the vote of thanks extended to her kindness in helping out of an embarrassing difficulty.

The club has been obliged to cancel its engagement with Janetville for Thursday evening of this week on account of Miss Hampton's continued illness.

Rev. H. Arthur Barton, Ottawa, will preach in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on Sunday, June 15th, at 7 p.m., his subject being, "Some Fools I Have Met." Rev. J. Dr. Hunter was a commissioner to the American Presbyterian General Assembly which recently met at Grand Rapids, Michigan, and then came on to Owen Sound to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday schools held their Sunday school sessions at 10 a.m. last Sunday morning, marking the change from the afternoon for the summer months. There was a most encouraging attendance in each case, the congregations for the church service at 11 a.m. being also improved by the addition of the teachers and officers of the schools. This is the first year the Methodist Sunday school has attempted holding its sessions at any hour other than at 2.30 p.m., and the experiment seems likely to prove a success.

Mrs. J. McGimpsey, of Chicago, has been a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball, and other friends in Millbrook and Cavan.

About eighteen men, under Captain A. V. Thorne, left for camp at Port Hope on Tuesday morning. They are a part of "C" Company, Durham Regiment.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

ROSENEATH, June 12—The summer meeting of the Roseneath Branch of the West Northumberland Women's Institute was held on Friday June 6th with the Fenella Institute members present also. The special speaker for the occasion was Esther Slicter of Kitchener.

The regular business part of the meeting was gone through first. Minutes of last meeting were read and on motion of Mrs. Andrew Brown and Mrs. Turner were accepted.

It was moved by Mrs. Turner seconded by Mrs. Brown that one more light at least be bought to light the streets.

An amendment was put by Mrs. Andrew Brown and Mrs. Halstead that provided there be any more lights bought there be a light or lantern bought for the Methodist and Presbyterian church sheds.

It was moved by Mrs. Mouncey seconded by Mrs. J. T. Drope that a committee be appointed to interview the council to see if they would pay for the upkeep of the lights provided the Institute pays the caretaker.

It was moved by Mrs. Brown seconded by Mrs. Nichol that the light committee that have been appointed before, interview the council.

The District meeting will be held in Roseneath on July 3rd so it was moved by Mrs. Turner seconded by Mrs. Davey that Misses Ella Campbell and Vera Varcoe be the committee to look after programme for that day.

It was decided to let each member bring what cooking she likes for the District meeting.

After much discussion it was thought best to have regular meeting previous to the district meeting as it happens to fall on our regular meeting day. Mrs. J. Braithwaite and Mrs. Turner made a motion to that effect.

At this time the speaker of the day Miss Slicter came forward to give her address, which proved very interesting. She said she thought the Women's Institute one of the greatest organizations in the world for whether we are girls or women or no matter to what church we belong we can always join the Women's Institute.

This organization is often a means of drawing the foreign women out. They are usually very pleased to help along with the programmes and this makes them feel more like Canadians.

In some places it seems almost impossible to find anyone to take office but you will usually find these people do not want to help along with the programme either. However if they would take an office they would find it a good education but sometimes everything is left for the officers to do and if she does others will say "oh she did it because she wanted to" when all the time she would gladly share her burdens.

Remember that one gets as much out of a meeting as they put into it. A good motto is "What would our Institute meeting be, if every member was just like me."

Any information required on any subject will be sent gladly upon request of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. They say there is not enough demand for it. Send the name of your subject and the line along which you intend to speak. The address is given in the hand book. No one ever made out a paper without getting something out of it herself. Miss Slicter urged upon everyone to take every opportunity to speak and to run the meetings as much on business lines as possible. A splendid book "Mrs. Parsons Manual for business meetings is the very best book to carry on business. It is often a good plan to invite some public speaker to the meeting and then be ready to ask questions.

She went into detail explaining the benefits and rules of the judging at fairs for the girls which was along the same lines as the stock judging contests for the boys in the country. The one who receives the first prize wins $50 which is to be used to take her to Chicago to the girl's conference as the representative from America. This money is paid by the Women's Institute while a prize of $100 is paid by the Government to the boys, as their first prize. The girls and boys are always provided with a chaperon. Miss Chapman was the chaperon sent last year.

Miss Slicter gave many more helpful hints along the line of amusement etc., and a very hearty vote of thanks was given her.

In ancient times the seventh child of a seventh child was credited with supernatural powers.

MISTER BAGS SENDS SOME BILLS

There was a bill from Mister Bags.

The next day the old cronies met as usual in Mister Bags' store in the woods.

Old Daddy Cracknuts came in first. "Howdy, Mister Bags," said he. "Howdy, Nancy! Howdy, Nick. Nice morning this morning."

"Yes, it is, Daddy," said Nancy noticing that Daddy took the chair nearest to the cracker barrel.

"I'll just rest a spell, if you don't mind," said Daddy. "I'm all tuckered out today. Ma's been cleaning house."

"Think you'll stay away until it's over, do you?" laughed Mister Bags, noticing that Daddy had absentmindedly reached into the cracker barrel and begun to munch at a soda cracker.

At that minute the door opened with a tingalingaling and in came Mister Groundhog.

"I need a match, Mister Bags," he wheezed. "I just thought I'd drop in and get one if you have any handy. Thanks! My old pipe doesn't draw any too well. Why, hello, Daddy! You're out bright and early this morning."

So Daddy told him all about his wife's house-cleaning, and while he was listening, Mister Groundhog picked up a cracker and began to eat it.

At that minute the door opened again and in came Ben Bunny. "Please, may I use your telephone, Mister Bags?" he asked. "I would like to telephone to my cousin across the meadow and ask him how the sass-patch garden is coming along. The lettuce ought to be big enough to eat by this time."

"Certainly," said Mister Bags obligingly. "Help yourself!"

When he was through telephoning, he came over to the cracker barrel and dipped in.

Then came Ringtail Coon to look at Mister Bags' thermometer and talk about the weather.

Then came Mister Muskrat, and next came Mister Chipmunk, and next came old Mosey Mud Turtle, and before long the store was full of gossips, all talking at once and dipping into the cracker barrel.

Nick stood by with a little book and every time anybody dipped down for a cracker he put a mark beside his name.

The next morning when Daddy Cracknuts opened his mail, there was a bill from Mister Bags.

It said:

May 10—15 crackers—15c.

And when Mister Bunny opened his mail he got a bill, too. It said:

May 10—20 crackers—20c.

And Mister Groundhog got a bill and Ringtail Coon got a bill and so did all of them.

They were all hopping mad and rushed to the little store in the woods at once.

"Why, I never bought any crackers here in my life!" said Daddy Cracknuts.

"Neither did I! Neither did we!" cried the others.

"No, but you ate them so it's all the same," said Mister Bags. "I open a new barrel every day and you eat them all up. You do it without thinking, but I decided that I'd given enough cracker parties."

"Why, that's so, I guess we do eat a good many crackers," said Daddy. "I never thought of that. Here's my money!"

"And mine!" cried everybody else.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not, ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do."—Mrs. J. R. McMAHON, 153 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring sick, ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMahon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." c

CIVIL WAR LIKELY FOLLOW SOUTH AFRICAN ELECTIONS

Anti-Smuts Party Desires to Restore the Old Republic and Resistance by Force of Arms is Certain.

CAPETOWN, Africa, June 12.—(United Press).—South Africa goes to the polls June 17 to vote on the straight issue—clearly understood though not officially put in such words—whether she remains an integral portion of the British Empire, or becomes a republic.

The latter alternative can only be achieved by bloodshed, whatever the verdict of the electors.

To understand the situation in this vast country, relatively very thinly populated by whites, who include many diverse elements and interests, it must be explained that the Union of South Africa—constituted as a self-governing dominion by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's British Liberal government in 1910—consists of Cape Colony (or Cape Province), the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Natal. The white population is almost equally divided between British and Dutch races.

The Transvaal and Orange Free State are intensely Dutch, the Cape and Natal intensely British, although the Cape also has a large Dutch population, which, however, has strong pro-British leanings. The contending political parties are:

The South African Party, headed by General Jan Christian Smuts, and including the old British parties.

The Nationalists Party, headed by General Hertzog, anti-Britisher, and mainly composed of the old Dutch republicans, who fought against Britain in 1899-1902.

The Labor Party, headed by Colonel W. Cresswell, comprising British, Dutch and foreign elements, as well as some colored elements of the population.

A Communist Party, which has some strength in the Transvaal, and which is opposed to all other parties, and generally alleged to be financed by the Bolsheviks. Also a few scattering candidiates, like Constitutional Democrats.

Smuts won the last election mainly owing to the difference between the Nationalist and Labor parties, but an alliance between these contending interests has made the coming election into a straight fight between Smuts and Hertzog.

Want Old Republic

The Nationalists are frankly republican and long for the restoration of the pre-South African war, inedpendence of the two Dutch republics, Transvaal and Orange Free State. Hertzog, is really something of reactionary, and he is autocratic in his republicanism. He and most of his followers are agriculturalists with no imperial interests. All they want is the freedom of their vast inland territories and a republican system giving them indepenedence. Their opponents contend that the Dutch farmer is narrow-minded in his outlook, and that it is no longer possible for South Africa to remain apart from the rest of the world.

The Labor Party is Socialistic in its aims, and is mainly recruited from the industrial districts of the Transvaal and the Cape.

The South African Party is frankly pro-British and loyal to the Empire, being mainly composed of British-born settlers. Its main strength is in the Cape Province and Natal, although it has many members in the industrial Rand (gold-mining) district of the Transvaal. The old purely British parties readily agreed to fusion under Smuts' banner as soon as they realized that separate organizations of British and Dutch imperialists merely strengthened the Hertzogites.

Labor's alliance with Nationalists is chiefly due to resentment over General Smuts' method of crushing the great Rand strike a couple of years ago, which was virtually an industrial revolution, and their attitude is perhaps more anti-Smuts than pro-Hertzog.

The electroate numbers 423,000 (of whom 40,000 are blacks—in the Cape Province, only), and the parliamentary representation is roughly based on one member for every three thousand voters. The Transvaal returns 50 members to the Assembly, the Cape 51, Natal and the Orange Free State, 17 each.

The main battle is between the Transvaal and the Cape. Normally the Cape is strongly pro-British, but the Labor Party has made headway in the industrial centers and the issue there is uncertain. In the Transvaal the majority are Dutch, but in the Johnnesburg and other mining districts there are strong British elements.

Secession From Empire

In the event of success for the Nationalist-Labor coalition General Hertzog would be Premier, and he would undoubtedly pursue his old ideals of restoration of the Dutch republics and secession from the British Empire. How much support in this direction he could expect from the Labor Party is problematical. Labor cannot secure a majority of its own, just yet, and Colonel Cresswell has decided that the first thing is to oust General Smuts.

The vast mass of the Cape population, and virtually the whole of Natal, would not stand for a Dutch republic, and even if not willing to embark on another war to coerce the Dutch in the interior, they would certainly resist by armed force any attempt to sever these, the original British provinces, from the British Empire.

The attitude of the blacks is almost immaterial for the purposes of the election, as except in the Cape, blacks are denied the franchise. Generally speaking, however, the blacks are pro-British and anti-Dutch. The old Boer farmer never made himself loved by his black servants, while the British gave them a certain amount of freedom.

Women do not vote in South Africa.

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day; helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred. Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

What particular advantages do real estate mortgage bonds have over industrial bonds?

Answered by
BENJAMIN BILLS
Director of Sales, American Bond and Mortgage Company.

The owner of an apartment house need not have the capital necessary to buy or absorb a new invention, for the possibility of substitution for shelter seems beyond the inventive geinus of man. Yet this necessity often is faced by the owner of an industrial enterprise. In apartment hotels, there is involved no difficult development of a successful sales force. Yet this is always necessary in an industry.

Perishable inventories, which are a part of the worry of industries, do not exist in the apartment hotel, theatre, or office building.

New fads and fancies which do put out of business many presumably stable industrial organizations, e.g., the bobbed hair fad has badly crippled the hair pin industry, have little chance for success in eliminating shelter.

News From Warsaw And The District

Mr. Choate has opened his summer store at McCracken's Landing. Mrs. Choate and Mrs. Smith go up this week for the summer.

On Sunday evening Rev. W. Atkinn took charge of the Union service. His text was John 17, verse 21: "That they all may be one, as Thou Father are in me and I in thee; that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou has sent me." The scripture lesson was Revelation 21, describing the new Jerusalem, the spiritual church.

The sermon was a very strong, but quiet and kindly plea for Church Union—Unity in Christ. It is not doctrine, government, nor creed that make the ideal Christian Church, it is believing in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the World. In times of sorrow all stand together in sympathy, be they what denomination we like, Protestant or Roman Catholic.

He said that in the past different denomination, perhaps had not fraternized enough, especially the latter ones. They had not felt the need of the other.

There was good cause for each organization, and each has done a great work, but now greater work can be done by uniting forces. With unity of work, there could be more missionaries; the doors are open, but often missionaries cannot be sent.

The sermon cannot be given in full and it cannot be condensed, for every word counted.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

REMOVING FENCES IN CHEMONG PARK

Reeve and Councillors of Smith Township Visited The Park.

BRIDGENORTH, June 12.—The Reeve and Council of Smith township paid a visit to Chemong Park the other day and during their stay in the park they notified a number of the cottage owners to shift an occasional fence back a little, which happens in some way to have got shifted out on the streets. It may have been the severe frost during the past winters which heaved them over but at any rate the Reeve decided they were not just in their proper places.

The Old Pavilion.

Mr. Peter Gettas has a number of men at work at the old pavillion. There will be an up-to-date kitchen at one end an apartment at the other and a dining room at the centre. The side wall have been boarded up also windows put in and when completed will be quite a modern establishment.

The Speed Fiends.

Forty to fifty miles per hour seems to be the average speed for motor cars driving through the streets in Bridgenorth. It is time the county authorities would look into this matter as it is a very dangerous practice where so many children are playing on the streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fowler drove to Omemee on Saturday. They returned home on Monday.

Mrs. Edward Burn, Fort William, who has been visiting at Ottawa spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Mann in the village.

Dave Charles of Port Hope came out from Nicholls Hospital on Monday, having recovered sufficiently to be able to make the trip. He intends spending the week at his father's cottage at the Park, after which he intends returning to Port Hope.

Mr. Lyman Ball who lives at Port Arthur and who is manager of a Canadian Packing Company at Fort William, was down at Ottawa on a business trip last week and on his return home spent a few days with his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ball. His son Bob accompanied him on the trip. Mr. Ball's mother joined him here. They return by C.P.R. via Port McNichol. Mrs. Ball intends spending the summer in the West.

Mr. J. A. Jobe will spend next week in Montreal where he is representing the C.O.F. of Bridgenorth at the High Court meeting which is being held in the Sallee Doree, Mount Royal Hotel, Peel street, of that city.

The Bridgenorth Orchestra have been invited to play at a strawberry social at Selwyn just as soon as the berries are ripe.

Several yachts have been seen on the lake this week, but none of the occupants have been bold enough to throw out a line. They are trying their best to observe the law, the 15th is not far distant.

The families in Bridgenorth who use coal for domestic and heating purposes are not taking chance on a cheap product next fall and are having their coal bins filled at present prices. Beatty Bros. are hauling it from Peterboro at so much per ton. This is a great convenience and saves at lot of worry next fall when the cold weather sets in.

Jack Dutton had a narrow escape while crossing the floating bridge the other day. A bolt dropped out of the steering gear and had he not acted promptly no doubt the car would have gone through the frail railing into the lake. After the necessary repairs were made he was able to continue his journey to Curve Lake.

LEGISLATION CHECK TERMINAL ELEVATORS

OTTAWA, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Legislation to "curb" terminal elevators was urged in the House of Commons last night by O. R. Gould, Progressive member for Assiniboia, who complained that the terminal elevators at Fort William were making excessive profits. Mr. Gould made the suggestion while trade and commerce estimates were under review in discussion which ranged from freight rates on the lakes to averages and marketing of live stock. The Board of Grain Commissioners came in for considerable reference. Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said he hoped to work out some plan that would remedy the evils complained of.

EDUCATION COUNCIL HELD A CONVENTION

Rev. Manson Doyle Spoke of the Need of Home Department.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The annual township convention of South Smith and Lakefield branch of the Ontario Religious Education Council was held recently at the Methodist Church in Bridgenorth. Mr. Will Paull, president of the association, acted as chairman. There was a large attendance of Sunday school workers and interested friends.

Devotional services were in charge of Rev. J. Edgar, of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church. The report of the secretary-treasurer of the township, Mr. Fred Bell, was given.

The special speaker for the occasion, Rev. Manson Doyle, of Toronto, gave a talk on the Need of a Home Department in our Sunday Schools. Some of the purposes it would serve were itemized as: To unite the interest of non-attendants at Sunday School, and non-students of the word of God in regular study of the weekly Sunday school lesson in their homes; to inspire the old and feeble, the "shut-ins" and the "stay outs", the Sunday school toilers who "do care", and the Sunday resters who "don't care", and many hundreds who do not know how to give the Book a place in the home.

Some of the benefits of the idea would be: To encourage regular systematic Bible study in the home, thus assisting parents in providing Christian nurture for their children; to re-build many a broken altar; to interest the home in the Sunday school and its work, and increase Sunday school attendance and study of Bible lessons in the home. Another benefit was the bringing to a decision for Christ of an average of seventeen hundred people yearly during the past thirty years.

Rev. Mr. Doyle also spoke on the great need for Temperance, saying there never was the need for temperance that there is today. The advance of science in the world increases temptation, and laws might be better in enforcement of prohibition. Mr. Doyle said that church and Sunday school workers were falling asleep on their jobs, and that there is a great danger of a slipping back to pre-prohibition days unless more attention is paid to the question. Mr. Doyle also spoke on "Re-Centering the Life", with interesting illustrations, and his evening address was on "The Building of Morality," a fine, memorable discourse. He spoke of the failure of Canadian parents and teachers in neglecting to teach the boys and girls to pray.

Rev. P. L. Jull, of Lakefield Presbyterian Church, gave an inspiring address on "The Great Teacher." Jesus was the Great Teacher, and he knew how to impart His knowledge of truth and work, because He had experienced labour and poverty, struggles and temptations. He knew also how to impart knowledge and loved story-telling, and He was a great questioner of His disciples, with whom He used ordinary, everyday language.

Rev. P. H. Neville, of Bridgenorth Methodist Church, gave a splendid address on "Education", which he said was necessary to build up character. An absolute necessity for religious training was the living of a straight, clean life, not from duty, but from the love of the Master. If the Sunday school failed for five years, he said, we would have no churches at all. The Sunday school is the recruiting ground of the church.

The county secretary, Mr. Thomas Sargent, of Peterboro', was also present, and gave a brief, interesting address.

The orchestra of Bridgenorth Methodist Sunday School provided some splendid music, and the ladies for Bridgenorth entertained the delegates to a well-spread table of good things. It was decided to meet next year at the Lakefield Methodist Church. Dedication of the following officers for the year was made by Rev. M. Doyle:

Honorary president, Mr. Will Paul; president, Mr. Wilbert Bell; vice-president, Mr. Wesley Oliver; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Fred Bell. Superintendents of various departments: Children's, Mrs. Jas. Young; Teen Age Girls, Mrs. McMillen; Teen Age Boys, W. Madill; Young People, Miss Simpson; Adult Bible Class, Mr. Percy Udy; Home Department, Miss Medda Swinton; Missionary, Mrs. Wesley Oliver; Temperance, Mr. Jos. Mann; Teachers' Training, Rev. P. L. Jull of Lakefield.

LADDER TO BED.

BERLIN, June 11.—Herr Himmel called out the fire wagons. Not because there was a fire—not because there was likely to be a fire—but because he wanted to go to bed. Herr Himmel was very sleepy, but he had lost his key and couldn't get into the house. So he rang the fire alarm and used the firemen's ladder to reach his bedroom window.

BURGLAR HAZARD SURVEY TO MAKE THE HOME SAFER

The Crook Will Find It Much Harder to Make a Living Than Before the Survey.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12. — (Associated Press).—A "crime prevention bureau" is being organized here by Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien, who says its object will be "take opportunity away from the crook and render it harder for him to make a living."

The first work mapped out for the new bureau is a survey of the burglar hazard of every building, store and home in San Francisco. To accomplish this the police of each district will study every building on their beats from the viewpoint of a potential burglar. The patrolmen will discover the vulnerable points of houses, pointing them out to the owners, that the necessary precautions may be taken.

The inspecting patrolman will ask himself: "Are those windows close to the ground kept locked?

"What about the skylight on this building—is it easily removed?

"In this office building on Sundays do they keep watch on strangers who use the elevators? Do they report strange men using the stairways on holidays?"

The latest wrinkles in burglar tricks and the adroitness of pickpockets will be broadcast to the public by the crime prevention bureau. The bureau will assemble exhaustive statistics on criminals and descriptions of criminals' methods.

"Intelligent co-operation between the public and the police department," explained Chief O'Brien, "will reduce burglaries, robberies and larcenies."

The bureau, said to be the first of its kind in the country, has been placed in charge of a lieutenant of police.

Had a Weak Heart Was Very Nervous For Three Years

Miss Jessie Peterson, Zealaadia, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know how much good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

"For nearly three years I was very badly run down, had a weak heart, and was so nervous that sometimes I would almost faint away.

"I heard of many people who had recommended your Heart and Nerve Pills, so I decided to give them a trial. After I had used two boxes I found they had done me good, and after having taken five boxes I was completely relieved.

"I cannot recommend your Pills enough, and I would advise anyone having a weak heart or troubled with nervousness to use them."

CLUBWOMAN URGES FULL RIGHTS FOR AMERICAN INDIANS

An Economic Survey of Each Reservation Should be Made Says Chairman of Committee of Indian Welfare.

LOS ANGELES, June 12. — On behalf of the American Indians constructive legislation is needed "to correct an economic situation which is fundamental and basic," Mrs. H. A. Atwood, of Riverside, Cal., chairman of the committee on Indian welfare of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said yesterday before the Federation's biennial convention in session here.

"An economic survey should be made of each reservation," urged Mrs. Atwood, "with a careful consideration of its individual needs. A careful estimate should be made of what is necessary in money and co-operation with established governmental agencies to give the Indians adequate equipment and information so that they may be enabled to help themselves.

"They should be given a restricted citizenship, which would give them the privileges of our civil laws. They should have a right to go to court and have an accounting of the guardianship over them. They should be permitted to enjoy the religious freedom guaranteed to the people of the United States under the constitution. They should not only have the right, but should be encouraged to organise and discuss their affairs. All these activities are necessary for progress toward an ultimate and complete citizenship.

"Education, of course, is the most potent factor in helping a race toward that goal, and your chairman, who is primarily a school woman, has ambitious but practical plans for the development of the educational system for the Indians. She looks forward to the time when the reservations schools shall be manned by trained teachers who will have contact with the homes of the children."

Mrs. Atwood traced the efforts of her committee to aid in combatting disease among the Indians. Discussing alleged injustice to them, she referred to the order of Indian Commissioner Burke prohibiting certain Indian religious dances and ceremonials.

"During the latter part of April," the speaker said, "Commissioner Burke came out to the Pueblos and demanded that the Indian boys who had been taken out of school for a few days of religious instruction be returned immediately, and that it should not occur again. He called the Indians 'half animals,' and would not shake hands with them.

"The ordinary person does not realise that the Indian's religion is a part of every act of his life. He is a Panthgist and feels that God is in everything. To take away from him his religion is absolutely to destroy all the nobler virtues in him; and in the light of the fact that the constitution of the United States guarantees religious libery, the treaty of Guadelope Hidalgo asserted that none of their ceremonies could be interfered with, and that the state enabling act contained the same assurance, it seems impossible to think that the American people would stand by and see an injustice perpetrated.

"We cannot legislate morals into anybody; that comes only through a long process of education and evolution. Since the Government does not interfere with the dances of white people, even when conducted as a part of religious ceremony, one cannot quite understand why our Indians should have their inner, precious life destroyed."

A Few Kind Words For The Lazy Men

CHICAGO, June 12.—(United Press).—Lazy men are the fathers of progress, Fred. C. Kelly of Chevy Chase, Md., said here in speaking before the Executives Club of Chicago.

"Laziness, and not necessity, has been the mother of invention," he told his listeners. He supported the contention with simple illustrations.

"It must have been the lazy cave man, tired of revisiting the spring every time he wanted a drink, who devised the first rude pail so that he might carry a supply to his dugout," he said, adding:

"Later on, some other lazy man, tired of carrying his water up hill, must have invented the pump and the windmill."

Kelly argued the efficiency of laziness. He illustrated it through the medium of the modern waiter.

"The lazy waiter in a restaurant is always the most satisfactory and the best," he said. "He brings everything that the diner will need the first trip, because he regards every extra trip as an abomination. It is the energetic waiter who brings coffee and no sugar or spoon and doesn't object to extra journeys to bring them while the coffee grows cold."

He proclaimed that the lazy man makes the best executive on the ground that:

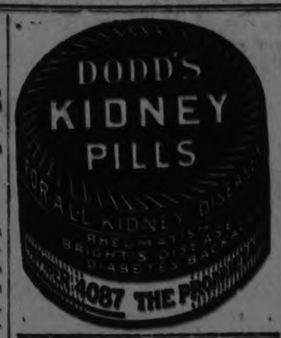
"A good executive never does anything he can get someone else to do for him. He doesn't burn up his energy in needless routine."

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS

CLEVELAND, June 11 (Canadian Press). — President Coolidge will be probably asked before night by the Republican Party leaders here for an expression of opinion respecting the vice-presidential nomination.

Nominations for president and vice-president will be made to-morrow.

Hoover, Harbord, and Curtis boom for vice-presidency seem to be at least holding their own in the lead of a large field.



CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro---Toronto Montreal--Winnipeg

SUGAR MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Continued liberal offerings brought a further decline of 1-8c in the raw sugar market yesterday, to the basis of 5.02 for Cuban, duty paid. Sales aggregated 50,000 bags Cuban, for prompt and June shipment to local refiners.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Wheat soared yesterday to nearly nine cents a bushel higher prices than were touched on Monday before the United States Government crop report was issued. The fresh advance appeared to be largely a result of huge buying that developed after one of the leading authorities in the grain trade here had expressed decided bullish views regarding world supplies of bread material.

Wheat closed unsettled 2 to 2 5-8c net higher, July $1.10 3-8 to $1.10 1-2, and September $1.12 3-8 to $1.12 1-2, with corn showing 1-4 to 1-1-4c decline; oats unchanged to 1-2c up, and provisions 10c to 22c down.

On yesterday's advance September and December deliveries of wheat over-topped the season's previous high price record, but the extreme gain failed to hold, heavy profit-taking sales leading to a reaction of about 1 to 1 1-2c at the finish.

Although the market showed something of an upward tendency during the first part of the day, the big upward swing came only after it became generally known that the president of the chief elevator interest in Chicago had gone on record as predicting that under present conditions farmers would be able to put wheat and rye values very high, and that a northern hemisphere crop shortage existed the world over.

Further impetus to the upward movement of the wheat market was afforded by unofficial estimates indicating a reduction of 5.9 per cent. in the acreage of the Canadian North-West, with a condition of 88.6 against 95.7 last year, suggesting a yield of 275,000,000 to 325,000,000 bushels compared with 450,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Notice was also taken of better milling demand.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Cattle, receipts yesterday, 14,000; beef steers and yearlings generally 10c to 25c lower; desirable handyweight kind mostly 10c to 15c off; top matured steers, $11.40; few loads, $11.00 to $11.35; long yearlings, $11.00; killing quality fed steers and yearlings unchanged; bulk fed steer and yearlings, $8.25 to $10.75; liberal supply good heavy steers, $10.50 upward; stockers and feeders, very scarce; country demand fairly active; hay-fed Montana steers on country account upward to $9.65; others to feeder dealers, $8.40 to $9.00; fat cows very scarce, steady to weak, mostly; spots 10c to 15c lower; beef heifers weak to 25c lower; other classes generally steady; bulk bologna bulls, $4.85 to $5.25; most veal calves, $9.50 to $10.50 to packers.

Hogs, receipts 32,000; slow, 10c to 15c lower; closed mostly 15c off; lightweights and pigs 15c to 25c lower; bulk good and choice 270 to 340 pound butchers, $7.10 to $7.20; top, $7.35; bulk desirable 180 to 250 pounds, $6.90 to $7.05; bulk better 140 to 170 pound average, $6.25 to $6.85; bulk packing sows largely, $6.20 to $6.50; bulk good and choice strong weight killing pigs, $5.75 to $6.00; estimated holdover, 18,000.

Sheep, receipts 13,000; lambs 25c to 50c lower; native springers mostly 50c lower; cull springers closing 50c to $1.00 off; sheep scarce, steady; bulk spring lambs, $16.00 to $17.15; top, $17.25; cull springers, $11.00 to $12.00, largely; few upward to $12.50, mostly to smaller killers; clipped lambs scarce; best, $14.75; bulk better grades, $14.00 to $14.25; choice handyweight fat ewes, upward to $6.00; heavies downward to $4.50.

Brazil's Navy Old; U. S. Mission Aiding

RIO DE JANIERO, Brazil, June 12.—(United Press).—The Brazilian navy is graudually being reorganized, with the assistance of a mission from the United States navy. President Bernardes is averse to spending any large sumes on the navy, although Brazil has a vast coast line. With the exception of two battleships, the Brazilian navy is composed of antiquated and in part obsolete vessels. Of her 10 destroyers, 8 are now in the drydocks for repairs.

The president hold that Brazil cannot at present afford heavy naval expenditures and that it should make the most of the fleet it now has, graudually substituting modern ships; Brazil has only two cruisers, the best of which was armed 27 years ago.

Babe Ruth Fans at Yankee Stadium, N. Y. — the crowd at the right-field bleachers 8-47

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, June 12.—There was a large congregation at the Cobourg Methodist Church Sunday evening where the service of song was in charge of a former organist and choir director, Mr. M. B. Chenhall, now occupying a similar position in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough. The choir of this church, accompanied by their leader, exchanged for the evening service with Mr. Frank Parkinson, and the choir of the Cobourg Church. It was a happy arrangement that passed off very successfully and enjoyably here. The pastor of the Cobourg church, Rev. F R Stillman, was at Picton attending the sessions of the Bay of Quinte conference, and so was unable to be present to hear the splendid programme put on by the Peterborough vocalists. His place, however, was ably supplied by Rev. Mr. Smith, a recent graduate of Victoria University, and a brother of Rev. Lloyd Smith, Toronto. He came to Cobourg under auspices of the Ontario Prohibition League, and gave a strong message in favor of the retention of the Ontario Temperance Act. By figures and by quoting from the statements of notable men of political and educational life, and by legal statistics, he clearly showed that Government control is not a success in the Provinces that have adopted it.

The Music.

The musical programme put on by the Peterborough choir was very much enjoyed. There were two anthems, "Son of My Soul," and "There Is a Blessed Home," a much enjoyed soprano solo, "Fear Not Ye O Israel," a male quartette, a male chorus, and other equally enjoyable numbers. The ladies of the church served the visitors with lunch before their return to the Electric City.

Services At Other Churches.

Rev. Bert Wilkinson, Port Hope, who was recently ordained to the ministry of the Baptist Church, preached excellent sermons at the Cobourg Baptist Church on Sunday at both services.

Rev. Stanley W. Edwards, of British Guiana, occupied the pulpits of the Cobourg and Coldsprings Congregational Churches on Sunday.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where the pastor, Rev. W. A. Bremner is attending the sessions of the Presbyterian General Assembly, Rev. Dr. Daley, Port Hope, preached in the morning, and Rev. Mr. Moyer, Grafton, in the evening.

Port Hope Methodist Church on Sunday had the pleasure of listening to able discourses from Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Toronto, a minister who is very popular there. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Baird, was attending the sessions of the Bay of Quinte conference at Picton.

Rev. F. W. Anderson, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Port Hope, is also away, he being at Owen Sound attending the sessions of the General Assembly, and also the sessions of an Education Council, which met previous to the Assembly. The Rev. Geo. S. Hammond, of Warkworth, was the preacher for the day on Sunday.

Rev. H. Wood occupied the pulpit of the Port Hope Baptist Church. A reminder to consider the things that matter most was couched in an announcement of this service as follows:

"The fool hath said in his heart there is no God," doubly foolish is he who knows there is a God but does not seek to please him. We assemble to worship God at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday. You are invited to worship with us.

NEW ZEALAND WHEAT SHORTAGE

WELLINGTN, N. Z., June 11.—(Associated Press).—In the course of a review of the trade outlook, Prime Minister Massey forecasts a wheat scarcity in this country. "We are 3,000,000 bushels behind in wheat production," he said, "and although I regret the necessity, we will have to go outside for wheat."

Thomas Kelly Well Known Eccle Street Man Again Ready For The North Woods

Well Known Lumberman Forced to Leave His Work and Return to Ottawa Because of Ill Health has Completely Recovered Since Using Splendid New Health Builder Phospho-Cod, which he purchased at Ahern's Drug Store.

May be you are like Mr. Kelly who live at 17 Eccle Street right here in Ottawa. Mr. Kelly was up in the lumber camp when he started to run down with Catarrh of the Stomach and all through his system was affected from the poisons of Catarrh. In fact he was so bad that he says he had to give up and come home to Ottawa.

Having great faith in a good reliable drug store, Mr. Kelly went down to Ahern's, 713 Somerset street, and asked them for the best remedy they had in the store for Catarrh and a generally run-down physical condition. They explained that Phospho-Cod, that new tonic of Hypophosphites, Malt Extract, Peptonized Iron, Wild Cherry Bark, Blood Root and Pepsin, was the best tonic that they knew anything about. This was on the fourteenth day of February. The first bottle did a wonderful amount of good and the second still more, and on Friday of last week Mr. Kelly came back to Ahern's and told them the great benefit he had received and asked them to send his statement to the Phospho-Cod people at Montreal telling what great improvement he had made on their medicine. Mr. Kelly says it built him up and put him on his feet again and cleaned the catarrh out of his entire system in just five weeks, which was some record for a man in his condition.

Thousands of Ottawa people are just like Mr. Kelly, they are all run down, cold at every little change in the weather, they don't eat right and when they do eat a good meal they suffer from it every time after. They fail to get good sleep and are tired and worn out at night and find it hard to do their work. Maybe they are nervous, fidgety and restless and have disagreeable feelings and weakness all over. Now a new way to health has been discovered in Phospho-Cod which is helping thousands just like Mr. Kelly. If you are ailing, weak, discouraged and run down from weak nerves or impoverished blood due to overwork, anxiety or worry, just follow Mr. Kelly's example. Nearly thirty of the leading druggists of the Ottawa Valley are now supplying this splendid Phospho-Cod Tonic the same as Mr. Kelly used. Just get it today and start to putting pep into that tired, run-down system of yours.

PHOSPHO-COD is for sale by Bond's Drug Store, who will be pleased to send a bottle by mail to those unable to call at the store, on receipt of 25 cents additional to pay postage. Regular price, $1.25 per pint bottle; $1.50 mailed to any address in Canada.

PETES LOSE IN NINTH AFTER EXCITING BATTLE IN WHICH HARRISON WAS PINCH PITCHER

Big First Baseman Called Upon to Save Day and Nearly Turned the Trick --Semi-Darkness Factor That Gave Ponies Last Inning Decision.

SCORE WAS 9 TO 8

Hap Harrison in the role of a pinch pitcher nearly saved the day for Petes at Kingston last night, but was robbed of a victory in the final frame by a couple of tough breaks, the Ponies winning by 9 runs to 8, and sending the million dollar counter over with two out in the last inning.

The alibi stuff is easy to locate. The final frame was played in semi-darkness, with rain clouds adding to the obscurity, and a high fly that would ordinarily have been easy for Shaughnessy was not detected until too late to make the catch.

Had the right fielder been able to lamp the drive in time the Petes would have won.

And had Harrison made a play to first base in same inning, the worst they could have got was a tie score.

Umpire Allen could have called the game at the end of the eighth, and been right, for it was too dark to play proper baseball in that final frame.

It was 7.20 when the winning run was scored, and a dull evening with rain threatening.

At that, however, nobody blamed Allen.

They are a violent bunch of fans, those Kingston rooters, and there would have been a riot if the game had been called with the Petes in front.

Harrison on the Mound.

The name of Harrison on the pitching end of the game will be a surprise to Peterborough fans as it was to the Kingston crowd last night.

How come?

Well, here's the explanation.

Charlie Serth started for the Petes but it wasn't the left hander's night. He had no "stuff," and the Ponies bumped him for six hits and the same number of runs in the first four innings, the onslaught including a clean home run by Cherry, a triple by Purvis, and a double by Batstone.

The Petes, however, were hitting, too, and were helped out by costly Pony errors, with the result that at the end of the first half of the fifth the Solomon crew were leading 8 to 6, and the Petes' pilot decided to protect that lead if possible.

Ordinarily, of course, Heckman would have led the rescue expedition, but "Heck's" arm was lame, and Harrison, who hasn't pitched in three years, was called upon to save the day.

And the big fellow almost turned the trick.

He was a little wild on the go-in, giving the Ponies a run in the fifth, making the count 8 to 7 ,but pitching coolly and effectively he blanked them for the next three innings, only to lose out in the ninth when a fly ball lost in the gloom turned victory into defeat.

Harrison, who led the Petes with the willow, slamming out three clean hits and driving in three runs, deserves all kinds of credit for his performance under the circumstances.

Had he started the game he would likely have won, for the eight runs scored by the Petes would have been ample margin in view of the stuff he showed.

An Unusual Game.

It was a funny ball game.

The Kingston crew turned in three juicy errors in the first innings, and with a single and a sacrifice fly the Petes scored four runs.

And the Ponies turned right around and hammered four counters in their half, a home run by Cherry helping materially.

Both scored a run in the second, and the Petes a pair and Kingston a single counter in the third.

It looked as if the final score would be about a couple of dozen runs aside.

Harrison stopped the Ponies, however, and Kelly, who was easy for the Petes in the first five innings, allowing eight hits, tightened up, and held them scoreless in the last four frames.

It was a nice win for the Ponies, coming as it did when to all appearances they had lost their fifth game in a row.

And it was a mighty tough game for the Petes to lose with victory in their grasp.

Belleville and Oshawa couldn't get a decision in their game, which was called on account of rain, with the score tied.

Last night's loss, therefore, sends the Petes down a notch, and they are tied with Oshawa for second place.

They can get back on the top rung by beating Belleville here on Saturday, however, and are determined to turn the trick.

The Petes got away to a great start. Legon opened with a single to left and when Johnston laid down a bunt, Kelly threw high to second trying to get Legon, who reached third on the error, Johnston going to second. Daley dropped Holyman's long fly to left, and Legon and Johnston scored. Daley was yanked, Gallagher going to left field. Serth rolled one to Batstone, who threw low to first, Holyman scoring, and Serth reached third. Swanston's sacrifice fly to Gallagher scored Serth. Shaughnessy rolled to Batstone and Teeple tossed out Hall.

The Ponies got them back in a hurry. Teeple walked, and although Compeau fanned, Batstone doubled to left, scoring Teeple from first. Cherry hit to deep centre for the circuit, scoring Batstone ahead of him. Gallagher clipped a single to left. Purvis got a life when Holyman dropped Johnston's toss to force Gallagher at second. Rickman's single to left scored Gallagher. Nickle rolled to Collins and Kelly fanned. Four all.

The invaders took the lead again for a moment in the second. After Collins and Harrison had struck out, Legon singled to centre. Johnston singled to right sending Legon to third. He scored a moment later on a wild pitch. Holyman walked, but Serth lined to Purvis.

Once more the Ponies evened it up. After Teeple had rolled to Collins and Compeau popped to Harrison, Batstone drew a walk and stole second to score on Cherry's hot single between short and third. Gallagher's roller to Harrison retired the side.

The Petes shot in front again in the third. Swanston started them on their way with a hard hit single to centre, on which Cherry made a fine stop. Shaughnessy sacrificed him to second. Hall whiffed, but Collins was walked and Harrison doubled over second, scoring Swanston and Collins. Legon fouled to Rickman.

The Ponies only got one back, and for the first time the Petes were ahead with the innings even. Purvis got a lucky triple when his fly to centre bounded away from Hall. A wild pitch scored him, after which Johnston tossed out Rickman, Nickle rolled to Harrison and Kelly struck out.

First Scoreless Inning.

The fourth was the first scoreless innings of the game. For the Petes Johnston rolled to Compeau, Holyman singled to left, Serth struck out and Swanston was thrown out by Kelly.

In the homesters' half, Teeple walked and was sacrificed to second by Compeau. Hall made a great catch of Batston's long fly to centre and Collins cuffed down Cherry's hard hit roller and got the batter at first.

The Solomon talent increased their lead in the fifth. After Shaughnessy had rolled to Compeau and Hall had fanned, Collins drove a long triple over Gallagher's head, and waltzed home on Harrison's single over second. Harrison was forced on Legon's tap to Batstone.

Harrison went to the hill top for the Petes at this stage, Heckman taking first. "Man" got away bad by hitting Gallagher and passing Purvis. Rickman hit to Johnston, forcing Purvis at second. Nickle's sacrifice fly to Legon scored Gallagher, after which Harrison fanned Kelly.

Johnston started the Petes off right in the sixth with a single over first, but Holyman, Heckman and Swanston all perished on long flies to the outfield. Nickle getting two of them and Cherry the other.

Teeple fanned in the Ponies' half, and after Compeau had singled past third, Batstone flied to Shaughnessy, a nice catch by the right fielder, and Cherry was tossed out by Johnston after Harrison had partially stopped the hard rap.

In the seventh Shaughnessy and Hall fanned and Collins fouled to Purvis.

Out of a Bad Hole.

The Petes got out of a bad hole. Gallagher led off for Kingston with a ringing triple to right centre. Purvis struck out. Rickman got a lucky single on a high one, which dropped back of Holyman.Gallagher remaining at third. Nickle hit to Collins, who held Gallagher, and then tossed out the hitter, and Harrison forced Kelly to pop a high one to Johnston, leaving the runners stranded.

In the eighth Harrison opened with his third hit in succession, a single to right. He was forced at second on Legon's bunt to Kelly. Legon died stealing. Rickman to Teeple and Johnston fanned.

Teeple first up for Kingston fanned and Compeau rolled to Johnston. Batstone walked but Legon was under Cherry's long fly to left.

Gallagher dropped Holyman's fly to left to open the ninth. Heckman fanned and when Rickman threw to first, Holyman broke for second and slid in safely. Swanston rolled to Compeau and Shaughnessy fouled to Rickman.

The Fatal Ninth

Then came the fatal inning for the Petes. With two strikes on him, Gallagher was hit. Purvis lifted an easy fly to right while Shaugnessy failed to see in time to make the catch, the ball dropping in front of him. Gallagher reached third on this play and Purvis went to second on the throw to get Gallagher. Rickman rolled to Heckman for an out at first, Gallagher scoring the tieing run. Nickle rolled one to Harrison who bluffed a throw to first trying to get Purvis. The latter tied third and everybody was safe. Kelly struck out and Harrison had two strikes on Teeple when the Kingston second sacker broke up the game by cutting a hot single past Collins. Purvis carrying the winning run over.

SHOWERS ENDED GAME IN SIXTH AT BELLEVILLE

Trunks Were After Dainty Hard and Bill Mills Clouted Three-bagger.

SCORE TIED 3 TO 3.

Oshawa Pitcher Gave Eight Hits and Each Team Had Three Errors.

BELLEVILLE, June 12 — (Special).—Rain which commenced in the fifth caused Umpire George Sullivan to call the Grand Trunks - Oshawa game here yesterday at the end of the sixth inning, when the score was three all.

The Trunks went after Dainty hard, getting eight safeties, Bill Mills clouting out a three-bagger in the first, and Hagerman and Meagher hitting two-baggers in a row in the fourth.

Stellar fielding by the Oshawa nine saved Dainty, the outfielders each pulling sensational catches. Oulette outpitched Dainty clearly, allowing but three hits, and fanning six. Dainty struck out one. Neither walked a man.

Oshawa scored all their runs on unnecessary errors by the Trunks at crucial moments after hits had put the batters on the sacks. Only nine men faced Oulette in the first three innings and he fanned four of them, three in the third inning. W. Mills' three-bagger and Meagher's single were useless in the first, H. Mills making the third down on a sensational stop by Morrison. In the third Ross sacrificed V. Weir, who had singled to second. W. Mills hit through Morrison, who missed, and Weir scored the first. H. Mills forced "Peenie" at second and he was forced in turn by Williams. With two down in the fourth Rowden singled and was advanced by Tyson to third when Oulette fumbled his roller. When W. Mills threw a high to Meagher to catch Tyson, Rowden scored. In the fourth the Trunks got two. Hagerman doubled, and Meagher doubled, scoring him. Murray fumbled Oulette's high one after A. Weir rolled out, and Ross' safety, after V. Weir flew out, sent Meagher home before W. Mills flew out when R. Fair made a sensational catch of a dangerous drive.

In the fifth Oshawa evened the score when Roddick and Wilson both singled, and R. Fair got on through H. Mills' error, dropping a wide throw by V. Weir.

Morrison rolled to Oulette, who threw to Williams, who fumbled; all safe and bases cluttered. Murray rolled to Meaghen, who fumbled, Wilson and Fair scoring. W. Fair fanned and Rowden forced Morrison at third. Roddick was caught going down.

CANADIAN TEAM IN SOUTH SEAS

Soccer All Stars Defeat Tamworth 8 to 0—Five Wins.

ON A TOUR.

TAMWORTH, N.S.W. June 12.—(By Special Cable to the Canadian Press).—Scoring eight goals while they held their opponents scoreless, the Canadian all-star football team yesterday afternoon overwhelmed the Tamworth eleven, thus adding another triumph to its string of victories. Three thousand spectators saw the game. Champman scored two of the goals, and Maclean, Sanford, Forest Ford, Herd and Armstrong, one each These players, with Mosher, Anderson, Wilson and Roseworthy made up the team. It was an easy victory for the tourists. Tamworth is the centre of a wool and wheat-growing district, One of the most important matches of the tour will be the one in Sydney on Saturday when the second test match will be played against an eleven representing Australia.

Five wins, two losses and four draws is the record of the Canadian team to date.

PETES MUST WIN ON SATURDAY TO REGAIN LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Week-end Fixture With Belleville Promises to Be Most Exciting Game of the Season.

RACE TIGHTENS

In order to get back in the lead the Petes, as a result of last night's tough one run loss at Kingston, have to beat Belleville here on Saturday.

A win over the Trunks would put the Solomon crew in undisputed possession of first place if Oshawa loses, and tied with Oshawa should the motor crew beat Kingston Saturday.

Here is the standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belleville	3	2	.600
Peterboro	3	3	.500
Oshawa	3	3	.500
Kingston	3	4	.429

Saturday's game should be a corker. With the leadership hinging on the result, both crews will be in there fighting all the way, for not only have the Petes and Trunks to watch each other, but Oshawa is right up with them, and Kingston is only a game behind the leaders. The result in every game is a fight, six of the thirteen games already played having been decided by a one-run margin.

There will be all kinds of excitement in the week-end fixture, and the Petes are hopeful of adding this game to their victory list, putting them in good shape for their series with Oshawa next week, which may be the crucial clash of the first half.

Saturday's game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp, and the crowd promises to be the biggest of the year.

Red Legon maintained his .400 clip yesterday in spite of his poisoned thumb. "Red" went into hospital immediately after the Kingston game last week, got out at noon Saturday for the Oshawa fixture, went back again for more treatment, was discharged from hospital too late yesterday morning to catch the train, motored 133 miles to Kingston and had two hits and scored two runs. You can't beat that stuff.

"Shiner" Johnston got two hits last evening, making the sixth game in succession in which he has hit safely at least once. Johnston has had one hit or more and Legon one run or more in every game played by the Petes so far.

Legon with .400, Swanston with .304 and Johnston with .280 are the leading Peterboro batters so far.

The Petes did some fine defensive work in the fourth inning last night. Hall went far back for Batstone's long high fly and immediately after Collins stopped a hot one from Cherry. There was a runner on second at the time.

The Solomon crew have only made two errors in two games at Kingston this season. Some difference from last year.

It was an unlucky break for the Petes that Daley dropped a fly in the first inning. The Petes would have scored their run anyway if he had held the ball, but he was taken out of the game, and Gallagher, who replaced him, scored three runs. It is a cinch Daly would not have been on the base paths so often.

The Ponies tried every trick they knew to work a new ball into the game in their half of the ninth. And they finally succeeded.

The Ponies had somebody on bases in every inning, and the Petes in all but one frame. That was the kind of game it was, and the fans got many a thrill.

George Street Introducde New Pitcher and Won Easily

The Cognawaga team met with their first defeat when they came up against George Street in an East Peterboro League game at the Exhibition Grounds last evening. The Cogs. got off to a good start, but let the Methodists get two runs in the second, to which they added two more in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Armstrong, who held down the rubber for George Street, pitched a good game, allowing only three hits, struck out six and walked two. Vanesse, for the Cogs., was touched for eight hits, walked three and struck out six.

Rooke starred on first base for the Cogs; ten put-outs were chalked up to his credit, four of which were unassisted. Allen also played a good game in right field, nabbing a nice fly off Fitzgerald in the second.

MAGISTRATE REFUSED TO COMMIT TWO FOR TRIAL

Forced Marriage Case in Toronto Heard in Court To-Day.

TORONTO, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Magistrate Jones, in the Police Court to-day, refused to commit David Craig Miller and his brother William for trial on a charge of having intimidated John T. O'Neil at the point of a revolver, into marrying their sister, Marion Miller.

In his evidence O'Neil declared that although neither of the accused had touched him forcibly with their hands, they had forced the revolver into his ribs.

Asked if he had protested at all during the whole affair, O'Neil replied, "No, because I was so scared."

The two brothers, it was alleged, had engaged a taxicab driver to call for O'Neil at his home on the pretext that he was to go to a house on the outskirts of the city to play a saxophone at an entertainment.

The taxicab was stopped on the road leading out of the city, and it was alleged the two brothers had entered the automobile and compelled O'Neil to accompany them to the house of a minister where the marriage ceremony took place.

A toy revolver was produced, and O'Neil identified it as one similar to the one he had seen in the hands of William Miller.

O'Neil stated that the taxicab driver was in the cab all the time, but that he did not appeal to him for proection, believing that he was in league with the brothers.

SOUTH ENDERS TOOK A FLING AT LAKEVIEWS

Fast Crescent Gang Had the Best of Five Inning Argument.

SCORE WAS 3 TO 2.

Don Cameron Pulled One Out of the Clouds.

The Lakeviews dropped another game last night, to the fast Crescent gang from the south end. They were beaten last night by a better all round team that deserves great credit for the fighting spirit in which they play. They took the lead in the first innings when they walloped the ball for three hits and two runs. The Lakeviews came back in their half of the first and evened up the score but never scored once more during the contest, that was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain and darkness. The game was full of good and bad baseball on the parts of both teams. The Crescents added another tally to their list in the second and the score stood 3 to 2 at the finish. Several times the Lakeviews were very dangerous but the Crescents managed to keep them down in good style. In the third inning the bases were crammed with two down but Jack McDonough did the trick when he fanned Marchen on three big hooks. Again in the fifth the Lakeviews filled the bases but Marchen was the unlucky man again when he popped a high fly to the first baseman and that ended the game. The Lakeviews were successful in getting their men on the runways but didn't have the punch that was needed to manufacture runs. They lacked the pep that they showed last year and turned in some rather ragged ball last evening. The team appears to fall to pieces when anybody else is pitching except Frank Whitehouse. The Crescents were right on last night and turned in a snappy game both on the field and at bat. Bill Collins at short stop mussed up a couple but made up for them when he came through with a triple and a double in two trips to the plate. Pete Milloy also came through with a double and a single in three times up, while McDonough, Rody and Rishea did the scoring for the southerners.

Lou Lebarr who worked on the slab for the Lakeview outfit turned in a smart game while he also came through with two doubles that accounted for his teams two runs. He fanned five in the five innings he pitched and allowed seven hits while he also issued one pass. McDonough for the Crescents held the Lakeviews to six hits and fanned three men. He blew up badly in the third when he walked two men in a row filling the bases but finished up in nice style when he whiffed Johnnie Marchen with three men riding the bases.

Freddie Jones in the centre garden for the Crescents turned in a nice fielding game. He scooped in three beautiful flies that saved the game for his team. Roy Taylor at first also showed some great judgment when he copped two sky scrapers,

Taylor Picked off Two.

one of which ended the game. Don Cameron at short for Lou Lebarr's boys had the feature catch of the game when he leaped into the air and pulled down a nice fly that was ticketed for a clean hit over short.

MEIGHAN PUTS A PUNCH INTO "THE CONFIDENCE MAN"

Thomas Meighan recently demonstrated that there was nothing namby-pamby about his motion picture acting when he smashed his fist through a dresser mirror in a scene for "The Confidence Man," his most recent Paramount picture, which opens at the Capitol to-day. In breaking this mirror with his fist, Mr. Meighan took the chance of a disfigurement that might have caused the end of his screen career. It so happened that he only caused a severe cut on his right thumb and several bad scratches on his hand. When he smashed the glass, bits of it flew in all directions, but luckily none of them struck him in the face.

Director Victor Heerman had five cameras turning on the scene, which is one of the dramatic punches in the story. Following the taking of the scene, Mr. Meighan was idle two days while his hand healed up enough to go one with the picture.

Realism is one of the original three R's in motion picture making.

Virginia Dale has the leading woman's role in "The Confidence Man," a crook story that will remind one of "The Miracle Man." Larry Wheat is in the cast. Others are Charles Dow Clarke, Helen Lindroth and David Higgins.

CLYDE COOK IN NEWEST COMEDY IS ONE LONG LAUGH

Clyde Cook in his newest comedy hit, "The Broncho Express," is at the Capitol Theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday to make people laugh—and Clyde never finds that very difficult!—at his burlesque on the rip-roaring days of the Early West, called "The Broncho Express."

"THE GHOST CITY"; A MOVIE SERIAL OF BIG THRILLS

"The Ghost City" will be shown every week at the Capitol every Saturday matinee, commencing next Saturday.

"The Ghost City," Universal's new chapter-play, a western story laid in one of the old deserted mining cities that make romantic reminders of gold rushes at a long dead past in the Middle West.

The story, written by Paul Bryan is laid about such a deserted city in Wyoming, which has become the rendezvous of desperadoes preying on the rich cattle regions around. Their villainies are combated by the ultra modern methods, including an airplane patrol, in a thrilling series of incidents.

Pete Morrison, noted as a Western star and daring rider, plays the principal male role, while Margaret Morris, Universal City's new "discovery," heads the feminine contingent in the east.

Bud Osborne, well-known Western "heavy," does the villain's part in the new chapter-play, and a cast of well-known standard players surround them. Frank Rice plays the eccentric character role of "Sagebrush Hilton," an old plainsman, and Slim Cole is seen as Mort Curley, one of the leading lights of the city of the past. Others in the cast are Valerio Olivio, William Quinn, and Princess Neola, who plays the role of an aged squaw, who befriends hero and heroine throughout the fast action of the play.

The thrilling airplane stunts that will mark the chapters are furnished by Al Wilson, Universal City's famous stunt flyer, whose daring work in "The Eagle's Talons" created many a thrill. Jay Marchant is director of the new chapter-play. Outdoor locations in the high Sierras, on the Mexican border and Middle West are used in the offering.

AT THE REGENT

"HALF-A-DOLLAR-BILL" IS A COMING PICTURE TREAT

Max Graf Production for Metro Promises Many Thrills, with Sea as Background for Dramatic Story of Love.

A thrilling mystery story is always interesting, but "Half-a-Dollar-Bill," the Metro picture that comes to the Regent Theatre for three days is most interesting, for it has a human appeal that will grip you and hold you until the final scenes have faded from the screen.

In this Max Graf production for Metro the tension has been tightly drawn and holds throughout the unfolding of the story. A poverty-stricken mother, deserted by her husband, leaves her infant son on the door-step of a vacant home. Discovered by a sea captain, the baby is taken to his home where, by the aid of a book of knowledge, it is looked after by the captain and his cook. The two bachelors later decided to raise the child aboard ship.

Fate takes a hand in the moulding of the boy's life on his fourth birthday, when a light cord and the quick wit of his foster father save him from the yawning jaws of the high seas. It is this same factor that prompts the little fellow to save a young woman, who is about to take her own life a few moments after the ship reaches its home port.

Bond Nearly Severed.

That bond which draws the mother to her unknown child is nearly severed time and time again during the unfolding of the unusual story, until, just when the final breaking point is reached and there seems to be no way out, truth comes like a consuming fire, enveloping the entire beings of the principals in the story.

In the role of the mother, Anna Q. Nilsson interprets one of the most absorbing roles of her brilliant career. William T. Carleton portrays a sea captain more human than we are accustomed to seeing on the screen, while Raymond Hatton, as the cook, is responsible for chasing many a tear away with his breezy comedy situations. Mitchell Lewis, George MacQuarrie, and Alec B. Francis are other prominent members of the cast.

Title Role for Child.

The title role of the story has been entrusted to little Frankie Darro, the four-year-old mite who completely captivates the hearts of his audience, as do two unusual dogs which appear prominently in the telling of the tale. Cameo, the wonder dog, who will be remembered for his work in "Penrod and Sam," is one of the dogs, while the other, who answers to the name of Irish, was discovered by Max Graf in San Francisco, and although this is his first picture, the performance he gives predicts that we will see much more of this bull dog on the screen.

Written by Curtis Benton, "Half-a-Dollar-Bill" was adapted and produced for Metro under Max Graf's personal supervision and directed by W. S. Van Dyck. Andre Barlatier was photographer and Alfred A. Cohen titled the picture.

AT THE ROYAL

PAYS $100,000 FOR FILM RIGHTS

Ince Pays Top Price to Put Famous Stage Success on the Screen

Royal Gets "Anna Christie," Conceded by Critics as the Best Picture of Recent Months

At Royal To-Night

One of the events of the screen season is the translation to the silver sheet by Thomas H. Ince of Eugene O'Neill's dramatic masterpiece, "Anna Christie." It ran for a season on Broadway and on the road in this country, and attracted so much attention with its realities and portrayal of life that it was named the best American drama of 1922 and awarded the Pulitzer prize. The play was taken to London with the original stage company, and the British capital promptly capitulated, dramatic critics writing eulogies of praise such as have been accorded no other recent American drama.

Columns of discussion of the play and of O'Neill which were given over, as a result, by such standard periodicals as "The Literary Digest" and "Vanity Fair," as well as the international press, have aroused an interest and curiosity in the film version of the play rarely accorded a production.

The trio of featured players in the Ince film offer three additional reasons for the unusual interest which has attended the screening of this play. When announcement was first made that Ince had purchased film rights to "Anna Christie" at a top-notch price of $100,000, the producer was immediately beseiged with letters and telegrams offering congratulations, advice and encouragement upon this new enterprise and expressing opinions as to the choice of an actress for the title role. With surprising unanimity the hope was expressed that Blanche Sweet, already selected by Mr. Ince as the one actress of the screen entirely suited for the role, would be named. When later announcement was made that Miss Sweet had signed a contract for the part, the producer again was showered with telegrams of congratulation.

The choice of George Marion, who created the role of "Chris," the father, in the stage play and of William Russell, for the role of "Matt Burke," the Irish stoker sweetheart of "Anna" received equal approval. Marion is acceded to be one of the artists of the stage world, both as a producer and a character actor, while Russell has won a popular following among the "fans" which makes him a termendous "box-office bet."

John Griffith Wray, known for his excellent work in Ince's "Hail the Woman," was chosen to direct the production, the continuity being written by Bradley King.

Months of exacting work, including long rehearsals of the difficult emotional scenes of the drama; thousands of dollars spent on the huge "ship sets" and on "location" where magnificent studies of the sea and of water front life were made, have resulted in one of the most finished productions ever offered picture-goers.

Coming as one of the first screen "specials" which offers a radical departure from the usual and conventional thing in pictures, "Anna Christie" promises to open the way for brilliant new offerings of the screen. Its story is one of the most daring, yet most appealing, ever told in drama.

The Most Astounding Drama in Years!

As powerful as the play—that's been said about many pictures, but never more truthfully than "Anna Christie!"

WEDDING BELLS

MARINO—MINICOLA.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at eight o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mary Angela, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Minicola, became the bride of Anthony Marino, of Bangor, Pennsylvania. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. Costello. Miss L. Hurley played the wedding march, and Miss Annie Simons sang a very pretty Ave Maria during the Mass.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white brocaded canton crepe, with tulle veil, arranged in coronet fashion, and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a large bouquet of ophelia roses and lilies of the valley and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a diamond bar pin. The bridesmaid, Miss Madelene Asta, wore a lovely frock of poudre blue georgette, trimmed with gold lace, and a picture hat of black tulle, with black satin shoes and black stockings. She wore the gift of the bridegroom, a string of pearls, and carried a bouquet of columbia roses. Two of the bride's nieces made charming little flower girls, Mathilde Pepe and Aileen Cupoli, wearing shell-pink organdie, and carrying baskets of sweetheart roses. The gifts to the flower girls were dainty signet rings, and to the best man, Mr. Michael Vecchio, of Toronto, a fountain pen.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Alfred S. Pepe, 519 Elm Street, followed by a reception to many Peterboro and out-of-town friends. Mr. and Mrs. Marino left on the C.P.R. afternoon train for an extended honeymoon in Buffalo and New York, en route to Bangor, Pa., where they will reside. The bride travelled in a costume of cocoa canton crepe, with hat, shoes and stockings to match and wrap of navy tricotine. A dance to be held this evening will conclude the wedding festivities in the traditional manner.

The bride, who had a large circle of friends in the city, received many handsome gifts.

Among the out-of-town guests present for the wedding were Mrs. Vecchio and Michael Vecchio of Toronto, and Mrs. P. White, the Misses Isabelle and Marguerite White, Mrs. D. Sabatino and Jack Sabatino, of Lakefield.

MUNRO—OLDHAM.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday in Toronto, when Hilda Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Oldham, 17 Smith street, Toronto, and recently of Peterborough, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Alexander Roderick Munro. The ceremony took place at four o'clock at the Danforth Methodist church, and was performed by the Rev. John Coulter.

The bride was charmingly attired in a combination gown of sand and blue bridal cloth, with hat, gloves and shoes to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the brides' parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro left later to spend the honeymoon in Buffalo. They will reside in Hamilton.

GRAHAM—WATSON.

ROCHESTER, June 12. — On Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in St. James' Episcopal Church, Miss Gladys M. Watson of Peterboro, Ontario, Canada, became the bride of Mr. Norman Graham of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. A. Ranson.

The church was beautifully decorated with small yellow roses and ferns. At the end of each choir loft there were large bouquets of bridal wreath and white lilacs mixed with apple blossoms and ferns. In large vases on the altar were white lilies and white lilacs. While the guests were assembling Mr. Scofield, organist of the church, gave a short organ recital. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by him. During the ceremony Mr. Carl Tupper sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The Bride was attended by Miss Irene Dyer of Peterboro as bridesmaid, Mrs. Ruth Millhofer as matron of honor and Miss Carol Tupper as flower girl. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. E. J. Millhofer as best man, and Mr. Leighton Young and Mr. Esmonde Knope, as ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Brown. She wore a gown of white georgette over white satin and her long tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honour wore a gown of yellow georgette over yellow canton crepe and she carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and orchid sweet peas tied with a large tulle bow or orchid. The bridesmaid wore a gown of orchid canton and silk lace and she carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and pink sweet peas, tied with a large yellow tulle bow. Both attendants wore silver leaves about their heads. The flower girl wore a frock of coral canton crepe and carried a small gold basket filled with sweet peas. She wore a white bandeau of satin about her head. The mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of foulard canton and a corsage of white pansies and lilies of the valley.

The bride gave her attendants friendship bracelets and her flower girl a ring. The bridegroom gave his attendants gold cuff links.

A wedding supper was served at the home of Mrs. Tupper, sister of the bridegroom. The rooms were beautifully decorated with yellow and white flowers. Five small tables were set in the living room, each decorated with yellow roses and yellow candles. The bride's table set for eight, was decorated with sweet heart roses and ferns. Tall cathedral candles were placed about the living and dining rooms. Teall served the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham left for a trip to the Catskill mountains, to be the guests of Mr. Graham's sister, Mrs. C. E. Benham of Schenectady. Upon their return they will live in Rochester.

A PROGRAM YOU SHOULD SEE

The Royal Theatre Has a Feature Picture and Program Guaranteed to Satisfy

The feature picture, Anna Christie, being presented for the first time to-night at the Royal Theatre, is a picture that should draw big crowds. It is a drama of real life and facts, and is the greatest human drama in 20 years. It is the Pulitzer prize play for which Thos. H. Inch paid $100,000 for the screen rights. Blanche Sweet has the leading roll, with an all-star caste. The whole programme is an exceptionally good one. Don't for any reasonable reason miss seeing this picture.

EXPLOSION ON A BATTLESHIP KILLED FORTY

Turret on Mississippi Blew Up at Target Practice at San Pedro.

A SCORE INJURED

Second Explosion When Shell Struck Turret Was Harmless.

SAN PEDRO, June 12.—Three officers and forty-three men were killed outright and between ten and twenty injured yesterday when Turret number two of the battleship Mississippi blew up while the dreadnought was in firing practice on the San Clements drill grounds off here.

The white hospital ship immediately proceeded from its berth to meet the dreadnought and the meeting was effected just inside the breakwater. As the transfer of stretcher cases started, a second violent explosion occurred when a 14-inch shell discharged, the projectile narrowly missing the coastwise passenger liner Yale at the harbor entrance.

The explosion of the shell was due to striking of the projectile on the turret.

No one was injured by this second explosion.

Wirelessed For Help.

The explosion occurred early in the afternoon. The battleship immediately after the accident, wirelessed the hospital ship Relief in the hour here to make ready, and made a record run of the 45 miles between the drill grounds and this harbour.

The first intimation of the tragedy that wiped out forty-six lives was when the Mississippi was reported by the Government Signal Operator at Point Firmin, headed at full speed toward the hospital ship Relief. The operator stated the vessel was plainly visible to him that either the first or second turret of it was blown up with sailors crowded around it and that it was apparent that a serious accident had occurred.

SHIPPING NEWS

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 13.—(Canadian Press).— Three Canadian and one U.S. vessel cleared yesterday from the harbors of Fort William and Port Arthur with 909,000 bushels of grain, all of which was wheat, with the exception of a part cargo of 40,000 bushels of oats which went on the Mapledawn. The Grand Island took 310,000 bushels to Buffalo. Two Canadian ships and one United States are loading grain and two are waiting orders.

The grain trade is quiet and as yet there has been no reflection here of the reported demand for wheat.

PERMIT RE-MARRIAGE

Senators Propose to Insert Clause in All Divorce Bills.

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Sir James Lougheed, in the Senate yesterday, drew attenion to the debate in the Commons, wherein objection was taken to the elimination of the clause from Senate divorce Bills, permitting the successful petitioner to re-marry. He proposed to have this inserted in all the divorce Bills.

Senator Haydon's Bill to amend the Bankruptcy Act received its second reading. This Bill proposes to widen the present interpretation of Section 20 of the Act, which governs the Commission under which trustees act.

Fawn Shot On Street In Northern Village

APSLEY, June 13.—An unusual incident occurred here one morning this week when a fawn was "shot" right in the village street by a clergyman according to current report.

Reduced to cold fact, however, the story is not so shocking as it appears. On investigation it transpires that a doe and a fawn were seen on the road just outside the village by Roy Brown. On his approach the doe leaped the fence into a field while the fawn, apparently about a week old stayed on the road. Roy caught it and brought it to Mr. Spence who promptly took a snap of it with no more deadly weapon than a Kodak. After being petted and admired by some of the fair sex it was taken back and skipped off to its dam that was still in the field, and in a few minutes both disappeared in the woods.

ITALIAN DEPUTY WAS KIDNAPPED

Fears Are Held for Safety of Matteotti of Italian Chambers.

WAS A SOCIALIST

ROME, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—A nation-wide search is being made by the police for Giacomo Matteotti, known as the "Millionaire Socialist Deputy," who has mysteriously disappeared. Matteotti has not been seen since last Tuesday. His wife, in reporting the disappearance of the deputy yesterday, said she was fearful that he had been kidnapped. He had with him when last seen a number of documents which he intended to use in a speech he was to make in the Chamber against the Government.

Premier Mussolini has ordered the police authorities throughout Italy to make a diligent search for Matteotti. The police questioned several Socialist deputies concerning the disappearance of Matteotti. The reports they received tended rather to confuse the case than solve the mystery.

Deputy Treves reported that, according to information he had received, Matteotti was kidnapped on Tuesday afternoon by men in a taxicab. The car was driven at terrific speed along the Tiber embankment. On the contrary, Signor Canihi, who is secretary to Deputy Modigliani, and who knows Matteotti well, told the police he saw the deputy on Tuesday evening not far from the Chamber. This was more than three hours after the alleged kidnapping of the deputy in the taxicab.

The incident was brought up in the Chamber of Deputies just before the afternoon's session ended.

Premier Mussolini said the Government was extremely anxious over the disappearance of Matteotti, but that he believed no harm would come to him.

Signor Gonzales, Socialist, declared the Premier's statement was inadequate — that he seemed to consider the incident a very ordinary one. Signor Chiesa, Republican, created a furore when he asserted that the Government was an accomplice in the alleged kidnapping. Bedlam then broke loose in the Chamber, during which a chair was thrown clear across the room. The session adjourned amid an uproar.

Giacomo Matteotti, who is reputed a multi-millionaire, was elected to Parliament in 1919 on the Socialist ticket and was re-elected in the recent elections.

He has been considered of fiery temperament and fearless. He is an eloquent orator and has been one of the most active members of the Chamber. Frequently he has orally castigated the Government and his adversaries in the Chamber.

STAMPEDE TO NAME LOWDEN AS RUNNER - UP

Only Wisconsin Prevented Selection Being Made Unanimous at Rep. Convention.

LOWDEN REFUSED

While Delegates Milled at Routine Business He Repeated Decision.

CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Eight candidates for the vice-presidency were formally placed in nomination at yesterday's session of the Republican National Convention, and it was apparent that support was so widely scattered among them that the convention was confronted with some balloting before it would reach a result.

Although former Governor Lowden's name was withdrawn by the Illinois delegation, his name was seconded by those insisting he should be drafted for the nomination. None of the nominations was agreed with sufficient show of strength to forecast the selection of any particular candidate.

After the leaders of President Coolidge's campaign had passed out the word for the nomination of Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, and fully expected to nominate him on the second ballot, the delegates took the matter in their own hands and nominated Lowden in a stampede. The votes for Lowden piled in so rapidly, and the changes came in such an avalanche that Senator Willis of Ohio took the platform and moved that the nomination of Mr. Lowden be made unanimous.

The only thing that prevented the nomination being made unanimous was the dissent of Wisconsin.

The convention regarded it as unanimous enough, however, and impatiently milled around waiting for the final business to be cleaned up.

Refused Nomination.

While order was being restored, William Butler read to a number of leaders a letter from Mr. Lowden, sent for the occasion, in which he declined the nomination.

Many of the leaders argued against reading the letter on the ground that the nomination was the unanimous action of the convention and that a letter to an individual should not be considered.

The letter said:

"Though I greatly appreciate the honor, I hereby decline the nomination for Vice-president just tendered me."

It was signed "Frank O. Lowden," and was undated.

After some dispute the letter was read to the convention and Senator Willis then moved that it be laid on the table.

On the motion when it came to a vote, the convention seemed to be closely divided.

A roll was demanded.

There was objection to that, however, and finally on motion of Mr. Warren, the convention recessed until 9 o'clock in order that the chairman of the convention might communicate directly with Mr. Lowden himself and make a report.

Again Declines.

At 9.20 it was announced that Lowden had again declined the nomination.

"I thank the convention, but I must decline the nomination," Mr. Lowden said. "So far I have always kept my word to the public when I have given it. I shall do so now," Mr. Lowden added.

"I told the public I was not, and would not, be a candidate for Vice-President. I'll not go back on my word."

REFER DISPUTES TO THE BOARD

Senate Committee Drafts Amendments to Industrial Disputes Act.

PENALTIES IMPOSED

OTTAWA, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—The Senate Railway Committee devoted two sessions yesterday to consideration of the amendments to the Industrial Disputes Act. It was arranged to consider these in the Railway Committee so that evidence could be given by representatives of both employers and employees. The amendments proposed are to clarify the action that it is made obligatory on the party seeking a change in wages or working conditions to:

(a) Make application for a board if an agreement by negotiation is not reached, and (b) to abstain from making changes effective in conditions or wages until the board has rendered its report which is the intent of the law.

Violation of these conditions are prescribed against the employer for a lock-out and employee for a strike. There was no penalty against making a cut in wages.

The amendments make clear the penalty in all cases of violation of $100 to $1,000 per day on employer and of $1 to $10 per day on each employee. After and extended hearing the bill was reported. Among those giving evidence for employees were: L. T. Pelletier, Railway Conductors; T. Coughlin, trainmen; J. T. Foster, acting president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council; J. McLelland, Charles Dickie and J. McKinnon, Railway Shopmen; J. A. Bell, Railway Telegraphers. For employers: J. Bateman, Ontario Mining Institute, and Col. J. J. Penhale, Asbestos Mine Operators, Quebec.

CHARLES DAWES WAS NOMINATED

Accepts the Vice-Presidency From Republicans

MARIETTA, Ohio, June 13. — Brigadier-General Charles G. Dawes last night accepted the nomination for Vice-Presidency. "I accept the nomination by the Republican party for Vice-Presidency," he said in a formal statement when informed of his nomination. "I deeply appreciate the honor conferred." Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois, was nominated for Vice-Presidency last night by the Republican National Convention after it once had nominated Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, and he had refused to accept the place.

In a brief and spectacular fight, in which William M. Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager, had said to Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, "It must be Hoover," and Senator Reed had replied, "It can't be done, it must be Dawes," the Dawes supporters marshaled their forces and put the General across for nomination.

DARK HORSE IS FRANCE'S HOPE

Doumergue Refuses to Withdraw and Painleve Fails of Majority.

CHAOS IN CHAMBER

PARIS, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—The identity of the successor to Alexandre Millerand as President of France, which yesterday morning had appeared to be almost certain in the persons of either Paul Painleve, President of the Chamber of Deputies, or Gaston Doumergue, President of the Senate, had yesterday evening become clouded by a thick pall of political uncertainty and the agitated lobbies of Parliament turned to discussion of possible dark horses.

The failure of M. Painleve to receive a sufficient number of votes in the caucus of the coalition of the Left parties to insure his election at the National Assembly at Versailles to-day, seemed to improve the chances of M. Doumergue, but the refusal of the Socialist group to support the latter left the new majority of the Chamber in a quandary which seemed soluble only through the selection of a third man.

Three persons are being discussed as possible compromise candidates, Senator Jules Pams, who was a candidate against Raymond Poincare when the latter was elected in 1913; George Leygues, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Chamber and first Premier under President Millerand, and Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical party, who had been slated to succeed M. Poincare, as Premier.

Refuses to Withdraw.

After the caucus yesterday a delegation representing leaders of the Left, waited upon M. Doumergue and suggested that both he and M. Painleve retire in favor of a third candidate, but M. Doumergue declared he had never proposed his candidacy and had nothing to withdraw. He was in the hands of his friends and would not forbid them to vote for him, he added.

Leaders of the Left also tried to induce M. Painleve to make room for a third choice, but he asserted he would be a candidate at Versailles until he was defeated in the actual balloting, thus strengthening the impression that the deadlock between the coalition groups in the Chamber and Senate would be insoluble unless a dark horse were found.

The reverse suffered by the new majority in the Chamber caused great emotion throughout the afternoon. In the lobbies of both Houses of Parliament, the general impression was that M. Painleve was out of the running and that the position of M. Herriot had been much weakened by the unexpected turn of events.

The National Assembly will meet at Versailles to elect a Chief Executive, with the Right parties, which were defeated by universal suffrage, holding the balance of power and capable of electing whichever candidate they decide to swing their votes to.

Nationalists Jubilant.

Both M. Doumergue and M. Painleve belong to the Radical party. The former was the leader of the party in the Senate before he was elevated to the Presidency, while M. Painleve was largely instrumental in the Left coalition's success in the May elections. Doumergue, a milder

Delegation of Leading Business Men and Officials Meet Heads at Rochester.

By a staff Reporter

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 13.— A delegation composed of leading business men and public officials from Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope and other points in the Central Ontario district, crossed from Cobourg to Rochester with Warden Fowld's complimentary excursion on the Ontario Ferry Company's line on Wednesday and in the afternoon held a conference with officials of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway, and city officials and autoists of Rochester. The object of the gathering was to provide the installation of an auto ferry service between this city and Cobourg, a matter that has been under consideration for the past 12 years.

The result of the conference was that the Canadian delegation received the assurance that the matter would be taken up at once by the City officials and the railway and that every aspect of the problem would be given careful consideration.

The B. R. and P. road owns half the stock of the Ontario Ferry Company and the putting in of a car ferry rests with them. This was thoroughly explained to the delegation by Capt. Nicholson, manager of the ferry, in an informal meeting of the delegates held on the steamer on the way over. So far as Cobourg is concerned the question presents no difficulty as the roadway is on the level of the decks of the steamers on which the autos would be carried All that would be necessary would be to cut an entrance for the cars in the side of the boat. Capt. Nicholson is convinced that such an innovation would mean increased revenue for the company. With him, he admits, it is all business, not sentiment.

At the American Dock

It is different on the American side. At the Genesee dock in Charlotte at which the boats land on this side, there is a bank 80 feet in eight, the space between the hill and the river being just wide enough for a railway track. At present it is impossible to get an auto near the ferry boats. To overcome this difficulty it would be necessary to construct an electrically operated elevator to raise and lower the cars or to construct a roadway round the base of the hill and either projects would be expensive, the cost devolving upon the rail way. The elevator would be the more feasible plan but the first cost would be greater than that of a roadway and the expense of maintenance must be taken into account.

Meeting at Rochester

Auto owners on the American side are as much in favor of a car ferry as are the Canadians. When the delegates arrived in the city they were met at the depot by members of the Rochester motor club and taken in cars to the offices of the railway company. The members of the delegation were:

Reeve W. M. Fowlds, Warden, Hastings, Counties of Northumberland and Durham; Mayor J. J. Turner, Peterborough; Mayor Col. F. D. Boggs, Cobourg; Mayor G. A. Smith, Port Hope; H. Phillips, ex-Warden of Counties of Northumberland and Durham; J. J. Duffus, vice-president, Ontario Associated Chambers of Commerce, Peterborough; B. W. Squires, Reeve of Norwood; J. W. Seeking Canadians To Enact Pageants In Wembley Stadium

LONDON, June 13.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The committee which has in hand the Canadian pageant that is to be presented in July in the stadium at Wembley reported last night that offers from Canadians to participate in the pageant are coming in fairly well but considering that 15,000 performers will be necessary such offers could be considerably increased without causing the committee inconvenience.

Members of the Canadian club here will represent the fathers of confederation in a scene in which the signing of the articles of confederation will be witnessed. After the signing of the historic document performers representative of the different provinces will come forward and place maple wreaths on the brows of the fathers of confederation.

MURDOCK DIDN'T VIOLATE HONOR

Only Information He Got Was From G. N. Gordon, Committee Finds.

ENTIRELY INNOCENT

OTTAWA, June 13.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor was exonerated by a majority of 14 to 8 of the committee on Privileges and Elections yesterday afternoon from the charge that, in withdrawing $4,050 from his deposit in the Ottawa branch of the Home Bank on the 15th of August he had violated the honor and tradition of Parliament by acting on information secured in his capacity as a cabinet minister. The committee majority not only found that the charges were not proved but rather that they were entirely disproved. The Conservatives on the committee dissenting from this conclusion supported a motion by Mr. Porter that the charges had been substantiated.

What carried was an amendment by W. M. German to Mr. Porter's main motion. The division on this amendment affirming Mr. Murdock's innocence was carried on the following division.

Yea's — Bureau, Ethier, Findlay, German, Hammell, Jacobs, Johnston, Kelly, Kyte, Logan MacDonald, (Pictou), Morrison, Sexsmith and Vien—14.

Nay's—Brown, Guthrie, Hanson, Miss McPhail, Porter, Ryckman, T. J. Stewart and H. S. Stewart—8

Two Progressives,— J. L. Brown and Miss MacPhail voted with the Conservatives.

Text of Motions

The Text of the Conservative and Liberal motions on the Murdock charges before the house privileges and election committee was:

E. Guss Porter (Conservative, West Hastings), after citing the house resolution referring the charges to the committee moved:

"And having heard the evidence given by all witnesses submitted in support of the charge contained in said resolution and all evidence and statements made in answer thereto and examined all exhibits filed on such enquiry beg leave to report as follows:

"(1) That the charges contained in the said resolution have been proven and sustained."

To this, W. M. German (Liberal, Welland), moved in amendment:

"The evidence taken by the committee shows that the Hon. James Murdock on the 15th of August, 1923, drew out of the Home Bank of Canada at its Ottawa branch, the sum of $4,050 but there is no evidence to show that before drawing out said sum he had received information as a cabinet minister of the probable failure of said bank. The evidence also shows that only information Mr. Murdock had of the probable failure of said bank was received as a private citizen from Hon. G. N. Gordon in a friendly interview on the 9th of August, 1923.

"The committee finds that the Hon. James Murdock did nothing in connection with the withdrawal of said money from the Home Bank contrary to his obligation as a minister of the crown or in derogation of his office and the honor, dignity and traditions of parliament and that the charge submitted to this committee for investigation, so far as it affects the honor of Mr. Murdock, is not only not proved but entirely disproved."

EIGHT INJURED IN RAIL WRECK NEAR CAMBRAY

List of Victims Increased by Latest Reports From Scene of Accident.

TWO MAY DIE

Cars Turned Completely Over Say Passengers Who Were Rolled on Roof.

THE INJURED.

A. D. Hodgins, Toronto, cut and bruised. Critical.

Taylor Parkin, of Uxbridge, seriously injured about the head and perhaps internally. Little hope for recovery.

Simon Dumond, Woodville, badly cut about the face, and injured about the shoulders.

George McKim, Millbrook, commercial traveller, bruised about the head and body bruises.

Pat J. White, of Lindsay, cut on the head and injured leg. Slight.

John Gregg, Seaforth, commercial traveller, hurt on the back of the head and suffering from injured leg. Slight.

Fred Silversides, of Uxbridge, auctioneer, injured bodily, bruised.

F. D. Blanchard, Lindsay, shaken and bruised. Slight.

(Special to the Eraminer.)

LINDSAY, June 12. — Six of the eight passengers injured in the wreck of the Toronto mixed on the C. N. R. east of Cambray village on Thursday, are in the Ross Memorial Hospital here.

Taylor Parkin of Uxbridge, is the most seriously injured and little hope is entertained for his recovery. He is 82 years of age and was on his way home from Fenelon township, where he has been visiting with his son.

Messrs. P. White of Lindsay, and John Gregg of Seaforth, were not taken to the hospital, and are at present at the Hotel Benson.

Mr. F. D. Blanchard of Lindsay, was not included in the first list of the injured on Thursday. He received a severe shaking up and his body was also badly bruised.

A. D. Hodgins of Toronto, was not included in the first list of the injured. He was badly cut and bruised and according to the hospital authorities, is in a critical condition.

Conductor W. McCarty received a shaking up but was able to render much aid to the injured.

The C.N.R. authorities have not yet determined the cause of the accident.

The train left the track on a high embankment, and the roadbed has been torn up for three car lengths.

Strange to say none of the train crew were injured. Baggageman T. Griffin was in the baggage-car when it overturned, but he escaped without a scratch.

The Lindsay auxiliary is working at the scene of the wreck, and it is expected that the track will be cleared in the morning.

Story of the Wreck.

The wrecked train was in charge of Conductor W. McCarty and Engineer W. Brumfield. When the cars left the track a telegraph pole was demolished, and telegraphic communication was therefore demoralized.

From information gathered from the victims of the wreck it appears that the train had just left Cambray and was gathering up speed, when suddenly the passengers were warned that something was amiss when a baggage coach and the passenger coach began to bump on the ties. The brakes weer apparently applied quickly, but the cars bumped along a considerable distance before they finally left the road bed and flopped over in a fairly deep ditch, the baggage car rolling over on its side on one side of the track, and the passenger coach taking the other side of the ditch. The passenger car apparently rolled clean over a couple of times, and the the passengers in it were the most seriously hurt.

EXPLOSION ON A BATTLESHIP KILLED FORTY

Turret on Mississippi Blew Up at Target Practice at San Pedro.

A SCORE INJURED

Second Explosion When Shell Struck Turret Was Harmless.

SAN PEDRO, June 12.—Three officers and forty-three men were killed outright and between ten and twenty injured yesterday when Turret number two of the battleship Mississippi blew up while the dreadnought was in firing practice on the San Clements drill grounds off here.

The white hospital ship immediately proceeded from its berth to meet the dreadnought and the meeting was effected just inside the breakwater. As the transfer of stretcher cases started, a second violent explosion occurred when a 14-inch shell discharged, the projectile narrowly missing the coastwise passenger liner Yale at the harbor entrance.

The explosion of the shell was due to striking of the projectile on the turret.

No one was injured by this second explosion.

Wirelessed For Help.

The explosion occurred early in the afternoon. The battleship immediately after the accident, wirelessed the hospital ship Relief in the hour here to make ready, and made a record run of the 45 miles between the drill grounds and this harbour.

The first intimation of the tragedy that wiped out forty-six lives was when the Mississippi was reported by the Government Signal Operator at Point Firmin, headed at full speed toward the hospital ship Relief. The operator stated the vessel was plainly visible to him that either the first or second turret of it was blown up with sailors crowded around it and that it was apparent that a serious accident had occurred.

SHIPPING NEWS

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 13.—(Canadian Press).— Three Canadian and one U.S. vessel cleared yesterday from the harbors of Fort William and Port Arthur with 909,000 bushels of grain, all of which was wheat, with the exception of a part cargo of 40,000 bushels of oats which went on the Mapledawn. The Grand Island took 310,000 bushels to Buffalo. Two Canadian ships and one United States are loading grain and two are waiting orders.

The grain trade is quiet and as yet there has been no reflection here of the reported demand for wheat.

Fawn Shot On Street In Northern Village

APSLEY, June 13.—An unusual incident occurred here one morning this week when a fawn was "shot" right in the village street by a clergyman according to current report.

Reduced to cold fact, however, the story is not so shocking as it appears. On investigation it transpires that a doe and a fawn were seen on the road just outside the village by Roy Brown. On his approach the doe leaped the fence into a field while the fawn, apparently about a week old stayed on the road. Roy caught it and brought it to Mr. Spence who promptly took a snap of it with no more deadly weapon than a Kodak. After being petted and admired by some of the fair sex it was taken back and skipped off to its dam that was still in the field, and in a few minutes both disappeared in the woods.

ITALIAN DEPUTY WAS KIDNAPPED

Fears Are Held for Safety of Matteotti of Italian Chambers.

WAS A SOCIALIST

ROME, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—A nation-wide search is being made by the police for Giacomo Matteotti, known as the "Millionaire Socialist Deputy," who has mysteriously disappeared. Matteotti has not been seen since last Tuesday. His wife, in reporting the disappearance of the deputy yesterday, said she was fearful that he had been kidnapped. He had with him when last seen a number of documents which he intended to use in a speech he was to make in the Chamber against the Government.

Premier Mussolini has ordered the police authorities throughout Italy to make a diligent search for Matteotti. The police questioned several Socialist deputies concerning the disappearance of Matteotti. The reports they received tended rather to confuse the case than solve the mystery.

Deputy Treves reported that, according to information he had received, Matteotti was kidnapped on Tuesday afternoon by men in a taxicab. The car was driven at terrific speed along the Tiber embankment. On the contrary, Signor Canini, who is secretary to Deputy Modigliani, and who knows Matteotti well, told the police he saw the deputy on Tuesday evening not far from the Chamber. This was more than three hours after the alleged kidnapping of the deputy in the taxicab.

The incident was brought up in the Chamber of Deputies just before the afternoon's session ended.

Premier Mussolini said the Government was extremely anxious over the disappearance of Matteotti, but that he believed no harm would come to him.

Signor Gonzales, Socialist, declared the Premier's statement was inadequate — that he seemed to consider the incident a very ordinary one. Signor Chiesa, Republican, created a furore when he asserted that the Government was an accomplice in the alleged kidnapping. Bedlam then broke loose in the Chamber, during which a chair was thrown clear across the room. The session adjourned amid an uproar.

Giacomo Matteotti, who is reputed a multi-millionaire, was elected to Parliament in 1919 on the Socialist ticket and was re-elected in the recent elections.

He has been considered of fiery temperament and fearless. He is an eloquent orator and has been one of the most active members of the Chamber. Frequently he has orally castigated the Government and his adversaries in the Chamber.

STAMPEDE TO NAME LOWDEN AS RUNNER - UP

Only Wisconsin Prevented Selection Being Made Unanimous at Rep. Convention.

LOWDEN REFUSED

While Delegates Milled at Routine Business He Repeated Decision.

CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Eight candidates for the vice-presidency were formally placed in nomination at yesterday's session of the Republican National Convention, and it was apparent that support was so widely scattered among them that the convention was confronted with some balloting before it would reach a result.

Although former Governor Lowden's name was withdrawn by the Illinois delegation, his name was seconded by those insisting he should be drafted for the nomination. None of the nominations was agreed with sufficient show of strength to forecast the selection of any particular candidate.

After the leaders of President Coolidge's campaign had passed out the word for the nomination of Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, and fully expected to nominate him on the second ballot, the delegates took the matter in their own hands and nominated Lowden in a stampede. The votes for Lowden piled in so rapidly, and the changes came in such an avalanche that Senator Willis of Ohio took the platform and moved that the nomination of Mr. Lowden be made unanimous.

The only thing that prevented the nomination being made unanimous was the dissent of Wisconsin.

The convention regarded it as unanimous enough, however, and impatiently milled around waiting for the final business to be cleaned up.

Refused Nomination.

While order was being restored, William Butler read to a number of leaders a letter from Mr. Lowden, sent for the occasion, in which he declined the nomination.

Many of the leaders argued against reading the letter on the ground that the nomination was the unanimous action of the convention and that a letter to an individual should not be considered.

The letter said:

"Though I greatly appreciate the honor, I hereby decline the nomination for Vice-president just tendered me."

It was signed "Frank O. Lowden," and was undated.

After some dispute the letter was read to the convention and Senator Willis then moved that it be laid on the table.

On the motion when it came to a vote, the convention seemed to be closely divided.

A roll was demanded.

There was objection to that, however, and finally on motion of Mr. Warren, the convention recessed until 9 o'clock in order that the chairman of the convention might communicate directly with Mr. Lowden himself and make a report.

Again Declines.

At 9.20 it was announced that Lowden had again declined the nomination.

"I thank the convention, but I must decline the nomination," Mr. Lowden said. "So far I have always kept my word to the public when I have given it. I shall do so now," Mr. Lowden added.

"I told the public I was not, and would not, be a candidate for Vice-President. I'll not go back on my word."

REFER DISPUTES TO THE BOARD

Senate Committee Drafts Amendments to Industrial Disputes Act.

PENALTIES IMPOSED

OTTAWA, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—The Senate Railway Committee devoted two sessions yesterday to consideration of the amendments to the Industrial Disputes Act. It was arranged to consider these in the Railway Committee so that evidence could be given by representatives of both employers and employees. The amendments proposed are to clarify the action that it is made obligatory on the party seeking a change in wages or working conditions to:

(a) Make application for a board if an agreement by negotiation is not reached, and (b) to abstain from making changes effective in conditions or wages until the board has rendered its report which is the intent of the law.

Violation of these conditions are prescribed against the employer for a lock-out and employee for a strike. There was no penalty against making a cut in wages.

The amendments make clear the penalty in all cases of violation of $100 to $1,000 per day on employer and of $1 to $10 per day on each employee. After and extended hearing the bill was reported. Among those giving evidence for employees were: L. T. Pelletier, Railway Conductors: T. Coughlin, trainmen; J. T. Foster, acting president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Council; J. McLelland, Charles Dickie and J. McKinnon, Railway Shopmen; J. A. Bell, Railway Telegraphers. For employers: J. Bateman, Ontario Mining Institute, and Col. J. J. Penhale, Asbestos Mine Operators, Quebec.

CHARLES DAWES WAS NOMINATED

Accepts the Vice-Presidency From Republicans

MARIETTA, Ohio, June 13. — Brigadier-General Charles G. Dawes last night accepted the nomination for Vice-Presidency. "I accept the nomination by the Republican party for Vice-Presidency," he said in a formal statement when informed of his nomination. "I deeply appreciate the honor conferred." Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois, was nominated for Vice-Presidency last night by the Republican National Convention after it once had nominated Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois, and he had refused to accept the place.

In a brief and spectacular fight, in which William M. Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager, had said to Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, "It must be Hoover," and Senator Reed had replied, "It can't be done, it must be Dawes," the Dawes supporters marshaled their forces and put the General across for nomination.

DARK HORSE IS FRANCE'S HOPE

Doumergue Refuses to Withdraw and Painleve Fails of Majority.

CHAOS IN CHAMBER

PARIS, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—The identity of the successor to Alexandre Millerand as President of France, which yesterday morning had appeared to be almost certain in the persons of either Paul Painleve, President of the Chamber of Deputies, or Gaston Doumergue, President of the Senate, had yesterday evening become clouded by a thick pall of political uncertainty and the agitated lobbies of Parliament turned to discussion of possible dark horses.

The failure of M. Painleve to receive a sufficient number of votes in the caucus of the coalition of the Left parties to insure his election at the National Assembly at Versailles to-day, seemed to improve the chances of M. Doumergue, but the refusal of the Socialist group to support the latter left the new majority of the Chamber in a quandary which seemed soluble only through the selection of a third man.

Three persons are being discussed as possible compromise candidates, Senator Jules Pams, who was a candidate against Raymond Poincare when the latter was elected in 1913; George Leygues, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Chamber and first Premier under President Millerand, and Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical party, who had been slated to succeed M. Poincare, as Premier.

Refuses to Withdraw.

After the caucus yesterday a delegation representing leaders of the Left, waited upon M. Doumergue and suggested that both he and M. Painleve retire in favor of a third candidate, but M. Doumergue declared he had never proposed his candidacy and had nothing to withdraw. He was in the hands of his friends and would not forbid them to vote for him, he added.

Leaders of the Left also tried to induce M. Painleve to make room for a third choice, but he asserted he would be a candidate at Versailles until he was defeated in the actual balloting, thus strengthening the impression that the deadlock between the coalition groups in the Chamber and Senate would be insoluble unless a dark horse were found.

The reverse suffered by the new majority in the Chamber caused great emotion throughout the afternoon. In the lobbies of both Houses of Parliament, the general impression was that M. Painleve was out of the running and that the position of M. Herriot had been much weakened by the unexpected turn of events.

The National Assembly will meet at Versailles to elect a Chief Executive, with the Right parties, which were defeated by universal suffrage, holding the balance of power and capable of electing whichever candidate they decide to swing their votes to.

Nationalists Jubilant.

Both M. Doumergue and M. Painleve belong to the Radical party. The former was the leader of the party in the Senate before he was elevated to the Presidency, while M. Painleve was largely instrumental in the Left coalition's success in the May elections. Doumergue, a milder

Delegation of Leading Business Men and Officials Meet Heads at Rochester.

By a staff Reporter

ROCHESTER, N.Y., June 13.— A delegation composed of leading business men and public officials from Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope and other points in the Central Ontario district, crossed from Cobourg to Rochester with Warden Fowld's complimentary excursion on the Ontario Ferry Company's line on Wednesday and in the afternoon held a conference with officials of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway, and city officials and autoists of Rochester. The object of the gathering was to provide the installation of an auto terry service between this city and Cobourg, a matter that has been under consideration for the past 12 years.

The result of the conference was that the Canadian delegation received the assurance that the matter would be taken up at once by the City officials and the railway and that every aspect of the problem would be given careful consideration.

The B. R. and P. road owns half the stock of the Ontario Ferry Company and the putting in of a car ferry rests with them. This was thoroughly explained to the delegation by Capt. Nicholson, manager of the ferry, in an informal meeting of the delegates held on the steamer on the way over. So far as Cobourg is concerned the question presents no difficulty as the roadway is on the level of the decks of the steamers on which the autos would be carried All that would be necessary would be to cut an entrance for the cars in the side of the boat. Capt. Nicholson is convinced that such an innovation would mean increased revenue for the company. With him, he admits, it is all business, not sentiment.

At the American Dock

It is different on the American side. At the Genesee dock in Charlotte at which the boats land on this side, there is a bank 80 feet in eight, the space between the hill and the river being just wide enough for a railway track. At present it is impossible to get an auto near the ferry boats. To overcome this difficulty it would be necessary to construct an electrically operated elevator to raise and lower the cars or to construct a roadway round the base of the hill and either projects would be expensive, the cost devolving upon the rail way. The elevator would be the more feasible plan but the first cost would be greater than that of a roadway and the expense of maintenance must be taken into account.

Meeting at Rochester

Auto owners on the American side are as much in favor of a car ferry as are the Canadians. When the delegates arrived in the city they were met at the depot by members of the Rochester motor club and taken in cars to the offices of the railway company. The members of the delegation were:

Reeve W. M. Fowlds, Warden, Hastings, Counties of Northumberland and Durham; Mayor J. J. Turner, Peterborough; Mayor Col. F. D. Boggs, Cobourg; Mayor G. A. Smith, Port Hope; H. Phillips, ex-Warden of Counties of Northumberland and Durham; J. J. Duffus, vice-president, Ontario Associated Chambers of Commerce, Peterborough; B. W. Squires, Reeve of Norwood; J. W. Fraser, president of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce; W. J. Corbett, Reeve of Cobourg; N. F. McNachtan, clerk and treasurer Counties of Northumberland and Durham; Dr. P. E. Doolittle, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, Toronto, Ont.; Major J. P. Beatty, Ontario Motor League, Toronto; G. A. Hodgson, Ontario Motor League, Toronto; S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, Peterborough; Leon Frazer, secretary, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce; W. R. Widdess, Peterborough Rotary Club; W. D. Tyrer, Peterborough Motor Club; W. P. Luke, Cobourg Motor Club; E. L. Jex, Cobourg Rotary Club; H. McGuire, Deputy Reeve, Cobourg; H. K. McCallum, secretary, Board of Trade, Cobourg; J. E. Russell, D. Batton, F. J. Seeking Canadians To Enact Pageants In Wembley Stadium

LONDON, June 13.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The committee which has in hand the Canadian pageant that is to be presented in July in the stadium at Wembley reported last night that offers from Canadians to participate in the pageant are coming in fairly well but considering that 15,000 performers will be necessary such offers could be considerably increased without causing the committee inconvenience.

Members of the Canadian club here will represent the fathers of confederation in a scene in which the signing of the articles of confederation will be witnessed. After the signing of the historic document performers representative of the different provinces will come forward and place maple wreaths on the brows of the fathers of confederation.

MURDOCK DIDN'T VIOLATE HONOR

Only Information He Got Was From G. N. Gordon, Committee Finds.

ENTIRELY INNOCENT

OTTAWA, June 13.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor was exonerated by a majority of 14 to 8 of the committee on Privileges and Elections yesterday afternoon from the charge that, in withdrawing $4,050 from his deposit in the Ottawa branch of the Home Bank on the 15th of August he had violated the honor and tradition of Parliament by acting on information secured in his capacity as a cabinet minister. The committee majority not only found that the charges were not proved but rather that they were entirely disproved. The Conservatives on the committee dissenting from this conclusion supported a motion by Mr. Porter that the charges had been substantiated.

What carried was an amendment by W. M. German to Mr. Porter's main motion. The division on this amendment affirming Mr. Murdock's innocence was carried on the following division.

Yea's — Bureau, Ethier, Findlay, German, Hammell, Jacobs, Johnston, Kelly, Kyte, Logan MacDonald, (Pictou), Morrison, Sexsmith and Vien—14.

Nay's—Brown, Guthrie, Hanson, Miss McPhail, Porter, Ryckman, T. J. Stewart and H. S. Stewart—8

Two Progressives,— J. L. Brown and Miss MacPhail voted with the Conservatives.

Text of Motions

The Text of the Conservative and Liberal motions on the Murdock charges before the house privileges and election committee was:

E. Guss Porter (Conservative, West Hastings), after citing the house resolution referring the charges to the committee moved:

"And having heard the evidence given by all witnesses submitted in support of the charge contained in said resolution and all evidence and statements made in answer thereto and examined all exhibits filed on such enquiry beg leave to report as follows:

"(1) That the charges contained in the said resolution have been proven and sustained."

To this, W. M. German (Liberal, Welland), moved in amendment:

"The evidence taken by the committee shows that the Hon. James Murdock on the 15th of August, 1923, drew out of the Home Bank of Canada at its Ottawa branch, the sum of $4,050 but there is no evidence to show that before drawing out said sum he had received information as a cabinet minister of the probable failure of said bank. The evidence also shows that only information Mr. Murdock had of the probable failure of said bank was received as a private citizen from Hon. G. N. Gordon in a friendly interview on the 9th of August, 1923.

"The committee finds that the Hon. James Murdock did nothing in connection with the withdrawal of said money from the Home Bank contrary to his obligation as a minister of the crown or in derogation of his office and the honor, dignity and traditions of parliament and that the charge submitted to this committee for investigation, so far as it affects the honor of Mr. Murdock, is not only not proved but entirely disproved."

EIGHT INJURED IN RAIL WRECK NEAR CAMBRAY

List of Victims Increased by Latest Reports From Scene of Accident.

TWO MAY DIE

Cars Turned Completely Over Say Passengers Who Were Rolled on Roof.

THE INJURED.

A. D. Hodgins, Toronto, cut and bruised. Critical.

Taylor Parkin, of Uxbridge, seriously injured about the head and perhaps internally. Little hope for recovery.

Simon Dumond, Woodville, badly cut about the face, and injured about the shoulders.

George McKim, Millbrook, commercial traveller, bruised about the head and body bruises.

Pat J. White, of Lindsay, cut on the head and injured leg. Slight.

John Gregg, Seaforth, commercial traveller, hurt on the back of the head and suffering from injured leg. Slight.

Fred Silversides, of Uxbridge, auctioneer, injured bodily, bruised.

F. D. Blanchard, Lindsay, shaken and bruised. Slight.

(Special to the Eraminer.)

LINDSAY, June 12. — Six of the eight passengers injured in the wreck of the Toronto mixed on the C. N. R. east of Cambray village on Thursday, are in the Ross Memorial Hospital here.

Taylor Parkin of Uxbridge, is the most seriously injured and little hope is entertained for his recovery. He is 82 years of age and was on his way home from Fenelon township, where he has been visiting with his son.

Messrs. P. White of Lindsay, and John Gregg of Seaforth, were not taken to the hospital, and are at present at the Hotel Benson.

Mr. F. D. Blanchard of Lindsay, was not included in the first list of the injured on Thursday. He received a severe shaking up and his body was also badly bruised.

A. D. Hodgins of Toronto, was not included in the first list of the injured. He was badly cut and bruised and according to the hospital authorities, is in a critical condition.

Conductor W. McCarty received a shaking up but was able to render much aid to the injured.

The C.N.R. authorities have not yet determined the cause of the accident.

The train left the track on a high embankment, and the roadbed has been torn up for three car lengths.

Strange to say none of the train crew were injured. Baggageman T. Griffin was in the baggage-car when it overturned, but he escaped without a scratch.

The Lindsay auxiliary is working at the scene of the wreck, and it is expected that the track will be cleared in the morning.

Story of the Wreck.

The wrecked train was in charge of Conductor W. McCarty and Engineer W. Brumfield. When the cars left the track a telegraph pole was demolished, and telegraphic communication was therefore demoralized.

From information gathered from the victims of the wreck it appears that the train had just left Cambray and was gathering up speed, when suddenly the passengers were warned that something was amiss when a baggage coach and the passenger coach began to bump on the ties. The brakes weer apparently applied quickly, but the cars bumped along a considerable distance before they finally left the road bed and flopped over in a fairly deep ditch, the baggage car rolling over on its side on one side of the track, and the passenger coach taking the other side of the ditch. The passenger car apparently rolled clean over a couple of times, and the the passengers in it were the most seriously hurt.

THE GUMPS—THE WHITE KNIGHT

BANDITS MADE A LARGE HAUL

Robbed a Train and Secured a Million Dollars

ONE MAN KILLED

CHICAGO, June 13. — Train robbers riding in four autos, last night held up the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train at Rondout, some 32 miles from Chicago, engaged in a pistol battle with the trainmen, in which one of the bandits was killed, and made off with 40 pouches of registered mail; mail bags contained bonds and currency from the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank valued at a million dollars.

The robbery was one of the biggest and most daring in railroad history, and was carried out by four automobile loads of bandits.

The train was en route from Chicago to St. Paul, and consisted of eight mail coaches and two express cars. It carried more than twenty mail clerks and guards, all armed, but only those in three cars were compelled to face the guns of the robbers. Those cars carried registered and first-class mail. The robbers forced their way into the cars by breaking the windows and throwing bombs filled with chlorine gas. Clerks and guards, nearly overcome, were forced to open the doors and allow the robbers to enter. The officials are certain that the hold-up was arranged by men thoroughly familiar with railroad and railway mail clerks' work.

CANADIAN EXHIBIT ALWAYS THRONGED

Panoramic Effects Attract the Wembley Crowds.

Tolmie Given Complimentary Dinner.

LONDON, June 13 (Canadian Press Cable). — A complimentary dinner was given here last night in recognition of the success of A. W. Tolmie, Dominion Exhibition Commissioner, as manager of the Canadian section of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, and a large number of Canadians were present to testify to their appreciation of what Mr. Tolmie had accomplished in his managerial capacity.

The best witness to Commissioner Tolmie's success at Wembley, however, is the daily spectacle of the Canadian pavilion being more thronged than any other building on the grounds.

Probably the success of the Canadian section of the big show in drawing the greatest crowds is largely due to the panoramic effects so freely introduced in the pavilion, whereas in some of the other pavilions, excellent though the exhibits are, there is such a quantity of detail that the exhibits fail to hold the attention of the majority of the visitors.

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED

Motion Condemning Australian Government Was Defeated in House.

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 13 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — A motion condemning the Bruce Government's action in "paying large sums to the Imperial Government and the British and Australian Wool Realisation Association without Parliamentary sanction" was moved in the House of Representatives yesterday by J. Scullin, Labour member, and was defeated by a vote of 39 to 26.

Notice of J. Scullin's motion was given on 5th June, and Premier S. M. Bruce said then it would be regarded as a vote of censure on the Government. The result of the vote as announced shows that the Government was sustained on the division.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 13. — (Canadian Press).—H. A. Young, a 1924 graduate in engineering from the University of Manitoba, has been granted a commission to erect a Federal Government wireless station at Herschel Island, according to word received here yesterday.

STARTS OFFICIAL CRUSADE.

NEW YORK, June 13. — (United Press).—The National Committee for the prevention of Blindness has started a campaign against mail order optical houses which it claims are selling glasses without even asking for any symptoms, without the slightest sort of examination of the eyes of the prospective purchaser, and without even an inquiry as to the condition of the eyes. These concerns are said to be located largely in Chicago and St. Louis.

DOCTORS DISCOVERED BRAND NEW DISEASE

CHICAGO, June 13. — Invented very recently, a new disease was presented at the American Medical Association convention yesterday by Dr. Marshall Clinton of Buffalo. He called it "Subcostalgia," but a much better name, his colleagues agreed, would be "housewife's rib."

The disease manifests itself by sharp shooting pains in the side, until Dr. Clinton's diagnosis was accepted many physicians mistook it for appendicitis, gall bladder infection, kidney trouble, or other serious ailment. The cure consists in an operation to remove the tip of a floating rib.

IMPROVE RAILWAYS

All Interested Provinces Will Discuss the Railway Problem.

WINNIPEG, June 13 (Canadian Press). — With a view to reaching some definite policy respecting the railway situation in Northern Canada, a conference between Dominion Cabinet ministers and representatives of all provinces interested will be held in Winnipeg during the month of July.

The exact date of the proposed meeting will be guided by the adjournment of Parliament.

It will be the purpose of the gathering to face the real facts in connection with the railway situation.

Maps will be studied, data collected, reports of engineers reviewed, and costs computed.

It is expected that some acceptable and workable plan for the future railway service of Northern Alberta and British Columbia will be reached. Together with other transportation questions of importance, the Hudson Bay Railway may come up for discussion.

INSPECTOR McCAFFERY TO TAKE CHARGE CASE

TORONTO, June 13. — A decision to again exhume the body of William Hone, the Elma township cattle man, found dead at his home on aMy 28, with a bullet wound in his head, was reached following the arrival in Toronto yesterday of Inspector McCaffrey of Kitchener, who has taken charge of the case for the provincial police.

When the body is exhumed again a skilled pathologist with a special knowledge of bullet wounds, will conduct an autopsy. One of chief coroner Graham's experts in this city will likely be chosen for the special post mortem.

TORONTO, June 13. — (Canadian Press.)— Death claimed another victim of motor car accident at Queen street and Balsam avenue on May 25 when Gordon Rappe, aged 24 years, of Hanover, died in St. Michael's Hospital yesterday afternoon. Last night his condition was reported as being improved.

W. EDWARDS NOMINATED FOR CONTEST ON JULY 7.

TORONTO, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—At the largest Liberal-Conservative convention in the history of North-west Toronto riding and which was held last night, W. H. Edwards, leather goods manufacturer, was nominated as candidate for the Legislature by election for Seat "A" to be held on July 7th next. He was chosen on the third ballot out of a field of five aspirants, amongst whom the runner up for nomination was ex-Alderman Wesley Benson, with Sam Harris also commanding good following of delegates' votes.

FIRST BALLOT FOR THE NEW PRESIDENT

VERSAILLES, June 13.—(British United Press).—The historic Chamber of the Palace of Versailles was jammed to suffocation to-day when M. Doumergue, as President of the Senate, presided at the opening of the National Assembly.

Last minute secret caucuses of the Left groups, participated in by nearly 800 members of the combined Senate and Chamber, created doubt as to what course the members of the Left would pursue if more than one ballot were required to elect a President of the Republic. As the regulations provide that tehre shall be no discussion, the Assembly immediately commenced voting, filing up to the Tribune and dropping sealed envelopes in the ballot box. The first ballot was expected to take two hours.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Death of Mrs. John Beattie—Army Officers Transferred

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — Mrs. John Beattie, whose maiden name was Miss Margaret McKelvie, died at the home of her brother, Mr. Henry McKelvie in Seymour on Thursday forenoon. The deceased was about fifty years of age. She, with her husband, Mr. John Beattie, lived in Seymour when they were first married and later moved to Guelph. About a year ago she was in very poor health and kept getting worse. A few months ago Mr. and Mrs. Beattie came down to the old homestead of the McKelvies, where she lived as a girl and they have been there while she has been so ill, with her brother Henry. She leaves no family. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon.

This band was here about a year ago and gave splendid music not only in the Army citadel, but on the street as well.

It is with regret that the people of Campbellford learn of Ensign Froud and Lieutenant Hurst being transferred from the Army to some other place. They will be given a farewell in about three weeks.

CARRIERS PROTEST

Nothing Can Be Done Without Action of Parliament, Says Premier.

OTTAWA, June 12.— (Canadian Press).—Unless parliament changes its mind concerning the jurisdiction of the civil service commission over salaries of civil servants, nothing can be done concerning a protest from the letter carriers' association against what they consider unfair treatment by the commission. Premier King so informed W. F. Maclean (Conservative, South York), when Mr. Maclean asked if the government had received the carriers' protest that the civil service commission had placed them on a lower scale than the rest of the postal workers. The prime minister said the protest had been received, but had given the commission the rights to decide such matters. Right-Hon. Arthur Meighen asked if the government had not, however, approved the decision of the commission. The premier replied that it had.

SMALL BANK LOSS.

One Twelfth of One Per Cent in Twenty Years Says Finlayson.

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press). — The rate of losses on deposits in chartered banks during the last twenty years in Canada was one-twentieth of 1 per cent., stated Superintendent Finlayson of the Insurance Department, in evidence before the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee yesterday.

This rate was calculated, he explained, on the average annual value of deposits, which were $1,228,000,000 over the twenty year period.

Mr. Finlayson stated that during these twenty years there were thirteen bank failures.

Nine of these banks had paid depositors in full. The Bank of St. John had paid 30.2 cents on the dollar; the Bank of Vancouver, 6 cents; the Farmers' Bank had paid nothing yet, but liquidation was not complete; the Home Bank would probably pay 65 cents on the dollar.

ELEVATOR APPROVED

Exporter Says Government Project at Prince Rupert is Sound.

MONTREAL, June 13. —(Canadian Press).—The proposal of the government to establish a grain elevator at Prince Rupert, B.C., is economically sound, according to James Carruthers, Montreal grain exporter. Mr. Carruthers stated that he felt the elevator would be of great use in the course of the next few years and would give the farmers of the west another outlet for their grain.

Comparing the elevator at Prince Rupert with the government scheme to complete the Hudson Bay route, Mr. Carruthers stated that it would be far better economy to construct the elevator and abandon the Hudson Bay scheme and declared that as a grain port the Hudson Bay idea would never be realized.

LINDSAY CASE SETTLED.

Emily Man Sued His Son For Value of Chattels.

LINDSAY, June 13 (Special to The Examiner). — An interesting action between two Emily residents, father and son, was settled out of County Court yesterday morning, after a conference between the solicitors for plaintiff and defendant, L. O'Connor of Lindsay and W. F. Huycke of Peterborough.

It was an action in which M. C. McCarroll, of Emily, sued his son, Mr. Bert McCarroll, to recover the value of certain stock and implements delivered to the latter in accordance with the terms of a lease of plaintiff's farm for a period of twenty years.

The defendant left the farm within five years following a disagreement, before doing so selling the stock and implements.

The father contended that his son was only entitled to the use of the stock and implements during the period of lease.

The defendant set up a counter claim for money expended and work done on the dwelling of the plaintiff.

According to the settlement arrived at, the action was dismissed, as well as the counter-claim of the defendant, and that each party pay his own costs.

The settlement arrived at is to be a full settlement of all claims held by either on the parties hereto.

BRITAIN PAYS DEBT

Monday Will See Payment of $69,000,000 Interest Installment.

NEW YORK, June 13 (Canadian Press).—Payment of the next interest installment on the British debt falling due June 15, totalling slightly less than $69,000,000 will be made Monday, almost entirely in cash, J. P. Morgan and Company, fiscal agents of the British Government announced yesterday.

A small portion of the amount will be paid in Treasury certificates, but no direct use of Liberty bonds or gold will be made.

Current balances of the British Government, in New York, it is planned, will be concentrated on one bank, probably the First National, on which J. P. Morgan and Company will draw a check to the New York Federal Reserve Bank for United States Treasury account.

REDS RAISE FUNDS

Communist Organizations Said to be Active at Head of the Lakes.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 13. —Suspicion has been aroused among the authorities at the head of the lakes, by alleged "Red" activities, it being claimed that communist organizers are here from the west with the avowed purpose of raising the sum of half a million dollars to be devoted to red and communist propaganda.

The modus operandi is stated to be through raffles for cars and other valuable articles, tickets being sold for far beyond the value of the article to be drawn for and even if there should be a car given away the funds of the Reds would be increased by a very tidy sum, while if as supposed the car drawing is only a blind, all the money from the sale of tickets would go to the Red treasury. The authorities are preparing to scrutinize very closely any attempts to organize these drawings.

HINTS EARLY ELECTION

Labor Would Become Proficient in Two or Three Years, Says Warne.

LONDON, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—G. H. Warne, junior lord of the treasury, in a speech at Seghill Northumberland, yesterday, hinted at the probability of a general election in the approaching autumn. He said the other parties had realized that if labor had two or three years experience in handling the country's affairs they would become so efficient that there would be a poor chance of beating them at the polls Consequently the older parties would probably bring about an election for party purposes.

THE SOUTH CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The decision on the part of the Board of Education to make some extensive repairs and alterations to the old South Central building represents only a temporary policy so far as more Collegiate Institute accommodation is concerned.

The system will be never satisfactory until the whole Collegiate Institute enrollment is housed together, and the pupils at present accommodated in the South Central building are brought into the community life of the Collegiate Institute.

In the meanwhile, however, the building as it stands at present is unfit for the uses to which it is put.

Its sanitary arrangements are antiquated and unsatisfactory, and its heating facilities of no real service.

It must be put in shape even for its present use, and when the Collegiate pupils come into their own the South Central building would then be available as a junior public school.

More public school accommodation will be needed, and already children have a long way to travel to reach the schools to which they are assigned.

The renovated South Central would be of service to meet this condition, and because of that fact, and also because of the necessity of using it for Collegiate Institute classes at present, the proposed expenditure can be justified.

WILL IT WORK?

Hamilton has joined the list of cities that have advanced the date of the municipal elections in order to secure, if possible, a larger turn-out of electors.

The first Monday in December will be election day for the Ambitious City instead of New Year's Day, the date on which voting has hitherto taken place.

The question of a similar change in Peterborough has been discussed more than once, but the proposal has not yet got beyond the discussion stage.

So far as the size of the vote polled on New Year's Day, taking the average over a number of years, there is no questioning the fact that the holiday season does not bring out sufficient voters to be a real expression of public opinion.

The problem in this respect is the same in practically every Ontario city, and while there is no guaranteeing much better results from a change in dates that will take the election out of the holiday season, many municipalities seem to be working on the theory that conditions in this respect cannot be made worse and probably would be improved by the adoption of an earlier date.

The drawback to the scheme is that defeated members of the Council remain in office for a month after the election, not the most desirable thing, of course, but perhaps this difficulty would be considered as more than wiped out if more voters could be induced to exercise their franchise.

THE RIGHT COURSE.

The majority of people will be inclined to agree that Attorney-General Nickle was right and James Hales, K.C., Ontario License Commissioner, was wrong in their respective attitude toward the Orangeville case, in which officers encharged with the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act were said to have used high school boys in securing a conviction.

The evidence was conflicting, but the Attorney-General has given the benefit of the doubt to the boys in question, who said they bought a bottle of whiskey as evidence and tasted it with the officers.

The Examiner does not believe that the citizens of this Province want the Ontario Temperance Act administered in a manner that requires the services of school boys to detect the offenders.

They would prefer the Act to be broken in a thousand places to bringing boys of that calibre and age within such influences as apparently existed in this case.

Some of Mr. Raney's methods of enforcing the measure were harshly criticized, but there are aspects of the Orangeville case that impress one as more open to complaint than any action of the former Attorney-General's officials.

In putting his foot down upon such practices and in doing away with the services of such officials, Mr. Nickle is following a course that will be widely approved.

Corrupting the youth of the Province is too high a price to pay for the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act.

WILL GERMANY EVER PAY?

Getting blood out of a turnip is easy, compared with extracting reparations from Germany. That much is becoming apparent, though it's hard to get at the truth. Both sides color their statistics. Figures don't lie, but liars figure, as Kin Hubbard remarks.

In 1923, for instance, according to the Reparations Commission, the Allies were able to squeeze out of Germany only about the equivalent of three and a quarter million dollars in cash reparations.

The Germans, in addition, delivered 111 million dollars worth of manufactured goods and other commodities on reparations account.

These two items do not include whatever France and Belgium were able to make in the way of profits out of their occupation of the Ruhr.

By the time the expenses of the armies of occupation were paid, not much was left in the way of net indemnity.

Up to the beginning of 1924, Germany had paid a total of only a little more than two million dollars, the Reparations Commission claims.

A third of this amount was in the form of deliveries of ships, war materials, cables and territory, including the Saar mines.

Apparently Alsace-Lorraine is not included under surrendered territory. Nor the German colonies. These are worth billions.

Even considering these figures with an eye for propaganda, it's evident that Germany has not paid a cent more than she had to. For that matter, she never will.

How many nations would? Any?

At the peace conference, European diplomats began talking about reparations of from 36 to 180 billion dollars. Some of the American financial experts who were present said: "Germany will pay five billion dollars cash surely, six billions possibly, but not more than seven."

What Germany should pay and what she will pay, are separate and distinct matters.

All the gold that's left in Germany wouldn't be a drop in the bucket compared with what the Allies want, France in particular.

How, then, will Germany pay? Her imports still are exceeding exports—unless she's juggling her figures, which is more than likely.

The leading nations want Germany to sell goods abroad, build up favorable trade balances and turn the money over to the war winners. Then the same nations surround themselves with high tariffs and every other conceivable fence to keep out German goods. They favor selling—but to some one else.

Skeptics, have a glimmering suspicion that reparations payments will depend mainly on the length of time required until Germany will feel strong enough to point to her new crop of cannon fodder and announce that she's through paying. Maybe, though, as optimists hope, she'll pay voluntarily.

THE CHICAGO CANAL.

The earnest and unanimous protest of Parliament yesterday against the diversion of water from the Great Lakes to the Mississippi through the Chicago canal—be it drainage, power or prospectively transportation—is sure to attract the attention of Congress and the American Executive. There cannot be the smallest doubt about the equity of the matter. The water which Chicago is tapping is an international asset. It cannot be depleted without injury, and possibly grave injury, to Canada.

The mere fact that Chicago is so geographically situated that it can practically reverse the order of nature and draw the St. Lawrence River into the valley of the mississippi, has absolutely nothing to do with the rights and wrongs of the case. It might be possible, for instance, for Canada to dam up that part of the St. Lawrence which is wholly within her territory to the great injury of certain American lake cities; but it would be an international crime for her to exercise that power.

In order to realize how totally without moral foundation is the Chicago contention, one has only to push it to its logical conclusion. If Chicago has the right to divert our water to such an extent that the average levels in our ports and channels are lowered by one foot or ten feet, she has the same right to divert the whole flood that lies in the basin of the Great Lakes, and so to ruin Eastern Canada out of hand. This would be nothing short of an act of war; and would be so regarded by every civilized people. Therefore, we may be quite confident that the American nation will not, on ripe second thought, permit any action at Chicago which will constitute even a serious plundering of our proper natural assets.

* * * *

Some of the speakers at Ottawa seemed to be under the impression that Congress can be bullied. They want to lay down a barrage of strong language of which they notoriously enjoy a plethora. It is quite likely that most of them know better. They only pay the Canadian public the poor compliment of imagining that they are fooled by and gladly feast upon that sort of buncombe. But if any of them have any illusions on the subject, they might consult Japan. Japan mal-adroitly warned the American Government that the proposed exclusion law might carry "grave consequences"—which it indubitably will—and that very phrase was cleverly used by the friends of the bill to push it through an indignant Senate.

The thing we want to remember is that, on this question, the United States is not acting as a nation, but as a hundred and ten million individuals, most of them totally disinterested and others divided. The American nation is not taking and will not take hostile action as such against Canada. The whole thing is very simple and human. Chicago wants a drainage canal. The rushing water through it suggests to clever observers that it might also be a power canal. Possibly some dreamers imagine that they might dig out a navigable river.

The Lake Erie American cities suddenly discover that Chicago's "leak" is lowering the water along their wharves. They protest. American shipping interests protest. The whole dispute goes to Washington where it is largely a question of political "pull." Here is where Canada can intervene effectively. We can say, with justice, that it is a moral as well as a shipping question. Chicago is "stealing" our water. That will interest a great many of the disinterested majority. It ought to turn the tide in favor of the Lake Erie ports and decent conduct as between neighbors.

Even if Mackenzie King puts the entire Canadian Navy in commission and Mr. Meighen laid in a fresh stock of biting epithets, it is not likely that more would be accomplished.—Montreal Star.

A Thought

WHAT DO WE PLANT?

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ship, which will cross the sea.
We plant the mast to carry the sails;
We plant the plants to withstand the gales—
The keel, the keelson and beam and knee;
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the house for you and me.
We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors,
We plant the studding, the laths, the doors,
The beam and siding, all parts that be;
We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see;
We plant the spire that out-towers the crag,
We plant the staff for our country's flag.
We plant the shade, from the hot sun free;
We plant all these when we plant the tree.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 13.—With the exception of a few straggling tailenders the cattle section at the Union Stock Yards was sold out on Wednesday. Total receipts of cattle for the four days was 6,097 and the scales registered 6,293 weighed up. The difference is accounted for by some carrying over last week and some re-weighed. Receipts yesterday morning were 10 cars; 54 cattle, 40 calves; 445 hogs and 37 sheep and lambs. The volume of offerings was too insignificant to make a market and nothing could be said regarding and change in undertone.

The stocker trade is very slow and two loads of westerns in last Monday are still on the market. Among yesterday's left overs were a few poor quality baby beeves, offering at $6 a cwt. A small bunch of fresh butchers' steers sold from $6.85 to $7.80, the latter being in the close to choice class. In anticipation of warmer weather, the abattoirs are not too anxious to have too much beef on hand this will be a factor of some importance from now on.

Rogers and Maybee are holding 410 export cattle for shipment next, but will be prepared to take any new offerings on Monday. A few good cows sold well and without any change. The tops made $6.10 and $6 a cwt. Only two bulls were sold, one of fair quality and one other just out of the bologna class. For a good springer Shields and Co. got $80.

Any calves and lambs on sale sold at steady prices. Good calves sold around 10 cents, and a bunch of good mediums at $8.75 a cwt. For five spring lambs, 63 lbs. each, $17 a cwt. was paid, and some around 52 lbs. brought only $13.

Hogs are quoted unchanged at $7.50 a cwt. bid f.o.b. Some sales were made at this on Wednesday but the prices was not general. Salesmen said that yesterday's price was not below $7.75 f.o.b.

GERMANY IS SWINGING AWAY FROM REPUBLIC

Try, for Instance, to Buy a Republican Flag, Red, Black and Gold.

By CARL D. GROAT

BERLIN, June 13. — (United Press).—Germany is still a republic.

At least, that is the label on the bottle, though now and again one has to shake the bottle well to know exacty what the contents are.

Try for instance to buy a republican flag—black, red and gold—in Germany. The storekeeper looks at you in amazement and then stammers half apologetically, half defiantly:

"We don't carry republican flags in stock. You see there isn't much demand for them. And, then, one can't tell; there might be a revolution and then we'd stock up with goods of which we could never be rid."

A bright idea strikes him, though. He can sell the patron material wherewith to make such a flag.

That is how the few republican flags in Germany come into existence.

The Betty Rosses of the republican camp make them, at least the few that exist.

One sees on certain holidays a few flags flying from the government buildings in the Wilhemstrasse. But otherwise they are rarer than Chinamen with whiskers.

The absence of republican flags in the new German republic may appear trivial in itself, but it is fairly significant of the trend of the times.

Has Hard Sledding.

The republic is having hard sledding. It may pull through. France had many ups and downs before her republic was finally established firmly.

But there is a swing toward reaction and toward monarchism that is constantly becoming more and more apparent. The "Deutscher Tag" in Halle was a sample of the movement. This was scarcely ended before the monarchists sought to have new celebrations in Berlin and elsewhere, though they encountered governmental prohibitions.

This means little. Germany will have more such days before the summer is out, in all probability.

The Crown Prince and Crown Princesses are given ovations when they appear outside Oels. Ludendorff, the beer-cellar Putschist, is a hero to an amazingly large number of his countrymen. Monarchist papers reported, with indignation, that the Crown Prince's son appeared at the Halle "Deutscher Tag" but amazingly, kept himself in the background.

Incidentally, the monarchists there overstepped all restrictions imposed by the socialist Prussian ministers—and got away with it.

German laborers, hitherto republican or radical, did nothing to prevent moving extra trains for the Fascisti, though a few years ago they undoubtedly would have sabotaged such a movement. Governmental authorities, announcing that there would be no "special trains" for the Fascisti, subsequently explained lamely that the special trains provided for the demonstrators really weren't special trains at all. They were just "extra," because of "heavy traffic."

These are small incidents, but taken in the mass they spell a growth of the monarchistic idea.

There are republican elements in Germany—men and women who dread the thought of living again under such autocracy as "Wilhelm by the Grace of God, Kaiser of Prussia" practiced. But to date their voices have been too feeble, or their courage too small, to stem the growing wave from the other side.

NICHOLAS BIDES TIME UNTIL HE MAY RESTORE THE ROMANOFFS TO THRONE

One Time Leader of Russia's Armies Lives Quietly in Outskirts of Paris and is Guarded by Cossacks.

(By Milton Bronner.)

SANTENY - SERVON, FRANCE, June 13.—Back in the early years of the world war, Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch commmanded the Czar's great armies.

He owned palaces and estates all over Russia. Before he took the field with his troops he lived the life of a royal prince and wealthy nobleman.

But to-day he is a simple country try gentleman in the little Chateau of Choiny, on the outskirts of this humble hamlet where for centuries time has stood still.

His command, once numbering millions is reduced now to 20 faithful Cossacks. His household does not now exceed 8 or 10 persons, and his table is the plainest.

Popular in Village.

It sounds like a tragic tale—and in part it is. But the man who due to the machinations of the last of the czarinas, was deprived of his title of generalissimo of the Russian armies, and sent into practical exile in the Caucasus; the man who practically was a prisoner of the Bolsheviks before he managed to escape to Italy, is abiding his hour.

Although 68, he still is vigorous, straight as the Russian pine, well over six feet tall, and but a little grayer than in his campaigns of 1914-16.

He and his friends are confident that soon the call for service will come. Meanwhile he lives in an isolation one would think impossible in a place only an hour by train from Paris.

Two or three trains a day stop at at the station called Santeny - Servon. The village itself is a mile and a half away. Here you find some 200 souls most of whom are employed as farm hands in the surrounding wheat country of Brie.

Although this country voted heavily for the parties of the Left Wing in the recent elections, the Grand Duke is popular with the peasantry.

They call Nicholas' rented estate the Chateau of Choiny—but it isn't a castle. It is more like a French country residence—a low rambling two-story white structure, with geranium beds around it and bowered in horse chesnuts, locusts and other trees flowering at this time of the year.

Cossacks Guard Him.

The grounds are enclosed by tall fences. The big barred iron gates are kept locked. France has many communists and Bolsheviks who might harm the greatest of the living Romanoffs.

That is why at night the 20 Cossacks are on guard. That is why a half dozen police dogs are let loose on the grounds. That is why by day the French government has sent down there to do duty at the porter's lodge a special agent of the French Surete Generale.

In spite of the fact that many of the surviving Romanoffs not long ago chose Grand Duke Cyril—now living at Nice—as protector of the rights to the old throne, thousands of loyal Russians the world over look upon Nicholas as the man who ultimately will deliver Russia from the Soviets.

Nicholas wanders about his grounds in the ordinary clothes worn by Frenchmen of the leisure class. He never goes to Paris.

Considerable part of his time is spent in writing a history of the first part of the great war. Long years ago he wrote a history of Russia under one of the great Czars. So by writing now, he simply is returning to one of his early loves.

Most of his guests are Russians, who escaped the Soviet Cheka, and who have information to place at his disposal.

It is significant that most of the able Russians come to Santeny to report to him, instead of going to Nice to report to Cyril.

TAILOR-MADE COSTUME FAVORITE CANDIDATE

They Are Unanimous In The Support of the Dark Dress or Suit.

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

CLEVELAND, O., June 13—The tailormade costume is the favorite candidate for sartorial honors of the women attending the Republican National Convention.

They are as unanimous in the support of the dark dress or suit, small hat, colorful scarf and smart pumps as they are of their presidential candidate of their platform.

Whatever the woman politician may have to learn about conventions, she certainly knows already how to dress.

You would travel far to find a more stylish looking woman than Mrs. Harry Wardman, associate member of the national committee from the District of Columbia.

In her chic black suit, black sailor and red scarf she might easily pass for a style model.

Mrs. Charles Sabin of New York, president of the Woman's National Republican Club and associate member of the Republican National Committee from her state, brought with her an extensive and well selected wardrobe.

Besides a black tailleur of faultless line, she has a brown silk three-piece costume, lined with the same figured silk that forms the major portion of the dress that is frankly of Paris inspiration.

One of her evening gowns of black satin, low cut and very plain, is very gorgeously set off by diamond and emerald earrings.

For women can carry a tailored costume with such distinction as Mrs. L. G. Woods of Pittsburg, are as effective in drapery and flowing lines, as she. But she wears both exceptionally well.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth always stands out in any crowd because of the quiet elegance of her gowns. She has some very smart close hats, which she invariably removes as soon as she enters the convention hall or her hotel.

Another striking figure is Mrs. George Orvis of Vermont, who is associate member of the national committee from that state and also mayor o fthe town of Manchester. She has a smart tailleur of navy blue with pleated skirt, short box coat, and a scarf of Chinese red crepe.

A striking scarf worn by Mrs. Florence T. Griswold, associate member from Texas, is of black silk edged with alternate rows of black and white monkey fur. It usually accompanies a suit of beige.

A beautifully embroidered coat of sand colored silk is worn by Mrs. Barnett E. Marks of Phoenix, Ariz. She also has some smart hats, of the type that turn away from the face.

Though the women declare they have come to Cleveland on business, and that clothes are of secondary importance at this time, it is easy to see that they did not assemble their wardrobes hurriedly or without giving considerable thought to the bringing out of their best points.

IMPROVE MEAT FLAVOR

The flavor of lean or dry meat is much improved by larding it with bits of fat salt pork or bacon.

MAKING TEA.

Freshly boiled water should always used in making tea. It is never wise to add new leaves to those already steeped for a second serving. It is much better to brew an entirely fresh supply.

HOUSE HAS ADOPTED LIBERAL AMENDMENT

OTTAWA, June 12 (Canadian Press). — By a vote of 14 to 8, the Privileges and Elections Committee of the House of Commons today adopted the Liberal amendment finding that the charges against the Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour, were "not only not proved but entirely disproved."

The amendment was moved by W. M. German, Liberal member for Welland, and followed the motion by Gus Porter, West Hastings, that the charges against Mr. Murdock had been proved.

In the charges made by Mr. Porter in the House, Mr. Murdock was accused of having used information obtained as a Cabinet Minister, in withdrawing $4,050 from the Ottawa branch of the Home Bank, two days before the crash.

During the argument E. B. Ryckman, Conservative member for East Toronto, declared that Mr. Murdock "is constituted, if I may use the word, by his own refusal to say that it was not through his official information."

Put me back on stand and ask me those questions", challenged Mr. Murdock, jumping to his feet, Chairman warned Mr. Murdock that he must not interrupt.

Mr. Rickman argued that onus was upon Mr. Murdock to prove his innocence and minister had failed to do it.

"That is such an astounding proposition that it requires no argument." declared Mr. German, speaking for defence. "Gentlemen of Committee, you couldn't convict a cat on that sort of evidence," he continued after reviewing what witnesses had said in regard to meeting of Home Bank directors and members of cabinet on night of May 14th. Vote on amendment was:

For—Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs; E. Thier, (Liberal, Two Mountains); Findlay, (Progressive, South Bruce), German (Liberal Welland); Hammell, (Liberal, Muskoka); Jacobs, (Liberal, George Etienne Cartier); Johnston (Progressive, Last Mountain); Kelly, (Liberal, Cape Breton, North); Kyte, (Liberal, Cape Breton, South); Logan, Liberal, Cumberland); Hon. E. M. Macdonald, Minister of Defence, Morrison, (Progressive, Weyburn); Sexsmith, (Progressive, Lennox and Addington); Vien (Liberal, Lot Bieniere), —14.

Against—Brown (Progressive Lisgard); Hon. Hugh Guthrie, (Conservative); Hanson, (Conservative, York, Sunbury); Miss MacPhail, (Progressive, S. E. Grey); Porter, Conservative, West Hastings); Rickman, (Conservative, East Toronto); Stewart, (Conservative, Hamilton); Stewart, (Conservative, Leeds).—8.

Committee then adopted motion as amended on same vote reversed four Progressives voted with the Liberals two including Miss MacPhail voted with Conservatives.

U. S. TOO BUSY TO GROW OLD HAPPILY

Business Won't Allow a Patient to Forget His Responsibilities.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.—(United Press.)—How to grow old successfully was told to-day by Dr. H. H. Drysdale, Cleveland, to the convention of the American Medical Association here.

The "frenzied finance" habit is responsible for a lot of unsuccessful age, he declared.

"It won't allow a patient to forget his responsibilities, and he must do that if he's to prosper in health," he explained.

"The national sin of overeating is another barrier to happy old ages. It's one of the heaviest burdens an elderly man can have."

But overeating may decrease because of prohibition, he added, declaring that alcohol, taken before meals, had been an important cause of gluttony.

"The advent of prohibition, with the disappearance of chronic alcohol cases, will do much to lower the death rate," he declared, and he warned the physicians:

"Make no compromises with such patients or you will fail in your mission. Your duty is to appeal to such patients' reason for a sane and rational mode of life."

America is in the midst of an "epidemic of injuries," Dr. J. Howard Beard of the University of Illinois, Urbana, told the convention.

"Railroad crossing tragedies, auto accidents, exhaust gas poisonings, caused by motor cars, industrial accidents and suicides caused by the strain of modern city life are taking the place of the old time menaces to life," he said.

"When Gorgas drained yellow swamps, when Pasteur discovered vaccines, when Lister developed aseptic, surgery, and hundreds of other doctors developed cures, the old menaces had been solved.

"But now the suicide rate is about that of the whooping sough death rate. About as many people were killed in crossing accidents last year as died of scarlet fever in 1920. Fatalities resulting from auto accidents in 1923 are about the same as those from diphtheria and scarlet fever combined. Accidental deaths in industries are about equal to the total of deaths from measles, whooping cough and diphtheria. There are 700,000 persons injured yearly in their occupations."

FRINGE.

Ostrich feather fringe makes a very smart finish for coats and frocks. In all exhibitions of bridal finery, one is expressed with its popularity.

Babies 18 inches long at birth will grow up to be adults of medium height; a baby 22 inches long will be taller than the average when it is 18.

Alert— in every way!

NEVER a day—never an hour of the day passes but the average person calls upon stored-up energy, mental or physical. There is a constant wearing out of body tissue and brain cells, of muscles, of blood, of energy and strength. These need replenishment that you may be alert in every way.

Grape-Nuts!

Grape-Nuts is a food which contributes in heaping measure to the general up-keep of the body. Its phosphorus and iron build and repair tissues and muscles; its sugar and starches store up and supply energy—and these starches are largely pre-digested in the process by which Grape-Nuts is made.

It is a perfect food in every way. Perfectly balanced; easily digested; quickly assimilated; soundly nourishing and economical because each package contains so many helpings. Ready to serve—right from the package, with cream or milk. Order from your grocer.

GRAPE-NUTS SURPRISE SALAD

1 cup Grape-Nuts, 1½ cups finely-cut celery, 1½ cups raw cabbage shredded, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ cup French or Mayonnaise dressing.

G. E. GROOMBRIDGE, President

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, June 13.—The Bay of Quinte conference, which closed its sessions this week in the town of Picton, is an historic one, in that it commemorated the organization of the first Canada conference one hundred years ago.

The first conference of the Methodist Church in Canada met at Hallowell, now Picton, on August 25, 1824. Dr. Anson Green, in his diary, says of this conference: "The conference was held in a new church, the best in the province, erected in 1820. It was the first organization of ministers on Canadian soil, having for its object the cultivation of the Canadian field; in it a missionary society was organized, and by the timely exertions of this conference, incipient rebellion was put down."

The Hallowell Church was a plain frame structure without ornamentation of any kind. Large double doors provided the entrance from the street. On each side of these doors was a window, each containing twenty small panes of glass, while the upper story had three similar windows. There were eight windows on each side of this unpretentious church edifice and the yard was enclosed bv a neat fence.

About Thirty Preachers Attended.

It is recorded that Bishops George and Hedding, and about thirty preachers attended, coming from all settled parts of Canada. Elder Case, one of the outstanding pioneers of early Methodism, was elected secretary,aand Rev. James Wilson, assistant. The conference lasted for five days.

Missionary Society Organized.

A missionary society was organized at this conference with Rev. Thomas Whitehead as president, Rev. John Ryerson, as secretary, and Rev. Isaac B. Smith as treasurer.

Missionary Contributions.

Missionary contributions were received at this first Canada conference amounting to $144.08. They came from the following circuits: Ancester, $22; Lyon's Creek, $5; Trafalgar, $10; Thorold, $5; Smithville, $9.25; Saltfleet, $22; Bertie, $7.50; Long Point, $4; Beverly, $5; Stamford, $23; John Keagy, $13.25; Conference Auxiliary, $15.38.

The Ministers of the Canada Church.

Six young ministers were received on trial at this conference; three were allowed to travel under presiding elders, viz., Anson Green, John Black and Daniel McMullen; seven were continued on trial. There were five deacons, five ordained elders, viz., James Jackson, Thomas Demorest, Philander Smith, William H. Williamson, and Kenneth McK. Smith. Three ministers were received into full connection, five were superannuated, one was located, three removed to the United States. These were the men who looked after the spiritual welfare of the 6,150 persons who contributed the membership of the Methodist Church in Canada, and not alone of them, but of all settlers with whom they came in contact, and whom they could in any way help.

A Camp Meeting.

In his diary, Egerton Ryerson describes a camp meeting that was held on Yonge Street, Toronto, a few months later, as follows: "A camp meeting was commenced this afternoon, May 7, 1825. Rev. Thomas Madden preached from 'Lord, Help Me.' Every countenance indicated interest, and every heart appeared willing to receive the word. On May 8, the people were up at five o'clock. After prayers and breakfast there was a prayer meeting. At eight o'clock I preached from Hosea 13 : 3. After two exhortations, Rev. Rowley Heyland preached from 'Buy the truth and sell it not.' About two o'clock, Rev. James Richardson preached on 'Be ye reconciled to God.' His style was plain, his reasoning clear, and his argument forcible. About three hundred celebrated the Lord's supper. Sixty-two professed Jordan and forty-two gave in their names. Rather strenuous services, prayers, a prayer meeting, two exhortations and three sermons, but the good results are evident, and it is plain that the leaders expected just such results.

The Indians Continued Singing.

"When the meetings were over," he continues, "the Indians were in such a happy state of mind that they were loath to separate, and continued singing. As I retired to my lodging, their melodious voices reverberated through the woods, and I thought, 'The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them, and the desert shsll rejoice and blossom as a rose.'

Chief Led the Way.

"Other tribes pitched their tents near the place, that their children might learn to read the 'Great Book.' A determined effort was made to rid the reservation at the Grand River of whiskey, Capt. John A. Chippewa Chief, leading the way.

Seek Suicide As The Only Relief In Vienna

VIENNA, June 12. — (United Press).—A new wrinkle in suicides was demonstrated recently in Vienna. Tired of trying to eke out a hand-to-mouth existence in a city where the cost of living is already high and becoming higher, a young woman and her sweetheart rode together on their bicycles over a steep bank into the Danube. The tragedy was witnessed by some fishermen who were at work nearby; but rescue was impossible as the suicides were already far down stream before the fishermen could reach the spot. It is more or less of a red-letter day on the calendar when a suicide is not recorded in the local press. Hope of better days individually and as a nation seems to have left the majority of Austria's population. One by one therefore they resort to poison, the Danube, gas, pistols, and ropes for release from their troubles.

The Bones Of First Americans Unearthed

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 12.—(United Press).—The petrified human remains known at the Haverty group, found recently at a depth of 23 feet during excavations on the outskirts of this city, are believed to be those of men who lived on this continent 10,000 to 25,000 years ago.

This opinion was concurred in at a recent meeting of scientists held in Washington, D.C. according to W. A. Bryant, director of the Los Angeles museum, who attended.

Dr. Bryant presented the report of Dr. Chester Stock, head of the department of paleontology of the University of California, to the scientists. The report stressed the point that the accumulaion of 23 feet of sedimentary material found above the remains had apparently taken place after their lodgment where they were found.

In an investigation now being conducted, it is hoped to more closely determine if the bones are of pleistocence origin.

Snowy Table Linen

The pure lather of Sunlight Soap cleanses the clothes naturally, NOT chemically. The $5,000 Guarantee of Purity is stamped on every tablet of Sunlight Soap.

OF all things, table cloths and napkins benefit most from the mild, cleansing Sunlight bath. An ordinary washing wears table linen out even more than table use. How different the Sunlight way! Just soak the clothes, after rubbing lightly with Sunlight Soap, and all dirt is loosened, all grease dissolved—and this without any grinding rub on the wash board. Then you rinse and the dirt just runs away. Result: freshness, purity and snowy cleanliness.

A Perfect 36, She Also Is Perfect With a Gun

NEVADA TALHELM

LAWRENCE, Kas., June 13.—A perfect 36, with a perfect 100 added, are the records attached to the name of Nevada Talhelm, University of Kansas co-ed rifle team captain-elect.

She is the only girl of the Kansas co-ed team to shoot a perfect score in competition. Ten bullseyes are to her credit at 50 feet in a match shoot against the University of Missouri team.

Miss Talhelm got her habit of shooting straight by hunting squirrels in the tall trees on her father's farm near Altamont, Kas. She has the "cool gray eye" said to be essential to a good markswoman, or man, for that matter.

She is a typical example of the modern girl, bobbed hair and everything—including the perfect thirty-six.

THOUGHT END HAD COME SAYS BROCKVILLE LADY

Mrs. Breakell Suffered Intensely Due To Stomach Trouble.

"My health has been so good since taking Tanlac that it is a marvel to my friends and neighbors," is the striking statement of Mrs. Martha H. Breakell, 4 Franklin street, Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. Breakell is one of Brockville's oldest and most believed residents. She has just passed her 68th birthday, which, she says, "was one of the happiest of her life, all due to the health and strength she enjoys since taking Tanlac."

"Four years ago I became so ill with an attack of stomach trouble that I didn't think I could live a week. My nerves became all shattered, and between this and my stomach misery it seemed like I would never be able to sleep again.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Tanlac, and that is the answer to the wonderful difference in my condition. I can once more enjoy life and am giving unstinted praise to Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

What Your Eyes Register

It wasn't Reginald Barker who first said that "eyes are the mirrors of the soul," but he gives this optical quotation his fullest endorsement. In casting for his pictures Mr. Barker pays as much attention to the eyes of a player as he does to any reputed acting ability. In selecting his players Barker was guided by the following formula:

Dark Blue—Intense affection and purity of soul.
Light Blue and Clear—Constancy, cheerfulness, good temper.
Pale Blue with shiftingand unsteadfast gaze—Deceit, selfishness.
Grey or Greenish Grey—Impressionable, impulsive, unreliable.
Light Brown—Lack of constancy.
Greenish Brown—Coquetry, lack of sincerity.
Russet Brown—Affectionate, sweet, gentle.
Dark Brown—Intense affection, passionate.
Very Dark Brown or Black—Extreme ardour in love.
Indefinite Colour—Listless, cold disposition, selfishness.

"I find that the colour chart holds true so far as acting is concerned—that people having the eye tones I have tabulated possess a peculiar ability to register the moods and emotions set opposite their typing in my book of experience," is Mr. Barker's explanation.

PREFERENCE TALKED BY COMMISSIONERS

South African Representative Says Other Countries Will Give What Britain Refuses.

LONDON, June 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—After-dinner oratory by high commissioners in London other than the Canadian high commissioner, Hon. P. C. Larkin, who rarely expresses opinions on political matters in public, just now almost invariably are concerned with the imperial preference question and disappointment is being expressed by the high commissioners of the Dominions at the attitude of the home government towards the imperial economic conference resolutions.

"If the dominions fail to get the treatment to which they are entitled there are plenty of other countries ready to give them," Sir E. Walton, South African high commissioner asserted when speaking at a dinner on Tuesday night.

Sir Joseph Cook, Australian high commissioner, at the same function, expressed the opinion that preference was in the air and he hoped it would come out in the rather thick atmosphere and Great Britain would cease putting the dominions on an equality with foreign competitors.

Sir James Allen, high commissioner for New Zealand, speaking at Wembley yesterday expressed a similar note of disappointment. In an incidental reference to Canada in connection with the Lausanne treaty correspondence Sir James asked why the imperial conferences failed to achieve as much good as some people expected.

Sir James took somewhat similar ground to that recently taken by J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary, that the dominions should be represented at the imperial conferences by the whole public opinion of the dominions as they were in war time, not merely by members of governments that might have short lives.

HUBERDEAU LINE

Senate Committee Asks For Expert To Explain Extension.

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press).—The Huberdeau branch line case before the senate railway committee at the afternoon sitting. The bill provides for an extension 12 miles into Montreal. E. P. Flintoff, counsel for the C.P.R., in giving evidence, proposed that the C.P.R. might obtain running rights over C.P.R. rails through to Montreal. The C.N.R. was unwilling to accept the proposal on the grounds of the high cost.

It was decided to ask the railway commission to send an expert before the committee to give advice on the Huberdeau line.

The bill to provide for the line from Rousseau to Laurent, a distance of 17 miles, at a cost of $1,000,000 was adjourned. The railway was asked to supply a more complete programme. It was pointed out that the situation warranted a more extensive programme.

CLOSE WATCH FOR THE TEN BANDITS

OGDENSBURG, June 12. — (Canadian Press.)— Close watch was being maintained along the Canadian border here to-day in an effort to apprehend ten bandits who waylaid a truck in New York city yesterady and carried off jewels valued at $125,000. Customs agents here were notified by New York officials that highwaymen were believed to be headed for Canada. Officers were detailed to guard all the main arteries. Authorities were asked to watch for suspects.

EASY DEATH AS A CANCER CURE

Medicos Still Wage War On Disease—Girls Attacked and Defended.

JAZZ DENOUNCED.

CHICAGO, June 13 (Canadian Press).—A disagreement arose among the cancer specialists yesterday afternoon when Dr. Evan O'Neill, of Kane, Pa., advocated practicing euthanasia in the cases of incurable patients. He spoke on a "euthanasia for inoperable cancer cases."

Dr. William Held, of Chicago, however, took exception to Dr. O'Neill's assertions, explaining that euthanasia, in simple terms, meant "easy death." "If we should act upon Dr. O'Neill's suggestion," he said, "having arrogated unto ourselves the Divine right to extinguish that unfathomable something called 'Life,' and should find tomorrow that cancer is curable, we could not recall those whom we, in our assumed knowledge, have killed—for killing it is, and nothing else."

New Resuscitation.

A new means of resuscitation, which has saved hundreds of lives and prevented severe illnesses, was described before the regular convention by Prof. Yandell Henderson, of Yale University. The method is based upon mixing carbon dioxide with oxygen when applied to persons affected by smoke or asphyxiating gases. Experiments have shown, he said, that the use of pure oxygen tends to retard respiration and often results in complete collapse.

The gland theory was called mythology by Dr. Clarence A. McWilliams, New York surgeon, in an address delivered before the surgery section. Rules for resuscitation after electric shock were prepared by Wills MacLachlan, of the National Electric Light Association, and Prof. H. N. Cole, of Western Reserve University, deplored the increasing use of cosmetics.

This generation of jazz was blamed for the increase in the prevalency of goiter by Dr. G. W. Newell, who declared half of the women and girls in the Middle West are afflicted.

"High-powered motor cars, dances, theatres, cabarets, liquor and the other innumerable factors that play a part in the regular life of many of our urban adolescents to-day have set such a hectic pace that the human nervous system isn't equal to it," he said. "It results in complete fatigue, which prevents the natural elimination of the toxins of the body, resulting in goiter."

The girl of to-day is something to be proud of, said Dr. Catherine D Manson, retiring president of the National Medical Women's Association, meeting in connection with she American Medical Association. "The modern girl is the healthiest, happiest girl the world has ever known," she said; "and I wouldn't exchange the modern flapper, as you call her, for any other girl of any other time. Girls used to be defenseless creatures, who sat at home with their knitting, laced up in tight corsets, and almost never indulged in any outdoor exercise.

"The girl of to-day who swims, plays golf, bobs her hair, goes without corsets, wears flat heels and takes long hikes, is something to be mighty proud of. Chaperones are extinct, but only because they are no longer needed. The modern girl can take care of herself. Her mind is as healthy as her body, and her intelligence and independence protect her.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE ON ST. LAWRENCE MET

Discuss Plans to Come Before International Board Next Week.

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press).—An organization meeting of the national advisory committee on the St. Lawrence waterway project, was held in the rooms of the International joint commission here yesterday afternoon. Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, occupied the chair, and explained the objects for which the national committee had been formed and outlined correspondence which had passed between the United States and Canada resulting in the formation of this committee as well as the joint engineering board and the inter-departmental committee which had been gathering information in regard to the project.

Mr. Graham also outlined the order in which it was proposed the work of the advistory committee would proceed. He said that the two technical officers appointed by order in council, Messrs. O. O. Lefebvre, chief engineer of the Quebec Streams Commission and Brig. Gen. C. H. Mitchell, would probably meet officials of the United States section of the joint engineering board at Montreal on the seventeenth of this month. This meeting had been arranged with the hope of reaching a decision as to the matters which would be referred to the joint engineering board. When the joint engineering board was ready to recommend subjects of reference, these would again be referred to the national committee, both in Canada and the United States, and also to the Governments of the two countries, who would agree on the proposals before the joint engineering board proceeded to its investigation.

Mr. Graham stated that the inter-departmental committee had been working hard gathering information for use of the technical officers.

The members of the national committee who were present at yesterday's meeting were Sir Clifford Sifton, Thomas Ahearn, Hon. W. E. Foster, E. D. Martin, Dr. W. L. MacDougall and Beaudry Leman. Major-General J. W. Stewart, of Vancouver, and Hon. A. Turgeon, of Quebec, were not present. The members of the Canadian section of the joint engineering board, Messrs. D. W. McLachlin, O. O. Lefebvre and Gen. C. H. Mitchell were also present, as well as the members of the inter-departmental committee of which Col. O. M. Biggar is chairman. Col. Biggar acted as secretary of the meeting.

It's the "Hidden" Quality that Counts

WE could build another bicycle that would be almost a Twin to the C.C.M. in appearance, and yet be far inferior.

Without your knowing it, we could use cheaper tubing for the frames instead of our high-grade, English Seamless Tubing, reinforced at the joints.

We could use a cheaper hanger instead of the three-piece Triplex that makes the C.C.M. turn so smoothly and easily.

We could use cheaper bearings instead of our Flint-hard Steel bearings that a file cannot cut.

We needn't clean our frames so thoroughly, nor treat them with a coat of anti-rust before enameling. We needn't put on so many coats of our rich, lustrous special C.C.M. enamel, nor leave the frames in the enameling ovens so long

We needn't take so much care in cleaning our handle bars, crank hanger, hubs and other parts before they're nickeled. We take off every speck of dirt and grease, so as to have a thoroughly clean surface.

Next we coat the parts with copper to prevent rust.

Then, the C.C.M. parts are left in the nickel baths for about two hours, instead of the twenty-minute or so dip given cheaply nickeled parts.

Wouldn't you rather pay a little extra for C.C.M. rust-proof nickeling, than to get a bicycle that, before long, shows little marks of red rust peeping through the nickeling?

We could save expense by not making all of the 1,761 parts of C.C.M. Bicycles with such care and precision.

C·C·M·s are made so accurately, you could take two bicycles to pieces. Mix up the parts, then re-assemble the machines, and all parts would fit together perfectly.

We could omit many inspections and tests, instead of testing every part for quality, size and finish, and inspecting and "truing up" the bicycle at each stage of assembling, also before shipping the complete bicycl.

By saving here and skimping there, we could give you a cheaper bicycle that would look like a C.C.M., but wouldn't be one.

All the extra hidden quality you cannot see with your naked eye would be missing. The bicycle wouldn't give you all the Extra Years of Easy Riding that the C.C.M. gives.

So, when you go to choose your bicycle, remember that it is the hidden quality that counts most. If you have to pay a small amount more for a C.C.M. than for something that looks like a Twin to the C.C.M., just remember that under the surface it isn't a C.C.M.

The Most Profitable part of any investment is the small extra amount you pay for Quality. C.C.M. quality is worth all it costs and is obtainable only in bicycles bearing the C.C.M. trade mark. Look for it when you buy.

C·C·M·s are selling today at $15 to $20 less than the after-war "peak" prices. They are nearer pre-war prices and better value than almost any other high-quality article you can buy. A Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

The C.C.M. dealer is waiting to show you the new 1924 models for men, women, boys and girls.

MISSIONARY MISSING

Not Known Yet Whether Rev. Joseph Cunningham Was Chinese Victim.

PEKING, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—There is as yet no definite confirmation of a report emanating from Changsha that the Rev. Jos. Cunningham, a missionary sent out by the Christian and Missionary Alliance, had been killed by Chinese.

Cunningham was one of the missionaries recently in danger at Kwelin, Kwangsi Province, because of rival Kwangsi and Kwangtung troops. According to the report as circulated here, Cunningham has been killed, but other missionaries at Kwelin are safe. The advices came from missionary workers on their way to rescue their endangered comrades, but at the time of despatching their report the rescuers had not reached Kwelin.

A cablegram given out by the Christian and Missionary Alliance on June 10, said definitely the Rev. Cunningham had been killed by a stray bullet. Whether it was based on the Changsha advices, whereon the foregoing despatch apparently casts doubt, was not made plain.

Herbert Hoover Views Niagara Falls to Consider Preservation.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 13. — (Canadian Press). — Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and chairman of the United States St. Lawrence Commission, is scheduled to visit Niagara Falls to-day for an inspection of plans for stream control and remedial works in the Niagara River.

The party is expected to view a working model of the cataract upon which Canadian and United States engineers will demonstrate proposed methods of regulating the flow over the crest, with a view to preserving the Falls' beauty, now believed menaced by uneven cutting of the limestone base.

THE TORONTO VIADUCT

Government is Considering Issues Involved and Nearing Settlement.

OTTAWA, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— The government is not prepared to make a definite announcement as to its policy in the matter of the construction of the Toronto viaduct, but all information, legal and otherwise, concerning the matter, was in the hands of the department of railways and it was being given every consideration. Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, so informed T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto), yesterday, in answer to a question, adding: "I think I can say that some progress is being made towards a settlement of the question."

OTTAWA, June 13. — (Canadian Press):—The status of the Canadian High Commissioner in London was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon when L. B. R. Premier King said that there had been in the past occasions when the High Commissioner encountered such difficulties, but more recent reports indicated that he was finding it easier to reach officialdom in London. The exact status of the Canadian High Commissioner had been the subject of consideration by the late British Government, and former Premier Baldwin had passed on to Ramsay MacDonald certain recommendations as to the status of the Canadian Commissioner. BEER BY THE GLASS PLEBISCITE IN B. C.

All Parties Are Active in Struggle—Home Product Boosted.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 13. — The intensive election campaign being waged by the major political parties in British Columbia, has to some extent overshadowed the struggle in connection with the beer by the glass plebiscite. The Moderation League, sponsors of the beer-by-the-glass proposition, and the Prohibition Association have not been idle however. On the public platform and in the press they have continued a vigorous campaign.

Moderationists point out that the voters are asked if they approve the sale of beer by the glass in licensed premises without a bar under government regulations, and contend that a favorable verdict will result in reduction of "spirit" drinking and encourage the consumption of a British Columbia product.

On the other hand Prohibitionists maintain that the sale of beer by the glass is a long way towards selling all liquors, that when premises are licensed the element of private gain enters into the liquor situation, and that the proposal is a radical departure from the decision given by the electors in 1920, stipulating that beer be sold in sealed packages. No matter what may be the result in the province as a whole, they declare that any polling division giving a majority for the sale of beer by the glass thereby gives its consent to and makes request for the opening of licensed premises for such sale in that particular polling division.

Village Of Americans Live In One Dwelling

WASHINGTON, June 13 (United Press). — The National Geographic Societies' expedition headed by Neil M. Judd, is now working in the ruins of Pueblo Bonito, New Mexico, giant "apartment house" of prehistoric homes.

More than 300 rooms have been cleared and many kivas, or circular ceremonial chambers, already have been exposed.

The explorations revealed that Pueblo Bonito was a busy village within a single dwelling. When inhabited, it stood four storeys high, included some 800 rooms, and sheltered 1,200 or more persons.

No written record or hieroglyphic inscription was left by these ancient Americans. But it already is possible to piece together their life story from the evidence of the silent walls of their abandoned rooms and the scattered objects recovered from their deserted dwelling.

Their daily activities, their civic organisations, their communal enterprises, and their struggles against more warlike tribes can be pictured. It is evident that the Bonitans, who lived in what now is the Chaco Canyon National Monument, in northwester New Mexico, probably had the most pretentious settlement in the south-western United States in pre-Columbian times.

With the penetration of the Pueblo Bonito ruins, the early history of America has begun to attract world interest—an interest being augmented with the sending of a National Geographical Society expedition to uncover the great mound of Cuicuilco, in the alley of Mexico, which may be 8,000 years old.

TRIED FOR MURDER

Trial in Progress in Rumania for Murder in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—For a murder alleged to have been committed in Manitoba in 1916, one Wasyl Melenka is undergoing trial in the courts of Bucovina, Rumania, and evidence is being taken by Commission in Winnipeg for use in the proceedings there.

Following a drunken brawl near Gardentown, Man., during the Christmas season of 1916, George Palamariuk was stabbed to death. The Provincial Police issued a warrant for the arrest of Mclenka, but he disappeared and only recently was he taken into custody in Rumania, to which country he had escaped.

The Rumanian Government has issued a commission to A. J. Christie, Registrar of the Court of Appeal in Manitoba, to take evidence of several persons supposed to have knowledge of the crime. Extradition proceedings will not be commenced by the Manitoba authorities until the outcome of present proceedings is evident.

Chickens Aristocratic And Ambitious As Well

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., June 12. —(United Press).—Adirondack hens lead the world in production and style. Daniel Lamica, residing in the northern section of the county, has a Plymouth Rock hen that rejoices in the name of Cissy. So proud is the hen of her numerous eggs that each is marked with a well defined "C" in a sort of old English.

L. B. Branch of Keene, had a little hen just yearning to become a mother. He put her on fourteen eggs and told her to get busy .She did. She hatched fifteen chicks.

BANDIT IDENTIFIED

Witnesses Name Morel as Actor in Hochelaga Bank Tragedy.

MONTREAL, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Desire Berthiaume, motor mechanic, identified Louis Morel yesterday afternoon, as the man whom he saw on the afternoon of April 1, after the Hochelaga Bank collection car had been rifled of $142,288 and two men had been shot dead, help to start the car which was waiting for the bandits on Everett street to carry the bank collecting bag from the other abandoned car in which Stone, the dead bandit's body was found, to the second car and drive off standing on the running board of that car. Berthiaume picked Morel out of six men who are in the dock facing a murder charge in connection with the hold-up. He declared he had met Morel in 1910-11 at the Montreal Tramway Company rest room on St. Denis street, where Morel used to come to play checkers with some of the tramway men and he said he had also seen Morel going around when he (Berthiaume) lived not very far from him.

He repeated evidence given at the first trial of Giuseppi Serafini, sticking firmly to his statement then that Serafini was the man he had seen trying to crank a car and who had curtly told him when he spoke to him, to mind his own business.

He could not recognize any of the other suspects in the dock.

Mrs. Berthiaume went into the box after her husband and identified Serafini as the man she had seen running away from the car that crashed into a telegraph pole on Everett street near her house. She had not been able to identify him at the first trial because she said she had seen him full face only at that time. Yesterday she had taken the opportunity to look at him in profile and had recognized him.

Descriptions of the actual hold-up by eye-witnesses took up most of the hearing.

COBOURG FERRY

the gathering, presided at the conference.

The Warden went into the matter fully, explaining every phase of the case, and was given an attentive hearing.

Dr. Doolittle drew a roseate picture of the summer resorts at Stoney Lake and other points in Central Ontario, his eloquence being powerful enough to persuade the most conservative business man to give up his daily pursuits and betake himself to a region where fish are hungry for bait; and where deer are so wild that they have no fear of man.

Ex-Mayor Duffus told of the good roads in Ontario where the Government has spent millions on the highways and where an extra million and a half has been appropriated this year to give work to the unemployed. Nearly half a million cars passed through Ontario last year, and a car ferry would not only increase the traffic, but the good feeling between the two countries. Americans have money to spend in pleasure, and Canada has the ideal resorts for this purpose.

Mayor Turner said that in the district represented by the delegation there were about 14,000 autos, and that Cobourg was the natural gateway for these to reach the United States.

Major Beatty declared that the auto owners in Canada were weary of motoring in their own country, having seen all points of interest, and were anxious to visit new fields. The car ferry talked of would help them to do this.

Col. Boggs, Mayor of Cobourg, endorsed everything that had been said by the previous speakers, and added that in his opinion the proposed car ferry would be a source of profit to the railway company.

The Financial Side.

Leon Fraser dealt with the financial aspect of the proposition. The railway people carry the ferry passengers on their trains between the dock and Rochester, and some of the officials claim that a car ferry would decrease this traffic.

Mr. Fraser pointed out that each car would carry a number of passengers who would pay their fare on the boats. The freight charges on autos carried across Lake Ontario would be a new source of revenue. If the railway people suffered a loss in revenue from their passenger traffic this would be more than offset by the increased dividends on their stock in the ferry company.

The only auto ferries available in Ontario are at Niagara Falls and Kingston. Between these two cities, that is a lake front of 160 miles that has no outlet to the United States.

The Railw- 's Case.

The American speakers were H. H. E. Huntington, general passenger agent of the railway, M. Brennan, vice-president of the road, Mr. Fisher, C. Poole, W. L. Pond, engineer, Mayor Van Zandt, Frank Smith of the Rochester Motor League and E. A. Neill, general traffic manager.

All agreed that a car ferry was desirable but the question of expense was a serious problem. If an auto road is built from the north there would be a dangerous grade and in order to reach the dock it would be necessary for them to travel for about 600 feet on the railway track and Mr. Huntingdon said he did not think the state authorities would permit this. The expense of this road or the cost of elevator would have to be borne entirely by the railway.

If a road is built on the other side of the dock it would pass through private property which the city could expropriate. The cost of this road could be divided between the city and the railway.

Mayor Van Z- dt promised to cooperate in this matter and his offer was accepted by the railway officials present. Engineers [illegible] set to work at once to make an estimate of the cost of the latter road.

Mayor Van Zandt said that while the city could not expend any money on the project this year it would be willing to do so in 1925.

Before the meeting adjourned Warden Fowlds thanked the Americans for their courteous reception of the delegation.

Dark Horse

Radical than Painleve, has the support of the more moderate groups in the two Houses and is certain to rally around him all the National bloc votes which will make it impossible, in case he is elected, for M. Herriot to accept the task of forming a Cabinet.

The latter has openly announced that he would never accept the mission of forming a Cabinet from a President elected by votes of the Right.

Aristide Briand, who has been very active in the negotiations and manoeuvres of the past few days, is regarded now as likely to return to the Premiership of France for the eighth time, should Doumerge be elected, while M. Painleve's election would make a Herriot Cabinet a certainty.

The National bloc group is jubilant over the disagreements and split in the Left bloc.

SLEEPY SICKNESS GRAVE EPIDEMIC

Cases Widely Scattered Through British Isles and Growing

RESEARCH GOES ON

Nature of Virus is Now Being Investigated in Laboratory

No fewer than 2,473 cases of encephalitis lethargica (commonly called "sleepy sickness") have been notified in England and Wales, since the beginning of the year.

The annual average for the past four years has been only 839, although 1,155 cases accurred in 1921.

In the past three weeks the notifications have been 262; 291; 286.

So far this year 281 have occurred in London; the chief centres affected elsewhere being Manchester, Sheffield, Birmingham and Bristol.

In general, however, the cases have been widely scattered throughout different parts of the country. On the deaths so far reported, the mortality has varied in different cities from 12 to 21 per cent. of the notified cases.

Speaking generally there are signs of decline in the districts mainly affected, but the spread of infection to new districts results in the maintenance of the total prevalence.

No specific measures, such as vaccines, are at present available, either for prevention or treatment, but researches on the nature of the virus any many other problems arising in connection with encephalitis are being actively pursued under the direction of the Medical Research Council and in numerous laboratories at home and abroad.

The duties on the property at this valuation with amount to over £250,000 . The testator left:

One year's wages to each indoor domestic servant and each servant in his stables or garage at Maiden Bradley if of five years' service.

He made heirlooms of his State coach and harness, his Coronation and Parliamentary robes, his plate, pictures, and tapestries, and the bulk of his household effects at Maiden Bradley.

KING'S SPEECH RADIO PROSECUTION FOLLOWS

Jeweller Charged With Obstructing Traffic by Broadcasting

"You of all the police in the country have seen fit to bring this prosecution, which can only have the effect of advertising the kill-joy methods we adopt in Southend."

This was a retort by Sidney Davies, a Westcliff jeweller, when summoned before the Southend magistrates for causing an obstruction by broadcasting the King's speech on April 23 with four loud speakers from the top of his garage.

Nearly 1,000 people gathered in St. John's road, which was completely blocked.

"Defendant did this for advertising," said the Chief Constable. "If all other tradesmen did the same, it would become an intolerable nuisance."

Davies had previously applied to him for a policeman to keep back the crowds, an application which was refused.

Deeming the occasion to be a unique one, the Bench warned Davies and dismissed the case.

KITCHENER'S HOUSE MARKED BY TABLET

Since the London County Council, in 1901, took over from the Society of Arts the work of indicating houses in London of historical interest, tablets have been erected on more than a hundred houses. The latest buildings to which the blue-glazed ware plate of the Council has been affixed, are No. 2 Carlton gardens, where Field-Marshal Earl Kitchener lived from August 12, 1914, to March, 1915, and No. 9 Eton villas, Haverstock Hill, where Alfred Stevens, the sculptor, spent the later years of his life.

MOTOR CYCLING AT 111 MILES AN HOUR

A speed of 111 miles an hour was reached by Herbert le Vack, the racing motor-cyclist, riding a Brough Superior machine at the Oakham motor-cycle speed trials at Mansfield.

This speed (over a flying half-mile) is the highest ever reached on a road in England.

J. Riddoch, riding a Douglas, covered the flying half-mile at 108.5 miles an hour.

Stoke Poges Church

A place which is held sacred wherever English literature is loved, as the scene of Gray's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyardd"—Stoke Poges Church—is threatened by two enemies Tyne and the builders. Slowly but surely suburbia is overtaking Slough and creeping towards Stoke .Poges. One slice of Stoke Par, with its manor house, which has several Elizabethan rooms, has been built on. Some of the big meadow outside the churchyard has already been saved by the arduous efforts of the vicar, Canon Barnett, and Mr. Howard Vyse, of Stoke Place.

FIRST STEAMER VISITS ST. KILDA

Seed Oats and Potatoes Landed and Eggs Taken Off

The first call this year to the lonely isle St. Kilda was made by the steamship Hebrides.

Since the last visit in August the population has decreased through the deaths of two old age pensioners. This is partly offset by the birth of a baby girl. The total number of the native population is now 61. .

Among other cargo landed was the gift of a consignment of seed oats and potatoes sent at the instance of the Scottish Board of Agriculture. Though unexpected and somewhat belated its need is evidenced by the unusually small proportion of tilled ground. The Hebrides also took from the board a bull, whose swim ashore was a novelty.

Bird-nesting had yielded nearly two boat-loads of eggs, which count for much in the economy of St. Kildans.

NEW HEAD OF NOTED ENGLISH MONASTERY

The retirement of their abbot has broken the peaceful tenor of life in the little community of Benedictine monks who have made their home at Farnborough, near Aldershot, since the late Empress Eugenie went to live there 30 years ago.

They offer perpetual prayer for the souls of the Emperor Napoleon III., his son, Prince Victor Napoleon, and of their patron, the ex-Empress.

Advancing years have led to the retirement of the Right Rev. Abbot Cabrol, the close friend of the late Empress, after holding office for 30 years.

The monks have elected as his successor the Very Rev. Don Bernard Du Boisrouvray, second son of the Vicomte de Jacquelot de Boisrouvray, who entered Farnborough Abbey under the Benedictine robe on May 13, 1911, having had to abandon the military profession on account of eye trouble.

Heroic Driver Sticks To Engine and Saves Train from Disaster

Another act of splendid self-sacrifice and devotion to duty was added to the long list of heroic episodes of the footplate, when Charles Worgen, driver of the heavily-laden passenger train from Leominster to Worcester, saved it from certain disaster.

The train was rushing merrily along at great speed, when a pipe of the engine burst and blew out the fire, shrouding the driver and fireman in rushing steam and blinding smoke.

A stationary engine occupied the rails farther down the line, and a collision seemed inevitable. But the coolness and bravery of the driver averted this calamity.

Suffering agonies from scalds, he stuck to his post, and collapsed after bringing the train to a standstill.

The fireman jumped to safety as the train was slowing down.

RAID FOR CLOTHES.

The residence of an ex-sergeant of the National Army, who had been killed at Ballyhay, Co. Monaghan, was raided and the dead soldier's clothing taken.

KINGSLEY RELIC IS SENT TO MUSEUM

A silver taperstick by Edmund Proctor, of London (1702-3), formerly an heirloom in the family of Charles Kingsley, having been given to an ancestor by Queen Anne, is one of the principal recent acquisitions of the Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Other metal-work objects acquired last month are a table-clock in an engraved brass case, of English make, and dated 1582, given by Lady Florence Maude, and a Norwegian engraved silver breaker, dated 1589.

An addition to the woodwork section was a door of a pulpit, the gift of S. C. Russell. This is carved with the names of two benefactors who gave the pulpit to the church, and with the date 1638.

PITMAN FALLS 1,500 FEET TO DEATH

William Backhouse, a banksman, fell down an open shaft more than 1,500 feet deep at Featherstone Main colliery, near Pontefact, and was instantly killed.

He was drawing full tubs from the cages at the pit top and returning empty ones to the men working below, when a tub caught him and hurled him over the edge.

BEVAN ALONE IS HELD RESPONSIBLE

Directors of Ill-fated Insurance Company are Exonerated

SASKATOON LOAN

And Some Other Items Included in Order Made

Mr. Justice Romer occupied three and a half hours in the Chancery Division delivering judgment upon the summonses taken out by the Official Receiver against Gerard Lee Bevan and other directors and the auditors of the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company.

It is estimated that his lordship's statement comprised 45,000 words.

He held that the Official Receiver's case failed against all the respondent directors, except Bevan.

In the summonses, which were heard last February, misfeasance and breach of trust were alleged against the respondents in connection with the company's affairs, and his lordship was asked for declarations as to their liability for the heavy losses which resulted in the company's crash.

Respondents were:—

Earl of March, Lord Ribblesdale, appearing by his guardian ad litem, Sir Douglas Dawson, Peter Haig Thomas, R. H. Grenside, D. M. M. Milligan, and G. L. Bevan (directors), and Langton and Lepine, the auditors.

The losses, it was stated, during the hearing, amounted to £2,000,000.

Having regard to Bevan's reputation at that time, it was not difficult to understand how the directors were satisfied to believe him, fortified by the auditor's certificate.

Bevan, however, turned out to be a daring and unprincipaled scoundrel.

Against Bevan the judge ordered an inquiry as to damages in respect of the investment in the United Brassfounders, Limited, and some smaller items, and he made an order against him to pay £238,454 in respect of certain of the company's losses, and £1,329 in respect of the Saskatoon loan.

All the respondents except Bevan would be allowed their costs out of the estate.

CLERGYMAN KILLED.

Found injured and unconscious on a lonely road as the result of an accident to his motor-cycle, the Rev. John Macdonald, of Tongue, Sutherlandshire, died shortly afterwards.

SHOW PUPIL STUNT TO ADVERTISE SCHOOL

Contract for Six Years Revealed and Ordered Cancelled

A charge of assaulting Mildred King, 13, was brought against Mme. Josephine Redpath, wife of the headmaster of Mackenzie House Boarding School for Girls, at York.

It was stated that the girl had been sent to the school on contract for six years as a show pupil because of her cleverness, receiving free education in return for acting as an advertisement. She accidentally trod on a dog belonging to Mme. Redpath, who thereupon lost her temper and, it was alleged, beat her about the arms and hands with a bamboo rod.

Mme. Redpath, who stated she had been at one time a prima donna in the Carl Rosa Company, said she had struck the girl in a moment of anger on account of disobedience.

She was fined 20s., and the Bench ordered the contract to be cancelled.

MILLIONAIRE'S BIG GIFTS TO CHARITY

Sydney Larnach, of Yew Lodge, East Grinstead, Sussex, who died on April 14, aged 71, left estate valued for probate at 1,122,750, with net personality £1,312,981. The duties on the property at this valuation will amount to over £470,000 . The testator left:

£10,000 to the Middlesex Hospital; £10,000 to St. George's Hospital; £10,000 to the London Hospital; £10,000 to St. Bartholomew's Hospital; £10,000 to St. Thomas's Hospital; £10,000 to Guy's Hospital; £10,000 to the National Institution for the Blind, Great Portland street, W.; £10,000 to Dr. Barnardo's Homes; £5,000 to the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution; £5,000 to Lord Mayor Treloar's Cripples Hospital and College, Alton, Hants; £5,000 to the Salvation Army; £5,000 to the East Grinstead Cottage Hospital; a life annuity of £78 to his stud groom, Philip Beasley, if still in his service; £100 each to his gardener, Brooman, and his butler, Blaber, if respectively still in his service; £50 each to the three maids in his service at the date of his will (March 8, 1921) if still in his service; £25 to the girl similarly in his service; £5,000 to the Rev. Dr. Thomas Alexander Purvis, D.D., now or late rector of Luccombe, Somerset; £6,000 to Mr. David Geggie, manager of the Bank of New South Wales, Threadneedle street.

PAVEMENT PICTURES HIRED BY BEGGARS

There is in London a man who lets ex-Service men have pictures to display on the pavements. In return they give him half their takings.

This statement was made by a policeman at Enfield, when an ex-Serviceman, Richard Hibbs, was sent to prison for three weeks for begging.

"I found him," said the policeman, "in an attitude that suggested that he had lost both legs."

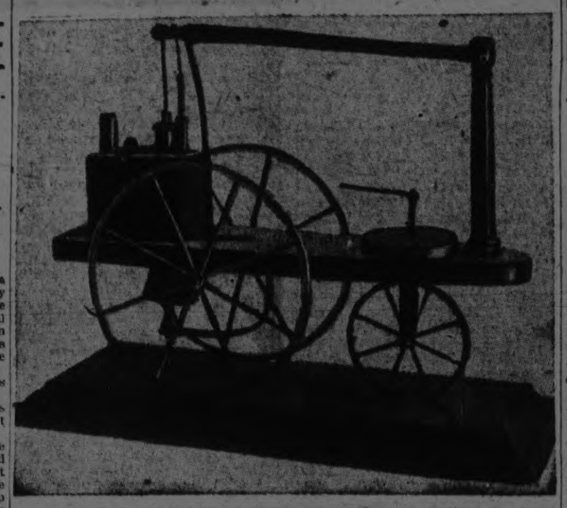
Hibbs said the constable, had admitted that he could not draw, but had hired the pictures. A good pitch, added witness, brought in £1 a day.

IRISH PEER'S HEIR EVICTED BY BANK

The Hon. Hugh Hamon Massy, elder son and heir of Lord Massey, of Hermitage, Castle-connell, County Limerick, and Ardfinan House, Cahir, County Tipperary, was evicted from Killakee, Rathfarnham, County Dublin, at the suit of a Dublin bank.

The eviction order had been stayed owing to Mr. Massy's illness, but a doctor certified yesterday that the removal could be carried out, and an ambulance was provided by the undersheriff's officer. Mr. Massy was unable to walk, and was carried by the sheriff's men to the road, having refused to enter the ambulance. He remained there with his wife for some time, and finally was taken to Dublin in a private motor-car.

THE FIRST LOCOMOTIVE



England's first locomotive, invented nad constructed by William Murdock, in Cornwall, in 1784, which has bee noffered for sale at £1,000, but attracted no bidders, at an auction held at the instance of Sir Lincoln Tangye in London. Sir Lincoln bought the locomotive 30 years ago for £00 from a grandson of the inventor. When first operated in Murdock's room, it dr wethe tongs, shovel and poker as freight.

JAMES BROWN ENTHRONED AT GREAT ASSEMBLY IN REGAL SPLENDOR OF OLD

With his eyes half-closed, his hands moving restlessly, the slender white-haired little man who has known what it is to endure the hard discipline of the pit listened to the smooth voice which told all who were present that by the King's command they were to reverence, honor, and obey James Brown without question.

It was not the scarlet uniform of the Lord High Commissioner which in the famous Edinburgh church where the Assembly opened made James Brown the most distinguished figure of the gathering.

It was his humility.

It takes a great man to bear a great office nobly. Through the scarlet and the gold, the ermine and sombre black, through the ceremonious vignette which once a year breaks through the austerity of Puritan tradition, there shone the sweetness and the strength of a character made by adversity. No one could interpret Mr. Brown's thoughts as again and again there came those dramatic phrases:

"Full power and commission to represent our sacred person and royal authority";

"Our trusty and well-beloved James Brown is our representative, and we doubt not that his appointment to this high office will commend itself to you."

SCARLET AND ERMINE.

For the occasion of the assembly the pulpit of the church is the throne. Before the Lord High Commissioner came to occupy it the building gradually filled with representatives of every department of Scottish life. The galleries were reserved for women. The floor of the church was given up to delegates, ministers, and elders from all parts of the country. At each side of the throne were civic authorities.

First there appeared the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, with magistrates who wore robes of scarlet and ermine. Then came the Lord Provost of Glasgow with magistrates in black and ermine, and afterwards the councillors of Perth, Aberdeen and Dundee.

As Mr. Brown made his entry he was escorted to the Throne by the Purse Bearer, who wore his uniform of green and gold, with a claret colored belt. The Purse Bearer acted as a kind of master of ceremonies, giving now and again whispered instructions to the Lord High Commissioner.

To the right of Mr. Brown was the Solicitor-General for Scotland, Mr. J. C. Fenton, K.C., in robes and wig, and on his left was Mrs. Brown.

DOORS LOCKED.

There was a long silence after the Lord High Commissioner had made his entry. Then, unexpectedly, came the solemn voice of the clerk; "Lock the doors."

The doors were locked and the proceedings began.

All the while Mrs. Brown sat very still. Her only movement was occasionally to wipe her eyes, as if the silver mist which hung about the city outside had obscured her vision.

The Lord High Commissioner's address was listened to with the deepest interest.

He announced the King's gift of £2,000 for work in the Highlands.

He reminded the audience that there had been great changes.

"In science, in methods of conducting business, in social service, in politics, there is a feeling that there may be greater changes still," he said. "In certain moods we shrink from change, in other moods we welcome it. Whether we are afraid of it or glad, it will always come; always does come, whether slowly, so that men can hardly perceive it, or so suddenly as to make many afraid."

"Confidence was slowly but surely gaining ground. He saw the church as a powerful factor in bringing about contentment and peace to a world that was longing and sighing for both.

"Every party in the State is endeavoring after peace, politically and industrially, and the Church which can help every party to realize this great and Godlike desire," he added.

The Lord High Commissioner concluded his address with the expression of the wish that his year of office as the King's representative might be marked by a settlement that would give us a free and full union of the two great Scottish Churches which would be the greatest Christian event of the century.

During this address there was subdued cheering. In the dark church, with its heavy carved oak, it seemed hardly seemly to applaud, but the faces of the little ministers of Scotland showed plainly that they were proud to have as their Lord High Commissioner James Brown of Annbank.

Koh-i-noor Diamond Worn by Queen Mary At Brilliant Court

A touch of veritable romance was lent to the second Court of the season held at Buckingham Palace, when the Queen wore on her corsage the famous Koh-i-noor diamond.

This marvellous gem, which is valued at £120,000, is mounted as a single stone. It is the sixth largest diamond in the world, and became one of the Crown jewels in 1850, during the reign of Queen Victoria, when it was presented to her by Lord Dalhousie, the then Viceroy of India.

Numbers of legends have centred round the Koh-i-noor, the name of which means "Mountain of Light." The Duke of Wellington gave the first turn to the cutting of it.

OLD MASTERS' SALE BY WESTMINSTER

One Hundred Pictures from Famous Collection for Auction

One of the most important art sales of recent years will take place in London early in July, when a number of pictures belonging to the Duke of Westminster's famous collection will be put up for auction.

Negotiations have been entered into for the disposal of at least 100 pictures, but in July only about 70 will be brought under the hammer.

They will come chiefly, it is understood, from Grosvenor House, the duke's fine mansion in Upper Grosvenor street, W., which contains a priceless collection of paintings representative of the French, Late Flemish, Dutch, and English schools.

A recent list of paintings showed that the house contained pictures by Murillo, Teniers, Cuyp, Claude, Rembrandt, Wouverman, Van Dyck, Rubens, Gainsborough, Velasquez, A. Brouwer, and Turner.

In Eaton Hall, the duke's residence in Cheshire, are works by Rubens and Millais, the former being the noted painting, "The Adoration of the Magi," and "The Fathers of the Church."

GIPSY KING IS DEAD IN ENGLAND

The death has occurred at Farnborough, Kent., of Levi Boswell, the head of the Boswell tribe of Romanies, who have relatives in all parts of the world. His widow, Renee Boswell, known as the Gipsy Queen, is a descendant of the original Gipsy Lee. For three hundred years the two great Romany tribes, the Boswells and Lees, have intermarried.

LONGFELLOW SMITHY GOES INTO HISTORY

The village smithy of Longfellow's well-known lines is doomed to stand no longer. Street improvements, which have been sanctioned in the High street, St. Mary Cray, Kent, will soon remove the last traces of it. Longfellow's association with the spot is established with the poetess, Eliza Cook, by whom he was invited on at least one occasion to visit the neighborhood. The forge as it stands today does not readily suggest the familiar poem, but some of the oldest inhabitants well remember the chestnut tree, and there are stories told that the tree was destroyed because it deprived the cottages of sunshine and light.

CHURCH 600 YEARS OLD TO MEND ROADS

Ancient Landmark of Suffolk Village is Being Demolished

COFFINS BROKEN

Reliable Records Date the Building Back to 14th Century

In the old-world and sparsely-populated Suffolk village of Linstead Magna, an ancient church is now being pulled down and broken up to mend roads, much to the indignation of the villagers, many of whose ancestors were baptised and married at the church and buried in the churchyard.

Now the church is roofless, half of the chancel walls are down, old oak beams are lying in the church-yard, where gravestones were piled one on top of another or scattered about indiscriminately.

In one part of the churchyard were broken parts of the lid of a stone coffin, which when whole had borne on its face a cross carved in relief. The coffin, the lid of which is now in fragments, is estimated to have been constructed at least 900 years ago.

Slabs which at one time supported memorial brasses lie among the ruins of roof tiles and masonry. What has become of the brasses no one seems to know or care to tell. The whereabouts of the altar, the pulpit, the font, the bell, and old-fashioned benches also are questions as to which it is difficult to get definite answers.

Reliable records indicate that the church dates back to the 14th century, and there are reasons to suppose that part of the building now being destroyed was constructed before the Norman Conquest.

THE PERFECT WOMAN.

A woman summoned for rent at Newcastle said she did not frequent public-houses, never went on brake trips or to picture palaces, and never borrowed money.

"You have nothing but virtues," said the Clerk.

"I am a perfect woman," she replied.

NIGHTINGALE SINGS FOR RADIO FANS

Voice Caught from Wood in the Centre of Surrey, England

About 1,000,000 people heard the song of the nightingale, which was broadcast from the London broadcasting station one night recently at 11 p.m.

At many places the song was reproduced by loud-speakers, and groups of people sat in gardens near by hearing the music. This seemed so realistic that the birds might have been on a tree branch above their heads.

The birds were actually singing in an old Surrey garden.

A moment before the notes of the bird rang out clearly, listeners-in heard a human voice announcing, "Venus is rising in the west and the moon is coming up as well. Imagine, if you can, this wood in the centre of Surrey, and listen!"

Instantly the voice of the far-away nightingale floated to the ears—exquisitely pure and sweet, now in tender monosyllables of magical music, now high and joyously loud.

Death Certificate as Heirloom; Odd Clauses In Englishman's Will

Albert Francis Wenger, of Victoria House, Newcastle-under-Lyme, founder and head of Messrs. Wengers (Limited), pottery and chemical manufacturers, of Etruria, Stoke-upon-Trent, a director of the Staffordshire Potteries Waterworks Company, left unsettled property of the gross value of £93,549. He directed that immediately after his decease two surgeons or physicians of repute should be called in by his trustees to make a post-mortem examination of his body, but before proceeding further, they should first cut the veins of his arms and feet at intervals of half an hour. After such post-mortem examination was completed, these two medical men were to issue a certificate containing a full description of the cause of his death, which certificate was to be verified and counter-signed by a third and independent medical man, and this certificate then kept with his family records and handed to his sons successively as an heirloom. After this he directed that his body should be burned.

Boom in Values of Wool Brings Fortune To Many Speculators

Since the boom in wool values set in many men in Bradford have made handsome fortunes almost without effort.

Sensational prices have been made for wool bought by British operators in Australia early in the season and sold in London at the last series of auctions. A margin of profit amounting to as much as 11d. a lb. has been made by Bradford speculators, and wool bought in New Zealand at an average cost or 12¼d. a lb. was sold in London last month for 20¾d. a lb., a difference of 8½d. The significance of this is that fortunes have been made from wool sold at a profit of a fraction of 1d. a lb.

Stories are being told in Bradford of men making £15,000 and £20,000 in one deal, the only effort required being a nod of the head to the auctioneer. These sums have been made without the purchaser selling the wool, except, perhaps, a small sample, which he squeezes, smells, tastes, pulls, and twists.

GIRL-MAN'S LOST IDENTITY PUZZLE

Earned Living for 10 Years as Man in London Restaurant

ACTED LIKE MAN

Smoked Cigarettes, Courted Another Girl, and Caught Rats

"Ernie" Wood, the girl who earned her living in a London restaurant, as a man, for nearly ten years, not only "walked out" with another girl, but smoked cigarettes, caught rats, and bred dogs.

So thoroughly, indeed, did she play her part that her identity as a woman is completely lost, and nobody knows today what her real Christian name was.

J. Jarvis, a ratcatcher of Cork street, Camberwell, who is employed at the restaurant where Woods was a cellarman, told a reporter that the news of Wood being a woman was the greatest surprise of his life.

"Never at any time did I have the faintest suspicion of the truth," he added.

"He (I cannot help calling her 'he') often stayed up all night with men and helped me in my work. He showed not the slightest fear or dislike of the rats, and would even pick them up when they were dead and put them in my bag.

"He killed a good many himself with a rat gun, and never hesitated to hunt a rat out of a corner when it succeeded in getting there.

"Wood was small and did not appear very strong, but he would roll heavy barrels of wine about, and even do some of the repair work in the restaurant. Dogs seemed to be his chief passion, and he bred fox-terriers, sometimes obtaining good prices for the pups.

"Several times he has talked to me about his girl. I asked him to bring her to see me at my house, but he never did . He smoked a cigarette now and again, but did not drink. It is amazing that he could have kept up the secret so long."

NO FREE RIDES.

2 CENTS MONTHLY FROM RENT ARREARS

Landlord Who Sued Poor Soldier is Given Little Satisfaction

"Under his agreement the landlord is entitled to his full pound of flesh —the money and the costs. But very fortunately I have the power to say in what manner it shall be paid. To show my opinion of the plaintiff I order that the debt and costs be paid at the rate of a penny a month."

This was the order by Judge Herbert Smith at Norwich County Court in favor of Alfred Brewster, who sued an ex-Service man, James Cecil Martin, of Wildenhall, for £12 5s., being 13 weeks' rent of a house in Norwich.

Mr. Martin's solicitor said the man had been charged at the rate of £65 a year, the rent having been quadrupled immediately the house was decontrolled. The man commuted his pension to take an hotel, which was not a success, and he had simply to get somewhere else. He paid 13 weeks' rent in advance.

BANTAM COCK IS SITTING ON EGGS

Coalville, Leicesterahire, is interested in a game bantam cock, belonging to T. Williamson, a miner, which became broody three weeks ago, and, after sitting on imitation eggs, has been placed on four hen's eggs.

If disturbed he clucks like a mother hen. The owner is waiting to see if chicks will be hatched.

DUKE AND MINERS' LEADER IN MATCH

Breathless Time on Slagheap Links at Ton Pentre

GREAT BANQUET

Welsh Girls in Crowds Nearly Got Players Rattled

Excitable Welsh girls, a mongrel whippet, policemen, and markers carrying red flags all took a more or less direct share in a foursome in which the Duke of York played on the miners' home-made nine-hole course among the slagheaps at Ton Pentre. The Duke and his partner, Captain Brooke, were defeated by Frank Hodges, the miners' leader, and Evan Williams, the chairman of the Mining Association.

The match was the outcome of a challenge issued by Mr. Hodges more than a year ago at an Industrial Welfare Society dinner. The Duke travelled 150 miles to play in it.

It really began at 12.45, when a gigantic banquet, enough to put the dourest professional off his stroke, awaited him in the Ystrad pavilion. This, moreover, had to be eaten rapidly to permit of the speeches before the official start of at 2 p.m. on the first tee several hundred feet up the mountainside.

When the road to the course became too bad for the motor-cars the Duke and his party had to climb breathlessly up a steep path bordered with rocks and coal dust. It was not surprising that after the lunch and the climb he fluffed his tee shot even more effectively than Mr. Hodges.

Several thousand people watched the match, and a 100-yard rope had to be used to hold them back. No rope, however, could stop the chattering and laughing excitement of the local girls, who pressed as closely on the royal party as they could.

Small boys cheered on the horizon, large policemen shouted to the crowds to hold back, and girls giggled loudly whenever the Duke or his partner played a shot.

Clicking cameras and the white uprights surrounding the green aused the Duke of York to look up and miss the ball altogether with his first approach shot. Mr. Hodges completely missed the ball three times in consecutive shots at the [illegible]n, holes.

His partner, Mr. William[illegible]e ever, allowed nothing to distract concentration, and they were d[illegible] after the first four holes, [illegible] an average of two under eight. They won the fifth, also assisted by a mongrel whippet which intercepted the Duke's approach putt and attempted to run off with the ball as they lit it.

This rather disconcerted the Duke, and although he was sportingly allowed to play the shot again, he fooled it. A friendly boulder at the back of the sixth green, however, restored the position by causing Captain Brooke's approach to rebound to the green. The seventh was holed in five, leaving Mr. Hodges and Mr. Williams one up and two to play. The crowds by this time had broken loose from the police. This, combined with a hysterical giggle from a red-hatted girl, caused Captain Brooke to miss his tee shot, and the match was over at the next hole.

BOY DESPATCHED AS CUPID'S MESSENGER

Pat Willing to Marry Girl if She Produced £200

Mary McAuley, a farmer's daughter, of Moate, West Meath, was awarded £175 damages in an action for £1,000 for breach of promise against a neighbor, Patrick Hynes.

The girl said that defendant sent a boy to her inquiring if she would marry him. She said she would, and when she next saw him he said he would want £200 with her. She said she could get that amount, and he fixed the day of the wedding.

Later he suggested she should get £250 or £300 as he could get another girl who would have that amount.

The defendant said he was always willing to marry the girl provided he got the £200.

Sculptors Seek Girls With Perfect Feet; Found in Ireland

Sculptors in England are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain women models with beautiful feet.

"Modern high-heeled shoes and too much athletic exertion are ruining women's feet," F. W. Pomeroy, a British sculptor, told a reporter. "They are becoming far too broad, with a very low instep. As much harm is being done by present-day fashions in shoes as was done by the Chinese method of tightly binding the feet of girls.

"I have found the most beautifully shaped feet among the peasant girls of Ireland, who go about barefooted. If girls were permitted to wear sandals from babyhood till the bones of their feet have set, beautiful feet among women in this country would not be so scarce.

"The perfect foot," Mr. Pomeroy explained, "should be one-sixth the length of the whole body, and should be well arched."

WENT TO WORK AND FORGOT WEDDING

A bride waited more than an hour in a West London register office for the bridegroom, and then went to his address to make inquiries.

On her return she told the registrar that the bridegroom had left his home in the morning apparently to go to business. She added:—

It is obvious that he does not intend to come here. I have thought recently that another girl had claimed his attention.

The registrar told her that the licence would hold good for three months and if matters were put right in that time she could still be married with it.

WOMEN TERRORISED.

Armed men raided the house of an aged woman named Steenson, at Latnamard, Co. Monaghan, and forcng her to her knees, compelled her to tell where she kept her money. They took £13.

RECLAIMING THE UNFORTUNATES

CAPT. A. J. McELHINEY.

MRS. A. J. McELHINEY.

A MAN just out of jail arrives in his home town. What next? What faces him? What shall he do? Where shall he turn?

He has been a bandit, a bootlegger, a bank thief, a breaker of the law of some sort or other before he went to jail. In his life there was a degree of a certain kind of adventure. The excitement of tilting against society. The spice of putting his wits against the police.

Now he has just finished a term of one, two or five years. He has been under restraint, tethered, locked up like a zoo animal. He has been out of society. He has forfeited his citizenship. He has been removed from the ordinary contacts of the ordinary individual, home, relatives, friends, feminine society, business, work in the ordinary sense, wages, movies, street cars, streets. Food and drink, and shelter were his without earning them or paying for them in the ordinary way. He did not even have to think for himself. Such was the punishment society saw fit to give him for his crime.

Now he is out. Just back in his home town, his punishment done. In a very real sense he is like a ship adrift without a pilot. He has lost his bearings. landmarks have vanished. He may not want to approach friends or even relatives. The thread of his life has been severed. He feels marked, branded as abnormal before he went to jail. He is not normal in jail. He is never normal now. Which is due to his mind or his reason but simply to his outlook, to his state of being, to its relation to the average individual whose life has no contact with crime or prison. He has lost caste. He has no caste. He has lost touch. He has shattered fellowship.

In a sense, his physical and mental plight is not unlike that of the soldier restored suddenly to citizenship with all that it implies in the necessity of getting back quickly into the old rut or a new one after a period of abnormal activity. But whereas the returned soldier faces his period of adjustment with an honorable past, the satisfying sense of duty well done, a certain exhilaration in his blood, friends, and the feeling that society is his debtor; the returned criminal faces the future handicapped by his record, without heart, probably bitter, with a fear in his soul that society has not yet extracted the full payment.

Friendless and Jobless.

With a suit of clothes, a few dollars, very few, and a railroad fare, the criminal is returned into thatsociety which caught him flouting it and punished him.

What happens him?

One knows of a young fellow, sentenced as a lad of seventeen for a serious crime and sent to the penitentiary for a term of years. He completed his term and came back to Toronto early last fall. He was in just such a plight as has been described. He had learnt a trade in jail and he tried to get a job. Apparently he tried hard enough to get into one of the honest, ordinary ruts of society. But always when he was asked by a prospective employer, "Where did you learn your trade?" he had either to say, "The Pen," or keep silent. He was repeatedly refused a job because of this. No one would employ him. So he went back to crime. A few weeks ago he began another severe sentence.

There was no machinery for absorbing him into society as a productive citizen again, so the productive, tax paying citizen of society are once more charged with the cost of absorbing him as a criminal. Leaving out the humanitarian side of the affair, it provides food for thought as a matter of economics.

Suppose a man comes out of jail, his term completed, friendless, jobless, where can he turn—what can he do? "There is not a thing for him except eventually to go back to the life of crime." It was Staff Captain J. A. McElhiney of the Salvation Army who gave this emphatic answer. He knows more practical facts about criminals than most people. He is not only S. A. secretary for prison work in the Ontario reformatories, but is, in addition, assistant parole officer for the province as assistant to Dr. A. E. Lavell of the Ontario Parole Board.

"Society," went on Captain McElhiney, "recognized no obligation to the criminal who has finished his punishment. Society makes no effort to help him to come pack."

That refers principally to the penitentiary offender whose term is completed or to the reformatory inmate who leaves at the expiration of his sentence and goes back into the world unshepherded. But for the inmates of Ontario reformatories who come out under parole or under the provisions of the extra mural employment act—there is a different story to tell and a happier one.

The Brighter Day League.

With the joint help of the Ontario Parole Board and the Salvation Army men, and who, who have been given reformatory sentences certainly do "come back." Captain McElhiney pays a tribute to the work of the Ontario authorities as being surpassed nowhere in its humane desire to salvage human wreckage which he declares is the heritage of the vision of the late Hon. W. J. Hanna who built up the reformatory system which prevails today.

In the police court cells and in the court itself, a Salvation Army officer stands beside the man or woman in the toils. Then at the Don jail, at the jail farm, at Burwash farm, Mimico and Guelph reformatory, Salvation Army officers are constantly on hand, visiting, talking to individual prisioners, holding meetings, constantly keeping before them the thought and inspiration of redemption. And when a man is paroled he comes automatically under the supervision of Captain McElhiney in his dual capacity of Salvation Army officer and assistant parole officer for the province. He has always between four and five hundred such men under his charge. Rheir rehabilitation into society is his devoted work.

In addition, in Ontario, the Salvation Army have organized in the reformatories a "Brighter Day League" among the prisoners. This serves as a link in the depression of serving their sentences with a happier day ahead when they return to civil life. Every member of this league, who is given a button to wear, has a claim on Salvation Army officers anywhere to help him.

"From the time the prisoner appears in police court until he is back in society we are in touch with him," declared Captain McElhiney. "He has a claim on us, and we realize that claim. Creed, class, race, color make no difference."

During the past year the Salvation Army met 1,234 prisoners on their discharge and found jobs for 607. Of the former figure 988 were Toronto prisoners. Altogether during the year in the different Ontario reformatories, Army officers held 20,764 individual interviews with prisoners. The number of paroled prisoners handled was 762.

Another important phase of the work isjthe care given to the families of men in jail. In Toronto alone during the last year 784 prisoners' families were given food, 276 families were given clothes, and the rent was paid in 125 cases. In the case of food there are standardized baskets, according to the size of the family. An order is simply given to a big store, whose wagon calls at the home with the parcel. So that no neighbour knows that charity is helping to feed the family whose breadwinner has been sent to jail.

Family Punished, Too.

For the jail sentences involve more that the punishment of the offender. It involves his family as well. And, under the system, the family, the wife and children of the man might starve were it not for this helping hand which sends them gifts.

About fifty per cent. of the prisoners are paroled. Last year, according to Captain McElhiney, during the period of parole, 80 per cent. of the paroled prisoners made good. Of those who came out under the extra-mural act 95 per cent. made good during their period of provision.

How many prisoners who come out at the expiration of their terms, unsupervised, made good, Captain McElhiney could not say. A proportion of those discharged thus, without friends, needing food and shelter on their leaving prison, came to the Salvation Army for temporary help as they were invited to do when in prison, but it was impossible from these casual contacts after wards to arrive at conclusive figures about the rehabilitation of such men and women.

But men and women who have been criminals, who have lived lives that landed them in jail, do indeed "come back," according to both Captain McElhiney and his wife, two people who should know, for they have given over a quarter of a century to the winning back of dereliet men and women to decency and cleanness. Mrs. McElhiney has been thirty-two years in the Salvation Army; her husband nearly as long. Two striking people. A devoted pair. Their lives would make a book. They have seven children of their own, but everyone in trouble is their child. Their home, crowded with their own children, is an open haven for the suffering and the wayward. The poor and the destitute without number have sat at their table and lived in their home. There is only space here for the merest hint of their beneficence to the world's black sheep. Hundreds of lives have been touched and changed by the spiritual beauty of their practical ministry.

In answer to the question, "Do the black sheep ever become white?" Mrs. McElhiney smiled and told the story of the Wildcat. The Wildcat was a girl of sixteen in an Ontario town. Her name was a police name. For she was a terror. An orphan originally, she never had a chance. On reaching maturity she quickly threw aside all morals. She came under the influence of a remittance man, a cultured, attractive degenerate. Finally she was sent to jail. She came out and joined him again. Their alliance was unnameably evil. Then she was arrested again—battered, bleeding, after a quarrel with her companion. It seemed that no woman could sink lower than this girl was then, debauched, degraded, haglike almost—and just turned seventeen.

In the jail she called for Mrs. McElhiney. The latter came to her. "I hate to think," cried the girl, "that my baby is going to be born in jail."

"Wildcat's" Regeneration.

The Minister of Justice was appealed to. The girl was paroled. She went to a Salvation Army home. There the baby was born.

When she had been in the home a year a widower, who had recently lost his wife, came seeking a young mother who could nurse his own baby. He was told about the girl. Told fully about her tragic record. He did not mind. He was willing to take a chance on her for the sake of his own child.

So the girl went to him and the care of the two babies—her own and his. The months passed. She stuck. She saw the children grow up together, playing together.

And then one day the man came to the home and asked the Salvation Army matron if he might marry the girl. He was satisfied she had "come back."

So they were married. To-day that girl is the wife of this farmer, doing splendidly. "Will you pray," she wrote to Mrs. McElhiney shortly after her marriage, "and ask your husbadf to pray that I may be worthy of a goo man's home." Their prayers must have borne fruit. For now it is nearly seven years after. And she has never once slipped.

"Of course, they come back," smiled Mrs. McElhiney. A few Sundays ago a man, his wife, and two children had supper in the McElhiney home. The woman, as a girl, had been in jail. In fact, her husband had first met her, a weeping figure, at the grave of a fatherless little baby who had died. He learned her story. He loved her. He asked her to marry him. Then he went to war. She played the game all the time he was away. When he came back they married. To-day, her past, as a girl, is as if it never were.

"Tell me," she said with a certain eager pathos to Mrs. McElhiney, "I want to be a lady. I want to come up to my husband's ideal. You know how bad I've been. That's all past. But I do want to be worthy of my husband's love. He's so very good to me."

"The sweetest girl in the world," her husband calls her, as he speaks of her with affection in his eyes.

"As I looked into her wonderful dark eyes," related Mrs. McElhiney, "her own eyes wet with unshed tears, "and saw her holding in her arms their second baby, I thought it was all worth while.'

Two years ago at a garden party at the back of the Mercer reformatory for women, Captain McElhiney sang a hymn. A woman heard it and was touched. From that day her life changed. The song tapped some well of hidden beauty in her heart which surged forth and purified her. She let let the officers of the reformatory and the other inmates know that she was changed. She completed her sentence and went back to the Ontario town where she belonged.

"Save Heart and Save All."

She was a woman of thirty at least. She had been known well to the police. She had been what is popularly known as a bad woman; she had been a hard woman, the intimate of bandits and bootleggers, keeper of a disorderly house. On her return home from jail, the police began to keep an eye on her again. But to their surprise she linked up with the Salvation Army. She began to help in their work with juveniles. Then one day, when one of the officers was leaving on duty, the latter asked the woman to care for her Sunday School class in her absence. That was the final touch needed to seal her regeneration. That was nearly two years ago. In spite of the smallness of the town where she is, in spite of the presence of her former associates, she has never faltered.

Of course, the Salvation Army uses a weapon which society in general cannot use in the reclamation of the prisoner. That weapon is the spiritual, appeal, the emotional evangelism of their creed. At the best, society can only work from the outside in. The Salvation Army works from the inside out. "Change the heart and you change all," says Captain McElhiney. So the Salvation Army concentrates first of all on the "saving" of the soul. Not that they cram religion into these people they are trying to help or that they refuse help to any who may not accept their hallelujah outlook. Not at all. Their ministry is to the fallen. Their aim is to lift them up. If in doing so another "Soldier of the Cross" is won, so much the better. But the main thing is to get such people on their feet.

But what one wishes to emphasize is the fact that the Salvation Army has a spiritual prop to help the fallen stay upright which is greater than any material thing that officials, boards, society can provide, no matter how well intentioned. Throughout these anecdotes of redeemed men and women this undercurrent of emotional appeal must be understood as running.

Here is rather a remarkable story told by Captain McElhiney of prison contacts. A young fellow comes over to Toronto from Detroit last fall, declaring that he is looking for work which is scarce in his line in the American city. He is here three weeks when his young wife, anxious at not hearing from him and about to become a mother, follows him and joins him.

They are absolutely up against it. In order to get a little money the man pawns his overcoat. They go out looking for a room. They go from house to house asking. The police see them and arrest the man. At that time there are a great many hold-ups. When the man is searched a gun is found on him. But he has no record. Carrying a gun is his only crime. Never theless he is sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Within a very few days he is literally railroaded to Kingston.

Baby Dead, Husband Jailed.

The young fellow, like a great many Americans travelling nowadays, had brought a gun with him. He insisted that he had no criminal intent. He had had the gun in the house where he was staying, but when he and his wife went to look for a room he had put the gun in his pocket, fearing that his belongings would be seized for room rent which he owed, and not wanting the gun to be found among them. This was his explanation, and there was nothing at all brought out in evidence to show that he was not speaking the truth. But he went down for three years.

His wife came down to the station to bid him good-bye. While there she was taken ill and cared for in the Travellers' Aid booth. From there she was rushed to the hospital. Her baby was born. But it was not destined to live. She pleaded with tears: "Oh, doctor, can't you save him? My husband wanted him so much. Now he will never see him. They took him away from me."

But the baby died. And on New Year's day the girl went back—sad, bereaved, alone, her husband in jail—to Detroit. It had been a sad Christmas trip for her to Toronto.

Captain and Mrsl McElhiney believed the story of these two young people. The girl seemed frank, honest and heartbroken. But nothing could be done. Justice in its wisdom had sent the man to jail. His wife paid, though, in pain, poverty and tears. She is now in Detroit, working again as a stenographer. When the day comes that her husband is free again, the Salvation Army will step in and try to help them take up life again where their Toronto visit broke it.

Certainly, they come back, asserts Captain McElhiney. A man, sho shall be called Smith, in his youth shot a man. They fought a duel in the west—it was the other man's proposal. Stepped off twenty-five paces and fired. The other man died. Smith was sentenced to a term of imprisonment in a western penitentiary. He was released at last and eventually came to Toronto.

In Toronto he was a professional gambler. He ran joints. He was a bootlegger. In the language of the street, he was a thoroughly hard-boiled egg. At last he was caught. He was sent to the jail farm.

The Salvation Army came into contact with the man when they found that his wife and family were in extreme hardship. The woman had sold her furniture, sold even her stove, to pay the rent. Captain McElhiney had the man brought out of jail under the extra-mural act and found him a job in the S.A. industrial department. To make a long story short, the man, about forty years of age, became "converted," kneeling down one day at the pump house at the jail and "giving his heart to God."

Making a New Start.

It was a real change of heart. Today that man is a good citizen; perhaps for the first time in his life. He has a good job and is living a useful life.

The case is not without its humorous side. Recently, for example, Smith met three men on the street whom he had known in his old unregenerate days. Not knowing his recent history, they presumed he was still at the old game of gambling and bootlegging. They hailed and stopped him. "Where are you living now?" they asked. He told them. "All right," they exclaimed, "we'll be up to-night."

"I'll be glad to see you," he answered.

That evening they called at his house. He invited them in. To their surprise the house seemed full of children. The men lay up against the wall speechlessit while Smith conducted family worship. Three more astonished men could not have been found in Toronto.

"We thought you were using religion as a stall," they declared, when at last it was driven home to them that Smith was changed.

"So I am," answered Smith, smiling. "It's a good stall all right. It keeps them all off."

Then there was another chap—Brown, for convenience—who had been overseas, where he had married a nice Irish girl. On his return to Toronto after the war, he had found things too slow. He seased to be faithful to his wife. He deserted her at last and her two children. He stole an automobile and went off with another woman. He was arrested, brought back and given a year's sentence.

The Salvation Army looked after his wife and family, fed and housed them for weeks. Then Brown was released to work at a job outside under the mural act. He came out and he made good. He did not profess conversion, but something had touched him. A reconciliation had been effected with his wife. Forgiveness had been his. They agreed on a new start.

He has made good absolutely. He has now three children. He is an expert workman. He and his wife are happy as if he had never strayed, in a comfortable home.

"My daughter met the two of them on Saturday night," declared Captain McElhiney, "out shopping together. You cannot imagine a happier couple."

"You've got to change a man's innards," added Captain McElhiney, "if you want him to climb back. It's always the case of a bad heart. It is not a case of mentality with criminals, though there are twisted minds among them. It's a matter usually of the heart being wrong. A man will follow his natural impulses as the night follows the day. Change the heart and the impulses will change. And the man will not want to be a criminal."

Thus Captain McElhiney spoke out of his deep experience. It may be that there is a wisdom here which the psychiatrists and those who would only change the mind of the criminal to make him walk straight have overlooked.

BLIGHTED LOVE DROVE GIRL TO EMBRACE DEATH

Nellie Patterson Was Pulled From Very Arms of the Pale Driver by Alert Traffic Policeman--Pleaded For Oblivion.

BLAMES SWEETHEART

A year ago Nellie Patterson came from her home in Blue Ridge, Va., to earn her living in the big city. She was a dark-eyed country girl with clustering brown hair and a happy smile.

Yesterday, at Thirteenth and Market streets, she tried to hurl herself into the stream of auto and trolley traffic, screaming wildly, "I want to die—I want to die."

Later, exhausted from hysterical weeping, she sat on the edge of a cot in Hahnemann Hospital, her face lined with pain and her eyes bloodshot, and sobbed that George—she said his name was George Bonner—no longer loved her, and that she could not live without him.

Compressed into Moments.

Into a few exciting moments at the busy street corner and an hour of wild fighting against the doctors and nurses who tried to calm her at the hospital she crowded all the suppressed emotion of the long year away from her home in the Virginia hills.

Traffic Patrolman McKinlay had just given the "Go" signal to the east and west traffic at Thirteenth and Market Streets when a figure darted under his arm, leaping for the tracks as the stream of machines made for the crossing.

"I want to die!" the girl shrieked, and before the policeman could move to save her, she was on the tracks.

McKinley acted automatically. With one hand hand he threw the traffi semaphore back to "Stop," and with the other clutched at the girl's arm. He lunged after her, caught her, and dragged her back from the path of the foremost machine, but not until his arm had been cut by the fenders of a car driven by William Moore, of Ritner Street, near Fourth. Heedless of his own injury, McKinley picked up the girl and bundled her into a machine, ordering the driver to speed to the Hahnemann Hospital.

Struggles Violently.

She was fighting violently as they carried her into the accident ward. Through an open telephone her screams could be heard as she implored the doctors and nurses to let her die.

"I don't want to live, doctor," she cried. "I'm going to die; don't you know I'm going to die?"

"You're not going to die," said the doctor, trying to quiet her.

"Let me die! Oh, why, don't you let me die?" she implored.

It took half an hour to calm her, and it was only exhaustion that at last stilled the wild screaming. Her breast still shook with dry sobs. It was not until another woman questioned her gently that she would tell her name and address. She said she had been living here on Brown Street above Fifteenth, and had worked in a mill downtown.

Blames George.

"George is to blame," she sobbed. "He didn't treat me right." She sat on the edge of the cot, clenching and unclenching her hands and swinging her feet nervously. "I met George a few months ago. It's a year since I came here from home, down at Blue Ridge. I met George. I loved him." She fingered a red stone on her ring finger and another plain gold band. "Last Friday George took me over to New York."

In the midst of her weeping the girl's eyes lightened. "Gee," she said, "it certainly was some swell place. It certainly was wonderful. I didn't know there was anything like it. But he brought me back to the city and I haven't seen him since."

She began to weep again. "I haven't seen George, and he was to have called me up to-day. He didn't do it, and I know he doesn't love me any more. He doesn't love me any more, and I want to die."

The girl was well dressed, in a black crepe dress trimmed in red. She had on black high-heeled slippers and light stockings. A little black hat trimmed in red was on her dark hair, which she has had bobbed since she came to the city. She is being held at the hospital.

Pleated skirts are worn with white knitted jerseys showing a wide range of the bright colorings.

A THOUGHT

OWN UP!

The blues? Why, do you mean to to say
That when things go the crooked way
You let yourself get all cast down
And swap your chuckle for a frown?
When creditors come snooping 'round,
Do frets and cares your mind confound?
When skies are gloomy and it rains,
Does all your joy seem pent in chains?
Does everything seem lost to hope,
Until you almost cry for rope?

Say, do you really get that way,
And keep your closest friends at bay,
When they would sympathize with you,
Until your good old grouch is through?
Do you get ugly, want to snap
And bark and bite, you gruff old chap?
When everything goes to the bad,
Do you get cross and mean and sad?
Be honest now! Confess. You do?
Then shake, old fellow! I do, too!

—Paul West.

Do You Like Indian Stories

Gus, an Indian. Out in the woods. Cold. Hungry. Tired. Lost. Gets colder. Sits down and cries. Colder, Freezing. Dies.

Joe, another Indian. Out in the woods. Cold. Hungry. Tired. Lost. Colder—but keeps moving. Sharp eyes looking. No room for tears. Finds flint. Strikes fire. Big blaze. Rescued. Hero!

Gus and Joe were Indians. But they might have been salespeople—or advertisers—or store chiefs.

These days there are plenty of Guses around—(and some Gussies, too). Tired. Hungry. Crying for business.

But there are also some Joes—(and Josephines). These are store folks who are keeping moving. They know there is a business flint to be found. And this business flint, struck with that zip that tries instead of cries, proves business fire can be parked into flame in any business woods.

Sit Gus, and weep. Keep going Joe, and reap!

* * * * *

We're right in Joe's class—hustling for business always—and we're getting it.

TOO MUCH GOLF SAYS FLAVELLE

More Work and Less Play is Advice of Millionaire

TORONTO, June 13. — "Has Toronto an over-developed golf bump?"

Sir Joseph Flavelle thinks it has, and that its citizens are spending too much time over fairway and hazard and not giving enough attention to business.

In his address before the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada last evening he pointed to the increase in the number of Golf Clubs in and around Toronto. "Do you honestly think there is good reason in multiplying golf links in the neighborhood of Toronto since the outbreak of the war by four or five, especially when you consider the necessary investment and the time required?" he asked.

Economy in both high and low places is the one thing needful in Canada to-day if the country is to recover from its legacy of war debts and to advance and prosper, said Sir Joseph.

"It is stated that the major portion of the annual value of the grain crop in Ontario is now annually spent upon the upkeep of the autos in the province," he commented.

"This is a wholly new charge in recent years. Does it now follow that there are less resources available for needed improvements and betterments, which employ labor and stimulate business. I believe it is true that there is a general disinclination to depend upon personal effort and endeavor and willingness to work hard and long, as natural and necessary if new charges occasioned by the incredibitable waste and loss in the war are to be met. We have rather sought for betterment through political action and through appeals to class and vocational prejudice. We complain of taxes, and I believe there is justification for the complaint," he went on.

The large and increasing claims of the government had resulted in a thoroughly rebellious body of taxpayers and where there was unnecessary expenditure and extravagance governments should be sternly called to account by an aroused public opinion."

JAPANESE IN TOMBS

Doctor Arrested in New York Awaits Sentence—International Complications.

NEW YORK, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Dr. Osuma Terada, the Japanese physician arrested a few days ago by detectives who raided his Harlem apartment, was yesterday convicted in Special Sessions Court on a charge of illegal possession of a revolver.

He was remanded to the Tombs without bail for sentence on 23rd June.

Asserting that his conviction might have political significance in view of the anti-American demonstrations in Japan because of the immigration law, Terada's white wife pleaded in vain that he be sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation as to his sanity.

No mention was made at the trial of the formulae for high explosives which the detectives reported they found in Terada's apartment.

The physician, a graduate of Osaka University, denied ownership of the revolver.

MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF JEWELERY WAS STOLEN

LONDON, June 13. — (United Press). — Antique jewellery, gold and silver ware, estimated to be worth $1,250,000, has been stolen from the almost priceless collection of Lady Ludlow, widow of Sir Julius Wernherrner, South African diamond millionaire. Wearing gloves and padded shoes, the thieves entered the house in Picadilly and looted the collection, ignoring Lady Ludlow's personal jewels for the rare antiques. The Daily Express states that a corps of secretaries is still at work calculating the losses, and quotes experts as saying that only a portion of the articles stolen have a market value of $1,250,000.

The entire collection is worth more than $5,000,000.

NEWS TRENT RIVER AND THE DISTRICT

TRENT RIVER, June 12.—The water has lowered considerably, which will be a drawback to the opening of the bass and maskinonge fishing.

The small channel connecting the main channel is dry. The shores are all high and dry, and boats at the shore are on dry land.

Mrs. Barrager and little daughter Betty, of Belleville, arrived to reside for the summer. Mr. Barrager is a member of the Bon-Ton Orchestra.

Mrs. Will Waldie, of Roseneath, is a visitor with Mrs. John Boyd.

Over thirty guests are booked for "Cedar Isle" for the opening. More applications have been phoned to this popular resort for accommodation, but Mr. Wight, the proprietor, could not take any more at present.

A number from Cleveland, Ohio, are expected at the Cook cottage.

Mr. Revoy and family, of near Marmora, have taken Mrs. Boyd's white cottage for an indefinite time.

Mr. Andrew Wight has pruchased three handsome cedar skiffs from the Rice Lake Canoe Co. for the accommodation of his guests.

LOBSTER CANNING IS NOT CLEANLY

Professor Knight Declares Industry Will Lose Confidence of Public.

OTTAWA, June 13. (Canadian Press). — "The confidence of consumers in the cleanliness of factories may be easily lost, and when it is, it will be regained only by 'playing the game.' Once confidence is lost canned lobsters will become unsaleable. The best canners will retain their customers because they can properly, and they stand behind their goods ;but even they may suffer in the general slump if one comes. But the smaller canners are sure to suffer, and they deserve to, because many of them have been packing human food for four years past (and I don't know how much longer) in disregard of the principal laws of sanitary science. The true friends of these men are those that tell them the truth, and the truth is that canning is being done to-day in many small factories under conditions which should not be tolerated."

This declaration was made by Prof. A. P. Knight, chairman of the Biological Board of Canada, before the Marine and Fisheries Committee yesterday in a plea for the adoption of new regulations in regard to lobster canning, for the purpose, as Prof. Knight put it, "of abolishing the more or less unsanitary condition in about three-quarters of the lobster canneries."

"The plain truth is," he said, "that much of the blackening and probably all of the poor quality of the meat is due chiefly to lack of strict cleanliness—to dirt and bacteria."

Dr. Knight stated that canners themselves had estimated the annual loss from "blackened lobster" as varying between $375,000 in 1920 to $300,000 in 1923. He defined blackened lobster as "lobster meat which has begun to decay," and said that the remedy "is to can the meat properly as soon as it comes out of the water."

Dr. Knight said that "the Department, if it has erred at all, has erred on the side of leniency during the past four years."

"Up to 1922," he said, "losses were unavoidable because nobody had discovered their cause. But by March, 1923, the Department had been informed as to the cause."

There need be no fear that injustice would be done to canners through precipitated action, he declared. Many of the methods urged upon canners to-day were known and urged upon them years ago. "The only recent requirements," he said, "are the use of steam for creating a vacuum in the cans, clean running water in which to wash the meat, canopies over meat tables, and acid pickle."

WRESTLING ALIVE IN JAPAN.

TOKYO, June 13.—(United Press) — Drummers are going about the streets of Tokyo, calling out in loud voices that the wrestling tournament is about to start. The advance sale of tickets for the event gives no indication that Japan is laboring to recover from the disaster of last September or that the yen has depreciated. For many centuries wrestling has been the chief professional sport of Japanese.

Romantic Interior Is Aim Of Home-Furnishing Women Among This Year's Brides

Romance Did Not Pass With Knights Of Medieval Times, But a Little Of It May Be Caught In The Home Furnishings.

BEAUTIFY THE HOME

The making of her home a perfect home is of more concern to the Peterboro housewife than owning the most pretentious residence. Whatever means are chosen, perfect furniture is of prime importance—not necessarily expensive furniture, but fitting. Well selected and of true worth it does more to beautify and glorify the house than probably any other agent.

When it comes to cares, color is a vital point in interior decorating and furnishing. A dining room that rejoices the eye and the aesthetic sense as well, comes to mind. At first one saw the very interesting glass curtains ,not thing nor pale in tint, but full of color, of triped taffeta in lavenders and greens. Chintz edged with black made the long drapes and the valance.

Then one became conscious of the dull walnut furniture—chairs with cane backs and seats, a long low buffet with a separate unframed mirror above it and a high silver chest The floor was most unusual, a black and oyster gray checkerboard linoleum. Ivory panelled walls made a quiet back ground.

For the little touches in this quaint room, long green mats of coarse linen were spread on the table and the buffet, while Spanish pottery set the table.

Speaking of the relation of china to the color scheme brings to mind a rather dignified and formal effect produced in another dining room. Here dull walnut was the wood chosen ,and the chairs were covered with a dull red tapestry with great star shaped nail heads on their edges A window with a long low window seat was hung with dull red. Then as a last point of emphasis, a service of red glass, goblets, plates and so on with a flat centerpiece of artificial fruit and berries, decorated the table.

A Romantic Sun Parlor

For living purposes the sun parlor is a room of great attraction these days and more and more originality is being shown in its furnishings. Isn't there the least touch of romance in the India wicker chairs—those great roundly spread backs, reminding one of a peacock's tail? Wicker is only a detail now for over stuffed divans and lounging chairs covered with glazed chintz are a comfortable possibility.

Then in one corner of one sun parlor, one may find a tiny green iron tea table with two iron chairs placed tete-a-tete. And all around, of course, in hangings, in cushions and in table mats one finds splashes of a brilliant cretonne in cerise, black and purple on a cream ground

From the sun porch to the breakfast room is perhaps just a step. Here painted furniture has its own place, perhaps finding its charm, set about a similarly decorated table. Blue burlap was used for heavy drapes with a valance of chintz, in this particular room and the dull lavender of pottery from France with bands of blue, set the pretty table and the sideboard.

Beautiful Bedrooms

Can you imagine a Georgian bedroom with lavender and emerald green taffeta drapes? You can undoubtedly. A most interesting canopy arranged itself at the head of the bed. It was draped flat against the wall, depending from a gold coro net, and spread out below, finally ending in long drapes to the floor. Heavy looped drapes of the same material hung at the wnidows. The bed spreads were of changeable lavender taffeta. Another pretty conceit was the hanging of separate mirrors over both the bureau and the dressing table.

And so it comes about that romance is not confined to charging knights of medieval times, who rode forth to conquest leaving languishing maidens at home embroidering curious designs for their shields. The conquest of romance is still on and the laurel crown and special homage await the victor—the happy home owning woman who has built a little of the spirit of the romantic into her furnishings!

SUBWAY STRIKE BROKEN.

LONDON, June 13 (United Press) —The city-wide subway strike here is broken.

With the men steadily returning to work, a 50 per cent. service was inaugurated to-day.

The employees predict the entire collapse of the walk-out, and the early restoration of a normal service.

You Can Eat Anything You Like And Not Have HEARTBURN

In all cases of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, as when too much food is taken into the stomach it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is generally sour and bitter. When you are in this condition you will find that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will give you relief right away.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have never been troubled since.

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heart burn any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

QUART OF 2.75 BEER PRODUCED NO 'KICK'

Representative Kindred, a Physician, Tells Congress Committee of Experiment.

DENIES IT IS INTOXICATING

WASHINGTON, June 13—Testimony combating the contention that 2.75 per cent. beer is intoxicating was given before the House Committee on the Judiciary by Representative John J. Kindred of New York, who, as a practicing physician, specialized for thirty years in the treatment of mental and nervous disorders.

Speaking as a physician, Representative Kindred urged favorable action on the pending bills authorizing the sale and manufacture of 2.75 per cent. beer, contending that such a beverage was not intoxicating, either in a legal or scientific sense.

Representative Kindred told the committee of an experiment that he and two other physicians made some time ago with a view to determining the effects on the human system of 2.75 per cent. beer. The three physicians spent an entire afternoon drinking beer with an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent. He said that none of the participants in the experiment got a "kick" out of the beer drunk. Each of the physicians drank about a quart of beer during the afternoon.

Comparing the effects of coffee, tea and 2.75 per cent. beer on the human system, Representative Kindred entered into a scientific explanation of the meaning of the term "intoxication."

"There are first, second and third degrees of intoxication," said Representative Kindred. "The first stage of intoxication from alcohol produces the same symptoms or signs as would the exhilaration that is caused by strong tea or coffee in a person of average susceptibility to either of these agents. The symptoms of the first stage are slight acceleration of the heart action a slight increase in respiration and a subjective feeling of well-being or mild exhilaration.

"These symptoms of the first stage of intoxication, which is not intoxication at all in a scientific sense or in a legal sense, would be exactly the same whether they were caused by one or two pints of beer or by one or two cups of strong coffee or tea.

Denies Possibility of Intoxication.

"It is absurd and entirely unfounded, both from a legal and scientific standpoint, to claim that the full capacity of the human stomach, which would amount to about two pints, or a quart, of 2.75 per cent. beer, under the ordinary condition of the stomach, would cause intoxication in a scientific sense or in a legal sense.

"This brings us to the all-important question of the percentage of alcoholic strength in a given alcoholic beverage that 'twill cause intoxication as defined by the Eighteenth Amendment and by medical science.

"Two pints of beer, meaning about six modern beer glasses full of feer, contain not enough alcoholic content to cause intoxication. Two pints of beer, meaning thirty-two fluid ounces, would contain, in the strength of 2.75 per cent. alcoholic content, only about three and one-half desert teaspoonfuls or less of ehtyl alcohol or grain alcohol, which is certainly not enough to intoxicate any normal adult.

"As to whether or not this amount of beer or any other amount of beer which the human stomach is capable of taking, would intoxicate, must be considered both from a legal and medical standpoint of the susceptibility or immunity of the average, normal human, being under the normal conditions of life in a state of civilized society.

The sworn affidavits of Drs. A. A. Brill and Smith Ely Jelliffee of New York City and other physicians of national standing fully confirm my own professional conclusions founded on experiments upon myself and other physicians that it is not possible to cause intoxication by the use of 2.75 per cent. beer."

Others Appear for Beer Bills.

Representative O'Connor of New York, Democrat, Representative Hill of Maryland, Republican, and Representative Britten of Illinois, Republican, also appeared before the committee to-day in support of the pending beer bills.

"The Volstead Act has been called a 'legislative lie'," said Mr. O'Connor. "It is a lie, a damnable lie. It brands certain beverages as intoxicating which no sensible man can honestly maintain are intoxicating. A severe indictment is thus made against Congress and that indictment will stand unless something is done towards its dismissal."

Speaking for the sixty members who introduced beer bills, Representative Hill offered a schedule of "sixty points against the Volstead Act," among which were the following:

"The Volstead Law is not authorized by the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Its definition of intoxicating liquors is an exaggerated lie.

"It sets up a double standard of morality.

"It prohibits more than one-half of one per cent for the city dwellers

"It permits more than one-half of 1 per cent. for the rural residents."

Representative Britten charged that crime, disorderly conduct and intoxication had increased under the Volstead Act, and that it was time Congress repealed it.

The Committee closed its hearings on the beer bills for this session. Their consideration will be resumed when Congress re-assembles in December.

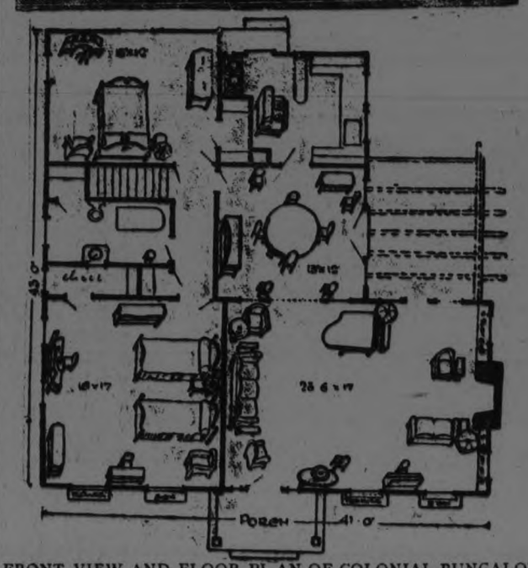
CONVENIENCE AND CHARM IN COLONIAL BUNGALOW



FRONT VIEW AND FLOOR PLAN OF COLONIAL BUNGALOW

Incorporation of the charm of the colonial with the convenience of the bungalow is the achievement the designer of this house has attained.

The entrance, with its door of colonial design and the side lights, is inviting, and the green shutters do much to add to the attractiveness of the home. The material chosen, white stucco, is well adapted to this type of work.

Large rooms are a feature of the interior. The dimensions of the living groom are such as to insure that it will be made what its name implies, a room to live in. The dining room is of adequate size and opens off the living room in such a manner that an impression of increased size is given to both rooms.

The pergola terrace behind the dining room gives a maximum of convenience, since it is accessible from both the dining room and the living room. The kitchen is arranged as an efficient domestic unit.

The bed rooms are unusually large for a home of this type. Both have light and ventilation from two sides and commodious closets.

The cost of such a home is subject to all the variations caused by the differing rates of pay for workmen, variations in freight rates and in materials used in construction. The approximate cost of this home, which figure will vary greatly in different part, is $6,000.

PLAIN PUMPS

Plain opera pumps, guiltless of buckle, strap or bow, are excellent style for evening as well as for afternoon.

WOMEN'S SECRET CHARM

In perfect health lies the secret of woman's charm which makes her radiate cheer and happiness wherever she goes. No one enjoys listening to the aches, pains and woes of an ailing, nervous, irritable woman, and her condition is plainly stamped upon every feature. The most effective remedy for woman's ailments ever discovered has proved to be Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women are soon restored to health by its use and acquire the charm that health alone can give.

TAXIS ARE LIMITED.

When New York police barred more than 1,000 taxis from "cruising" for passengers on Fifth Avenue, the cabs took to Broadway. Now the police are trying to devise a means to stop the congestion along that thoroughfare.

FEW HINTS FOR THE JUNE BRIDE

If the Young Lady Doesn't Elope She Settles to a Catch-As-Catch-Can Wedding.

(By Hedda Hoyt).

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 13.—(United Press).—Regardless of what is and has been said pro and con of the flapper, she is a conservator of material—dress material!

She is as petticoatless, corsetless, garterless, and as scant skirted as possible for all occasions. Consider the flapper wedding of to-day. If the young lady doesn't elope, she settles down to a catch-as-catch-can wedding with a few flapper bridesmaids who provide their own gowns, and a white bridal gown for herself that is chosen for its ballroom proclivities.

Her train and her wedding veil? Ask the costumers about them. They can be rented for the price of a good pair of rolled stockings—gorgeous trains with real seed pearls stitched on them and with snapper attachments which adjust them to any gown. A garland of waxed orange blossoms can als, be obtained at the costumers for a dollar or so. Of course, these things must be returned to the costumers after the ceremony, but that's a mere matter of red tape.

Only a Dirty Look.

As to the wedding bouquet which the bride of a decade ago threw to her best girl friend in the theory that she would be the next girl venturing on the matrimonial sea, it simply no longer is. Why should poor Alfred blow himself to a bouquet of orchids for the bride to throw at some jane, when throwing her a dirty look might have the necessary effect? That "see-what-I-drew" look from the bride has sent many a bridesmaid off on the man hunt.

The girl of to-day isn't as senseless as we believe her to be. She certainly is quite as capable a person as the little armour-plated, forget-me-not girl who tripped down the church aisle in high French heels and fifteen petticoats a couple of decades ago. That girl's satin wedding gown and lace fan are reposing in the attic to-day, affording grazing grounds for a million moths, whereas the 1924 girl will doubtless have danced the heels off her wedding slippers before fall and her gown will be minus its headwork. She will doubtless finish her gown by tinting it and making it up into post-honeymoon undies.

Step into any large department store to-day and ask for a wedding gown. They'll lead you to a rack where hang some twenty white gowns which can be used for weddings, graduations, dancing frocks, and what not.

Something to Use.

There is not one frock there that was made with a wedding as its ultimate goal. One simply buys a white frock, a couple of yards of tulle, a spray of orange blossoms—secures a minister, and, voila! the deed is done and one has a nice little white outfit for the ballroom.

"Since many of our sweetest young girls are wedding he-Teda Bara's twice or three times their age, one is inclined to doubt the wisdom of the old saying pertaining to marriage —"something old, something new, something bartered, and something blue." Too often it means:

Something old	Groom
Something new	Frock
Something bartered	Youth
Something blue	Bride

AHOY!

Some of the French are working like beavers to repair war losses, while their leaders chew the rag and play to the galleries.

A striking example is the French merchant marine, now 4,200,000 tons. That's almost twice as big as before the war. In 1919 it had dropped to about 1,700,000 tons.

Is it a natural growth? French cling to their homeland more than any other race. How many French immigrants have you ever seen?

POSTAL CLERKS WILL TAKE VOTE

The Clerks Waited Till an Early Hour This Morning to Hear Explanation From Their Officials.

TORONTO, June 13 (Canadian Press). — "While we recognise the value of the Civil Service Commission when functioning according to its original purpose nevertheless this meeting finds it necessary to record a vote of want of confidence in the Civil Service Commission."

The above was a resolution passed at an early hour this morning by the Postal Clerks' Association, which met in the Labour Temple to hear the explanations from their officials of the changes made by the Civil Service Commission in their wages.

It was a closed meeting, and the only announcement came from the Press Committee.

There was talk of a strike among the 500 clerks who attended the meeting, and it was said that the feeling of the men throughout the Dominion would be tested to-day and on Saturday when they would be asked to cast a ballot on the question of a strike.

oting in Toronto will commence at 9 a.m.

STIR IN HOUSE OVER THE BILL

Redistribution Will Be Opposed Next Week

OTTAWA, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)—There will be a stir in the House of Commons when the redistribution bill is submitted to that chamber by special committee which has been wrestling with this problem for two sessions. There are ominous rumblings which indicate that the Conservatives will offer vigorous opposition to some features on the bill. It is also well known that that opposition is to be greatly intensified by the proposal of the government to introduce principal of single transferable vote in all single member constituencies in which there are more than two candidates running.

It has been more than once intimated by both leader of the Opposition, Mr. Meighen, and by Sir Henry Drayton, that no stone would be left unturned to prevent passage of that measure. They are bitterly opposed to single transferable vote. As to redistribution bill they are already charging that it is a gerrymander because so many Ontario constituencies are to be subjected to changes in boundaries.

Next Monday morning there will be another meeting of Ontario subcommittee, when it is expected that its work will be completed.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MRS. CRACKNUTS HAS GOOD LUCK

The Twins started out to deliver the things.

One day Mrs. Cracknuts telephoned to the store for some groceries.

"I want two cents worth of soap," she said, "and one cent's worth of tea, and five cents worth of butter, and a loaf of bread, and a pint of maple syrup."

"I'm sorry," said Nancy, who had answered the telephone for Mister Bags, "but we haven't a drop of maple syrup left."

"Oh, dear!" cried Mrs. Cracknuts. "I'm sorry about that. I just took a notion I wanted some last night and Ithought I couldn't wait for the store to open this morning. I sez to Daddy, I sez, 'Daddy, the minute Mister Bags' store is open to-morrow, I'm going to telephone for some maple syrup. It seems to me I can smell it, I want it so much,'"

"I'm ever so sorry, Mrs. Cracknuts," said Nancy. "Is there anything else?"

"No, I guess not!" said the squirrel lady in a disappointed voice.

"All right," said Nancy. "Thank you, Mrs. Cracknuts."

Mister Bags got the groceries all ready and put them into a basket and the Twins started out to deliver the things to Mrs. Cracknuts who lived in Maple Tree Flats.

They walked up the stairway inside of the big maple tree (their magic shoes made this very easy) and knocked on Mrs. Cracknuts' kitchen door.

"Come in," called the squirrel lady, please. I've got my hands in the dishwater."

"Certainly," said Nick, opening the door and laying out the bread and butter and everything on the nice clean kitchen table.

"When will Mister Bags be having more maple syrup?" asked Mrs. Cracknuts.

"I don't think he'll be having any more," said Nancy, "because it's getting late in the season, he says, and the syrup has all run out of the maple trees."

"Well, I'm sorry!" sighed Mrs. Cracknuts. "The one thing that Daddy and I love better than nuts even, is maple syrup. I just feel as though I couldn't stand it to have to do without. There! Thank goodness, those dishes are done. I'm hurrying to get through, for the paperhanger is coming. Something has leaked through my walls and made them all damp."

"That's too bad," said Nancy. "Why, it's running down onto the floor, too. It's all over your floor, Mrs. Cracknuts, and it's sticky."

"Sticky!" almost shrieked Mrs. Cracknuts. "Whatever can it be?"

She rushed over to the wall where a tiny stream of clear stuff was trickling down. First she smelled and then she tasted. And then she almost fainted for joy. "It's maple syrup," she said weakly. "There must be a whole tank of it in my wall."

"Oh, dear! How lovely!" cried Nancy.

"I'll make a stopper so it won't be wasted," said Nick. And he took a little piece of wood and stopped the hole.

Daddy Cracknuts and his wife had enough syrup to last them all summer, and enough for company, too.

Don't you wish you lived in a maple-tree?

CHURCH UNION UP ON MONDAY

House of Commons Will Deal With Issue Next

OTTAWA, June 13 (Canadian Press). — It is now expected that the Church Union Bill will come before the House of Commons on Monday.

It is being re-printed with amendments adopted in the Private Bils Committee, and is likely to be ready for discussion in the House the first of the week.

Private bills, among which the Church union measure ranks, have the right-of-way on Mondays, and it is therefore probable that the entire day will be taken up with its discussion.

Just before the Bill was reported, an unsuccessful attempt was made to rescind the amendment by which the operating of the Act was made dependent on the decision by the Courts, and it is expected that this effort will be renewed as soon as the measure comes up in the Commons.

PROVINCIAL PART YTO MAKE OWN SALVATION

BRAMPTON, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—"Entangling alliances" are not for the Liberal party of Ontario. The declaration, coupled with the association that the Provincial party, would work out its own salvation was made last night by W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader in the Provincial Legislature, at a rally held under the auspices of the Peel County Liberal Association and the Brampton Women's Liberal Club. "We must have a real, aggressive, active Liberal party," he said, after declaring that the Liberals sought no fusion with other political parties. "That is my object as Provincial leader. By standing alone we are acting in the best interests of the common people of Ontario. The time has come for all opposed to Conservatism to join hands and present a united front.

SIDE-LINE

From Argentina comes word that teachers there are not allowed to work full-time. They can have classes morning or afternoon, but not both. This gives them opportunity to devote half the day to outside jobs in business, trades or professions. So it's not uncommon to find a doctor or lawyer teaching a daily class.

This divided-activity system might be welcomed by teachers in America —which pays its brain instructors outrageously low. But that's the natural reaction of a race devoting nine-tenths of its time and money, to the body, only a tenth to the intellect.

UNDERGROUND

Strange and ancient people who live in holes in the ground are discovered in Africa. Ashton, explorer who found them, calls them Troglodytes, meaning "cave dwellers."

The apartment house dweller in our cities has much in common with the African Troglodytes. Yet either would pay admission to see the other in his native haunts. Next time you're at the zoo or circus, observe that the monkeys are more interested in the crowds than the crowds in the monkeys.

PARIS, June 13.—(United Press).—Reveil Du Nord publishes an article to-day, stating that M. Barthou will resign from the Reparations Commission next week, and indicates that he is likely to be named Resident General at Morocco. It is believed the Left groups plan to appoint M. Louis Loucheur president of the Reparations Commission.

FABLES ON HEALTH

TEACHING "BATH HABIT."

The scene presented in the Mann household when the "neck-and-ears" washing ceremony was performed was not materially different from that to be found wherever lusty lunged youngsters romped.

The appearance of rag and brush was invariably the signal for wails and wriggling.

Yet the lesson of cleanliness must be taught.

Parents should make every effort to educate the children into enjoying their bath. A difficult and frequently unsuccessful task is this oftimes when a boy in his teens is being dealt with.

Regular bathing times can be associated with games in some cases, but it is preferable that the youngsters be taught to enjoy the bath for its own sake.

If, as a little toddler, the baby is taught to love a clean body the task will be made easier in later years. Many parents wait too long before beginning the cleanliness education.

When grown-ups themselves look upon the skin as a mere covering for the body, what can be expected of youngsters? The skin is an important organ, and not a mere covering.

Get the growing children in the bath habit.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Why is gold the basis of modern money in practically all civilized countries?

Gold is the basis of modern money not because some powerful person in the dim past made it so, but because gold has several characteristics which make it convenient and sensible to use as money.

The four particular qualifications which gold has which make it desirable to use as money are as follows: 1. Gold is a metal, therefore durable. 2. Gold has a high value for its bulk; this due to its comparative scarcity. 3. Gold is convenient to test, divide, and make into coins. 4. The value of gold remains quite stable over long periods of years—there is none of the violent fluctuation found in produce.

THE C. G. E. HAS BIG EQUIPMENT POWER ORDERS

D. C. Durland Representing American Interests in Canada

(Financial Post).

With extensive Hydro power developments in different parts of the country, the Canadian General Electric Company and its subsidiary, the Canadian Allis-Chalmers Company, are busy on heavy equipment, including turbines and generators; the Montreal works are particularly busy. Orders include a big generator for the Ontario Hydro at Chipawa and turbines and generators for the new Quebec Development Company, financed by the Duke and Price interests, running into large sums; other contracts in hand include equipment for the British Columbia Electric Company, the West Kootenay Power Company, the Canadian Niagara Power Company, the Wahnapitae Power Company, the Mond Nickel Company and the South Bay Power Company. Business in general industrial equipment and in household electric fixtures is comparatively quiet.

The Canadian General Electric is playing, and willing, no doubt, to continue to play, an important part in the development of Hydro power and the marketing and consumption of electricity in Canada. And to judge from the history of electricity up to the present time the industry may be expected to continue to expand with the growth of the country and the constantly extending use of "white coal" to supply the diminishing supply of fuel. Developments now under way will greatly increase the supply of power, perhaps create more than enough for present demands in some districts, but already in some parts of the country there are other projects like the St. Lawrence development in the air.

Representing the General Electric Company of the United States which has secured control of the Canadian General Electric, D. C. Durland has been made a director of the Canadian company, and has associated himself with the management in Toronto. Asked regarding the future of the company and the electrical industry in Canada, Mr. Durland told The Financial Post that the fact that the General Electric Company had invested so largely in Canada should be the best answer of what was expected to take place in this country.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Sir,—As secretary-treasurer of the Menie District Ayrshire Breeders' Club, I have received numerous inquiries lately for Ayrshires, among them being one for 50 head for Mexico, including four bulls. also an inquiry for 100 head for Manitoba. It will be remembered that this club sent two carloads of Ayrshires West last fall, one going to Stonewall, Man. These provinces are turning to mixed farming, and is creating a wonderful market for the Ayrshires, grades, and pure-breds. At this season of the year, when many farmers are considering buying a bull for service, we think they would be taking a long step in the right direction if they would purchase a good Ayrshire bull and start grading up their herds for future demand. A good, pure-bred sire is not expensive, but rather a money-maker in any herd. Buy one bull and notice the marked improvement in your next crop of calves. Any Ayrshire breeders who have grade or pure-bred heifers for sale, 8 to 16 months old, please write F. M. Rutherford, stating how many and what price they want for each.—Yours,

F. M. Rutherford,
Secy., Menie Ayrshire Club,
Bonar Law.

NATIONAL GUARD TROOPS WILL NOT GUARD U.E.L.

BELLEVILLE, June 13. — The National Guard troops from Rochester are not coming to the U.E.L. celebration. A telegram from General Westcott, Adjutant General of the New York State troops was received here to-day to that effect.

General Westcott himself and General Ward and Colonel Walsh, are all coming from Albany. Hon. E. M.MacDonald, Minister of National Defense, will review the troops and take the salute on Monday.

The city to-day is faily bedecked with flags and celebration visitors have begun arriving.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE AT LYCEUM

The Catholic Women's League were hostesses at a pretty tea held yesterday afternoon in the assembly hall of St. Alphonsus' Lyceum. Mrs. J. J Doris acted as general convenor. The reception committee was composed of the president, Mrs. C. Snider, Mrs. D. O. Legendre and Mrs. Jas. Fitzgerald, assisted by Mrs. E. H. Hickey and Mrs. B. Law. A sale of home made cooking was in charge of Mrs. F. J. McFadden and Mrs. E. G. Hiland. Mrs. H. Owen had charge of the musical programme. Tea was poured at a large central table by Mrs. M. Henry and Mrs. R. Sheehy, Sr. Assistants at the small tables were Mrs. F. Shannon, Mrs. E. Cronin, Mrs. J. Condon and Miss K. McAuley. The decorations were beautifully carried out with a profusion of lilacs, massed on the stage, vases of lilacs and lily of the valley centering the individual and the large tea-tables. During the afternoon, an attractive musical programme was rendered, including a vocal solo by Miss Ernestine McManus, with accompaniment by Miss Grace Reid, and instrumental selections by Miss Reid, Miss Marion Hayes, Miss Mary McPherson and Miss Helen Grady.

ST .GEORGE'S CHURCH PREPARE FOR PICNIC

APSLEY, June 13.—The annual picnic of St. George's Church is advertised for June 20, and arrangements are under way to make it a big success. A ploughing match was intended to be one of the drawing cards, but owing to lack of entries, will probably be cancelled. Evidently the settlers are dubious of their proficiency as ploughmen, or lacking in ambition. The women, however, will probably not be backward in a bread-making contest. The Quaker Oats Company has very kindly consented to donate a 98-lb. sack of flour to the maker of the best loaf of bread made from Quaker flour. This should prove a popular event. Mr. T. H. Hooper has also generously offered a box of candy as a prize in another event.

PRESS COMMENT ON THE TREATY

Manchester Guardian Upholds Attitude of Canada.

LONDON, June 13.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—There are some mad or vicious persons in England. The most notorious one is in jail, but there are others at large, who would have us court war with the United States, says the Manchester Guardian, in discussing the Lausanne treaty. "Suppose Britain did rush into that abomination, according to International law and custom, Canada, with a frontier impossible to guard, would be at war with the United States too, though almost every interest she has is staked on her friendship with her neighbor.

"No doubt Canada has no fear of our losing our heads so wildly as that, but there are other possibilities less dire. Canada's recent action does not mean that if we had to go to war in discharge of some obligation of honor under the Lausanne treaty, she would not help in the field. She most certainly would, but she does not want it any longer to be taken as a matter of course that it is good enough for the Dominion to be at war or peace according as the British cabinet in London may decide.

"It is a matter of common knowledge in well informed circles," says Daily Mail, that "special diplomatic reason" which the Canadian Premier alleges to have weighed with the British government in its withholding Dominion representation at Lausanne conference, was the apparent intention of another allied power to claim the right, if Dominion delegations were admitted to the conference, of introducing delegations from this allied power's own colonial empire.

Lakefield Correspondence

LAKEFIELD, June 13.—Mrs. W. M. Graham entertained the members of the school board and their wives and the members of the Public and High school staff on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in cards, conversation and music. After refreshments were served Dr. Smith sang a solo, after which Miss Duff, principal of the Public school, and Mrs. E. J. Galvin, wife of one of the members of the Board, raised umbrellas over the heads of Miss Gladys Charlton and Miss Hertha Preston and a shower of handkerchiefs descended upon them. These two young ladies, who are popular members of the Public school staff, have resigned their positions previous to entering the estate of matrimony so the occasion was an auspicious one. The young ladies made graceful replies, thanking their friends for their kind thoughts. J. M. Simpson, principal of the High school, J. W. Ridpath, Dr. Smith, C. S. Tanner and D. H. Charlton, members of the Board, in brief speeches, expressed the good wishes of the members of the Board and the school staff to the young ladies.

The annual decoration day of Lodge 358, I.O.O.F. will be held on Sunday next. The members of the lodge will leave the lodge room about 2 o'clock and parade to Hillside cemetery and the Lakefield cemetery. This beautiful custom, observed annually, keeps green the memory of the members who have passed on to a higher and wider sphere.

COOLIDGE IS SAME UNKNOWN QUANTITY

LONDON, June 13. — (United Press).—"President Coolidge is the same unknown quantity to-day as he was when he entered the White House," the Evening Standard said to-day in commenting on the Republican convention.

The newspaper described the Republican platform as: "A masterpiece of windy inconclusiveness from which anything might and nothing should be inferred."

The press in general paid little attention to the nomination of the President, which had been anticipated.

CENTRAL HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

An open meeting of the Central Home and School Association took place last evening in the Kindergarten Room of the school, with a particularly good attendance. The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" in enthusiastic fashion, and was presided over by Mrs. E. H. Howson, the newly-elected president. Several new members were welcomed. Arrangements were completed for the holding of the annual school picnic, to take place on Friday afternoon, June 20th, in Victoria Park. The parents were requested to do all in their power to make this picnic a success. The Cadets of the Central School were congratulated on their success in capturing the Cadet Cup this year, and praise extended to their instructor, Mr. O. M. Steer. Announcement was made of the purchase by the Association of the Book of Knowledge for use in the school, and a hearty vote of thanks received from the Principal, K. Wightman, and the teachers, for the society's efforts to commence a library for school use.

At the conclusion of the business session, a social hour was spent, when light refreshments were served and a musical programme given, with vocal solos by Mrs. A. A. Perrin, and accompaniment by Mrs. E. V. Warne, and an instrumental selection by Miss Alda Bartlett. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

DOUMERGUE WAS MADE PRESIDENT

He Will Succeed Millerand Whose Resignation Was Forced by the Left Parties

VERSAILLES, June 13.—Gaston Doumergue, president of the Senate, was elected president of France by the National Congress here today. The new President succeeds M. Millerand, whose resignation was forced by the Left parties following the recent parliamentary elections.

M. Doumergue received 515 votes and Paul Painleve, president of the Chamber of Deputies, 309 votes, with 29 votes for various other candidates and eight blank ballots. These figures were officially announced in the open session of the Assembly.

Immediately after the election President Doumergue asked Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radicals, to confer with him as soon as the Assembly adjourned on formation of the cabinet. The vote required to elect was 431. The voting took place amid great excitement.

Lawrence O'Toole is in a Critical Condition in Grace Hospital With Concussion of the Brain

TORONTO, Ont., June 13.—(Canadian Press.) — Two weeks ago, Lawrence O'Toole, aged 17, came alone to the city from Peterborough, to seek his fortune. Now he lies in a critical condition in Grace Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain and with his arm and leg fractured.

Shortly before six o'clock yesterday afternoon the boy was playing on Keele street, north of the subway, and seeing a motor truck passing, he ran across the road to catch a ride. Unable to avoid an automobile, which was following close behind, he went down, and the wheels passed over his body.

Lawrence had only secured a position yesterday with the Harris Packing Company. He was living with Mr. Laffray, at 233 Ontario street.

Lawrence O'Toole, mentioned above, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. O'Toole, of 132 Sophia street. Before going to Toronto, he was employed with the Canadian Packing Company here.

LIQUID OXYGEN IS CURE FOR CANCER

The Liquid Freezes the Affected Parts and the Cure is Very Rapid

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 13. —(Canadian Press).—That liquid oxygen has been used as a complete cure for cancer, was the substance of a paper read by L. E. Bedortha, of the Compressed Gas Corporation of Denver, at the Gas Products' Association Convention to-day. "A California doctor has successfully used liquid oxygen in cancer cases," said Mr. Bedortha. "The liquid oxygen freezes the affected parts by swabbing and the cure is rapid."

Mr. Bedortha also spoke of the new use of liquid oxygen in blasting, explaining that it will soon be used as a substitute for dynamite. It is not so dangerous, in that it will not explode upon being struck. Research laboratories are now ascertaining the relative cost of blasting with liquid oxygen and dynamite.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

MINING MARKET.

Trading on the mining market was in small proportions this morning. Goldale was active losing one cent from last night's close. Hattie closed at 8 7-8. Lorraine Cons. sold down to 26. Tough Oakes sold at 64½.

The Toronto and Montreal markets were quiet. Bell Telehone sold at 130 all morning. Montreal Power sold at 175. Smelters on the report launched against them sold down to 26½. Bread was firm closing at a bid of 74 ex-dividend 1 dollar.

NEW YORK MARKET.

The New York market was inclined to lose ground fractionally, though some of the industrial stocks remained firm or gained ground, such as Cast Iron Pipe, which advanced to 96½ and is said to have heavy short interests. There is a great deal of talk in the street at the present time of the consolidation of different roads which will mean a great reduction in the operating costs for all concerned. Expect the market will quieten down now until conventions are out of the way.

What Do You Think?

SAVING STEPS IN THE KITCHEN

The kitchen should be so arranged that following the meal the steps taken up to the time the dishes are again stored away for another meal be in a progressive direction. That is, from table to work table, or counter for soiled dishes, to sink, to drainboard, to china closet. Usually a routing of this kind going from left to right is preferable to the reverse direction. The china closet should be situated conveniently, both to the sink and the dining-room.

Cupboards are, nowadays, placed in the kitchen itself as close as possible, considering arrangement, to the work table. Frequently the work table forms a shelf underneath the china closet with the cupboard built into the wall. The old-fashioned pantry which separated the kitchen from the dining-room should be eliminated, as it causes an unnecessary number of steps. The space that has been devoted to pantries can be more profitably used for the addition of other rooms to your house.

The main idea behind efficiency is to group your tools and working paraphernalia about your chief point of activity. This naturally means that each utensil or device should be so located that it is quickly available at the place where it is most frequently used. The sink should be so located that during the day it receives plenty of daylight, and at night artificial illumination without working in your own shadow.

Height of Sink.

The height of the sink is an important factor. Frequently the sink is set too low for convenience. The housewife must stoop over, which means backache and fatigue. Again the sink is often placed in a poorly ventilated, dark corner, or it has not enough draining space, or is so shallow that the water slops out.

From 34 to 36 inches from the floor to the top of the rim is considered, usually, the proper height for the sink. One way of determining the proper height of the sink for your individual requirements is to have it so that when you stand erect with your arms and hands before you your finger tips just touch the bottom of the sink.

Two drain-boards will surprisingly speed up dishwashing. A series of shelves above and to left and right of the sink are oftentimes quite n added convenience.

At this point it is advisable to call attention to the necessity of having the sink and other plumbing fixtures so grouped in the house that a wide ramification of the plumbing pipes is not necessary. For instance: With the sink located on a wall adjacent to the center wall of the house, and either directly below or adjacent to the wall carrying the plumbing pipes going to the bathroom, very short laterals are required to the various fixtures, as well as equally short returns for the drain pipes. By following this advice a considerable saving can be effected on the plumbing. This is one of the prime essentials in good home designing.

CLEANING VEGETABLES

Before cleaning vegetable spread a paper over your kitchen table. It is much easier to throw that away than it is to scrub the table.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARD APPEAL

Chaplain of the Navy League of Canada Was the Speaker

At the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club to-day a stirring address to the members by Rev. Mr. Adams, chaplain of the Navy League of Canada, was delivered. There was a large attendance, and Kiwanian Lloyd Hamilton was to-day's booster. Mr. F. I. Allen presided and the programme was unusually lively.

The programme was featured by impromptu singing and Kiwanian Alex Dick led a staunch sextette through "Loch Lomond," until they were drowned out by persistent "oha" from all quarters.

Kiwanian Lloyd Hamilton spoke briefly of the capacity and extensive trade of the Quaker Oats Co. and extended an invitation for all to visit the plant.

President Jack Marshall stated that Superintendent Walter Stocker and his staff had been working overtime getting Jackson Park in shape and that much had already been accomplished. Kiwanian Walter Stocker made an appeal for further helpers.

Kiwanian Wilfrid Huycke told the members of his visit to the Lindsay Kiwanian luncheon yesterday. Lindsay is in the midst of an "Old Home Week" campaign. The Lindsay Kiwanian Club are fostering the movement and the campaign has been advertised extensively.

Kiwanian Carle Browne reported on the work of the 'Safety First' campaign. He criticized the efficiency of the painting gang who designed the huge footprints about the city at the outrageous hour of 2 a. m. It was interjected that the measurements of the design were taken from a discarded shoe of Kiwanian Alex Dick.

The prizes to-day were awarded to Kiwanians Dr. Craig, Pete Lang and Dr. M. Yelland. The third prize was a skipping rope and Dr. Yelland was required to demonstrate its purpose before returning to his seat.

The Kiwanis are holding a picnic at Jackson Park next Friday evening at 6 p.m. instead of the regular noon luncheon. In the afternoon the Lindsay Kiwanis ball team will play the local club's team as a preliminary to the evening session. The members were requested to bring their wives and family, a basket for themselves and an extra basket for the bachelors. A hilarious time is expected. Friday, June 27th will be Farmers' day and each Kiwanian was requested to bring a real farmer as a guest.

The Address.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. J. J. Craig. "Relief work is my mission, the interest of the widow the orphan and of the incapacitated sailor, said the speaker.

"The Navy League of Canada is a patriotic organization, whose object is to urge upon the Government of Canada and all the interests of the Empire, the complete naval protection of the British subject and British commerce throughout the world."

It has been said that the Navy is linked with militarism in its utmost. Militarism, said the speaker, has always stood for autocracy and oppression, while the Navy has stood for democracy and freedom. The British Navy has never abused the privilege of being called "Mistress of the Seas."

Germany said, "If we can sever the jugular vein, we have destroyed the life of the Allies, and the life of the Allies was regarded by the Huns as the merchant service, which took over all transports and munitions."

During the war, 14,000 merchant seamen made the supreme sacrifice, leaving between 55,000 and 56,000 dependants, whom the Government has not recognized. The Navy League is urging the Government to pay pensions to those bereft families. I know nothing greater in the annals of history that will equal the heroic deeds of sailors, continued the speaker, and we who are away inland are apt to forget those endangering their lives in the turbulent waters and perils of the seas.

The Navy League has established institutions to care for sailors while on land, the largest of which is in Halifax. Last year 17,000 beds were provided and 160,000 sailors taken care of, irrespective of nationality, even to the Germans. The Navy League is training boys so as to perpetuate the mercantile service with the same efficiency and adequacy. It is their object to have every sailor on every Canadian vessel either a Canadian or British born.

"The sailor is an international asset to Britain, and if we must be safe on land, we must be supreme on the seas."

The daily test

SUPPOSE you tested everything before buying . . . held it under seaching light, examined it, turned it critically over and over. Not then could you feel so sure of it as of advertised goods you have never seen.

Wares advertised have already been tested. They have proved their worth under publicity that would have illumined defects. Thousands of buyers have tried them before you—and been satisfied. Without this satisfaction, they couldn't continue to be advertised goods

That thousand-fold testing goes on each day. Advertisers invite it. They believe in their wares, and prove their wares justify belief by advertising to you daily.

Read the advertisements to know of the best —to protect yourself against unwise buying.

"Whereas, the General Federation was one of the pioneer organizations that recognized the value and need of the social hygiene movement, and

"Whereas, the work of this committee has always been considered by the Federal and State authorities as one of the greatest contributions to nation-wide health work,

"Be it resolved: That the General Federation of Women's Clubs put itself on record as strongly favoring sex education, and,

"Be it resolved: That the General Federation of Women's Clubs pus titself on record as strongly urging the interest of all women in the study of these problems, and the newer methods of dealing with them."

History! Ever since soccer has been played in this city during the last twelve years, the question of discontinuing the game on Saturday afternoons, so as to escape the excessive heat, never materialied past the round table talk. The only year there was no complaint was during the year of daylight saving. It was the same old story last season when some of the teams arranged to play their games very late Saturday afternoon, which seemed to be satisfatcory. This season, it is the opposite, the discontinuing of the evening matches was suggested for many reasons and double-headers on Saturday afternoon instituted. After many hours of discussion on the subject, it was unanimously agreed to continue the schedule as arranged.

CRESCENTS DEFEATED ALEX. KAY'S OUT-FIT

In a seven-inning Midget fixture at the Exhibition Grounds last evening the Crescents came through with another win when they defeated Alex. Kay's Curlers by the score of 11 to 9. The game was fairly fast, but both pitchers were hit hard and often, while Masterson, for the Crescents, passed several men and hit others. He was much wilder than in any other contest. The Curlers played rather ragged ball and had several errors chalked against them, that accounted for the win for the Crescents. Pogue, who did the receiving for the Curlers, caught a nice game and figured in several put outs, while Kenneal; also held up Masterson in great style and came through with a number of hits.

NEW SERIAL TO START SATURDAY

"Paul in Possession" by Ruby M. Ayres is a Very Interesting and Entertaining Story.

A heroine who bobs her hair and thereby loses a great inheritance, her irate guardian cutting her off without a shilling, is the principal figure in "Paul in Possession" the new serial by Ruby M. Ayres which begins in The Examiner on Saturday. Wanda Griffin, headstrong and spirited, does as she wishes in this and many a following episode in an interesting and entertaining story, and then pays the piper for her wilful ways.

"Paul in Possession" is a 'movie' type of story. Each section is clear-cut and vivid, and the tale moves on in rapid tempo, without very much moralising or descriptive matter to clog its rapid-fire action. The conflict of wills between Paul and the tempestuous Wanda is the main theme. The girl goes to extreme lengths in order to satisfy her own selfish desires and Paul refuses to cater to her whims.

There are contrasting types in the story, Clare Garnet is the second woman in the case, a contrast to the vivid Wanda, and Harry Courtney make the fourth figure in the quartette. In high relief is the figure of the girl passionate and proud, willing to sacrifice almost anything to her own pride and self-will. The struggle between Wanda and Paul is told in a way that will keep readers of "Paul in Possession" waiting eagerly for the next instalment of the new serial.

"HALF-A-DOLLAR-BILL" PROMISES BIG THRILLS

New Metro Picture Tale of Sea With Struggle of Men Uppermost

Promised as being something different and original in film plays, but so realistic and human a drama of the sea that one almost feels the sting of salty spray, the new Metro picture, "Half-a-Dollar-Bill," a Max Graf production, will be shown at the Regent Theatre.

Anna Q. Nilsson is the featured feminine player, who give the most notable performance of her career as a girl pressed by poverty to abandon her baby that it might live, and who then recovers her child in later years through the most dramatic developments.

William T. Carleton, Raymond Hatton, Mitchell Lewis, George MacQuarrie, and Alec B. Francis comprise the cast, while a juvenile "find" in four-year-old Frankie Darro makes his screen debut in the picture, and proves himself a remarkable child actor.

How He Got the Name.

"Half-a-Dollar-Bill" is the name given the foundling by Captain McTeague, when he finds the baby with the torn half of a dollar bill pinned to it, its mother having kept the other half in order to identify her son when she is able to claim him. McTeague brings the child up as his own, so that when he is several years older Bill is mascot of the ship, Grampus. McTeague gives a beating to his first officer, who stole from the Captain's coat the torn bill that is the only clue to the boy's origin. The officer schemes to revenge himself on McTeague, and when they return to land finds his opportunity in spreading slander against the Captain and a woman he has befriended. Unknown to McTeague and the woman, she is the mother of "Half-a-Dollar-Bill."

Recognizes His Wife.

The man who wants to revenge himself on the Captain recognizes the woman as his wife whom he deserted. He kidnaps the boy, and the action that follows is so exciting and crammed full of punch that the spectator is constantly "on edge." Two wonderful dogs, Cameo and Irish, play important parts in the picture.

The tang of the sea pervades the entire picture, and there are comedy touches with the tensely dramatic. Curtis Benton wrote the story, that was directed by W. S. Van Dyck, with Leigh R. Smith, who was responsible for much of the success of "Down to the Sea in Ships." Andre Barlatier was photographer, and Alfred A. Cohen wrote the titles. Fans who like entertainment that is true to life and full of thrilling action, will revel in "Half-a-Dollar-Bill."

"ANNA CHRISTIE" PROVES ONE PICTURE IN A THOUSAND

Wonderful Story Artistically Produced, Will Appeal Especially to All Womanhood.

"Anna Christie," adapted by Thos. H. Ince from Eugene O'Neill's stage drama, which was a sensation on two continents and won the 1922 Pulitzer prize for the best American drama of the year, stands out boldly as the most unconventional heroine ever brought to the silver sheet. This First National release was shown at the Royal Theatre last night.

The picture is an undoubted artistic triumph. It tells one of the most gripping stories conceived by genius and screened by a veteran master of showmanship. It is one of these pictures that is talked about in every feminine gathering and discussed in the candle glow of formal dinners. One simply is out of the running who hasn't seen it.

But imagine if you can an "Anna Christie" being presented for the eyes of mixed screen audiences a decade ago. All the fire and police departments would have been out in half an hour on a riot call. And half a dozen doctors would have had polite "gentlewomen" in fainting spells on their hands.

The twentieth century public studies life fearlessly and can watch with appreciative eyes the unfolding of a powerful drama such as has been pictured by Ince in "Anna Christie." It is the story of a girl who is the daughter of an old sea captain, a Swedish sentimentalist who blames everything, even an unquenchable thirst, on the sea. He has seen his father and brothers sacrificed to it. He decides to outwit it and save his daughter from the fate of other women of his family who have married sailors and shed bitter tears when they waited in vain for their return. So he sends her inland to cousions in Minnesota, where she will never hear of the oceans or know a sailor.

Anna, forced into farm work far beyond her strength, sends many pleas to her father to let her return to him, but he is deaf. The girl is betrayed by a brutal cousin; runs away from the farm in terror, and is forced by circumstances into the life of the streets. With her last dollars she makes her way to her father, the captain of an old barge. And on the barge the past fades and she feels herself clean again, almost the Madonna her father believes her to be. In a wreck, an Irish stoker is picked up and nursed back to health by Anna. When they fall in love with each other there comes a tragic denouement with an unexpected ending.

O'Neill's drama was drawn with a fine delineation of characters that has been excellently interpreted by the powerful screen cast presented by Ince. The "Anna" portrayed by Blanche Sweet undoubtedly deserves a place in the hall of fame beside the striking stage delineation of Pauline Lord, whose characterization of the girl was termed by critics the finest of the year 1922, when the play was produced. George Marion drew such a wonderfully convincing character on the stage that Ince brought him back from London, where the play created a sensation, to immortalize the role on the screen. And William Russell, as the Irish stoker, rises to emotional heights unsuspected even by himself in his previous work.

The presentation of the drama has been accomplished with a finish of technique that subordinates even the magnificent backgrounds and striking "sets" used in the picture to the onward surge of the dramatic actio and the mighty love story that promises to become one of the favorites of all time.

AT THE CAPITOL

Strongly reminscent of "The Miracle Man" is the acting of Thomas Meighan in "The Confidence Man," the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end. It is one of those productions that fit the central figure perfectly. There is something more than the usual good acting of this popular star in "The Confidence Man," a movie in which Meighan's personality is always to the fore. The pantomimic delineation of mental turmoil and strain that is portrayed in "The Confidence Man" is superb. The genial Thomas, with his puzzled demeanor and his speckled bow tie, is there, but he depicts a character in this picture that hasn't come his way, possibly, since he did such good work in "The Miracle Man."

As James Corvan, a confidence man, with an insinuating manner and a distaste for real work,Meighan goes to Fairfield, to try and entrap Godfrey Queritt, a hard-shelled miser who keeps his cash under strict supervision. The things that happen to Corvan in the little village and the way his scheme works out, illustrate, probably, the price that the crook pays when he mixes up philanthropy with business. As long as Corvan trod the straight and narrow path of crooked business, he went along smoothly. As soon as he became sympathetic towards others' troubles, he slipped. It is one of those tales of unfolding and mounting interest that keeps the attion riveted to the big man, puzzling his way out of the mesh he has involved himself it. The quality of realness that Meighan interjects into his acting is paramount, and the characterizations through the whole picture are immense. Typical and forceful is the crooked employer, James Wade, and the old lady, Mrs. Drown, is one of the most appealing of screen figures. The air that sounds through the picture, the softly-played 'Smilin' Through,' with its plaintive melody, seems to suit the story exactly. Thomas Meighan is as vital as ever, but the puzzled wistfulness that is part of his charm is more apparent in "The Confidence Man" than in many of his former productions. Altogether, it is one of the most attractive of his pictures, and well worth a second visit, if only to watch the manner in which the man portrays the unfolding of a germ of good in a crooked mind.

The comedy is a Clyde Cook affair. In a burlesque of the pony express of Western days. Entitled "The Broncho Express," it introduces a lot of rapid-fire work in good style.

DARES DEATH; HORSEMAN CATCHES MOTORCYCLE BANDIT

Hand to hand Struggle as Pair Plunge Down Slope

A desperate race between horse and motorcycle, in which Pete Morrison, diving from his saddle, launches himself at the motorist and plunges with him, madly fighting, over a cliff, is the super-thrill that marks the second epistle of "The Ghost City," Universal's chapter-play of thrills and excitement, which will be seen every Saturday matinee (commencing to-morrow) at the Capitol Theatre.

Pete Morrison, star of the picture and famous as the most daring rider of the screen, stages this thrill with "Slim" Coles, formerly a famous motorcycle caring driver. It marks the climax of the second chapter of the exciting account of a battle for a vast cattle range and the safety of a huge modern irrigation project.

The picture varies the thrills of Morrison's horsemanship and other Western action with the death-defying stunts of Al. Wilson, the celebrated stunt aviator, and the daring riding of Coles. Every chapter is crammed with excitement of a new brand, and a delicate thread of romance runs through the thrills.

Margaret Morris supports Morrison in the new picture, and others in the cast include Bud Osborne, Lola Todd, Alfred Allen, Frank Rice, and other equally noted players. It is one of the big Universal features of the year. Jay Marchant directed the picture, which was filmed in the high Sierras and on the Mexican border, from a story by Paul Bryan.

Don't Quit On The Job Is Babe Ruth's Advice To Baseball Players

BY BABE RUTH

Who Yesterday Hit His 15th Homer

Don't quit on the job. When things break toughest give your best. Any one can be a good fair weather sailor.

Baseball is a fickle game. I doubt if any one player has had more thrills than I have. Incidentlly, I have had my share of disappointments.

You must deliver in baseball if you are to continue in public favor. No matter how great your prestige, it wanes when your work fails to come up to expectations.

I have had my ups and downs. Experience has been a great teacher. I take more pleasure out of my 1923 comeback than my record of 59 home runs.

I delivered after a lot of people pronounced me through. I was able to come back simply through the confidence I had in my ability and my refusal to quit.

You must believe that no obstacle is too great to be overcome if you would succeed in the big show. The don't quit spirit is what makes possible the victory over seemingly impossible handicaps.

HERE'S A BOUQUET FOR MIDLANDERS

Overtures Made by Lindsay and Port Hope Who Seek Inclusion.

The recently organized Midland Baseball League has proved a great success and plans for its enlargement next season are already under way. The different teams have put up a good class of ball and every game has been a battle till the last man was out. The Raybestos of Peterboro are leading the league in hitting while their fellow townsmen, the C.G.E., are the fielding experts. All the teams however shake a wicked club and can be relied on to bust up a game at any time while their fielders have spoiled many a good batting rally. The pitchers have had some hard bumps but have pitched themselves out of some bad holes. A number of well known senior players are cavorting in this league while many promising youngsters have been uncovered.

Baseball magnates in Lindsay and Port Hope have been making advances already for inclusion in an enlarged league next season and the league bids fair to rival every Intermediate league in the O.B.A.A. in the class of ball produced.

NOT AS BAD AS PRINTED

Through an error in reporting a game to the Examiner last week, South Monaghan was given credit for a 16 to 5 defeat of Bensfort. This should have been six to five.

Fans In a Fist Fight For The Fair Players At Central Park Game

LAST night's game in the Ladies' Softball League at Central Park developed a tourney in which knights fought for their ladies as in the days of old. They didn't like the way the umpire called his decisions. Some of the girls in the city who complain that interest in their doings is waning among the once chivalrous sex may take hope from the incident and look for brighter things in future.

King Arthur started his knightly following with a humble beginning, but they became world famous and the passage of times has not obliterated their memory. The two young men who last night entered physical combat in support of their rival teams may have started a practice that will go down to history with Arthur and the wearers of the golden spur, but history will know their names.

No lady will have the pleasure of pinning her favor on the triumphant winner of last night's honors, because a policeman interfered before the tilt had progressed to a decision, and the policeman was the only person who won. He took the contestants to the lock-up.
